Easy Student Loans

More students will find it easier to obtain low-interest loans through a new student loan program offered by the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC).

The new unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan can make college more affordable for middle-income students and families who have been unable to obtain financial assistance for college or vocational school. It is an alternative loan available to students who previously were not eligible or were only partially eligible for a subsidized Federal Stafford Loan.

"This is a good opportunity for many students, especially those whose families are in the middle-income range and who have had difficulty in affording college. For this program, students are not required to demonstrate financial need to qualify for student loans for postsecondary education," said Larry Matejka, ISAC executive director.

The unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans are similar to subsidized Federal Stafford Loans which have been in existence since 1965. The most important difference, in addition to the absence of the needs requirement, is the responsibility for payment of interest on the loan while the student is in school. The federal government pays the interest on the subsidized loan while the borrower is enrolled at least half-time in school and until repayment begins. For the unsubsidized loan, however, the borrower is responsible for paying the interest from the date the funds are disbursed.

The interest rate is the same for both subsidized and unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans. For new borrowers who receive their first disbursements on or after Oct. 1st, 1992, the current variable rate is 6.94 percent; it will be adjusted annually on July 1st and has a cap of 9 percent. For previous borrowers, the initial rate varies from 7 to 9 percent, depending on when the student originally borrowed under the Federal Stafford Loan program.

Students can have both a subsidized or an unsubsidized loan but the total amount cannot exceed the annual or total program maximum. Annual student loan limits are: $2,625 for freshmen and sophomores, $4,000 for juniors and seniors, and $7,500 for graduate students. Total program limits are $17,250 for undergraduate studies and $54,750 for undergraduate and graduate studies combined. New higher loan limits become effective after July 1993.

Applications for the unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan will be accepted by ISAC beginning Dec. 28th, 1992. To apply for this new loan, students should contact their lending institution or college financial aid office. Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans are made available through the cooperative efforts of postsecondary schools, participating lending institutions, the federal government and ISAC.

ISAC is a state agency which administers over 15 financial assistance programs including grants, scholarships and loans. For more information about these programs, contact ISAC Client Support Services at (708) 948-8550, (312) 793-3745 or (217) 782-2577.

Beef Up Pavilion Security

Security equipment valued at approximately $3,000 will be installed at the Community Pavilion in Oak Lawn as a result of recent thefts from lockers. An alarm on the back door will be put on to prevent people from sneaking into the facility and video cameras are to be placed in the hallways.

Thieves armed with bolt cutters have been entering locker rooms and cutting locks off of the lockers in order to steal wallets, keys and clothes.

Recreation supervisor Maddie Kelly stated that the park district will have lock boxes available at the front desk so that patrons can put their valuables away for a quarter fee.

Condo Meet

The Council of Oak Lawn Condominium Associations (COLCA) and other suburban associations is meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 13th at 7:15 p.m. in the Oak View Center, 110th and Kilpatrick.

An accountant will speak on income tax.

'Community Service'

"Community service" is part of the Columbus Manor School curriculum. For many years the sixth grade students have been part of a 'helpers' group. In recent years fourth grade students have visited neighbors at the Oak Lawn Pavilion Convalescent Home.

This year preschool and kindergarten students also joined the helpers groups. On Oct. 30th they went to the home in costume and performed their finger plays for residents. The residents had also decorated and filled Halloween bags.

Kindergarten students also had the opportunity to be on the receiving end of service as fifth grade students came to their room to assist them in writing letters to Santa. The happy sixth grade 'elves' at neighboring Harnew School will respond to the Santa letters.

Ask Return Of Census Forms

Jan M. Grayson, director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), recently urged Illinois business officials to complete and return their 1992 Economic Census forms to the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

"Every five years, the economic census takes a snapshot of business activity around our nation," Grayson said. "The trends shown are vital benchmarks by which to measure and encourage economic growth. Today, more than ever, businesses need economic census data to gauge their current performance and plan for the future. And communities need this information to help them maintain their economic base and attract new investment."

"The information gathered is absolutely confidential. Statistics, however, will be published in more than 500 printed reports that can help businesses, governments, associations and the media better understand our economy. I urge Illinois businesses receiving the 1992 Economic Census forms to complete them and return the forms by the Feb. 15th deadline."

Grayson said the census information is widely used. "DCCA's researchers are often called upon to help businesses, other governmental bodies, associations and the media with statistical information. Much of this information, such as current economic indicators from the federal government, gross domestic product, and retail sales figures, would not be available without the Economic Census."

The U.S. Census Bureau mailed questionnaires to more than 3.5 million businesses across the nation. For the first time, activity in finance, insurance, real estate, communications and utilities is being measured, in addition to sectors traditionally covered -- retail and wholesale trade, service industries, transportation, manufacturing, mining and construction. Special programs also cover minority-owned businesses, women-owned businesses and enterprise statistics.

Companies received census forms tailored to their size and type of business. Some very small businesses will not receive a census form. Businesses are asked to report basic operating statistics for each location -- number of employees, annual payroll, and the value of goods produced and services provided through the year.

A toll-free help line (800/233-6136) went on line Jan. 1st to assist with questions. First reports will be published in late 1993. The most widely used reports appear in 1994 and 1995.

Open Sertoma Center

Sertoma Career Center, a job training center serving the south suburban communities, has recently opened a new facility in Evergreen Park. The new division, Insite Training Systems, provides job seeking and placement training to assist people with disabilities to obtain and maintain employment. In order to provide a complete curriculum in these areas the facility is presently in need of audio-visual equipment. Inservice programs to local professionals and members of the community are more readily accessible at this location. Bus transportation to the front door makes this possible for the many people who rely on public transportation.

Sertoma Career Center is one of the largest training facilities of this type in the country. It is funded primarily by government grants, not fees to clientele. With the ever-threatening expected government cutbacks, the center is in urgent need of help in supplying the new training facility with equipment and office furniture. If your company could donate any items to help people with disabilities in your area receive job training, contact Karen Steffan or Cheryl Assise at Sertoma Career Center, (708) 371-9700.

Air Guard Unit Goes To Somalia

Gov. Jim Edgar recently announced that two Illinois Air National Guard (ANG) flight crews at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago lifted off last week to fly refueling missions for airplanes delivering relief supplies to beleaguered Somalia.

"Once again, the men and women of the Illinois ANG are responding to the call of their country for assistance," the governor said. "We are proud that our Guard personnel will again be fulfilling their mission and helping in the humanitarian efforts to aid the starving people of Somalia."

The Illinois airmen are members of the ANG's 126th Air Refueling Wing based at O'Hare, said Maj. Gen. Donald W. Lynn, Illinois National Guard adjutant general.

The 14 volunteers are part of two crews flying a KC-135 "Stratotanker" aircraft to their base of operations at Moron Air Base, Spain, where for the next two weeks they will be performing air-to-air refueling missions.

The flight crews, who operate the sophisticated Boeing 707 "flying gas stations," will be an integral part of a flying "air bridge" delivering tons of food, medicine, equipment and people to the west-African nation.

Lynn noted the guard men and women are no strangers when it comes to volunteering their services. Men and women of the 126th Wing volunteered and were activated two years ago during the Persian Gulf war.

"The 126th was one of the first Air Refueling Wings to be activated for Desert Shield and Desert Storm," Lynn said. "This time, they will be performing air-to-air refueling to the aircraft lending support to the mission in Somalia called Operation Restore Hope. It's part of their normal mission."

While flying out of Spain for the next two weeks, the airmen will work with a "Tanker Task Force" organized by the Air Guard unit's higher headquarters, the USAF Air Materiel Command.

"This is a response to a request for volunteers that came from the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C.," Lynn added.

No other Illinois Army or Air National Guard units have been assigned by the U.S. Department of Defense with missions relating to the Somalia relief effort. However, Lynn said, the Illinois National Guard stands ready to respond should additional volunteers be needed.

D'ion Fur Firm Fraud Charge

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris recently filed suit against a Chicago-area furrier and a New York supplier, charging violations of the fraudulent sales act, the deceptive trade act and the consumer fraud act.

"This lawsuit alleges that these companies are advertising and holding liquidation sales at two retail locations in the Chicago area without applying for a municipal license at either location," Burris said. "The lawsuit alleges further that they cannot qualify for such a license because they do not have any merchandise that fulfills the requirements for liquidation under the fraudulent sales act."

The two-count lawsuit, filed in the Circuit Court of Cook County, names D'ion Furs of Chicago, Inc., and Dennis Dionissopoulos, also known as Dennis Dion, individually and as president of D'ion Furs; and Stilisti Della Moda, Inc., doing business as D'ion Furs, Inc., and Vassilios Goutzinopoulos, individually and as president of Stilisti Della Moda, Inc., a foreign corporation, incorporated in New York, but not registered to do business in Illinois.

D'ion Furs has two business locations, one at 6635 W. 95th St., Oak Lawn, and one at 8504 W. Golf Road, Niles. In August, D'ion Furs liquidated its then existing inventory of approximately 1,300 fur coats. The two retail locations have remained open, at reduced hours, so that customers who had stored furs over the summer months could pick them up.

But on Dec. 10th, 14th and 17th, D'ion Furs ran ads in local newspapers for a "total liquidation sale," to be held at its two retail locations.

"A company cannot liquidate inventory and then, at a later time, advertise and hold a liquidation sale," Burris said. "This type of business practice violates Illinois law. A holiday shopper who may be looking to purchase a fur coat will be taken unfair advantage of by these kinds of deceptive sales tactics."

Burris is seeking to permanently prevent D'ion and Stilisti from advertising and selling fur apparel in Illinois. Both companies face civil penalties of up to $50,000 for each violation of the consumer fraud act.

Health Care Costs Continue To Escalate

The U.S. Department of Commerce reported a sharp upturn in health care spending took place in 1992. The figure was up from 13.2 percent in 1991 to more than 14 percent of the nation's total economic output last year. The report is scheduled for general release on Thursday, Jan. 7th.

This increase continues a trend increasingly seen as a serious threat to the nation's economy. The figure adds to the perception of the challenges, economic, social and political, that face President-elect Bill Clinton. Clinton is to be sworn in as President on Wednesday, Jan. 20th. Clinton has stressed that one of his priorities is restraint in the growth of health costs.

The Department of Commerce projects that medical spending costs are projected to grow by 12 to 15 percent over the next five years "unless significant changes occur in the system."

Health care spending in 1992 was estimated at $838 billion and the cost for 1993 is projected as close to $940 billion, an increase of almost $102 billion.

For comparison, the population growth for the nation was approximately 1.2 percent, according to U.S. Census Bureau statistics.

According to Commerce Department projections, released last month, health spending was estimated at a 12 to 13 percent rise over the next five years. The upper figure is 2 percent less than the figure expected to be released on Thursday. Should the latest figures prove accurate, health care spending would eclipse the $1 trillion mark next year, 1994.

The Department of Commerce determined that health care is one of the most dynamic sectors of the U.S. economy with total employment in excess of 10 million, up 43 percent in only four years. Data indicates that it is expected to be extremely difficult to revise and restructure the health care system, since so many have a financial stake.

Statistics on health care spending over a two-year span disclose that the percentage of economic output increased from 12.2 percent in 1990, to 13.2 percent in 1991 and to more than 14 percent in 1992. The new report indicates that one of every seven dollars was spent on health care in 1992, a significantly higher amount than reported by other highly developed industrialized nations.

The increase adds to the cost burden on businesses. More than one-third of the country's medical bills are underwritten by business. In addition, the health care costs mean further strain on governmental budget deficits and adds to those citizens underinsured or uninsured because they have been priced out of the market due to these escalating costs.

The Commerce Department report indicates that a number of factors contribute to burgeoning health care costs. These factors include innovative but costly advances in treatment of illnesses including AIDS, cancer and heart disease; use of high-priced, sophisticated equipment; high earnings by many in health care jobs, and aging of America's population.

While health care employment rose dramatically, 43 percent between 1989 and 1992, overall private employment increased just 1 percent over the same period.

Worth Township Ensures Happy Holidays

Due to the success of a clothing and toy drive sponsored by the Worth Township Youth Commission plus donations of food baskets, township residents on limited incomes were treated to a happier holiday season, according to Supervisor Joan Murphy as she spoke during a Dec. 30th board meeting at the township office, 116th and Pulaski.

"The Christmas holidays around here were absolutely wonderful," Murphy beamed. "Everybody that came in got something from Santa Claus. We had a bonanza because we found two boxes of goods left over from last year that we didn't know we had. The wonderful thing was seeing people walking out of this building so happy and feeling like it was Christmas. They had things that they could give their children."

According to township employee La Verne Glens, "It was really wonderful this year with the number of organizations, service clubs, churches and VFWs that contributed to the food baskets. We could hardly get to our desks as there was so much food. We did not have to turn anybody away this year because we could provide everyone with food."

Murphy continued to remark, "K-Mart was great by inviting some of the children to the store for a shopping spree. They picked out toys and other types of goods. What this shows me is that the township is getting out there to the service organizations and reaching the community. We do provide for our constituents."

In other business, Clerk Thomas "Bud" Gavin related, "I don't know if everyone received this memorandum about the distribution of election forms. We will not be giving out petitions on the advice of our attorney because it would make us liable if there were errors in them."

During the township services report, Trustee John Hall Dorgan noted, "I was asked by the board to find out about the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funding. We have to apply for it and the way it works is we would be reimbursed for 50 percent of the cost of projects. I spoke with Ernie Nance of the Oak Lawn Park District for some ballpark figures on a park and he told me that sand volleyball courts cost about $8,000 apiece to put in, Little League backstops cost $6,000 and playlots with swings are $5,000 plus another $1,000 for surfacing." Dorgan is organizing a packet of information for the board to look over prior to the finalization of this year's budget.

Holiday At MVCC

Hundreds of local elementary school children participated in Moraine Valley Community College's "Christmas Around the World" ornament display held on the campus. Elementary schools in the college's district were invited to have classes make ornaments representing different countries.

The children made ornaments representing many different countries including Poland, Antarctica, Sweden, Greece, Germany, Mexico, Rhodesia, Zimbabwe, Denmark, Lithuania, China and Italy.

Area schools participating included Bridgeview School; Chippewa School, Palos Heights; Covington School, Oak Lawn; District 117, Hickory Hills; Doshier Elementary School, Justice; Gordon School, Posen; Hannum School, Oak Lawn; High Point Elementary School, Orland Park; Kerr Middle School, Blue Island; Nathan Hale Primary and Intermediate Schools, Crestwood; Koras Elementary School, Palos Hills; Lincoln School, Blue Island; Navajo Heights School, Palos Heights; Orchard Hill Farm School, Tinley Park; Park Lawn School, Oak Lawn; Prairie School, Orland Park; Ridge Central School, Chicago Ridge; Ridge Lawn School, Chicago Ridge; St. Germaine, Oak Lawn; and St. Paul Lutheran School, Oak Lawn.

President-elect Clinton campaigned with a promise of establishing enforceable annual caps on health care spending, but offered no specific solutions to the ongoing problems. He said that within 100 days from the time he is sworn in, he plans to propose legislation to guarantee health insurance for all Americans, while curbing health costs. Again, no specific plan has been stated.

I often think it's comical
How nature always does contrive
That every boy and every gal,
That's born into the world alive,
Is either a little Liberal,
Or else a little Conservative!

When Sir William Schwenck Gilbert, the British playwright and lyricist known for a series of comic operas, including "H.M.S. Pinafore," wrote this verse 100 years ago, I am sure he did not envision how apropos it would be as we prepare for Inauguration Day and the installation of Bill Clinton and Al Gore as President and Vice-President of the United States of America.

From coast-to-coast, newspapers, television and radio news programs, political pundits, op-ed columnists and the person on the street have been kicking around the words "Liberal" and "Conservative" in a frantic effort to describe the mood and bent of the incoming administration.

Under the lash of radio call-in programs like the ultra-Conservative Rush Limbaugh show as opposed to the ultra-Liberal Howard Stern show, the true definition of Conservative and Liberal have been lost in a sea of etymologically incorrect usage.

The origin of the word Conservative means of or belonging to the Conservative Party in the United Kingdom or the Progressive Party in Canada. Conservatism is caution or moderation, as in behavior or outlook?

Ralph Waldo Emerson, the American writer, philosopher, and central figure of American transcendentalism, in 1842 wrote in The Conservative, "There is always a certain meanness in the argument of Conservatism, joined with a certain superiority in its fact."

The beginnings of the word Liberal is associated with a political party founded on political principals of social and political liberalism, especially in Great Britain, Canada and the United States. Liberalism thus became an economic theory in favor of laissez-faire, the free market and free intellectual inquiry.

Wayne Lyman Morse, writing in "The New Republic" in 1946, said; "The Liberal, emphasizing the civil and property rights of the individual, insists that the individual must remain so supreme as to make the state his servant."

During the past year of political correctness, family values, religious right and activists from all walks of life, the words Conservative and Liberal have been kicked around to such an extent that even Noah Webster would have trouble trying to untangle the misuse of the words and put them in proper perspective.

A Conservative favors traditional views and values, and tends to oppose change. The Conservative distrusts government activism and opposes sudden changes in established order. In short, the Conservative in politics leans toward the maintaining of the existing or traditional order.

The Liberal, on the other hand, is not limited to established, traditional, orthodox or authoritarian attitudes, views or dogmas. The Liberal is free from bigotry, favors proposals for reform, is tolerant of the ideas and behavior of others and is broad-minded, tending to give freely.

It is interesting to note that some Conservatives have a Liberal Arts degree. They have been schooled in the academic disciplines of languages, literature, history, philosophy, mathematics and science.

Ovid, the Roman poet known for his exploration of love, wrote in 43 B.C.: "Note too that a faithful study of the Liberal Arts humanizes character and permits it not to be cruel."

So what lies ahead for America under the leadership of President Clinton? Will our government be less Conservative and more Liberal, or vice versa? There are many who feel the new President and administration will be more centrist, taking a position in the political center; a moderate.

Otto Von Bismarck, creator and first chancellor of the German Empire, delivered a speech in 1866 where he said; "Only a completely ready state can permit the luxury of a Liberal government."

Perhaps President Clinton, Yale graduate, a Rhodes Scholar who attended Oxford University, will adopt the philosophy of Matthew Arnold, British poet and critic who wrote the classic study "Culture and Anarchy" in 1869 as a polemic against Victorian materialism. Arnold's words might adapt nicely to the mood and temperament of President Bill Clinton:

"I am a Liberal, yet I am a Liberal tempered by experience, reflection, and renouncement, and I am, above all, a believer in culture."

Sales Taxes Are Down

Revenues to the General Revenue Fund in November were $22 million lower than in November 1991, a decrease of 2.4 percent, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch reported. Netsch said the primary reason for the decrease was a drop in sales tax revenues from $286 million to $234 million.

Through the first five months of fiscal 1993, total revenues were down $30 million, from $4.878 billion in fiscal 1992 to $4.848 billion this year. State source revenues through five months are up $112 million, from $3.859 billion to $3.971 billion. However, the figure includes an increase in short-term borrowing of $115 million over a year ago. During the five-month period, federal source revenues were down $142 million, from $1.019 billion in fiscal 1992 to $877 million this year.

Meanwhile, expenditures through the first five months of fiscal 1993 were down $100 million, from $4.921 billion to $4.821 billion.

This year think first of someone else.
Take pleasure in the beauty and wonder of the Earth.
Write a love letter. Share some treasure.
Gladden the heart of a child. Welcome a stranger.
Thank God for what you are and what you have,
whether it be great or small.

Mend a quarrel. Give a soft answer.
Seek out a forgotten friend.
Dismiss suspicion, and replace it with trust.
Keep a promise. Find the time.
Forgo a grudge. Forgive an enemy.
Apologize if you were wrong.

Listen. Try to understand.
Examine your demands on others.
Appreciate. Be kind, be gentle.
Laugh a little. Laugh a little more.
Deserve confidence.

Express your gratitude to others.
Pray for peace. Go to Church.
Love completely. Speak your love.
Speak it again. Speak it still once again.
These are but inklings of a vast category, a mere scratching of the surface.

They are simple things. You have heard them all before. But their influence has never been measured.
This year, they can change your life.

Presidential Inaugurations

"Ring out the old, ring in the new." The traditional New Year's words take on special significance in 1993, as Americans welcome Bill Clinton as our 42nd president on Wednesday, Jan. 20th. That date heralds one of our nation's few bows to pomp, pageantry and spectacle; the inaugural ceremony.

America's first president, George Washington, was inaugurated on April 30th, 1789. The ceremony was simple. Washington took the 35-word oath required by Article II, section 1, of the U.S. Constitution to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States." He then delivered his inaugural address, a ritual that is still the heart and soul of our present-day inauguration ceremony.

The inaugural address is the new president's first opportunity to share his vision of America's future with the public. Most Americans, young and old, are familiar with the more stirring presidential addresses. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was able to infuse a Depression-weary public with hope through his words, "the only thing we have to fear is fear itself." And John F. Kennedy's rousing call of "ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country" is one of the most memorable lines of any presidential inaugural address.

Less-than-successful inaugural speeches include Franklin Pierce's vain attempts to be heard over a howling blizzard in 1853 and Rutherford B. Hayes' equally vain attempts in 1877 to drown out boos and catcalls provoked by his disputed election to the presidency.

Probably the most disastrous inaugural speech, both personally and professionally, was given by William Henry Harrison in 1841. His speech, the longest on record at nearly 8,500 words with a two-hour delivery time, was deemed "appalling" by his friend Daniel Webster. It also cost the president his life. Harrison delivered the speech in frigid weather without the benefit of a coat, hat or gloves. He caught pneumonia and died within a month of his inauguration.

Chances are Harrison would not have been speaking outside if it had not been for Henry Clay. The inaugural ceremony was held indoors, in the chamber of the House of Representatives, until 1817, when Clay, Speaker of the House, refused to allow the Senators to bring their "undemocratic" plush chairs into the House chamber for the swearing-in. President James Moore ended up delivering his inaugural address from the steps of the U.S. Capitol building, where it is held today.

While the oath and speech have remained inaugural constants, the ceremony has evolved over time, and each incoming president has put his personal stamp on the proceedings. Over the years, ancillary events such as balls, parades and special programs reflecting the style of the incoming administration have become a standard part of the fanfare.

Teddy Roosevelt wore a ring containing a lock of Abraham Lincoln's hair, Jimmy Carter walked the length of the parade route to show his communion with the people, and George Bush introduced a "George to George" theme to his 1989 inaugural, which happened to be the 200th anniversary of George Washington's first inaugural. Flags, seals and music of Washington's era were prominent in the festivities, and Bush took his oath of office on Washington's Bible.

This Jan. 20th, the Clinton administration will have the opportunity to present its style and vision to the nation. And as we look to the new year, we will, as Americans have done for the past 204 years, look to our president with hope for a bright future.

JEFF LAYHE

GOP Caucus

Worth Township Republican Committeeman Jeff Layhe has announced that a caucus to select candidates for township office is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 12th. Candidates for supervisor, clerk, collector, assessor, highway commissioner and four trustee positions are to be selected. The caucus, mandated by the State of Illinois for the 12th of January, is to be held in the American Legion Post No. 854, 9701 S. Kedzie Ave.

Arson Charged

Worth resident Bahij F. Baqash was arrested Tuesday on charges of arson and conspiracy in connection with the purported torching of a competitor's grocery store on Sept. 10th, 1987. Baqash, 44, allegedly solicited and paid co-conspirators the sum of $500 to set fire to Kingston Food and Liquors in the South Shore district of the City of Chicago.

According to Jerry Singer, U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), Baqash was arrested by ATF agents at approximately 12 noon at 958 E. 79th St., Chicago. The building is being converted into a grocery store and is either owned by or leased by Baqash, Singer said.

The arson took place at 2523 E. 75th St., and temporarily put the food and liquor store out of business. At the time of the fire, Baqash reportedly owned and managed the Sixth Fleet grocery store, a few doors away at 2607 E. 75th St., according to Singer.

Named Director Of Events

James Sheahan, the brother of Cook County Sheriff Michael Sheahan, has been named to the position of director of special events for the City of Chicago by Mayor Richard Daley. He replaces the late Kathy Osterman, who passed away in December.

Sheahan, 46, has worked as a deputy in the special events office since 1989. Previously, he had served in the community unit of the Cook County state's attorney's office from 1981 to 1989 and as a Chicago public school teacher between 1969 and 1981.

He will be paid $75,420 a year. By choosing Sheahan, Daley continues his practice of filling this job with a close friend and political ally.

Mayor Richard Daley's naming of James Sheahan, brother of Cook County Sheriff Mike Sheahan, as the city's director of special events is a good choice. He succeeds Kathy Osterman who died December 8.

Sheahan comes with great qualifications. He has worked as deputy with Osterman in the Office of Special Events since Osterman took over the position in 1989.

Sheahan, 46, is a native Chicagoan and a resident of the 19th Ward. He worked with Daley in the community unit of the Cook County's State's Attorney's office while the mayor ran that office from 1981 to 1989. Prior to that he had been a Chicago public school teacher from 1969 to 1981.

His most recent assignment was coordinating the annual Taste of Chicago food and music festival, the city's largest annual special event. It generates revenue that finances many of the smaller festivals throughout the year.

In addition to his experience in county and city government Sheahan is known as an effective organizer in political campaigns. He worked at precinct levels for both Daley and his brother, and for Cook County Assessor Tom Hynes, Democratic Committeeman of the 19th Ward.

A 1969 graduate of St. Joseph College in Indiana, Sheahan lives in the Beverly community with his wife and three children.

In naming Sheahan to the high exposure position, Daley said he hoped Sheahan would continue his great work and that of Osterman which boosted the local economy by tens of millions of dollars.

"Jim's proven experience and ability in the same office clearly makes him the best choice," said Daley.

Mayor Anthony Vacco of Evergreen Park, an avid Chicago Cardinal football fan when they were playing at Comiskey Park, is happy about Mike McCaskey and the Chicago Bears for firing Coach Mike Ditka. Not because he likes the Bears (he hates them) but because he now has a cause among the many disgruntled Bear fans to "Bring the Cardinals back to Chicago." Since they left Chicago at the power play of the Bears, they went to St. Louis and bombed out. Now they are in Phoenix, AZ and are also bombing out. Vacco is leading a campaign to bring the Cardinals back to Chicago with Ditka as head coach....we are with Vacco and Mike Ditka. Michael McCaskey should go back to teaching. "Da Bears" will never be the same. Grabowski's will join in with Vacco and perhaps we'll get the Cardinals back in Chicago....knowing Mayor Vacco— he never quits.

Condolences to the family of James Howe, Alsip trustee who was stricken ill at Monday's Village Board meeting and died later at Christ Hospital, Oak Lawn. Howe had been a trustee since 1970 and was a driving force in the present Unity Party which holds all of the seats on the village board. Services are at 11 a.m. today (Jan. 7) from Blake-Lamb Funeral Home, Oak Lawn with interment at Beverly Cemetery.

Among his many achievements on the board Howe served on the Labor Management Negotiations Team that drafted the original contracts with the Alsip Police and Fire Departments. Jim also was instrumental in acquiring 3/4 of a million dollars in grant monies from the Illinois Department of Conservation for the boat launch.

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan this week scored a major victory when the U.S. Department of Energy informed him by letter that planning is underway for the removal of surface debris at Redgate Woods. Phelan last week vowed to keep the pressure on even though the Department of Energy refused in a meeting to grant his requests to remove the surface debris and fence off hot spot areas identified in a report issued by Greenpeace.

Burbank's Fourth Ward Alderman Frank Radochonski has said he will retire in April, when his current term expires. Radochonski, a Burbank Alderman since the City was incorporated in 1970, has been a resident of Burbank (formerly South Stickney) for 32 years, and was a member of the City Council under long-time Mayor John Fitzgerald and now Mayor Harry T. Klein.

Cook County Assessor and 19th Ward Democratic Committeeman Thomas C. Hynes will be honored at a cocktail reception Thursday, Jan. 14 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the McCormick Center Hotel, 23rd and the Lake, Chicago. Citizens for Hynes, 134 N. LaSalle, are sponsoring the event.

Uncle Suspect In Murder Case

Due to an episode of "Unsolved Mysteries," which was aired in November, the murder case of Jaclyn Dowaliby, a 7 year old Midlothian girl who was found strangled near a Blue Island apartment complex in 1988, has been reopened by Cook County authorities.

Timothy Guess, 31, an uncle of Jaclyn and brother of Cythia Dowaliby's first husband, is under investigation and his alibi is being questioned. He was recently interrogated by prosecutors and denied killing the girl but stated that he was in contact with spirits that have communicated to him about the placement and condition of the girl's body.

Guess has not been charged in the case and is currently a patient at Ingalls Memorial Hospital for psychiatric treatment of a paranoid schizophrenic condition.

According to William Fischer, who was the Midlothian police chief at the time of the murder, "Timothy Guess was nowhere near the home that night. He had a solid alibi. We were convinced he had nothing to do with it at all. It happened within the house, no question about it."

Stable Bus Fares

The Pace board of directors approved the 1993 operating budget and capital program, and the 1993-95 financial plan. The budget calls for stable base fares and service levels, a $96.5 million total operating expense and a $63 million funding requirement. Because the RTA will only provide $58.6 million of the necessary funds, Pace will need to use $4.3 million of its fund balance for service. In past years, through good management, Pace has built this positive fund balance in hopes of expanding its capital program. By using the $4.3 million of savings for operations, Pace will deplete its reserves. In addition, the RTA has not approved the $2.4 million loan needed by Pace in order to make up the sales tax shortfall for 1992. Also as part of 1993's budget, riders' fares are expected to generate $33.5 million, or 34.7 percent of the operating expense. The $33.4 million capital program contains funding for fixed-route and paratransit buses, bus garages, park-n-rides, and passenger facilities. The approved Pace budget was submitted to the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA) for their review and approval at an upcoming board meeting.

In the continuing effort to coordinate fare passes and transfers with the CTA, Pace will be matching CTA's new monthly and weekly pass prices. Pace will now offer a weekly pass for $20.50, a monthly pass valid on Pace seven days a week and on CTA weekdays only for $66, and a monthly pass valid on Pace and CTA seven days a week for $78. In addition, the reduced monthly pass will increase to $33 until June 30th, then it will increase to $35. The transfer costs will remain the same.

The Pace Board meets the first Wednesday of the month at 3:30 p.m. on the board room at Pace Headquarters, 550 W. Algonquin Road, Arlington Heights.

This is some kind of weather. Rain and more rain and then a mixture of ice and snow. It has really been so long that we have had ice that I think the drivers involved in that pile up on the Kennedy have forgotten how to operate safely. Drive and walk safely. Hate to lose any of my readers.

Len and Betty Reno had a very pleasant surprise for the holidays. Their daughter, Betty Curtis, of Long Island, Nebraska arrived on Dec. 23rd and left for home on Jan. 6th.

Dorothy Prinder, wife of Commander Robert Prinder of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post, was rushed to the hospital on Dec. 23rd in LaGrange with what was thought a heart attack. Fortunately that wasn't it. She will be in LaGrange hospital for another week for a complete checkup to find out what it may have been. Our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Another of our long time residents, Ruth Termunde, has been a patient at Christ Hospital for the past week. A speedy recovery to you too.

Betty Schultz, former resident, now of Goreville, IL, left for home on the 6th, and then on to Florida to visit with her mother, Marna Bale. A long time member of the Oak Lawn Fire Dept. Women's Auxiliary, she was guest of honor at the Christmas party held at the home of the president, Judy Walker, on Dec. 21st. We did enjoy visiting with her.

Sorry to report that one of our long time residents, Jan Slattery, died Dec. 29th. Services were held Monday morning at St. Gerald Church with interment at St. Mary Cemetery. Our sympathy to her family. She will be missed.

Congratulations are in order for Greg Walent, a student at Oak Lawn High School, who has been named to the National Honor Society.

Now the holidays are over and our lives are settling into the usual routine, perhaps now one can plan to spend one morning a week for about two hours to deliver 'meals on wheels' to local shut-ins. Call Sandi at Christ Hospital at 346-5258.

Volunteers are needed to donate a pint of blood (liquid gold) at the drawing to be held at Hometown Murray Post 9773, VFW from 8 a.m. until 12 noon on Saturday, Jan. 9th. This is for the 3rd District VFW Blood Bank, but anyone who can donate is invited to do so. There is such a shortage of blood, and a pint will cover your own family for a year. A nice breakfast will be served to those who participate. Jerry and Reggie Finnigan are co-chairpersons.

A date to mark on one's calendar, is the Drug Abuse seminar being sponsored by the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary on Thursday, Jan. 28th, in the post hall, 9514 S. 52nd Ave., at 7:30 p.m. Reggie Finnigan is the auxiliary president.

Mary Lou Harker, wife of former Fire Chief Elmore Harker, called to announce the birth of their fifth grandchild, Tyler James Zint. Tyler, who weighed in at six pounds, 12 ounces was 20 inches long at birth. His proud parents are Kristen (Harker) and Paul Zint of Philadelphia. Mary Lou spent time before and after the birth of her grandson, who arrived on Christmas Eve, 1992, helping her daughter and son-in-law celebrate the child's birth. Congratulations and best wishes to all!

Seasonal Changes

Columbus Manor School students are doing a science investigation that will take the entire school year. On the first day of each new season a student stands in the same spot on the school playground and his shadow is measured three times for the day. Direction and length of the shadow is measured at the beginning, middle and end of the school day. At the close of the school year, discussion will be held about the Earth's rotation and orbit around the sun and the effect in creating seasons. Three measurements have been taken, summer (actually the first day of school), fall and winter. Ben Kenney, in the hooded sweatshirt, serves as the "Shadow Maker." Other measurement helpers pictured are Samantha Lesniak, Brandon Piotrowski, Jacqueline Michalek and Brian Ferencak.

Police Deaths Decline In 1992

Fewer American law enforcement officers died in the line of duty in 1992 than in any year since 1965, according to a preliminary report issued by the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund (NLEOMF) and Concerns of Police Survivors (COPS). The report shows that 136 federal, state and local law enforcement officers died in the line of duty during 1992, the lowest single-year total since 120 officers died in 1965. This is the fourth straight year that the number of law enforcement deaths have declined since 192 officers were killed in 1988. There were 138 line of duty deaths in 1991.

"While we are encouraged that the number of police deaths is declining, our law enforcement officers remain at great risk," declared NLEOMF chairman Craig W. Floyd. "One police officer out of every 4,000 serving today dies in the line of duty, and for every officer killed, another 150 are injured," he reported.

Floyd credited the reduction in law officer deaths to "better training, improved equipment, more community support and a greater awareness of the dangers that exist on the job by the officers themselves. We seem to be making strides in the right direction, but much more needs to be done to protect the men and women who risk so much to protect us."

Of the 136 officers who died in 1992, 82 were killed by felonious assault (64 by firearm) and 54 died from accidental causes while on duty, such as aircraft or automobile crashes, being struck by a vehicle or drowning.

The officers killed in 1992 included 122 from 34 states, seven from U.S. federal agencies and five from the U.S. territory of Puerto Rico. For the fifth straight year, Texas had more officers killed than any other state with 13, followed by Florida with 11, California with 10, South Carolina with nine, and New York with eight. On average, the officers who died during 1992 were 36 years old and had served for nine years. Three were females.

These preliminary findings were announced jointly by NLEOMF, the non-profit organization that built and now oversees the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in Washington, D.C., and by COPS, a national self-support group for police survivors. The data was compiled with assistance from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the U.S. Justice Department's public safety officer's benefits program office.

COPS is holding its annual two-day grief seminar for police survivors on May 14th and 16th as part of "National Police Week" (May 9th to 15th) activities in the Washington, D.C., area. "While the NLEO Memorial remembers and honors the fallen, it is COPS that is there to help the surviving families put their lives back together. The general public seems to have this belief that police families are prepared to accept line-of-duty death—when, in fact, we believe it will never be our officer who falls. COPS has been called the 'life-line' by many of the 5,000 surviving families that we now serve through our national peer-support organization," said Kathleen Young, COPS national president.

According to records kept by NLEOMF, 1,685 law enforcement officers died in the line of duty during the 10-year period from 1983 through 1992. That averages out to 168.5 officers who died each year or one officer killed somewhere in America nearly every other day. Nearly 13,000 officers died in the line of duty since the first recorded death in 1794. All of those names are engraved on the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial.

During "National Police Week" the names of the officers killed in 1992 will also be formally added to the memorial at a candlelight ceremony on the evening of May 13th. In addition, a national memorial service, sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) and the FOP Auxiliary, honoring officers who died in 1992 is scheduled in Washington, D.C. on May 15th, "National Peace Officers Memorial Day." Thousands of officers and police survivors from across the country are expected to attend these events.

Student Laureate Awardee

Jean Janicke, a senior at Chicago's Saint Xavier University, received the student laureate award of the State of Illinois and was awarded the state's Lincoln Academy Medalion and a check for $150 by Governor and Mrs. Jim Edgar in a special ceremony in the House of Representatives in the Illinois State Capitol, Springfield, on Nov. 21st. Jean and her parents were guests of Governor and Mrs. Edgar at a luncheon honoring the award-winning students in the executive mansion following the ceremony. Representing SXU at the ceremony was Kimberly Johnson, director of student activities.

JEAN JANICKE

Jean, the daughter of James and Deborah Janicke of Oak Lawn, is a graduate of Mother McAuley High School and a member of St. Gerald's Parish. A psychology major, she also works as a ward secretary at Christ Hospital. She is interested in being a counselor and achieves "personal fulfillment while working with people."

Laureates are outstanding seniors chosen from each of the four-year, degree-granting institutions in Illinois, honored for overall excellence in curricular and extracurricular activities.

Jean, who holds a 3.6 (out of 4.0) GPA has accomplished much in her years at SXU: she has been a presidential scholar the last four years; a student ambassador; a staff writer for the school paper, the "Xavierite"; active with campus ministry and the Psychology Club; recipient of the ICC activities award, 1992; executive vice-president and chair of the Inter-Club Council, overseeing SXU's 26 student clubs and organizations, and is currently executive vice-president of the SXU Student Government.

Dr. Green Addresses British Parliament

Dr. Paul Green recently shared his insights on the American presidential election and the MacBride Principles with members of the British Parliament and English university students. Dr. Green, director of The Institute for Public Policy and Administration at Governors State University, was the invited guest of Brian Booth, rector and chief executive of the University of Central Lancashire. Dr. Green gave a series of lectures to political science, United States studies and journalism students and a professorial lecture for all on campus.

One of his discussions was a simulcast on Red Rose Radio in Preston, Lancashire, and WGN-Radio in Chicago.

Following Dr. Green's six-day visit in central England, he was the luncheon guest of several members of Parliament in the House of Commons private chambers, and participated in a British videoconference on the MacBride Principles on disinvestment in Northern Ireland.

"Pressure is building in the United States in support of the MacBride Principles which argue for disinvestment in Northern Ireland by American businesses," Dr. Green explained. The move is based on the success of the divestiture movement of the 1970s and 1980s against the South African government.

The principles argue that despite the British government's attempt to outlaw workplace discrimination, its efforts have failed to meet the challenges in the private sector. The vast majority of unemployed in Northern Ireland are Catholics.

Dr. Green discussed the issue with two members of the Home Secretary's staff in Belfast. He has been invited to speak in Belfast next September.

Governors State University students Dianne Werner of Palos Park (left) and Lorraine Sims of Oak Lawn (second from right), winners of the Women Together scholarships, are congratulated by Susan Wagner of The Ahhy Foundation, Dr. Leon Zalewski, dean of the GSU college of education, and GSU President Pania Wolff. The awards, underwritten by the foundation, are designed to benefit women who have been away from a college setting for at least two years. Winners also must be majoring in early childhood or elementary education. The foundation is a not-for-profit organization whose sole purpose is to fund projects that benefit women in the southern suburbs.

Sims is majoring in elementary education. She hopes to instill in young children the joy of learning and the value of self-indulgence. Sims said as a student she lacked both. After graduating from high school, she decided not to continue her education and has been working in the insurance industry.

"As a future teacher, I hope to bring my joy of learning into the elementary classroom," Sims said, "I must remind myself that my students may not have the opportunity to start over again as I have."

Werner last was a college student 26 years ago. Her education was interrupted when she married, moved to Illinois and began raising a family of four children.

"Now that three of these children are in college," she says, "and because I strongly believe that education is of major importance, no matter what age, I made the decision to return to school."

The past 13 years, Werner has been working for a preschool. She says, "I personally believe that a child participating in an early childhood program will perform better emotionally, socially and academically."

She hopes to one day develop her own curriculum that will encourage creativity, academic skill, independent thought, cooperation and responsibility among her pupils.

CPA Society Awards Banquet

The Illinois CPA Society honored 1,217 newly graduated certified public accountants at its 1992 fall awards banquet. Illinois, which ranks as an honor roll state because its rate of passing consistently surpasses the national average of all exam sections, again led the way nationally with a 33 percent passing rate for this most recent CPA examination offered in May 1992. A total of 3,654 Illinois candidates wrote the exam.

In addition, Illinois was responsible for producing 23 percent of the total national Elijah Watt Sells award winners, the highest honor given to candidates sitting for the exam. Nationally, 141 candidates received the award, including Illinois' 33 winners.

Eighty-two percent of the 33 Sells award winners are graduates of Illinois universities. The honor attached to the award is especially significant when consideration is given to the fact that, nationally, 65,395 candidates wrote the exam in May.

Of the 1,217 candidates who passed the exam, 524 (43 percent) were women while 571 (47 percent) of those who passed the exam did so on the first attempt.

The National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) statistics show that nearly 90 percent of all candidates without advanced degrees who sit for the exam are accounting majors. Most candidates who sit for the exam have a substantial amount of formal academic accounting training in their background, regardless of their level of education or college major.

"We are fortunate to have such a large number of bright accounting students and superior learning institutions in the state of Illinois," said Martin H. Rosenberg, executive director of the Illinois CPA Society. "Academically, Illinois schools continue to produce some of the greatest financial talent in the nation."

Final Roundup Of Basketball In 1992

During the final week of competition for 1992, area cager squads either rang in the new year with a bang or a fizzle. Some welcome 1993 with optimism while others might not want to face what could lie ahead.

Monday Games (Dec. 28th)

Reavis 58 - Bogan 48

The Rams came back from a sluggish performance in the second quarter to take care of the Bengals 58-48 during the Luther South Tournament.

Ram highlights included an impressive 25 points from Jason Blizniak and 27 markers from the hot hands of Tony Bombacino, which accounted for nearly all of the Reavis scoring.

Champaign 66 - Marist 48

Ken Styler and his Redskins couldn't pull one out as they were downed by the Maroon Chargers 66-48 at the Centralia Tournament.

A trio of Redskins managed to hit the hoops for double numbers including Dan Michalak, Chris Christensen and Ed Saidat with 11 marks apiece for the game.

Brother Rice 69 - Paducah (Ky.) Tilghman 54

The Crusaders turned on the power shooting against Paducah Tilghman and came away with a 69-54 victory in their opening contest during the Carbondale Tournament.

Crusader Jim Sexton paced his squad with 19 points. He was followed by 14-point performances from teammates Britt Booker and Tony Pacetti.

The Demons from Park Ridge put the evil eye on the Argonauts as they pummeled the boys from Summit 73-43 during the Elgin Tournament.

The bright spot in this defeat was Ali Muster, who totaled almost half of the Argonaut points with 20, paired with a dozen boards.

St. Rita 73 - Stagg 60

It was the Mustangs all the way as they raced past the Chargers 73-60 at the Big Dipper Tournament.

The Chargers amassed 26 turnovers in the contest and St. Rita took advantage of the mistakes.

Mustang hot hands belonged to John Sanders with 21 points, 18 from guard Ken Harvey, and Charles Smith netted lucky number 13.

Charger scorers included Len Fotopoulos with 17 plus 13 from Greg Baker.

In other Monday games, Romeoville downed the Oak Lawn Spartans 49-37 at the Lemont Tournament despite Spartan Jeff Cowart's 14 points. Also in Lemont, Nazareth pounded the Bremen Braves 68-37. During the Lincoln-Way Tournament in Frankfort, Harper barely edged the Richards Bulldogs 76-75 in an overtime contest.

Ottawa 87 - Richards 85

It took Ottawa a double overtime to get past the Bulldogs in their 87-85 win during the Lincoln-Way Tournament in Frankfort.

This game was a part of the loser's bracket.

Oak Lawn 63 - Bremen 61

In still another overtime contest, the Spartans edged the Braves at the Lemont Tournament and earned seventh place.

A Spartan 'triple threat' featured Dan Burns with 19 points, D.J. Smith put through 18 and Jeff Cowart netted 17.

On the Brave side of the scorebook, Joe Myers was hot and scored 22 points.

Shepard 75 - Rich South 53

The Astros ended the last week of the year with a flying 75-53 victory over the Stars during the Rich South Tournament.

Shepard outrebounded the Stars 26-11 by halftime and limited their shooting accuracy to 27 percent from the floor. Top gunners for the Astros were John Economos with 26 points coupled with Dennis Payne's 14 markers and 10 caroms.

Wednesday Games

St. Rita 68 - Shepard 56

The Mustangs captured third place in the Big Dipper Tournament by outlasting the Astros 68-56 during a late evening contest.

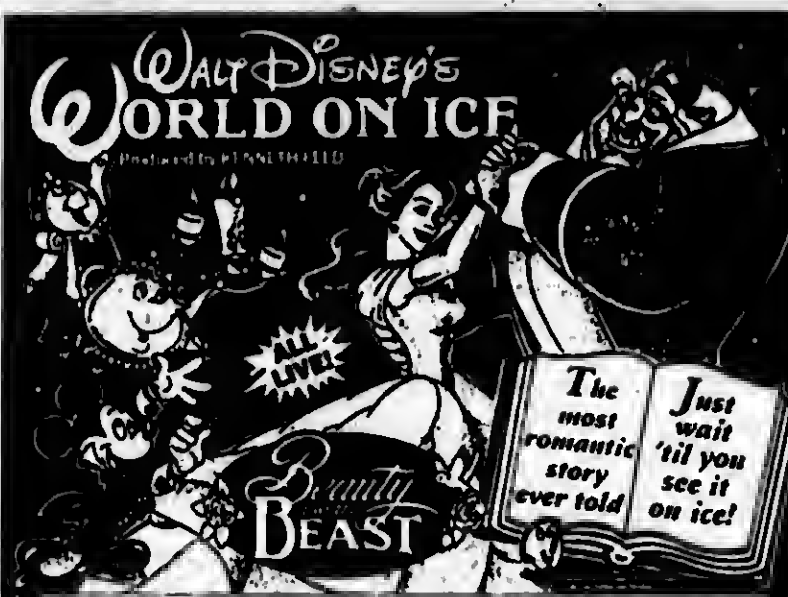

St. Rita's Marques Buford put 25 points through the twine as he connected on 11 of 25 shots from the floor. Teammates John Sanders (14 points) and Charles Smith (12 markers) aided the winning cause.

"It was our third game in 24 hours and we were determined to win it," remarked Mustang coach Jim Prunty. "The contest was a gut check for our team and we displayed the character necessary to be a winner."

On the Astro end, Tyrine Wilson totaled 19 points while Randy Byron added an even dozen markers.

"The score tells how we played," lamented Astro coach Kurt Enzminger. "We were out-hustled and outrebounded and we committed more turnovers."

In other action, Argo lost but fared much better against rival Dundee-Crown in the Elgin Tournament as the final score was 60-53.

ALL GOOD THINGS DON'T HAVE TO END - The Illinois small game (rabbit, quail and pheasant) hunting season ended yesterday Jan. 6 at sundown. There's no need to put your shotgun and dogs away until next November, Illinois has 52 licensed hunting preserves open to the public.

WHAT ARE HUNTING PRESERVES? They are licensed hunting areas that offer hunting from Sept. 1 to April 15 or year-round for ring-necked pheasants, bobwhite quail, chukar and Hungarian partridge, mallard ducks and even wild turkeys. Some hunting preserves feature all of these game birds; some may specialize in only one or two kinds.

Hunting preserves are open to the public on a daily-fee and/or annual membership basis. There's something for everyone - and as much hunting as you want.

WHAT TO EXPECT ON A HUNTING PRESERVE? For starters, a warm welcome. You are a valued customer and your host will do everything he can to provide a safe, enjoyable hunt.

You can expect the area to look like good hunting country with a rich blend of natural and planted cover. The game birds will be mature, full-plumaged, strong flyers and of the same color and conformation as their wild counterparts.

There will be experienced guides and well-trained hunting dogs available, or on many preserves you can use your own dog if you wish. Like shopping for a new suit, you may have to shop around for the preserve that fits your tastes and desires.

Whether you're a youngster dreaming of your first real bird hunt with that new shotgun, or a seasoned hunter longing for a red-letter day of good dogwork and flighty birds, you will find it on an Illinois hunting preserve.

WHAT DOES IT COST? That depends on how much hunting you want. Some hunting preserves charge a set fee for game birds released; others charge for a half-day or full-day hunt. In either case, fees will vary somewhat from preserve to preserve. They all charge a minimum fee per hunter or hunting party. Extra services, such as clay target shooting and/or dressing game birds will add to the charges.

But one thing is sure; a day on a hunting preserve is likely to cost no more than a so-called 'free hunt,' and will certainly cost much less time. Today, most sportsmen spend a great deal of time, money and effort just hunting for hunting, and what they find is often disappointing.

Wherever you live in Illinois, there is a good hunting preserve within easy driving distance. If you are a typical hunter without landowner contacts, that preserve may be the most practical (and in the long run, the cheapest) way to spend a day afield with dog, gun and game birds. Try a hunting preserve. Your search for good hunting may be over.

WHO TO CONTACT - The hunting preserve guide can be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: Illinois Association of Hunting Preserves, 1509 N. Milwaukee Avenue, Libertyville, IL 60048 (that's a new address) or to Terry Musser, Wildlife Division, Illinois Dept. of Conservation, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, IL 62701-1787.

There are many fine hunting preserves in the Chicago area. I hunt at GREEN ACRES SPORTSMAN'S CLUB in Roberts, south of Kankakee, conveniently located off I-57. For info - write or contact the Game Manager RANDY SELLECK, Roberts, IL 60962 or call (217) 395-2588 for reservations. RANDY and his staff are professionals experienced in game management, dog training and field trialing. Dog boarding and training are available at GREEN ACRES SPORTSMAN'S CLUB.

Softball In The Snow For Charity

For softball enthusiasts who can't wait until summer, now is the time to sign up teams for March of Dimes 'Sno-Ball Softball.' Sites for the weekend tournaments on Jan. 23rd and 24th include Lincoln Park, Oriole Park and New Castle Park in Chicago and the John Humphrey Complex in Orland Park. The Lincoln Park site will also host a women's 'Sno-Ball Softball' and a co-rec tournament.

'Sno-Ball Softball' is a way to get teams together for fun in winter and to help raise money for the March of Dimes campaign for healthier babies. To enter, a minimum donation of $150 is required. The donation increases to $200 per team after Friday, Jan. 8th. The campaign for healthier babies, a nationwide focus to prevent birth defects and infant mortality, urges pregnant women to get prenatal care.

First and second place teams at each tournament will receive trophies and prizes.

To accommodate the winter weather, there are a few unique rules to consider such as allowing mitts and gloves, starting each at-bat with one ball and one strike, and bases are usually bright orange traffic control cones.

To register, or for more information, call the March of Dimes at (312) 435-4007.

It's 1993.....C'mon now, fess up. How many of you are still sending out checks to pay for Christmas credit card charges and sundry other bills dating them "1992?" It's 1993!

BILL PAXTON(inset) stars as a young fireman from Arkansas who discovers clues to a hidden treasure in the urban suspense adventure flick "Trespass" playing at motion picture houses all over the Chicago area. The Universal Pictures release also stars Ice T, William Sadler and Ice Cube.....The Chicago premiere of "Two Trains Running" will be held on Jan. 25 at the Goodman Theatre. The play is set in 1969 in Pittsburgh's Hill District, where the wake of a local evangelist is drawing huge crowds at West's Funeral Home. Across the street, the regulars have gathered as usual at Memphis Lee's lunch counter to discuss the events of the day, put their money on their favorite number, and have a cup of coffee. Playwright August Wilson returns to the Goodman with the fifth in a lyrical cycle of plays exploring the African-American experience in this century, set four years after the assassination of Malcolm X--and a breath away from where America still stands today. The play will run through Feb. 28....."The Search for Signs of Intelligent Life in the Universe" has been extended through this Sunday at the Apple Tree Theatre in Highland Park....Betimes, the Apple Tree Theatre has announced it will stage a newly revised edition of Stephen Sondheim's "Merrily We Roll Along" which will have its American premiere on Jan. 29. Told in reverse chronology from 1979 to 1957, the play explores the professional highs and personal costs of realizing the American dream and effects of success on the relationship between three college friends.

CHRIS O'DONNELL (inset) stars as a 17-year-old straight-laced scholarship student at a prestigious prep school in the runaway hit "Scent of a Woman" currently setting box office records all over the city. Al Pacino also stars in the movie....Madonna, a striking and seductive young gallery owner (now that sounds creative), stands accused of using her sexual wiles (talk about type casting) to murder her much older and very wealthy lover in order to inherit his estate in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer flick "Body of Evidence" set to hit area screens on Jan. 15. Joe Mantegna, Anne Archer and William Dafoe also star along with Madonna in the movie....."Come Into Our House" is the title for the special fundraiser concert for AIDS to be presented by ASCAP/Midwest and LIFEbeat at the China Club, 616 West Fulton, on Sunday, Jan. 17 beginning at 9:30 p.m. Ten City, Ten Tray, Mike "Hitman" Wilson, Ms. Candy J., Black Julius and Tung Twista are among nationally-acclaimed musical acts performing at the concert....The Beverly Art Center is offering a wide range of unique workshops as part of the Arts Winter Session. The workshops get underway on Jan. 16 and more information can be obtained by calling: (312) 445-3838.

SUSAN SARANDON (inset) stars with Nick Nolte in the true story of faith and courage in the Universal Pictures release "Lorenzo's Oil" currently playing at movie theatres in the Chicago area. Sarandon plays an Irish-American linguist who embarks on an amazing quest to find a cure for her son's rare illness. The true story of Augusto and Michaela Odono traces their battle against time and the medical establishment in an effort to save the life of their five-year-old son from the rare and mysterious ailment. Thanks to this extraordinary couple, hundreds of people who have suffered from the disease are alive today.

DASHES TO DEADLINE.....Steve Martin, who portrays a crooked evangelist in the 20th Century Fox film "Leap of Faith," states in the January issue of Playboy magazine that people in show business don't know what they're doing. "In any business, one's power is defined by one's position. In advertising or banking, you know who you control. In the movie business, it's amorphous. The producer may have the power, or the star may, or the director or the studio--it changes," Martin says. "There is also this insecurity. No one can be completely confident because even geniuses fail in this business," he adds. Martin says he handles autograph seekers by dispensing preprinted cards that certify the recipient found Martin funny, charming and friendly. Asked the difference between stand-up comedy and making movies, Martin says: "In stand-up comedy I go to Detroit and Baltimore. With movies, the movie goes to Detroit and Baltimore and I stay home." Martin and his wife Victoria Tennant hang with funny friends like Tom Hanks, Kevin Kline, Martin Short, Rick Moranis, Carl Reiner, Phoebe Cates and others. "Their comedy is different from what they do on-screen. It's more sarcastic or satiric," says Martin. "You don't try to outdo the other guy, but you build on them and they build on you," he says. "That's when it's best. It's like the comedy god entered the room and you want to see how far you can go with him," says the 'wild and crazy guy.'

Mike 'Takes Time For Fun'

As Mike Singletary says "good-bye" to the Bears, he will say "hello" to all citizens through a new campaign promoting the public services offered by Illinois park districts, forest preserves and recreation agencies. "Take Time for Fun!" is an awareness program sponsored by the Illinois Association of Park Districts (IAPD) and the Illinois Park and Recreation Association (IPRA). Through this campaign, Singletary will promote recreation as a family activity and as an alternative to drugs and alcohol. He is the first NFL player to serve as spokesperson for parks and recreation.

According to the two associations, Singletary was selected as their representative because he exemplifies the image of parks and recreation. He grew up with access to public park programs providing him with opportunities to pursue sports and other recreation activities. He understands the many benefits and contributions recreation activities provide to local communities. Singletary serves as a role model for people of all ages as a devoted husband and father, a respected athlete and businessman, and a supporter of community services and youth group programs.

As Singletary retires, he can "Take Time for Fun!" and promote the various services and programs offered by Illinois parks, forest preserves and recreation agencies. A wide array of activities is available to the public, including sporting events; performing arts; instructional classes; preschool, youth, adult and senior programs; art and craft fairs; aquatic programs; group trips; and recreation services to persons with disabilities. With the addition of Singletary as representative, the campaign can further publicize the quality-of-life benefits provided by parks, recreation and conservation on a statewide level.

Local park districts, forest preserves and recreation agencies throughout Illinois will distribute posters, public service announcements, advertisements and brochures featuring Singletary.

For further information, contact: Illinois Association of Park Districts, 211 E. Monroe St., Springfield, IL 62701, (217) 523-4554; or Illinois Park and Recreation Association, 1N141 County Farm Road, Winfield, IL 60190.

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan congratulates Youth Service Medal of Honor recipients Patrick Rublen of Tinley Park, Kerry Kennedy of Chicago, Jason Mitchell of Chicago Ridge, Nicholas Kautas of Oak Lawn and Jennifer Cozad of Hometown.

"Continue to be the leaders you have been. If all young people go into their communities and do as you do, we will have a great generation," Sheahan told 133 youth volunteers who received awards at the 7th annual Cook County Sheriff's Youth Service Medal of Honor ceremonies on Dec. 5th.

Over 400 family members and friends gathered at the Daley Center to witness a proud moment in the lives of young volunteers who gave at least 100 hours of their time to their respective communities. In total, 197 honorees volunteered over 33,000 hours of service in drug prevention programs, hospitals, schools, religious institutions and other areas of concern. Their commitment, despite the negative influences that surround them, demonstrates the value of youth as active contributors to the community.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Dec. 23rd at 8:02 p.m., an Oak Lawn resident reported a burglar broke into his car and took a cellular phone, a Panasonic Discman CD player and 10 assorted tapes were missing. Estimated cost to replace is $800.

Barry Boylr of Downers Grove reported that while he was parked at 6700 W. 95th St., someone broke the passenger window and took his leather jacket, miscellaneous Christmas gifts and a calculator.

A resident of Oak Lawn reported that when she arrived home at 7:44 p.m., she found the master bedroom had been ransacked and approximately $2,200 worth of gold and diamond jewelry was taken.

On the 24th, Michael Debella of Chicago reported he had left his car at 4630 W. 95th St. for servicing and when he returned found someone had removed his Pioneer pullout radio cassette player valued at $265.

On the 27th, a resident on the 6700 block of 92nd Ave. reported someone threw a pool table ball and eggs at a screen and window which will cost about $150 to repair.

Jay Lurquin told police he responded to an alarm at his video store and found someone had taken a construction horse and threw it through his 6x13 ft. window which will cost $300 to replace.

A resident on the 10100 block of S. Mansfield Ave. reported that vandals cut eight strands of lights from the bushes outside. Each strand cost about $800.

Rudal Bedwan of Oak Lawn reported a Kenwood KRC 540 radio, Hiponics Thor amplifier and two 12-inch speakers were taken from the dashboard and trunk. Entry was made by breaking the passenger window. Estimated loss is $1,200.

Edgar Lauds Women's Project

Gov. Jim Edgar recently lauded the Women's Self-Employment Project for its commitment to helping welfare recipients become self-sufficient.

"Working in partnership with our administration, the Women's Business Initiative will help recipients of Aid for Dependent Children (AFDC) launch businesses so they can achieve the independence and dignity that success in the private sector brings," the governor said.

"I was pleased to sign legislation that will help implement this program, and the Illinois Department of Public Aid is prepared to do whatever is necessary to make it work," Edgar added.

"I am convinced that the vast majority of those receiving public assistance in Illinois would prefer not to be dependent on government. This program, now bolstered by a three-year, $500,000 federal grant, will open opportunities for those ready and willing to take advantage of them."

The governor signed legislation that will allow program participants to accumulate up to $5,000 in business assets without affecting AFDC eligibility for two years. The new law also requires the Department of Public Aid to provide self-employment training participants the same kind of financial and supportive services, such as health insurance, food stamps and reimbursement for child care and transportation, that they provide recipients in other job training programs.

The initiative will provide 12 weeks of self-employment training that will include instruction in such business necessities as product marketing and creating cash flow statements. Those completing the training program will be urged to take advantage of a revolving loan fund to start their businesses.

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

Sixty-six members of the Oak Lawn Red Cross unit turned in 1,341 hours for the month of December. They are anxious to increase the number of workers in the sewing and surgical dressing groups. The Monday night surgical dressing meeting was started to give those who are employed or unable to come on Fridays, a chance to do their bit. So far the response is not as large as expected.

The January meeting of the Oak Lawn PTA, to be held on Tuesday, Jan. 12th at 8 p.m., will be turned over to just having fun. It's Party Night at the Covington School.

The newly elected officers of the Faith Church Ladies' Aid of Columbus Manor took their new positions on Thursday afternoon at their first meeting of this year. They are as follows: Mrs. A. Krueger, president; Mrs. E. Desmond, Jr., vice-president; Mr. Brauer, secretary; and Mrs. E. Lidche, treasurer.

Family Care Series

A free six-session series to "strengthen families" is being offered by the District 123 Educational Foundation in cooperation with the Family Care Network. The meetings take place at the Gaddis School Training Center (northwest entrance), 93rd & Keeler, and cover a different topic at each session, beginning on Thursday, Jan. 14th at 7:30 p.m. Successive sessions will be held on Jan. 21st and on the 2nd and 3rd Thursdays of February and March.

Subjects to be covered are: Jan. 14th, "Encouraging Yourself as a Parent"; Jan. 21st, "Encouraging Your Children"; Feb. 11th, "Why Children Act the Way They Do"; Feb. 18th, "Responding in an Effective Way"; March 11th, "How Important is Marriage to Your Parenting?"; and March 18th, "Addressing Issues of Substance Abuse."

There will be different leaders for the sessions including Christopher Higgins, Psy.D.; Susan Hagen, M.A.; Christian Gostecnick, M.A.; Shirley Dorrough, M.A.; Thomas Holden, D.Min.; and Deslee Stepteah, M.S.W.

For more information, call the district office at 423-0150.

Auditing Firm OK'd

At Tuesday night's Oak Lawn Village Board meeting, Mayor Ernest Kolb voted with three majority trustees to award a $20,000 contract to Pandolfi, Topolski, Weiss & Co. Trustees Marjorie Joy and Ronald Stancik, allies of Kolb, voted against the measure charging a conflict of interest as the consultant who prepared the 1993 Oak Lawn budget is on the auditing firm's payroll.

Kolb's vote was necessary since Trustee William Hefka was absent and a motion to spend money needs four votes for passage. Kolb said that "deep down" he too felt that there may be a conflict of interest, but added that the firm has done good work for the village and that he wanted to get started with the auditing as soon as possible. "We should look into the ethics of the possible conflict, however in order to get things moving I would like to proceed."

Village Attorney Burton Odelson said that there is no conflict of interest and a representative from the auditing firm pointed out that Pandolfi, Topolski, Weiss & Co. provides auditing services to a number of its clients.

In other business, Kolb announced that the Oak Lawn Fire Department has received a 'Class 1' insurance rating for its fire protection. He said that the village is one of just 12 in the nation to receive this rating, the second in the State of Illinois.

Fire Chief Jack McCastland stated that a 'Class 1' rating means great savings for the village. McCastland added that "team effort is what makes the Oak Lawn Fire Department one of the best in the nation."

Mayor Kolb added a special thanks to the water department as the rating would not have been possible without the fine job the department does.

Trustee Joy has consulted Dr. Issa at the University of Illinois concerning driveways in the Eagle Ridge subdivision. She told the board that Dr. Issa may begin taking samples of the concrete in the driveways as early as Friday. The board agreed to have Dr. Issa conduct the sampling.

Village Clerk A. Jayne Powers swore-in Vincent J. Griffin as a firefighter.

The next regular meeting of the board is at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 26th in the council chambers of the village hall.

School Evaluates Disabled Guidelines

Oak Lawn Community High School is subject to the provisions of the American with Disabilities Act of 1990, a federal statute commonly referred to as the ADA. The ADA requires that public entities such as school districts conduct a self-evaluation of the accessibility of facilities to individuals with disabilities. The purpose of this self-evaluation is to determine if structural changes must be made to existing facilities in order to comply with ADA accessibility requirements. If the self-evaluation process identifies the need for structural changes to a facility, the public entity must develop a transition plan for remedying the identified accessibility barriers.

Oak Lawn Community High School is in the process of conducting a self-evaluation of the accessibility of school facilities. All interested persons including individuals with disabilities and organizations representing individuals with disabilities are encouraged to submit comments regarding the accessibility of school district facilities. Comments should be sent to Mr. Bill Hill, ADA/504 Coordinator, 9400 Southwest Highway, Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

Asthma Speaker

PAC (Parents of Asthmatic Children) presents Larry Roy, M.D., speaking on "Asthma in Children" on Thursday, Jan. 28th at Christ Hospital and Medical Center at 7 p.m. in the Percy Hopkins Auditorium.

For more information, call Sue at (312) 239-7209 or Pat at (708) 424-9189. Admission is free.

Fire Chief Removed

After serving in the Hometown volunteer fire department for the past 12 years, working his way up to the position of fire chief, Steve Klotz has been removed from that job by the city council. Klotz had been acting chief since April of last year. He joined the department as a cadet when he was 15.

Since moving to Tinley

Park to be closer to an ailing relative, Klotz was discharged, as the fire volunteers are required to live in Hometown so they can respond quickly to calls.

Despite a petition and letter signed by 25 people and presented to the trustees, Klotz will not be reinstated. However, he will remain in his full-time job as a firefighter in Bedford Park.

Rotary Party

Jim Brady, vice president of Oak Lawn National Bank, and Park Lawn student Sylvia Kazecki share a moment during a recent holiday party given by the Rotary Club of Oak Lawn. Students from Park Lawn, Garden School and St. Germaine were treated to an afternoon of lunch and entertainment. The club is dedicated to helping others and to community service. Park Lawn is a non-profit agency that provides programs and services for children and adults with developmental disabilities.

Alford Scholarship

The 8th annual Clark Alford Scholarship Award of $500 will be awarded in the spring to a 1989 Prairie Junior High graduate of School District 126 for college, university or trade school use. The major criterion is considerable voluntary service. Applications are available at all four district schools, at the district office, 11900 S. Kostner Ave., and most local high school scholarship offices. The deadline for applications is March 30th. For more information on the scholarship, call 389-1900 or 371-3080.

The Clark Alford Scholarship was established from the Clark Alford Memorial Fund. Alford served for 18 years (1965-83) as a school board member in the district.

He gave extraordinary time and effort to many volunteer activities such as Red Cross, Aisip Fire Department, Kiwanis and the Palos Methodist Church. When Alford died in 1984, a memorial fund was created. It was decided to present a one-year scholarship award annually to a deserving former Prairie Junior High graduate, now a high school senior who exemplified through action and deed, a commitment to volunteer service. Last year's winner was Michael Spinella, Prairie Junior High 1988 graduate who was chosen from 13 applicants.

The 1990 winner was Tanya Galanes, 1986 graduate. The 1989 winner was Colleen Houlihan, 1985 graduate. The 1988 winner was Traci Cox, a 1984 graduate. The 1987 winner was Suma Jacob, a 1983 graduate and the 1986 winner was Renee Arnold, a 1982 graduate.

Putting On "The Ritz"

A "Putting on the Ritz" fashion show is planned for Wednesday, Jan. 27th beginning at 6 p.m. at Annie Tiques, 82nd and Cicero. The event is sponsored by the Women's Guild of Our Lady of Loretto Church. Tickets are $20 until Jan. 22nd, $25 after that date.

For additional information, call the rectory at 424-7471.

Recycling

Dr. Hank Hammer (right), moderator of the Marist High School student council and senior Timothy Mulcahy of Oak Lawn have announced the commencement of a school-wide paper recycling program. The student council and the Marist ecology club, in conjunction with ACI Enterprises, Blue Island, organized the process and rules for collection of the paper throughout the school.

"Our school produces so much paper that is simply thrown away," said Mulcahy, "we decided to play a small role in saving our environment." With the help of the ecology club, we know that plans for future activities are underway.

There are currently 85 collection bins located in all of the classrooms and offices throughout the school. Student volunteers from each classroom empty the bins daily into three 90-gallon tanks located outside the boiler room. The response to the program has been overwhelming. With the continued cooperation of students and faculty, Marist continues to move forward in the effort to preserve the environment.

Tax Fraud Sentence

A Chicago-area businessman was sentenced to three years in prison Wednesday for failing to pay $80,000 in state sales tax.

Kevin B. Lydon, 39, formerly of 1342 Leverenz Road, Naperville, was sentenced in Cook County Circuit Court after a jury convicted him on Dec. 9th of failing to report $1.2 million in sales between June of 1989 and December of 1990.

Lydon, as owner of Designer Collections and Premier Design, bought truckload and railroad car lots of furniture which he in turn sold from tents and trailers set up in parking lots across the metropolitan Chicago area.

The Illinois Department of Revenue has renewed its efforts to enforce state tax laws under Project Tax Gap. "Honest taxpayers everywhere must know we stand ready to collect from those who do not pay," Director Douglas L. Whitley said.

Lydon's case was investigated by agents from the Department of Revenue's Bureau of Criminal Investigation. The office of the Illinois attorney general prosecuted the case.

Legal Steps For Unwed Dads

Beginning Jan. 1st, it was easier for unwed fathers to declare their paternity immediately following the birth of their children, Gov. Jim Edgar stressed.

The state's new Parentage Act requires the Illinois Department of Public Aid and the state's hospitals to provide unwed parents with easy-to-follow instructions and the forms necessary to establish legal parentage in the hospital following the birth. Simply having a man's name on a birth certificate does not make him the baby's legal father.

"Many unmarried parents do not realize that without a legal relationship with their child, benefits such as Social Security, VA benefits, inheritance rights and health insurance coverage may be denied to the child," Edgar said. "We hope that parents will give their children every possible advantage in life, beginning with this simple but important step."

The new law also will reduce the need for lengthy court proceedings (more than 20,000 cases a year) as well as reduce paperwork and other costs necessary when establishing paternity to collect child support.

The law will apply to some 62,000 births to unwed parents, or about one third of all births in the state.

The information packet provided by Public Aid to hospitals includes a petition and consent order along with an explanation of the benefits of establishing parentage. When completed, the forms will be forwarded to the county registrar along with the birth certificate.

The department has conducted training sessions at hospitals throughout the state and has mailed information to numerous groups to assure compliance with the new law.

"We are pleased to have the opportunity to provide this information, especially at the hospital where it will be easy and convenient to complete the process," Edgar said. "Affirming pride in becoming a parent and accepting responsibility for a child takes only five minutes, and it will provide the child with a lifetime of benefits."

The Governor signed the legislation into law last Sept. 11. The chief sponsor was Sen. John Cullerton (D-Chicago).

Also starting Jan. 1st, all new state employees will be asked to declare whether they have an obligation to pay child support and to indicate whether they are in default. The information will be given to Public Aid to help collect child support from those new state employees who have become delinquent.

Information about establishing legal parentage and collecting child support is available through the Department's child support hotline at 1-800-447-4278. For the hearing-impaired, the TDD number is 1-800-526-5812.

Electronic Filing Of Tax Returns

Jackson Hewitt Tax Service of Oak Lawn will begin processing electronically filed 1992 income tax returns on Jan. 15th, the day the IRS has announced it will begin accepting electronically filed returns.

When a Jackson Hewitt client chooses to file electronically, the return is transmitted to the IRS via computer modem. The customer's return is processed and acknowledged by the IRS, generally, within 6 to 8 hours after leaving the tax office. Jackson Hewitt offers this service free of charge with each paid-tax return.

The Refund Anticipation Loan allows eligible clients to get use of their refund money in three business days or less. In some cases a customer can return to the Jackson Hewitt office to receive the loan money based on their federal return within 24 hours.

Jackson Hewitt Tax Service, with over 500 offices coast-to-coast, was the second largest electronic filer nationwide in 1992. The company processed over 290,000 electronic returns, about 65 percent of which were refund anticipation loans.

"Winter Fest '93" Planned

The Forest Preserve District of Cook County is offering the perfect remedy for January's cabin fever. It's tobogganing, sleigh rides, a nature scavenger hunt and Siberian Husky sled races. And it's all available, in plentiful doses, at the forest preserve district's 1993 Winter Festival. Cook County Board President Richard Phelan will host the festival on Jan. 30th from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Swallow Cliff, Route 83 (west of Mannheim Rd.), Palos Park.

"The Winter Festival promises to be fun for the whole family," Phelan said. "It's a great opportunity to enjoy the forest preserve during the winter and experience some of the special recreational activities the district offers."

At the festival, there also will be snowshoe and cross-country skiing demonstrations, puppet shows and demonstrations by the Forest Preserve District's canine and mounted police units. All events are free. Food will be available for purchase.

If Mother Nature does not cooperate by sending snow for the festival, there are plenty of "non-snow" activities planned, Phelan said. "Regardless of the weather, Winter Festival 1993 will be a memorable time. There will be plenty of fresh air, beautiful scenery and fun for everyone."

For more information, call the district's special events office at (708) 771-1062, (708) 771-1014 or TDD (708) 771-1190. Special assistance and accommodations can be arranged.

The rattle of sabres around the world has focused even greater attention on the combat effectiveness of the military forces of the United States.

Immediately after President Clinton is sworn-in as President of the United States next Wednesday, he will face some mounting world tensions and the clamor of gay rights activists and civil libertarians who want to see the 50-year ban on announced homosexuals lifted for the armed forces.

Even ROTC commissioning programs on college campuses are under siege from the activist groups plus the American Council on Education, the American Psychological Association, the Association of American Universities and the Unitarian Church, who have forced Congress to introduce House Bill 271, calling for the Defense Department to rescind the ban on homosexuals in ROTC units.

The dispute over lifting the ban on homosexuals in the military comes from two distinctive camps. There are those who are now serving or who have served in the military, and a vocal contingent whose closest brush with military life has been sitting through a two-hour John Wayne war movie.

For some ludicrous reason, people who have never been in the armed forces try to compare military life to civilian life. The military is not a democracy; it is a dictatorship.

The enlisted military man or woman lives in a two-story barracks a good part of 24 hours a day, divided into two large 'bedrooms' of 24 people on each floor, with zero privacy when it comes to dressing, undressing, sleeping, showering and taking care of personal hygiene matters.

We recently received a letter supporting our views from United States Senator Sam Nunn (D-Georgia), chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee.

Senator Nunn wrote: "I also believe we should give careful consideration to the advice of our military commanders on this subject. Recently, General Colin Powell, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, offered the following observations in testimony before Congress:"

General Powell said: "It is just my judgment and the judgment of the Chiefs that homosexual behavior is inconsistent with maintaining good order and discipline."

What do I mean by that? I mean it is difficult in a military setting where there is no privacy, where you don't get a choice of association, where you don't get a choice of where you live, to introduce a group of individuals who are proud, brave, loyal, good Americans, but who favor a homosexual lifestyle and put them in with heterosexuals who would prefer not to have somebody of the same sex find them sexually attractive, put them in close proximity, ask them to share the most private facilities together, the bedroom, the barracks, latrines and showers."

Senator Nunn's letter to this reporter also said: "I am in agreement with General Powell's position. Good order, discipline and high morale are essential requirements for effective military units."

Charles Moskos, professor of sociology, Northwestern University, and author of the book, "The Military—More than Just a Job?," says: "Anybody who wants to allow homosexuals into the military must make the same argument for breaking down privacy barriers between the sexes."

Professor Moskos says: "The proper analogy between homosexuals and heterosexuals is that between men and women. Sexual orientation is, after all, sexual orientation. Erotic urges are powerful human drives and recognized as such."

"Most feminists would not advocate forced intimate living between the sexes. Likewise, enlightened gay advocates should not argue for compulsory intimacy among persons of openly different sexual orientation," Moskos emphatically states.

"Nowhere in our society are the sexes forced to endure situations of undress in front of each other. Should there be 'empirical research' on the effects of mixed male/female bathing?" asks Professor Moskos.

Most heterosexual men and women dislike being exposed to homosexuals of their own sex. If feelings of privacy for women are respected regarding privacy from men, then we must respect those of straights with regards to gays.

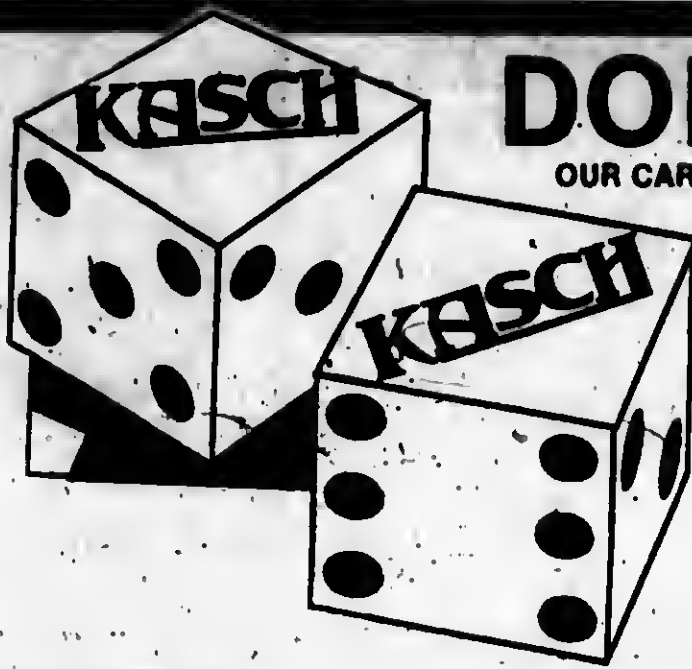

Separate living quarters would create problems that boggle the mind, and besides, gay rights advocates decry separate housing for homosexuals and heterosexuals.

A month ago, I wrote about being sexually harassed by a gay Major during the Korean War and how I didn't report it. Countless times I have been asked why I didn't report the gay Major.

The unvarnished answer is if I had reported the incident, it would have been my word as a corporal as opposed to the word of an officer. Also, the gay Major, appearing before a tribunal of his peers, could have said I was the one who had sexually harassed him. Rank has its privileges (RHIP).

Found "guilty" by the 'good 'ol boy' tribunal of officers, and I would have received a 'Section 8' discharge, "not fit for military service." Acquitted and my 201 permanent record military file would have indicated I once brought up sexual harassment charges against an officer. Not a pleasant tour-of-duty scenario.

Sexual orientation and the sexual predatory nature of the homosexual is really all that matters. Every year 1,000 not so discreet homosexuals are discharged from the military and that is why the ban on homosexuals in the military still makes good sense.

Health Care Program For All

By U.S. Sen. Paul Simon

One of the least helpful political efforts is being made by a few who are trying to pit one generation against another, specifically the old against the young.

Here is their argument: In 1968, 30 percent of those over the age of 65 lived below the poverty level and now that figure is down to approximately 12.5 percent, while in that same period the number of persons under 18 living in poverty increased from 15 percent to approximately 20 percent.

Their conclusion: We'll have to take from older Americans to give to younger Americans.

That one out of five young Americans lives in poverty should be a matter of national shame. That is not true in Japan or Germany or France or Great Britain or any number of countries that could be named.

Our failure to address the investment we should make in our human resources has created this tragedy that should not cause us to make the giant illogical leap that some suggest, taking away benefits from older Americans.

Yes, the programs for older Americans - primarily Social Security retirement - generally have worked. There are still some major holes in this safety net for seniors, but thanks to the vision and compassion and common sense of people who were lawmakers before I arrived on the Washington scene, generally older Americans are living better than they once did.

Of that we should be proud. The answer to the problem of young Americans living in poverty is to address the causes of that poverty, not to diminish a sound program we have for seniors.

Despite all the rumors to the contrary, the Social Security retirement system is basically sound - if we assume that Congress and the new President will address the deficit problem. That deficit remains the one huge gray storm cloud over the Social Security system.

But seniors continue to have major problems with long-term care, cost of prescriptions, cost of dentures and other needs that have yet to be seriously addressed. And even for those without these special needs, living above the poverty level does not mean living on Easy Street.

What should be done to lift children out of poverty? That takes more space than I have in this column, but it includes:

A jobs program, similar to the old WPA, instead of the present welfare program for those out of work more than five weeks. Pay would be the minimum wage, for four days a week, or $535 a month. Not much, but better than the average Illinois family on welfare gets, $367 a month - and Illinois pays much more than many states. We should pay people for being productive, not for being non-productive.

A health care program that covers all Americans.

More investment and more attention to education, including education for single parents who cannot read and write, or who have no marketable skills. And education for children, particularly in disadvantaged areas, must start earlier.

That's a good beginning. Will this cost money? Yes, it will. But not doing it will cost even more money in the long term. We have to do more long-term thinking.

Combine these programs with a realistic fiscal policy that starts chopping away at the huge deficit, and America will be on the road to economic recovery and leadership.

But we don't need to follow the deceptive appeals of those who try to pit one generation of Americans against another.

Energy Grants

Grants of up to $200 are available this winter to help needy residential gas heating customers who are having difficulty paying natural gas bills, but are ineligible for other energy assistance programs. The grants are available through "Sharing," a Northern Illinois Gas program administered by the Salvation Army. Since "Sharing" began in 1983, grants of more than $4.8 million have helped thousands of people.

The Salvation Army reviews applications, judges eligibility and approves the grants. To qualify for the 1993 program which began on Jan. 11th, a customer must be a Northern Illinois Gas residential heating customer with an account balance and have an income level at or below 140 percent of the federal established poverty level. Applicants should also be ineligible for state or federal energy assistance programs.

To apply for a grant, people should take their most recent gas bill, proof of total gross household income and photo identification to the Salvation Army. To find the nearest Salvation Army office, look in the white pages of the telephone directory or call (312) 725-1100.

"Sharing" receives contributions from Northern Illinois Gas customers, employees and stockholders of its parent company, NICOR Inc. Many people donate to "Sharing" by checking the box above "Total Amount Due" on their gas bill and adding a dollar to their payment.

To make a larger contribution, or if gas bill payments are electronically transferred from a checking account, people can send a check to: "Sharing," c/o The Salvation Army, P.O. Box 111, Bellwood, IL 60104-1898.

Donations will be matched dollar-for-dollar by Northern Illinois Gas up to $250,000. Matching funds come from the company's earnings and do not affect customers' rates.

Holiday

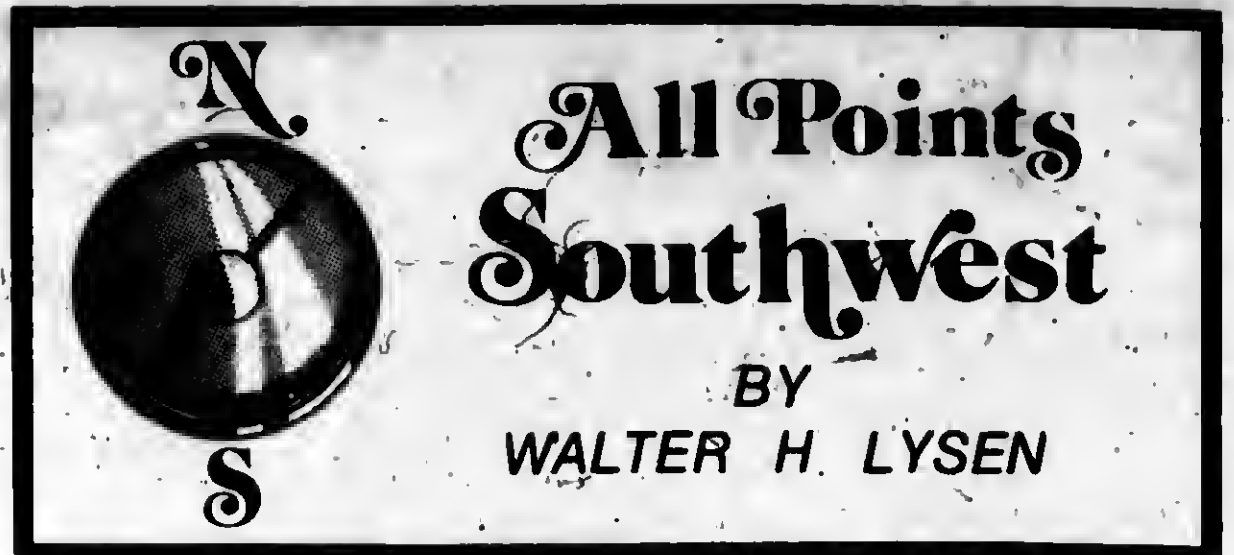

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for Martin Luther King Day, Secretary of State George H. Ryan announced recently. The holiday is observed by all state agencies.

Driver services facilities outside Cook County, which normally are open Tuesday through Saturday, will be closed Saturday, Jan. 16th and will reopen Tuesday, Jan. 19th.

All other offices and facilities will be closed Monday, Jan. 18th and will resume business Tuesday, Jan. 19th.

Bridge Work

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan and the Board of Commissioners awarded Walsh Construction a $2.7 million contract to repair and reopen the Ashland Ave. bridge by June of this year. The bridge was closed Sept. 1st after the City of Chicago determined it to be structurally unsound during an inspection of 354 of the City's bridge and viaduct structures.

The 1992 Circuit Breaker and Pharmaceutical Assistance Program booklets and application forms have been mailed to 423,000 Illinois residents.

The programs include several substantial changes enacted by the legislature to reduce costs and target available resources to those most in need.

The two programs provide assistance to senior citizens (age 65 and over) and totally disabled persons (aged 16 and over) whose 1992 household income was below $14,000. An individual approved for the circuit breaker program becomes eligible to participate in the pharmaceutical program.

The circuit breaker program provides grants for individuals whose property tax obligations represent a high percentage of their income. Grants can be as much as $700, depending upon household income and property or mobile home taxes paid.

Changes to the circuit breaker program include:

- elimination of an $80 grant to all eligible participants.
- reduction in the percentages used to figure the rent credit.

The Pharmaceutical Assistance Program helps pay for prescription medication used to treat arthritis, diabetes, and heart and blood pressure problems.

Changes to the Pharmaceutical Assistance Program include a tie to the federal poverty levels:

- The cost of the pharmaceutical card, which had been $80, will be $40 for single persons with yearly income of $6,810 or less or for married couples living together whose income is $9,190 or less.

• The cost of the card will continue to be $80 for single persons whose income is between $6,810 and $14,000 or for married couples whose income is between $9,190 and $14,000.

• The $5 and $10 copayments have been eliminated and replaced with a monthly deductible of $15 for those with $40 cards and $25 for those with $80 cards.

• The $800 annual cap on prescription benefits has been removed. Instead, participants will pay 20 percent of the approved drug costs over $800.

To handle questions about the circuit breaker and pharmaceutical programs, the department has established a toll-free number, 1-800-624-2459.

Crestwood Mayor Chester Stranczek, who will be honored at the 23rd annual V.I.P. Mayoral Dinner Dance on Jan. 29th, announced this week that he will seek re-election in April along with his five other incumbents.

In addition to the mayor the Village Improvement Party (VIP) includes Village Clerk Nancy Benedetto and trustees Ron Wassag, Fred Settanni, Jim Fowler, and Lou Presta. Stranczek, Settanni and Wassag have each served six terms on the board. Benedetto has held office for three terms. Both Presta and Fowler will be seeking their first full terms. Both were appointed to fill vacancies, Fowler in 1990 and Presta last month.

The V.I.P. Dinner Dance will be held at Dave's Rosewood West, and according to chairman Nancy Benedetto some tickets are available. Call (708) 371-4800 for more information.

Tonight (Thursday Jan. 14) the Citizens Committee for Hynes, will honor Cook County Assessor and 19th Ward Democratic Committeeman Tom Hynes at a cocktail reception (5 to 7 p.m.) at the McCormick Center Hotel, 23rd and the Lake Front.

Chicago Alderman Thomas Murphy (18th Ward) was taken to Little Company of Mary Hospital on Tuesday for minor throat surgery. He missed a city council meeting for the first time since he was sworn-in in May of 1991.

In sharp contrast to the debacle four years ago, Worth Township Republicans caucused on Tuesday night and in a smooth, brief meeting, presented a slate of candidates for the Tuesday, April 20 election. From 14 who presented their credentials to the slating committee headed by Bob Telander, members submitted nine candidates to represent the GOP in April.

The committee's recommendations were accepted unanimously by the 52 members of the caucus, a model of parliamentary procedure. The Republican candidates for township office include Ed Barron for Supervisor; Marcia Ozinga Hite for Clerk; Dan Donahue for Assessor; Jeff Layhe for Highway Commissioner, and Peter Paulius for Collector. Trustee candidates are Michael R. Davies (incumbent), Jack O'Connor, Del Swanson and J. John Zurek.

GOP Township Committeeman Jeff Layhe said, "I believe we have assembled a strong, viable ticket that offers the voters a real choice. We plan to campaign hard between now and April 20th and run strictly on the issues."

At Monday night's Worth Township Democratic meeting, candidates for township office were selected. The slate is to run under the Performance Party label in the April 20th election. The slate includes Joan Patricia Murphy for Supervisor, Thomas "Bud" Gavin for Clerk, William "Bill" Connors for Assessor, Michael O'Malley Witt for Highway Commissioner and Emmett "Bud" Meyer for Collector. All are incumbents.

Trustee candidates are Dorothea Hoch, Nancy Stack, Frederick Shannon and William Bailey. All are seeking township office for the first time. Bailey is former mayor of Palos Heights.

Republicans and Democrats in Palos Township have buried the hatchet and are running on a coalition slate April 20 with the endorsements of Committeemen Republican Herb Schumann and Democrat John Cannatello who are part of the United Township Coalition Party of Palos Township. The slate was put together at a meeting January 9 in Palos Hills in the headquarters of the Palos Township Democrats. State Representatives Terry Steczo (D-35) and Anne Zickus (R-48) were present at the meeting.

The Midlothian Turnpike is scheduled to be widened to four lanes from Cicero to Pulaski and from Harlem to Cental, completing a three-phase project. The project is scheduled for 1994. According to the Cook County Highway Department, the widening is mandated due to increased traffic volume on the turnpike.

Information on how to become a Catholic Charities foster parent will be presented at a meeting on Monday, Feb. 15th, 7:30 p.m., at St. Julie Billiart Parish in the William J. Devine Activity Center, 7399 W. 159th St. For information, call Michael Smith at (312) 655-7200.

Worth GOP Candidates

At last night's Worth Township Republican Caucus, those in attendance chose Edward Barron, former Oak Lawn Trustee and former president of the Worth Township GOP Organization as the candidate for township supervisor in the April 20th election. Other candidates include Marcia Ozinga White for clerk, Dan Donahue for assessor, Jeff Layhe for highway commissioner, and Peter Paulius for collector.

The candidates for township trustee are Michael R. Davies, Jack O'Connor, Del Swanson and J. John Zurek.

The seven chosen to represent the Republican Party in the township election were chosen from candidates who submitted their resumes to a screening committee, then appeared before the committee in person to present their qualifications and credentials. Former township trustee Bob Telander was chairman of the screening committee.

Blood Drive

January is National Volunteer Blood Donor Month. In the spirit of the proclamation issued by President George Bush, St. Fabian Church, 7450 W. 83rd St., is hosting a blood drive on Monday, Jan. 18th, in the parish center from 2:30 to 8 p.m. Walk-ins are welcome and blood drive chairperson Chuck Gamen encourages the public to join in this lifesaving act and donate on this day or call the church office for an appointment at (708) 458-6150.

LifeSource Blood Services reports a chronic shortage of blood in this area. Blood types O and B are especially short, but all blood types are asked to volunteer.

Volunteer donors receive a free mini-physical which includes checking a donor's temperature, iron level, blood pressure and cholesterol level. Eligible donors must be in good health, weigh at least 110 pounds and be at least 17 years of age. In addition, donors should eat a well-balanced meal and drink plenty of liquids before donating.

Donating blood takes only 45 minutes from registration to refreshments. Only pre-packaged, disposable, sterile needles are used and then disposed of. Donations can be made every 56 days.

Trustee Deadline Nears

The big question is, can Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees agree on a candidate to replace Patrick O'Malley? O'Malley, who was sworn-in as State Senator for the 18th District on Wednesday, resigned following his election victory in November. The board has until Friday, Jan. 22nd to choose a successor.

If the politically divided board fails to agree on a single candidate from 13 who have so far applied, the chairman of the Illinois Community College Board must appoint the new trustee. Should that happen, it would be the first time in the history of the State of Illinois such action would be necessary.

At a Monday night meeting, a quorum of the six sitting trustees did not occur.

The only trustees at the meeting were Patricia Fleming and Mary Rose Hennessy. Also in attendance was Vanessa Cervantes, student trustee. Student trustees have no vote.

MVCC President, Vernon Cawley and Board Trustee Burton Odelson said they hope the board can agree on a successor to O'Malley. Trustee Hennessy said that an appointment by the state board chairman would be acceptable if the selectee were chosen for his or her principles.

Odelson is attempting to get former Moraine Valley

Community College Board Chairman John Griffin to apply for O'Malley's seat.

He said that applications can be accepted until deadline day. The board, as now composed, is usually split 3-3 and have experienced difficulty recently in having a quorum present for its meetings.

Odelson was expected to seek trustee approval of John Griffin at last night's board meeting.

New McAuley Gymnasium To Open

The opening game in the new spectator gymnasium of Mother McAuley High School takes place on Tuesday, Jan. 19th beginning at 4:30 p.m. This event signifies the culmination of the construction project initiated at the school last May which includes the gym as well as a new fine arts facility. Both buildings are completed and ready for occupancy.

Formal dedication ceremonies will be held on Sunday, March 7th. Festivities begin on Jan. 19th at 1:15 p.m. with an all-school pep rally in the gym. This is the first time the entire student body will be assembled under one roof in the history of the school. Special features include the National Anthem sung by the A Cappella Chorus, the new Pep Band, introduction of the new Mighty Mac mascot, new cheers, the Oath of Athletes and a special appearance of the dance club directed by Marianne Mitchell.

All three basketball teams play Queen of Peace High School. Commemorative tickets have been printed for the freshman game scheduled for 4:30, junior varsity at 5:45 and varsity at 7:15, with pre-game activities. The varsity basketball team, coached by Diane Darrah, holds a season record of 13-3. They were IHSA State Champions in 1991.

Spirit-Week activities are planned for the remainder of the week. Crazy dress days, cafeteria specials, decorations and special music are highlights of the week's activities. The students will celebrate the end of the festivities with a barn dance.

Employment Survey Underway

Employees of the U.S. Census Bureau are sampling area residents between Jan. 17th and 23rd to collect data on employment and tobacco use for the current population survey, according to Stanley Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office. The local labor force data contributes to the national employment and unemployment picture to be released on Friday, Feb. 5th by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The additional data on tobacco use will be used by the Public Health Service to measure people's knowledge of and opinions towards smoking and tobacco use, as well as mark changes in tobacco use over time.

Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

Audit To Investigate Possible Funds Misuse

An investigation to determine whether or not over $1 million was misspent on an electrician's training program affiliated with Moraine Valley Community College is currently being conducted by the U.S. Labor Department.

This audit was requested by leaders of Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The union found that teachers employed by Moraine Valley were also paid for the same work by this apprenticeship program.

Since 1988, this program has paid $971,991 in bonuses and wages to 42 instructors, who are also on the college's payroll. One of the teachers was paid an extra $24,096 in 1988.

The closer you look at it, the more you realize that there are HMO's from Blue Cross and then there's everybody else.

Tom Denham
Senior Vice President, Sales

Blue Cross has been offering HMO coverage for pretty close to twenty years now. And over those years, we've become the biggest HMO in Illinois.

With far more doctors in far more locations than anybody else. With more options than any of the others.

Of course, new HMOs pop up all the time. Promising to give you more. Promising to do it for less.

But HMO Illinois—a Blue Cross HMO—continues to thrive. Taking on all comers. Winning over companies that need a strong, efficient HMO on their side.

Today, nobody can offer your people better access to good quality health care than we can. Here in Illinois. And all across America, where Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans care for more than 70 million people.

When it gets to be time to re-enroll, look at our track record. Look at the hard numbers. Look at what we've accomplished over twenty years.

You know what I think you'll find? I think you'll find that the gold standard in HMO coverage isn't really gold after all. It's actually a very nice shade of blue.

Oak Lawn Community High School juniors Claudia Gonzalez and Ventra Norvillas have been chosen to represent the district and the Oak Lawn Rotary Club at the World Affairs International Seminar at the University of Wisconsin - Whitewater from June 13th to 18th. Their selection was based upon interest in world affairs, background in foreign language study, social studies courses taken in high school and career/college plans in international studies. The program provides a unique educational program consisting of lectures, films, panels and group discussions on topics of significance without formal class assignments or reports. There will also be personal association with 1,000 students from throughout the United States and Canada, as well as 250 foreign exchange students from more than 50 different countries. In addition, students receive a taste of college recreational facilities. Both will attend the conference on a scholarship provided by the Oak Lawn Rotary Club.

Ventra is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. A. Norvillas of Oak Lawn, and Claudia is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. L. Gonzalez, also of Oak Lawn.

Honors Program

Melissa Jodelka of Oak Lawn, a senior at Oak Lawn Community High School, was among 258 students who participated on Dec. 5th in the honors scholarship competition at Illinois College, Jacksonville.

Melissa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jodelka. She plans to major in elementary education.

The awards program offers 12 merit scholarships, including four full-tuition stipends worth more than $28,000 each over four years. In addition to the merit awards, a minimum of $1,800 in scholarship assistance will be presented to each contestant who enrolls at Illinois College next fall.

The turnout marked the largest number of students to take the exam since the program was started in 1986. Candidates must meet rigid academic criteria in order to participate.

Suit Filed Against Alleged Charity

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris filed suit against America's Disabled Children, a Chicago based fund raiser that he said uses less than five percent of its donated money for charitable purposes.

According to records filed with the Attorney General's Charitable Trust Division, the organization raised $660,000 in 1990 and 1991. "Despite the name of this group, no benefits or programs were provided to aid disabled children," Burris said. "The people of Illinois have the right to lawful and proper use of charitable assets. The conduct in this case constitutes fraud."

The suit, filed in Cook County Circuit Court, charges America's Disabled Children, a registered charitable organization located at 3019 North Milwaukee in Chicago, and its president Richard Ansfield, with violating the Charitable Trust Act.

Also named in the suit is Richard Troia, president of Telemarketing Inc., 2924 North River Road in River Grove, and Scott Kohn, a certified public accountant located in Northbrook. Troia allegedly has violated the law in previous workings for other charities.

The suit alleges Telemarketing contracted with America's Disabled Children to solicit the public for funds on behalf of ADC and agreed that Telemarketing would receive 70 percent of the funds raised as its fee. Telemarketing hired, directed and supervised agents to call and solicit the public for contributions. They represented to the public that the funds collected were to be used to provide substantial program services, equipment and aid for the disabled. Telemarketing was also to conduct a "public awareness campaign," solicit ads and place these ads in a publication to be created by Telemarketing and ARMET Publishing Inc., also owned by Troia. No publication was ever produced.

In addition, ARMET was to receive 20 percent of donated funds collected in exchange for its services to publish public relations materials, such as mailers and advertisements.

Individuals who pledged a contribution were mailed solicitation materials and an invoice by Telemarketing. The donors returned their donations which were deposited into bank accounts controlled by defendants.

This suit charges that Ansfield and Troia deliberately misrepresented to the public where donated contributions would go. Individuals were never told that only ten percent would be used to aid the disabled, and that 90 percent would go to the professional fundraisers (Telemarketing).

Based on Ansfield's statement to the Attorney General's office, the only charitable activity during 1990 and 1991 was to provide 100 visits to homebound adults. These visits were made by doctors hired by ADC, and paid $25 a visit. Therefore, America's Disabled Children did not provide any benefits or programs to aid disabled children. Public contributions made specifically to aid disabled children, went toward these doctor visits.

Financial reports indicate that for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1990, ADC raised a total of $214,084 with only $9,589 going towards charitable program services, and for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1991, out of $459,046 raised, only $18,338 went to charitable services.

The exact amount of charitable donations collected by ADC is unknown because to date, the Attorney General's office has not received a financial reporting for their fiscal year ending September 30, 1992.

The suit asks that ADC be made to account for all funds collected, charged for all funds wasted and misused, and be appointed a receiver to hold all assets collected by America's Disabled Children, Telemarketing and Armnet.

Additionally, the Attorney General is seeking compensatory and punitive damages in an amount of $2 million pursuant to the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act, otherwise known as "The RICO Act."

"The violations by this group of individuals not only harm donors, but all legitimate charities who depend upon the public's generosity," Burris said. "Charitable fraud stops with an informed donor."

The Attorney General offers these tips on charitable contributions:

- Always make sure to get the full and correct name of the charity, and its address;
- Ask how much the professional fundraiser is paid;
- Ask how the money will be used, and what percentage of the money you donate will be used for that purpose.

Wasting Money

"If you love the law and you love sausage, don't watch either of them being made."

This quote by Betty Talmadge, former wife of former U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, sums up the findings of a two-year study of Congress by Citizens for a Sound Economy (CSE), a Washington, D.C.-based public-interest group. In mid-1992, CSE published its findings in a book titled Wasting America's Money II, which examined the reckless spending habits of Congress. Examples cited in the book include a $19 million grant in the 1990 farm bill for the study of emission of methane gas from cows, the $320,000 set aside to purchase the house of President William McKinley's in-laws in Ohio, the $1 million Federal Highway Administration study to determine why Americans don't ride bicycles or walk more often and the $150,000 spent to examine the Hatfield-McCoy feud.

CSE plans to keep monitoring congressional spending.

A Valuable Contributor

The Mankato State University football team won its first four games of the 1992 season en route to a 6-5 overall record and 4-5 in the North Central Conference. The Mavericks opened the season with a pair of 24-13 non-conference wins and then won their first two conference games, including a 14-0 shutout of Northern Colorado, one of the NCC's pre-season favorites. Mankato State was ranked in the NCAA Division II Top Twenty Poll during most of the first half of the season.

The Mavericks were a young squad in 1992 and lost only nine seniors from the squad. With 16 starters returning for the 1993 season, Mankato State looks to be a factor in the North Central Conference standings and be in strong consideration for a national tournament berth.

A freshman, offensive lineman/tight end, Ed Speck, a 1991 Reavis High School graduate helped the Mankato State football team total 1,547 rushing yards and 1,538 passing yards during the 1992 season. Speck was part of a young offensive line that contained only one senior. The offensive line helped the Mavericks have a balanced attack as they averaged 140.6 rushing yards and 139.8 passing yards per game. Mankato State averaged 20.9 points per game during the 1992 season. Speck looks to be a key ingredient in the Maverick offensive line in 1993 as Mankato State will return four of five starters. Speck also saw playing time at tight end during the season and looks to be a valuable contributor to the Maverick offense in the future.

by a bucket at 64-62.

A three-pointer from the right corner off the hands of Crusader Jim Sexton with just over two minutes left in the game put his team ahead to stay after the score had been knotted. Sexton amassed 23 markers for the night as he scored five of his total during the last two and a half minutes of the game. Other double number scorers for the Crusaders were Shaun Jacob with 14 and Britt Booker with 10.

On the Mustang side of the scoreboard, Brian Saunders led the way with 23 followed closely by Byron Jackson's dozen points and 11 from Ken Harvey.

Marist 56 - Providence 53

The Redskins game going in the winning direction and came out with a 56-53 victory in this overtime contest against Providence's Knights.

Coming through in the clutch for Marist were Chris Christensen with 21 points and Dave Cahill with 14.

Thornridge 72 - Shepard 56

The Astros fell out of their orbit in the nonconference match-up with Thornridge and lost 72-56 in Palos Heights. Shining stars for Shepard were Randy Byron with 15 points paired with 14 marks for Tyrine Wilson.

Joliet West 66 - Andrew 61

The Tigers needed an overtime period to knock down the Thunderbolts 66-61 in this SICA West contest at Joliet West.

The T-Bolts knotted the score at 40 after getting behind 36-29 at halftime. With just over two minutes to play in the third quarter, Steve DeHaan sent a three-pointer through the twine. He had 16 points for the game.

Other high scorers in the Andrew ranks were Mike O'Neill with 21 and Maurice Brooks hit for 14 points.

Loyola 48 - St. Laurence 46

The Vikings were outscored 12-0 in the crucial fourth quarter by Loyola and dropped a close 48-46 decision.

High hooper for the Vikes was Jason Orkowski with 18 points.

Oak Forest 82 - Bremen 57

The Bengals stayed in their battle for first place in the SICA Central ranks as they took care of business against the Braves 82-57.

Reavis 42 - Sandburg 38

The Rams had a successful road trip into Orland Park and came home with a 42-38 victory over the host Eagles in SICA North action.

The Rams were paced by 19 points from Bryan Staron. Richards 72 - Argo 36

Bulldog bucketeers doubled the scoring output of their Argonaut opponents 72-36 during a SICA North Lopsided win in Oak Lawn.

A trio of Bulldogs reduced the Argonauts to dog biscuits. This triple threat included Brian Dyson's 17 points, lucky number 13 from Levant Williams and an even dozen from Bobby Reed.

The top gun for Argo was Len Hopkins with nine marks. Ridgewood 57 - Evergreen Park 46

HAIL TO THE CHIEF—Next Wednesday Bill Clinton will be sworn-in as President and Al Gore as Vice-President. This public service announcement comes to you free of charge just in case you have been going through a self-imposed news blackout.

HAIL TO MY CHIEF....My wife Lois received a personally addressed card this past week from President-elect Bill Clinton. The handwritten message says: "Thanks so much for your letter. I welcome your ideas. They will be carefully considered. I'm grateful you took the time to write." (signed) Bill. Being the inquisitive husband/reporter, I asked Lois what "ideas" did she present to Bill, sorry, I mean President-elect Clinton? Lois is an avid reader, well-versed in domestic (not just our house) matters and world events. Turns out she sent him a birthday card showing a guy playing a saxophone. Lois and Bill (the President-elect) share the same birthday, Aug. 19. So does Tipper Gore, the Vice-President-elect's wife, but she's out-of-the-loop on this investigation. After a little more prodding, I found out Lois had also sent Bill (President-elect Clinton) several letters outlining her thoughts on improving the job market, health care, and other vital domestic economy issues. Knowing Lois like I do after 35 years of marriage, I got a hunch Bill (the President-elect) got some pretty sound advice. Meanwhile, Bill (the husband-defect) was given more mundane domestic advice. Like: "Did you take out the garbage and would you pick up a loaf of bread and some milk?" Hey, I'm not complaining, because the neighbor's dogs wag their tails and they don't even bark at me. I'm President Bill—of my house and neighborhood anyway.

AL PACINO AND GABRIELLE ANWAR (inset) dance an impromptu tango in the hit movie, "Scent of a Woman," which opened last week at movie theatres all over the Chicago area...."The World Goes Round—The Kander & Ebb Musical" is set to open a two-week run at the Shubert Theatre on Feb. 9. The talented duo have written scores for hit Broadway shows such as "Cabaret," "The Happy Time," "Zorba," "Chicago," "The Act," and "Woman of the Year" just to name a few. Kander and Ebb won Tony Awards for their scores for "Cabaret" and "Woman of the Year".....The Anshe Emet Music Guild will present a free offering of "Broadway to the Met" this Saturday night at 7 pm at 3760 N. Pine Grove. The concert will feature Elizabeth Futral, a gifted young soprano, and Alberto Mizrahi, tenor, and the 40-piece Chicago Concert Orchestra under the direction of Michael Reckhlutl.

GOING TO THE DOGS....Entries are now being accepted for the International Cluster of dog shows slated for April 2-4 at the McCormick Place Annex. Sponsored by the International Kennel Club of Chicago, the dog show will award over $75,000 in prize money and product offered by Pedigree Brand Dog Food.

STEFANIE POWERS (inset) will be honored as "Chicago's Actress of the Year" at the Sarah Siddons Society 40th anniversary black-tie gala to be held March 1 at Chicago's Ritz-Carlton Hotel. The award for her performance in A.J. Gurney's "Love Letters" in 1992 will be presented by the play's co-star Robert Wagner, who also teamed up with Ms. Powers on the popular television show "Hart to Hart." Roy Leonard, host of his own long-running and highly-rated radio show on WGN-AM radio, will emcee the celebration. The Stanley Paul orchestra will provide dinner and dance music and following the awards presentation, Northwestern's spirited "WAA MU" student variety group will perform. In addition, actress Hollis Resnik will be honored with the society's "Chicago Leading Lady" award for her brilliant performance in the 1991-92 Interplay production of "Piaf" at the Pilsen East Center for the Arts....The annual Crystal Heart Ball, the major fundraising event for Little Company of Mary Hospital, will be held February 6 at the Sheraton Chicago Hotel and Towers. The black-tie gala will benefit the hospital's oncology department.

NICK NOLTE (inset) stars as an Italian-born economist who refused to believe there was no cure for his son's condition and set out to discover one for himself in the Universal Pictures' release "Lorenzo's Oil" which is currently playing at movie houses all over the Chicago area. Susan Sarandon and Peter Onorov also star in the flick.

Potter Award To Rev. Baumhart

Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers' annual Crystal Heart Ball is to be held on Saturday, Feb. 6th at the Sheraton Chicago Hotel and Towers, 301 E. North Water Street. The black tie gala is a major fund-raising event for the Hospital. Proceeds from the 1993 Ball will benefit Little Company's oncology program.

FATHER BAUMHART

In addition to the elegant dining and dancing, the ball showcases the Mary Potter Humanitarian Award, presented to an individual whose personal and professional accomplishments exemplify the ideals and mission of Mary Potter, foundress of the Sisters of the Little Company of Mary. The 1993 honoree is Reverend Raymond C. Baumhart, S.J., president of Loyola University of Chicago.

Father Baumhart is receiving the award for his dedication to education, for his commitment to the healing ministry of the university's medical center and for his exemplary stewardship of the Loyola heritage. During his 30-year administrative career at Loyola, Father Baumhart has served as guide to the university's growth and guardian of its reputation for excellence in education and health care.

Presenting the award to Father Baumhart is his long-time friend and Loyola supporter, Frank Considine.

Crystal Heart Ball tickets are $150 per person. For further information, or to purchase tickets, contact Little Company development department at (708) 422-6200, ext. 5066.

Reigning Olympic Gold Medalist Kristi Yamaguchi and 1992 Olympic Silver Medalist Paul Wylie will join Olympic Gold Medalist and four-time World Medalist Scott Hamilton in the sixth annual 'Stars on Ice Tour.'

Armed Robbery Suspects Sought

Two young men clad in matching sweatshirts, gloves, ski caps and white shoes are being sought in connection with a series of robberies in the south and southwest suburbs. The two-man crime wave began in mid-December and continued through last week. The two might be mistaken for ordinary joggers, if they were not armed with a shotgun, baseball bat and screwdriver.

The crimes were committed within a short distance or near a direct route to an expressway or toll road. However, according to police, no witness has observed them getting in or out of a car at the time of the robberies.

Robberies in the local area took place in Alsip, at a fast-food restaurant, and in Blue Island, where money was taken from a patron at an automatic teller machine. The first robbery was at 115th and Pulaski and the second, an hour later, at 120th and Western. $400 was taken in Alsip and $20 in Blue Island.

According to police, the 'jogging bandits' appear to be the same two who had robbed stores in Lansing, South Holland and Glenwood in December. "We believe the crimes were committed by the same pair because of their height, weight descriptions and because of the type of weapons brandished," a spokesman said.

The shotgun and baseball bat were displayed in the earlier robberies, while in the later reports, a screwdriver was said to have been used, rather than a ball bat.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Dec. 28th, it was reported by the management of Working Class Shop, 4720 W. 95th St., that a black woman came into the store and presented a check in the amount of $245.69 for her purchases. The cashier called the supervisor who approved the check. A short time later the manager phoned the number given and found it was disconnected and then called the bank on which the check was issued and was told the account was closed.

On the 29th, a woman on the 9200 block of Karlov reported a group of boys had come to the door and asked her daughter to admit them and she refused. The boys left in several vehicles, driving over the victim's lawn before leaving the area. Approximate cost to repair is $300.

On the 30th, the Shell Gas Station clerk at 106th and Cicero reported that two male blacks entered the front door and spent approximately 10 minutes in the store, purchasing potato chips, using the phone and looking at road maps. One of the men produced a handgun and told Nancy to open the cash drawer and the second offender came around the counter and emptied the drawer, then both fled on foot, using the back door. There was approximately $200 in the drawer.

Eby Brown reported a strongarm robbery at the Citgo Gas Station, 11002 S. Cicero, when he attempted to make a delivery at the rear of the station. He said when his back was turned, two offenders entered the box portion of his truck and offender No. 1 pushed him to the rear corner and told him not to move or "you'll get hurt." The offenders removed approximately six cases of cigarettes containing 180 cartons valued at $3,000 and fled.

Rodney Maddox of Chicago was charged with retail theft after he was seen by the security agent at Jewel, 9424 S. Pulaski, take $84.37 worth of strip steaks.

An Oak Lawn tile installer was charged with aggravated sexual abuse of a 15 year old Worth boy. He allegedly offered to take the youth home, but took him shopping first and picked up some beer and then took him to his trailer where he supplied the boy with drugs and alcohol. The offender allegedly assaulted the victim three times, then allowed him to leave. Police picked the suspect up at his trailer, 9001 Cicero.

Over the holiday weekend, Dec. 31st to Jan. 2nd, Ed Napleton Mazda/Volvo dealer at 4141 W. 95th St. reported the theft of a 1989 Grand AM valued at $9,995 from his lot.

On the 31st, a resident reported persons unknown removed a Uni-Royal Larado tire and aluminum rim from the spare tire carrier on the back of her Chevy Blazer which will cost $200 to replace.

On Jan. 1st, a Brookfield man reported someone removed a Uniroyal Laredo radial tire with the aluminum rim from his 1991 Chevy Blazer which was parked at 4600 W. 103rd St. Estimated cost to replace is $550.

Debra Haslett of Chicago was stopped outside Venture, 4101 W. 95th St., and police recovered the ladies pants and bed sheets valued at $244.92 she had taken. She was charged with retail theft.

Joan Geary, general manager of the Hilton Hotel at 9333 S. Cicero, told police that a person who wished to remain anonymous reported an employee, Otto Ramirez of Chicago, had removed two boxes which contained new 25-in. color TVs with remote and that Ramirez has the two televisions in his basement apartment at 2534 E. 68th St. and is attempting to sell them. They are valued at $700. Complaints will be signed.

On Jan. 5th, Stanley Obrochta of Oak Lawn reported someone entered his locked garage and removed a black briefcase containing demo equipment, test equipment and digital test equipment for a total loss of $4,458.

Two men used a stolen car to drive through the front window of Dion Furs at 6600 W. 95th St. and stole an unknown amount of fur coats. Witnesses saw the break-in, but the men got away before police arrived.

Edgar Issues Executive Order On Harassment

Gov. Jim Edgar has issued an executive order to strengthen policies against sexual harassment.

"This order will establish a uniform, no-nonsense approach to sexual harassment in every corner of this administration. It should not be tolerated and it will not be tolerated as long as I am Governor," Edgar said.

"All state workers, especially those in supervisory capacities, need to know that certain behavior is inappropriate and that those guilty of victimizing fellow employees will be dealt with sternly and could even lose their jobs," Edgar added. "Much has changed in society, in law and in the courts since the last executive order regarding sexual harassment was issued a dozen years ago. The action that I am taking today both recognizes and re-enforces those changes."

Edgar said a recently completed investigation by the department of central management services underscores the need for the training required by the new executive order.

"Even though the independent investigation has concluded that the state fair manager did not commit misconduct as alleged, it also concluded that sexual humor, sexual banter and similar behavior occurred."

"Based on national surveys, I am convinced that this environment exists throughout both the private and public sectors, and we must take firm action to change it," the Governor stressed.

Edgar pointed out that 60 percent of 3,000 female lawyers interviewed in a "National Law Journal" survey of the nation's top 250 law firms indicated they had been sexually harassed at some point in their careers.

He also cited a 1990 survey of 1,300 members of the National Association of Female Executives that indicated 53 percent believed they were harassed by male supervisors.

On Saturday, Dec. 12th, 18 Marist High School students competed in the Chicago area 14th annual oral and artistic competition for students of Spanish at Oak Park/River Forest High School. OAK LAWN

What Was Happening?

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

An active civic movement to establish a public library in Oak Lawn is underway. The present library in Oak Lawn has been sponsored by the Public Works Administration and with the discontinuance of the WPA, the problem of whether to have a library or not comes before the residents. At the village board meeting on Tuesday, a resolution was read from the Oak Lawn Lions Club in which they recommended that a public library be established and the funds be raised by a two-mill tax on each dollar of assessed valuation in the village. Similar resolutions were heard from the Home Owners Association and the Congregational Church.

Leo C. DeRuntz, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto DeRuntz of Oak Lawn, graduated from AAF Navigation School at Hondo, Tex. this week. Lt. DeRuntz, navigator officer, spent 15 weeks of both ground and air training, mastering four main phases of the Air Force's navigation course: pilotage, keeping the plane's course by reference to familiar landmarks; dead reckoning; celestial; and radio.

Mrs. A. Burk, rehabilitation chairman, auxiliary members of Unit 757 and Legionnaires gave a Christmas party for the veterans at the Orland Park Convalescent Home.

Jan. 20th will be the next meeting of the Columbus Manor Woman's Club. Guest speakers for the day will be Mrs. C.J. Brown, Third District civil service chairman; Mrs. I.S. Turly, Third District chairman of education and library; and Mrs. F. Mallot from the Park Ridge School for Girls.

Honoree

Elaine English, District 126 curriculum coordinator, was honored by the South Cook Educational Service Center No. 7 for attaining the status of associate in the Illinois Administrator's Academy. Mrs. English joined a group of over 1,500 professional educators who invested time in professional development because of a desire to continue improving their skills to ensure that all students are learning and that all students are being served.

The award recognition breakfast was held last month at the South Cook Educational Service Center.

Oppose Incinerator

The Community High School District 218 Board of Education unanimously voted (5-0) to propose legislation that would require waste incinerators to be built a minimum of five miles from any school building in Illinois. District 218 administrators will work with its representative law firm to develop a sample bill for consideration by state legislators. The proposal for such legislation came as a response to the possibility that a waste incinerator may be built in Robbins. Board member Dr. Joseph Rathnau suggested the idea after fellow board member James Tate urged that the district take action to oppose the incinerator.

"I think we should write some legislation that would make it the law that no incinerator be built within five miles of a school or hospital," Rathnau said.

Prior to Rathnau's suggestion, Tate had introduced a motion, which the board unanimously approved, to urge district staff and students to write to government officials to express their opposition to the incinerator. "We're facing a potential danger here with grave consequences. Asbestos and radon pale in comparison," he said. "As school board members, we are charged with ensuring the safety of our children. If we don't do something, we are derelict in our duty."

Following his request at the Jan. 11th board meeting, fellow board members voted unanimously (5-0) to urge district staff members and students to get involved in the fight against the proposed incinerator. The action requests that students and staff write to government officials, including the governor, the Environmental Protection Agency, Robbins leaders, and state representatives and senators, to voice their concern.

The board's opposition to the incinerator actually began in April of 1990 when members passed a resolution that "strongly opposes the installation of a waste disposal incinerator, which would endanger the health and well-being of the people living in and around Community High School District 218."

Numerous potential environmental hazards are cited in the passage of the resolution:

- A $438 million waste incinerator in Detroit failed all tests and in September 1989 failed an air pollution test because it emitted four times the allowable amount of mercury;

- New York closed its Hempstead incinerator because it emitted too many dioxins; and

- It's been advised that incinerators would emit nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, particulate matter, fluorides and waste combustion emissions that include metals and acidic gases, sulfur dioxide and hydrogen chloride.

Additionally, there are several school sites within the prevailing wind pattern that would likely experience fallout from the ash produced by an incinerator. Furthermore, the area surrounding the proposed site for the incinerator already contends with pollution from the many manufacturing and heavy and light industrial firms.

It was established to award those students who make a difference in peoples lives.

Backs Voter Registration Act

Cook County Clerk David Orr will convene a bipartisan, statewide elections advisory committee recently to devise procedures and legislation for Illinois to comply with the National Voter Registration Act which is expected to pass into law in the first 100 days of the Clinton administration.

President Clinton has pledged to sign the voter registration bill which has been given the highest priority by the House and Senate leadership. Orr, who is clerk of the second largest county in the nation, has been a key leader in the movement for motor voter legislation to allow persons to register to vote while getting their drivers licenses.

"I believe that President Clinton will keep his promise and pass the National Voter Registration Act quickly," said County Clerk Orr. "That means that election authorities need to be ready to comply with the law."

"My office has been gathering ideas from election authorities all over the state," Orr continued. "This committee will now develop procedures and legislation to deal with the changes that will result from the federal legislation." County Clerk Orr said he feels confident that procedural concerns in the national bill can be addressed.

"Government needs to reach out to bring more citizens into the democratic process," said Orr. "Last year, in Cook County, we went to people where they work and live and we registered record numbers of voters. The National Voter Registration Act will help to bring millions more voters into the process." Orr spearheaded a registration and education drive in Cook County that registered over 370,000 new voters between January and October, 1992.

The National Voter Registration Act will provide for motor voter registration, mail registration, and agency-based registration in all offices that offer public assistance, unemployment compensation, and services to the disabled. The bill will be introduced in Congress today (Thursday, Jan. 21st).

"1992 was a landmark year for voter participation and registration. People are concerned about the future and they want to have a say in their government," Orr concluded. "This bill will help to empower millions of Americans and thousands of Illinoisans. We are ready to make it work in Cook County and around the state."

Multi-Cultural Awareness Program

In accordance with Cook County Board President Richard Phelan's Executive Order on Human Rights, the Forest Preserve District Police Department recently completed a multi-cultural awareness program. The department's 120 officers were educated on the diverse cultures which represent the population of Cook County and given tips on how to resolve cultural and ethnic conflicts.

The comprehensive multi-cultural training, conducted by the NorthEast Multi-Regional Training Group and the Cook County Commission on Human Rights, included issues tailored to the needs and circumstances of the District, including sexual harassment, lesbian and gay sensitivity, and presentations of ethnic and racial minorities such as African Americans, Hispanics, Asians, and Arabs.

The program also offered an innovative approach to police training by presenting additional law enforcement techniques such as understanding body language and de-escalation methods. "These proven methods allow officers dealing with persons of different cultures or ethnic groups to more effectively diminish potentially volatile situations," Phelan said.

"The multi-cultural training has provided our officers with additional tools to perform their jobs effectively and more safely in our increasingly diverse society. More importantly, an enlightened workforce leads to a workplace free of harassment."

Phelan said the Commission on Human Rights is in the process of developing a similar program which can be expanded to other county departments.

"JUST TAKE ALL THE THINGS THAT MAKE HEALTH CARE NETWORKS A GOOD IDEA AND ADD BLUE CROSS.

Employers join networks to gain buying power — the economies of scale. To offer their people quality health care, good service, and the best rates, wherever they may be located.

HMO Illinois is a Blue Cross HMO with more doctors in more places than any other plan. The Blue Cross PPO brings the largest statewide network of hospitals and doctors closer to home. And we've recently put a full scale Point of Service network into place in six major midwest cities.

So, if you honestly believe a health care network is a good idea, doesn't it follow that one from Blue Cross is an even better idea?"

WE HAVE IT ALL.

PLOWS Offers Senior Tax Help

Preparation of simple income tax forms for seniors unable to afford commercial tax assistance will again be offered through PLOWS Council on Aging. Volunteers, educated by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), will provide free tax assistance through the VITA program, sponsored by the Oak Lawn Senior Citizens Commission and the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

PLOWS will have experienced volunteers beginning Feb. 1st until April 15th at five area sites. Taxes will be done at the PLOWS office, Oak Lawn; the Heritage-Bremen Bank, Tinley Park; the Orland Township office, Orland Park; the Worth Township office, Alsip; and the Lemont Township office, Lemont. Appointments are necessary and can be made after Thursday, Jan. 28th by calling 422-6722 for the PLOWS office, Heritage-Bremen Bank, Orland Township and Worth Township; and 257-2522 for appointments in Lemont Township.

In an effort to serve as many seniors as possible, this same income tax service will also be offered by other agencies in the southwest suburbs at 424-9200 for Stickney Township; 422-8776 for Evergreen Park Senior Center; 499-0240 for Oak Lawn Senior Care; 598-4449 for Palos Township; and 403-4222 or 422-6722 for the Orland Township Senior Center.

PLOWS Council on Aging, 4700 W. 95th St., is a non-profit social service agency dedicated to assisting persons age 60 and older who reside in Palos, Lemont, Orland and Worth Townships.

Kasch Fine Cars, Inc. announces that their 1992 "Salesman of the Year Award" was won by Fred Miller of Worth. Shown congratulating Fred is Mrs. JoAnn Kasch, co-owner of the popular Burbank dealership. Miller led the Kasch sales team by being selected "Salesman of the Month" five times during 1992.

"We truly appreciate the enthusiasm and professionalism that Fred brings to this dealership each day," noted General Manager Craig Westlund. He continued, "In five short years Fred has developed into one of our most respected sales persons. We're certainly proud of him."

When asked the secret to his success Fred replied, "Initially I spend some time with the customer asking him what he genuinely needs in a vehicle, as well as what he might like in that same vehicle. Likewise, I try to establish a guideline of where my customer will be financially comfortable. Then I can focus on finding responsible choices for the customer. Basically, I try and treat each customer the same way I like to be treated... honestly and fairly!"

Kasch Fine Cars, Inc. is at 6800 W. 79th St. For more information, call 708-599-0800.

Suicide Attempts

A 38-year-old Hickory Hills man reportedly attempted twice to hang himself in the city jail last weekend. He had been charged with domestic violence and jailed in connection with an incident at his apartment on the 8600 block of 82nd Ave. early Friday evening.

Police apprehended the suspect who was clad in a robe, shorts and a bloody T-shirt. A woman the man said was his girlfriend was lying on the kitchen floor with a deep gash on her forehead.

The woman alleged that her friend had punched her, slapped her, and threatened her with a knife. The man told police he and the woman had fought, but denied that he attacked her with a knife.

The man was taken to the Hickory Hills City Jail and incarcerated for the night. Just after 12 midnight, he reportedly tied a blanket around his neck in an apparent attempt to hang himself. Police stopped him before he was able to affix the blanket to the bars of the cell, they said.

A short time later, the man again allegedly tried to commit suicide, by attempting to hang himself with his sweatshirt but once again officers halted the attempt before he could tie the shirt to cell bars.

Following the two apparent suicide attempts, police confiscated all of the man's clothing with the exception of his shorts, then took him to Christ Hospital and later to the Tinley Park Mental Health Center.

The woman was treated and released at Christ Hospital.

MVCC Auditions

Auditions will be held this month for Moraine Valley Community College Theater Department's production of "Caucasian Chalk Circle," a play set during a war in the Caucasus in which a prince deposes the governor and scatters his family. Grusha saves the governor's child and tries to raise it as her own. When Grusha is captured, the governor's wife demands the child's return. Recalling Solomon's famous judgment, the judge must decide whether to give the child to Grusha and her fiancé or the real mother.

More than 20 actors and actresses are needed in all age ranges for the production, plus three children ages seven to 11. Those cast will be expected to perform as part of an ensemble in different roles during the course of the play. The director of this production is actively seeking a multi-ethnic, multi-talented cast and encourages all persons interested in acting to audition.

Auditions will be in the Building 600 theater on campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. Audition dates are Thursday, Jan. 21st from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.; Friday, Jan. 22nd from 7 to 10 p.m.; and Saturday, Jan. 23rd from 9 to 11 a.m. Callbacks will be held on Saturday, Jan. 23rd from 1 to 4 p.m. Rehearsals begin on Jan. 25th and performances are from March 11th to 21st.

Scripts are available in the Learning Resources Center (LRC) on campus. For more information, call the theater department at (708) 974-5500.

Senator O'Malley Sworn-In

Patrick J. O'Malley of Palos Park was sworn in as the State Senator for the 18th District on Jan. 13th during inaugural ceremonies as the General Assembly convened its 88th biennial session. Sen. O'Malley is seen here on the Senate floor with his wife, Mary, and his son, Patrick Jr. Chief Justice Ben Miller administered the oath of office to O'Malley and his new Senate colleagues.

State Sen. James "Pate" Phillip (R-Wood Dale) was elected Senate President and State Sen. Emil Jones (D-Chicago) was chosen as Minority Leader.

Senator O'Malley says he will enjoy the new challenges and responsibilities as a member of the new Republican majority in the Senate.

"This is an exciting and challenging time to be involved in state government," O'Malley said. "The issues that need to be addressed by the State Legislature have probably never been so many in number. Being part of the new majority allows me a great opportunity to address these issues in a meaningful and effective way."

The Palos Park Republican says he is a fiscal conservative whose top priority is a greater share of state education dollars for local schools, which would afford suburban taxpayers some property tax relief. His other legislative priorities include economic development, jobs and criminal justice.

O'Malley is involved in a number of local civic organizations. He is a Trustee for the Palos Fire Protection District; member of the Advisory Board for Illinois Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program; member of the Southwest Suburban Advisory Council at Saint Xavier University; Director and Secretary of the Southwest Cooperative Foundation. He is a former member of the Board of Trustees for Moraine Valley Community College; former Trustee for the Community Center Foundation; past director of St. Coletta's of Illinois Foundation, former Director and past Chairman of the Palos Heights/Palos Park Unit of the American Cancer Society; and past chairman of a Benefit for the Crisis Center for South Suburbia.

Sen. O'Malley can be reached by calling his office at (708) 396-1818. He will announce the addresses of his new legislative offices in the district and in Springfield when those locations are determined.

Born in Evergreen Park, he graduated from St. Walter's Grammar School, Marist High School, and earned a bachelor's degree in economics from Purdue University, a master's degree in finance from Purdue University and a juris doctor degree from the John Marshall Law School. He and his wife, Mary, have two children, Brigid and Patrick Jr.

Infrastructure Jobs Program Is Ill Advised

By Congressman Harris W. Fawell, 13th District

As a centerpiece of his plan for economic revitalization, President-elect Bill Clinton has proposed $80 billion in new federal spending on infrastructure over the next four years. The justification for this injection of government spending is that it will spur economic growth in the private sector, thus creating jobs.

However, this well-intended government 'jobs' program is ill-advised for several reasons. First, studies have shown that these programs are extremely ineffective in creating jobs or turning around recessions. Also, this new government spending adds to the already large deficit, which is a primary cause of our economic problems. In addition, it appears that the economy is already pulling out of the recession without any 'pump priming' by government. Finally, government is currently spending unprecedented amounts on infrastructure improvements.

A recent report in "The New York Times," which encompassed a study of all major Presidential job programs since 1933, concluded that it "takes so long to establish these programs that by the time they are put into place, the economic slump they were intended to reverse has already ended." The U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) reported that the $9 billion Emergency Jobs Act of 1983, enacted in response to a recession, "was not effective and timely in relieving the unemployment caused by the recession....Funds were spent slowly, and relatively few jobs were created when most needed in the economy."

The same report found that "...less than one percent of about 5.8 million jobs created by the economy since the act was passed" were attributable to the Emergency Jobs Act. An Office of Management and Budget (OMB) study of infrastructure programs found they did little to help the unemployed because of the relatively low labor intensity of public works projects and the high skill level required. OMB found that it cost between $70,000 and $198,000 to create each job. Furthermore, the average job lasted just 3.5 weeks and only 12 percent of the jobs went to the unemployed.

In fact, a study of five recessions since World War II found that government attempts to ease or end the recession were all enacted after the end of the recession. Moreover, each time the government's 'pump priming' attempt exacerbated inflation, increased interest rates and made the next recession worse.

Today, we are spending significant amounts of taxpayers' dollars on infrastructure improvement, such as on highways and streets, mass transit, sewers and wastewater disposal. Measured in constant 1982 dollars, total infrastructure investment in the U.S. in 1988 was $48 billion, a 100 percent increase since 1956 and up $12 billion since 1981. In 1992, Congress passed the largest infrastructure bill in history, committing $150 billion for infrastructure improvement over the next five years.

Given this history and the fact that our economy grew at an annual, inflation-adjusted rate of 3.9 percent in the last quarter, the next President would be wise to abandon these planned spending increases. Excessive federal spending is a cause, not a cure, of the most recent economic downturn.

The best jobs program Congress could enact is balancing the federal budget, reducing federal regulations, and enacting pro-economic growth initiatives. These are the actions that allow the free enterprise system to work its magic, creating millions of permanent jobs.

Deadline For Registration

Cook County Clerk David Orr recently reminded suburban residents that the last day to register to vote for the Feb. 23rd local primary election is Monday, Jan. 25th.

There are also referendum questions on the ballot in School District 205 which covers Thornton Township and School District 201 which covers all of Berwyn and Cicero and parts of Lyons and Stickney townships.

'Porkbuster' On TV

Congressman Harris Fawell (R-13) Washington's premier 'porkbuster' is scheduled for an appearance on ABC TV's "Prime Time Live," tonight, Thursday, Jan. 21st. The program airs at 9 p.m. Representative Fawell, co-chairman of Porkbusters, is to appear and discuss that group's legislative agenda in combatting pork barrel spending. Porkbusters is a watchdog group dedicated to fighting wasteful spending by Congress.

State Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18) can be expected to play a leading role in developing education policy in Illinois. O'Malley has been appointed vice-chairman of the Senate Education Committee. Senate President James "Pate" Philip made the announcement last week.

O'Malley said, "The Education Committee considers changes in the laws governing our education system. Education should be our top priority and I look forward to the challenges of making our schools better." Six Republicans and four Democrats are on the Education Committee, chaired by State Senator Frank Watson.

O'Malley, who defeated John McNamara of Oak Lawn in the November election, was sworn-in as the 18th District State Senator January 13 in the presence of his wife Mary Judith and son Patrick Jr. who journeyed to Springfield to witness the event.

The 18th is a rambling district which includes several precincts in Orland Township, parts of Palos, Worth and Bremen townships with several precincts in the 19th Ward thrown in.

Congressman William O. Lipinski (D-3) is launching his 25th annual "All American Boy and Girl" search. This program is designed to praise and recognize the outstanding accomplishments of the young boys and girls in his 3rd Congressional District. The program began back in 1969 when Lipinski was with the Chicago Park District.

This entails competitors to fill out applications they receive from area schools, then top entrant applications are submitted to be reviewed by a panel of judges made up of teachers, business owners and civic leaders. The event is concluded with an awards program scheduled for Feb. 26th at the Mayfield Banquet Facility where the presentations will be made. Students can obtain more information by calling Jerry Hurdles, Lipinski's special events director at (312) 886-0481.

Congressman Harris W. Fawell (R-13) has been chosen by fellow House Republicans to be the ranking Republican member of two important subcommittees in the 103rd Congress. Fawell will have the top spot on the Science, Space and Technology's Subcommittee on Energy, as well as the Republican leadership role on the Labor Committee's Subcommittee on Labor Standards.

"The Forest Preserve District of Cook County is offering the perfect remedy for cabin fever; tobogganing, sleigh rides, a nature scavenger hunt and Siberian Husky sled races. And it's all available, in plentiful doses, at the forest preserve's 1993 Winter Festival," said County Board President Richard Phelan. The festival will be held on Jan. 23rd, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Jensen Slides, Milwaukee and Devon Aves., and also on Jan. 30th, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Swallow Cliff, Route 83 (west of Mannheim Rd.), Palos Park.

Illinois Lawmakers On WTTW

Citizens throughout Illinois will have an opportunity to glimpse both the personality and philosophy of the new President of the State Senate in a special presentation of "Illinois Lawmakers: A Conversation with James 'Pate' Philip," scheduled for broadcast on Tuesday, Jan. 26th at 11 p.m. on WTTW/Chicago. The nighttime special will precede the "Illinois Lawmakers" live presentation of Governor James Edgar's "State of the State" message at 12 noon on Wednesday, Jan. 27th, on WTTW/Chicago.

Both programs originate from the State Capitol in Springfield, hosted by veteran political analyst Bruce Dumont.

Philip was elected President earlier this month, marking the first time in more than two decades that his party, the Republicans, have controlled that body; and the first change among the General Assembly's four key leaders in 10 years.

Philip began his political career as auditor of York Township, DuPage County, where he continues to serve as chairman of the Republican Central Committee. He was elected to the Illinois House in 1967, moving on to the Senate in 1974. He was appointed assistant minority leader in 1979 and elected minority leader two years later.

The President is the presiding officer of the Senate. He appoints Senate members to standing committees and permanent and interim study commissions, designating one member as chairman. With the Speaker of the House, he shares primary responsibility for legislative procedures and operations. By strategically directing the flow of legislation, the President ultimately sets the pace of work in the Senate.

As chairman of the Senate Operations Commission, he oversees a seven-member management committee responsible for deciding Senate policy, hiring Senate employees, purchasing supplies, renting equipment and maintaining the Senate chambers and office, among other sundry duties.

In addition to presiding over the Senate, the President is the leader of the majority party in the upper chamber; and, as Senate Majority Leader, is a chief spokesman of his political party.

relations, criminal matters, real estate, wills, contracts, employment matters, property damage, and estate planning. More than 1,200 Chicago-area residents utilize the Call-A-Lawyer service each year.

This program is scheduled for one Saturday each month and seeks to serve both city and suburban residents who may not be sure if their problems involve legal questions. It also provides callers with referral information for paid or free legal services.

William Jefferson Clinton was sworn in as 42nd President of the United States yesterday. The new President and his administration now face the grim reality of living up to the promises made during the arduous nine-month political campaign. Promises which include focusing "like a laser" on the economy. Who will ever forget the campaign slogan: "It's the economy, stupid." However, as President Clinton settles into the Oval Office today, world tensions are mounting and "hot spots" are mushrooming up all around the globe which threaten to re-deploy the laser off domestic issues and onto a foreign policy target.

The American electorate is used to listening to campaign promises. Every four years, like pigs at a feeding trough, we sit in our living rooms gobbling up newspapers, listening to and watching radio and television news programs as presidential candidates parade out laundry lists of promises after promises. We know better, or at least we should know better by now, but like Pavlov's dog we are conditioned to respond and digest every morsel of political rhetoric as if it were the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

A look back at past presidential campaigns should enlighten us as to campaign promises. President Abraham Lincoln promised not to abolish slavery. Franklin Delano Roosevelt went about the country telling everyone he would balance the budget. Lyndon B. Johnson promised he would not send American boys 9,000 miles away from home to do what Asian boys ought to be doing for themselves. Richard M. Nixon promised the people that he had a secret plan to end the war in Vietnam. Jimmy Carter promised to remove price controls on natural gas. Ronald Reagan told everyone within earshot that he would never negotiate for the release of hostages. And, of course, George Bush uttered six words, "Read my lips, no new taxes," a promise that came back to haunt him all throughout the past presidential campaign.

President Bill Clinton rallied enough votes to win the election by promising more jobs, cutting the deficit, removing the ban on homosexuals in the military, allowing Haitian boat people to seek asylum in the United States, a middle-income tax cut, a line-item veto which would cutoff pork barrel projects, a cabinet and administration that mirrors the face of America, defense cuts, infrastructure building projects, and the elimination of lobbyists in his administration.

"Never promise more than you can perform," said Publilius Syrus in the First century, B.C.

The election is over, the inauguration is history, and today President Clinton steps into the Oval Office at the White House where he will face the cold shower of reality as opposed to the swirl of warm water campaign promises.

On President Clinton's desk in the Oval Office today will be the latest figures from the Congressional Budget Office which indicates the deficit in fiscal year 1992, which ended in September, was $290 billion. And according to Washington sources, the prospects of the deficit going even higher every year is almost certain.

President Clinton's campaign promises to increase spending for infrastructure, education and job training, an overhaul of the welfare system, and tax cuts for middle-income families and businesses that invest in new equipment, while only raising taxes on families with annual incomes of $200,000 or more, just does not add up. "The math does not work," said a Congressional Budget Office spokesperson.

President Clinton also promised a health care package for everyone of the 30 million Americans who are now without any kind of health insurance. The Commerce Department recently reported that spending on health care rose 14 percent in 1992, and is expected to go up 12 to 15 percent a year "unless a health care program is put in place."

The problem the Clinton administration will run into in trying to mold a national health care plan is there are 748 lobbyists based in Washington who will be looking out for the interests of doctors, health insurance firms and a wide variety of health related industries.

At the top of President Clinton's agenda during the campaign was a promise of more manufacturing jobs. Yet, some of the top labor economists say advanced technology and efficient processes have reduced the need to hire more workers.

Lifting the 50-year ban on homosexuals in the military was also one of President Clinton's campaign promises. President Clinton now says he will appoint a commission to look into the feasibility of the "promise," although he still favors lifting the ban.

Meanwhile, while the focus of the new Clinton administration is still on the economy, euphemistically rephrased: "It's the stupid economy," problems in Somalia, Iraq, Sudan, Cambodia, Bosnia-Herzegovina and the former Soviet Union, could easily usurp domestic policy and further dilute campaign promises.

In 1956 the American playwright Lillian Hellman wrote "Candide" and in Act II, scene III, there is a speech which President Clinton might be wise to heed: "We will not think noble because we are not noble. We will not live in beautiful harmony because there is no such thing in this world, nor should there be. We promise only to do our best and live out our lives. Dear God, that's all we can promise in truth."

A 23-year veteran of the department, Gilbert in turn has accused Doyle of insubordination, failing to produce documents to substantiate his claims, obtaining business for Doyle's landscaping company via his police department contacts, and not doing assigned work.

Education Grants

The Southwest YMCA Council of Chiefs of the Indian Guide Programs instituted and established the Wayne Gray Educational Grant, honoring Gray for his years of service to Indian Guide programs, which fosters the relationship between parents and their children, and his belief in the educational future of all children. A committee has been established to develop criteria for the grant to administer and evaluate the applications from qualified members of the Indian Guide programs. 1993 Cookie Sale Set To Begin

With the 1993 sale slogan of "Yes You Can...in Girl Scouting" in mind, South Cook County Girl Scouts will begin taking orders for cookies on Friday, Jan. 22nd and continue through the 31st. Delivery to customers is scheduled in March. The annual cookie sale is a fundraising event for the council and for local troops. Income supports programs and services offered by the South Cook County Council in the 49 communities within its boundaries.

Individual troops earn a profit as well, which is used according to plans the girls themselves make. There are more than 12,000 girls from five to 17 who are served in this council each year. Most are members of almost 800 troops or other special groups.

There are seven varieties of cookies, all available for $2.50 a box. The different types include shortbread Trefoils, chocolate Thin Mints, caramel and coconut Samoas, peanut butter sandwich Do-Si-Dos, lemon and vanilla creme sandwich Chalet Cremes, maple-flavored, caramel and coconut Golden Nut Clusters and chocolate-covered peanut butter Tagalongs.

Girl Scout councils are locally funded, so the cookie sale is an important element of the budget. In addition to the operation of the friendship center and Camp Palos, staff and office services are provided at the council service center, Homewood. Events, special activities and programs such as the summer day camp are planned and carried out, a full calendar of learning opportunities is offered to the 2500 adult volunteers who deliver the program directly to girls and carry out other responsibilities by working as consultants, trainers, recruiters, activity specialists and so on.

"The Girl is First in Girl Scouting" is a reminder of the focus of the overall program, which is to help girls become capable, confident adults who are responsible and responsive individuals, comfortable with their own abilities but sensitive to the needs of others.

Besides traditional activities such as games, crafts and trips, current Girl Scouting has a very contemporary approach, and includes well-planned programs on topics such as prevention of substance abuse, building self-esteem, promotion of a comfortable understanding of math and science and a variety of other matters.

As has been the case since the organization was founded by Juliette Low in 1912, girls are encouraged to understand that they have great potential, and should do everything possible to develop that potential to the highest degree. Girl Scouts develop leadership skills, ability to relate to others, and a sense of community needs within a network of ethical values.

A recent Harris survey of women of recognized accomplishment affirmed that a large majority of them had been members of Girl Scouting, and saw the program as having a significant and positive effect on their lives.

For more information about the cookie sale, or about Girl Scouting, call the council service center, (708) 957-8100.

Thwart Tort And Liability Reform Crusade

by Dr. Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The crusade for reform of our nation's tort and product liability laws has become one of the longest running dramas in Washington, as every advance seems to be followed quickly by a setback of some kind, leaving the issue hanging fire for yet another year.

The latest round of 'one step forward, two steps backward,' in the quest for reform involved an unusual appeal for action from one of our nation's most respected personalities, followed by yet another craven cave-in to special interests by Congress.

The good news is a pro-reform videotape featuring a persuasive appeal for reform by Walter Cronkite, the former evening news anchor for CBS, who enjoys great credibility among the American people. "This is like being endorsed by God," quipped Sen. Trent Lott (R-Miss.) a perennial champion of tort reform, after he watched the videotape. Lott and others hope Cronkite's appeal, now being shown around the country to legislators, chambers of commerce and other community groups, will help break the logjam that somehow always appears just when the latest reform effort builds up a head of steam.

The bad news was a key vote in the Senate in mid-September that failed to invoke cloture to cut off a filibuster against a reform bill. Thus, once again a handful of diehards in the service of trial lawyers were able to thwart the people's will, and prolong our national agony from a legal system run viciously amok.

There is no question who the bad guys are in this drama. The loudest and most conspicuous opponent of reform is Ralph Nader, so-called consumer advocate who can never seem to summon much consumer support for his extremist positions and who must rely instead on the legal system to promote his agenda.

Nader's anti-reform campaign, as documented by "The Wall Street Journal," receives generous financial support from trial lawyers. Not surprisingly, the lawyers also open their ample wallets on behalf of many key members of Congress who share their vision of a society forever held in thrall by endless litigation.

There is no question why Nader and his attorney allies fight so vigorously to defend this appalling outrageous system. As the famous bank robber Willie Sutton said when asked why he robbed banks, "That's where the money is."

But our society is paying a fearsome price for their self-indulgence. Business after business has been forced to shut down viable operations, sending thousands of jobs overseas, because of irrational liability laws. Under the existing system, fault hardly matters. It is strictly a case of who can pay, which is usually a business, and the primary beneficiaries are invariably lawyers. The victims are you and me; the public. We suffer as prices soar, jobs disappear and our economic base erodes.

In a democracy, citizens rely upon elected legislators to recognize and rectify conspicuous abuses such as this one. In the present case, we have been waiting a long time...and are waiting still.

1993 WINTER FESTIVAL SHAKES THE WINTER DOLDRUMS - The Forest Preserve District of Cook County is offering the perfect remedy for January's cabin fever. It's tobogganing, sleigh rides, a nature scavenger hunt and Siberian Husky sled races. And it's all available - in plentiful doses - at the Forest Preserve District of Cook County's 1993 Winter Festival.

Cook County President Richard Phelan will host the 1993 Winter Festival on Jan. 30, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Swallow Cliff, Route 83 (west of Mannheim Rd.), Palos Park.

"The Winter Festival promises to be fun for the whole family," Phelan said. "It's a great opportunity to enjoy the Forest Preserve during the winter and experience some of the special recreational activities the Forest Preserve District offers."

At the festival, there also will be snowshoe and cross-country skiing demonstrations, puppet shows and mounted police units. All events are free. Food will be available for purchase. If Mother Nature does not cooperate by sending snow for the festival, there are plenty of "non-snow" activities planned, Phelan said. "Regardless of the weather, Winter Festival 1993 will be a memorable time," Phelan said. "There will be plenty of fresh air, beautiful scenery and fun for everyone." For more information, call the Forest Preserve District's Special Events Office at 708-771-1062, 708-771-1014. Special assistance and accommodations can be arranged.

STATEWIDE GROUPS SELECT DELEGATES FOR CONSERVATION CONGRESS - Springfield, IL - Fifty-eight conservation groups with statewide impact have named their delegates to the Conservation Congress set for Feb. 5 - 7, Director Brent Manning announced Dec. 29, 1992.

"These statewide delegates, along with regional delegates, are participating in work groups to pinpoint key issues for discussion and recommendation in February," Manning said. "It is my hope that this work effort will improve communication between conservation groups and will help enhance natural and outdoor recreational resource management in Illinois."

A total of 118 delegates - 58 representing statewide interests and 60 representing regional interests - will participate in the Conservation Congress to be held at the Capitol in Springfield. Congress delegates will be working to resolve issues on a variety of topics including trails, recreation, user conflicts, stewardship, fish and wildlife production, habitat, funding, education and public involvement.

The statewide groups that named delegates today were selected by Director Manning. Those delegates will represent their individual group interests at the gathering. Regional delegates were elected from among all conservation groups participating in caucuses during September and will represent regional interests. More than 1,200 individuals were contacted by the Department to participate in regional meetings which began in July.

RUBY HOLMQUIST of Antioch, representing ILLINOIS TRAILRIDERS is one of the 58 individuals selected to serve as a statewide delegate to the CONSERVATION CONGRESS. RUBY is an avid equestrian trail rider who has worked to resolve COOK COUNTY FOREST PRESERVE trail user issues. Her input to the ILLINOIS CONSERVATION CONGRESS will benefit horseback trail users throughout the state.

From late January through early February, geese begin their spring migration from Southern Illinois wintering areas, the red fox and coyote mating season begins, white-tailed bucks begin dropping antlers and unbred does enter their third estrus period.

The Prairie softball team finished the regular season with a 6-0 record and won the tournament with a 2-0 record to finish a perfect 8-0 for the 1992-93 season.

The final team batting average was .603. The team is coached by Phil Conboy and is located at 119th and Kostner.

Annual Count Of Bald Eagles

Conservationists throughout Illinois are gearing up for their annual count of bald eagles wintering in the state, according to Illinois Conservation Director Brent Manning.

"Each year at this time, personnel with the Illinois Endangered Species Protection Board and other professionals and volunteers participate in an intensive effort to count wintering eagles in Illinois," Manning said. "It isn't intended to be an exact count of every eagle in the state, but gives us a number to compare to previous year's counts so we can judge how eagle populations are doing. What we're seeing is a steady increase in numbers counted in Illinois each winter."

Last year, 2,025 wintering eagles were counted in Illinois, compared to 1,864 in 1991 and 1,539 in 1990. Currently listed as a state and federally endangered species, bald eagles have made a comeback since the pesticide DDT was banned in 1972 and concerted conservation efforts were put in place.

The Illinois count is part of the Midwinter Bald Eagle Survey conducted by the National Wildlife Federation since 1979. During a targeted two-week time period, observers in participating states are asked to take two consecutive days to count the number of eagles they see. Reports from the states are combined to give a picture of bald eagle populations nationwide.

Sue Lauzon, executive director of the Endangered Species Protection Board, said counters try to complete their efforts within a two-day period to avoid counting eagles that move from one area to another. As one of two counters aboard a light airplane, she will travel the length of two major rivers whose flowing waters in winter months attract bald eagles searching for fish.

"We conduct aerial surveys along the entire length of the Mississippi River and most of the Illinois River," Lauzon said. "We fly over islands and other areas counters on the ground aren't able to get to. Also, we compare figures on areas that can be counted both from the air and on land, which helps give us a more accurate picture of population trends."

Participating in the counts are individuals from the Department of Conservation, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the U.S. Forest Service and conservation organizations such as the Audubon Society.

Results of the count will be announced in late February or early March after reports from the counters have been compiled.

BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

Inching closer toward the exhilaration of "March Madness," local cagers are either looking for playoff success or might have to face early elimination.

Friday Games (Jan. 15th)

Hillcrest 78 - Oak Forest 60

A shortage of Tiger power overcame the Bengals in this 78-60 defeat at the hands of SICA Central opponent, the Hillcrest Hawks.

The Bengals went down for the count in the first quarter and couldn't generate a comeback. Topping the Bengal scoring was sophomore Wayne Johnson with a 20-point performance.

Bremen 53 - T.F. South 50

A pair of charity shots off the hands of Brave Clarence Hicks with nine ticks on the game clock pulled off a 53-50 win for Bremen over the T.F. South Rebels in SICA Central action in Lansing.

Hitting big numbers for the Braves were Joe Meyers and his 20 markers coupled with an even dozen for Hicks.

Shepard 57 - Oak Lawn 33

A trio of Astros proved to be a formidable triple threat against the Spartans in their 57-33 victory during SICA North action in Palos Heights.

Shepard's Dennis Payne paced his squad with 14 points. Teammates Darren Protolipac and Tyrine Wilson added 12 and 11 marks respectively.

For the Spartans, Jeff Cowart put 16 through the twine.

Richards 70 - Stagg 64

The Bulldogs traveled to Palos Hills and came out victorious against the Chargers in SICA North play 70-64.

Providing the Bulldogs with their winning edge were Patrick Williams and his 24 points plus 23 from Demarius Collins.

On the Charger side of the scorebook, Len Fotopoulos netted 14 points to lead his team.

Sandburg 56 - Argo 49

The Eagles didn't have a cakewalk as they faced off against the Argonauts in Summit and came away with a 56-49 win in SICA North competition.

Paving the way for an Eagle win was Casey Peters with 26 points.

For the Argonauts, Ali Mister was the top gunner with 10 markers.

Mt. Carmel 73 - Brother Rice 64

This Catholic League South matchup went to the Caravan 73-64 in this contest with the Crusaders at Brother Rice.

Putting out extra effort for the Crusader cause were Jim Sexton with 20 points followed closely by 15 from Shaun Jacob.

De La Salle 57 - St. Laurence 46

The Meteors showered down on the Vikings 57-46 in Chicago Catholic League play in Burbank.

Pacing the Vikes scoring was Jaysen Orkowski who netted 18.

St. Rita 68 - St. Martin de Porres 60

Mustang Charles Smith was hot to trot on the floor against the Silver Eagles as his 18-point performance helped St. Rita to a 68-60 Catholic League South victory.

Smith was also on target at the free throw line where he netted 10 of 11. Other Mustangs hitting in double digits were John Sanders with 14, Byron Jackson's lucky 13, and an even dozen for Ken Harvey.

St. Rita outscored the Silver Eagles 21-10 in the fourth quarter to seal the win.

Marist Catholic 50 - Marist 44

Despite holding a lead throughout the first three quarters of the game, Marist failed to hold on and the Spartans took a 50-44 decision in East Suburban Catholic action.

The two Redskins who put double numbers up were Dan Michalak with a dozen points and Chris Christensen with 11

Evergreen Park 75 - Elmwood Park 56

The dynamic duo of Jerry Rossi and Jim Czerwinski powered the Mustangs to this 75-56 Southwest Suburban Conference win in Elmwood Park.

Rossi poured 26 points through the net while Czerwinski added 24.

Reavis 61 - Andrew 58

A lone basket off the hands of Ram Nick Giaouris with seconds left to play, paired with a charge taken by fellow Ram Bill Flood, enabled Reavis to hang on and win 61-58 over the Thunderbolts in Tinley Park.

Leading the scoring for the Rams was senior Jason Blizniak with a season-high 27 markers.

For the T-Bolts, Steve DeHaan popped in 21.

Saturday Game

Mt. Carmel 97 - St. Rita 63

AUTOGRAPH HOUNDS... Autograph seekers are a breed unto themselves. They will stop at nothing in their quest for a celebrity autograph. Experience dictates the autograph hound to be rude, shifty, ruthless, selfish and obsessed. On some occasions, the autograph seeker can even provoke laughter or tears. But the bottom line is they all live by the code of the west; they always get their celebrity man--or woman.

GEORGE HAMILTON once recalled an amusing story about autograph seekers. Hamilton had just appeared on the old "Tonight Show" and as he strolled out of the NBC studios in New York he was quickly surrounded by a group of Japanese tourists. "Picture, picture," the Japanese tourists pleaded. The obliging Hamilton, flushed with the excitement the tourists had apparently recognized him from his "Tonight Show" appearance, smiled and asked the camera-laden Japanese tourists where they would like him to stand. A strange look suddenly swept over the faces of the tourists, and finally one of them said to Hamilton, "no, no, please, you take our picture." George Hamilton then realized they didn't know him at all and all they wanted him to do was be a photographer and take their picture in front of the NBC Studios at Rockefeller Center.

PAT O'BRIEN and his wife ELOISE (inset) were in Chicago for a stage appearance at Drury Lane Theatre in Evergreen Park when one night after the show they decided to go and see an old friend, comedian/actor Mickey O'Shaughnessy, at the old Mangam's Chateau in Lyons. Just before the show was about to start, a fellow strolled up to O'Brien's table and asked Pat if he would be kind enough to say "hello" to his wife and give her his autograph. Pat smiled and said, "sure, bring her over here, but hurry the show is about to start." The guy looked at Pat and said; "I can't do that." "Why not?," asked O'Brien, who was becoming more and more irritated. "Because she's outside in a taxi and the meter is running, and I want you to come outside," said the thoughtless autograph hound. Needless to say, the guys wife didn't get her autograph.

MARIE WILSON (inset), star of the 1950's "My Friend Irma" television series, was slated to be interviewed by the late Herb Lyon and Jack Brickhouse on WGN radio. Because a blinding snowstorm made driving to WGN studios impossible, arrangements were made to fly Marie Wilson and this reporter to WGN in the station's traffic-copter. The copter was so small there was only room for the pilot and Marie Wilson has to sit on my lap. We made it to the studio, did the interview and as we flew back to Midway Airport we were being buffeted about in the tiny copter by the blinding snowstorm. Suddenly the pilot started fumbling through his jacket. "Is there something wrong?," asked Marie. "No, no, said the pilot, "I was just looking for my pen and a piece of paper so I could get your autograph." "Please get this thing on the ground," said Marie, "and I'll give you as many autographs as you want."

Paul Newman has for years refused to give out autographs. Perhaps Newman's reason was expressed best once by the late Bob Crane of "Hogan's Heroes" television fame, who once said there is nothing more deflating to a star's ego than to sign autographs on everything from scraps of paper to matchbooks and then when you walk out of the building you see the autographed matchbook or scrap of paper laying in the gutter, "or you hear the autograph hound say, 'I thought he was somebody else'," said Crane.

JULIE NEWMAN (inset), the statuesque and sexy "Cat Lady" on the old "Batman" television series, visited the Great Lakes Naval Hospital during the Vietnam war. As she made her way through one of the wards filled with amputee victims, a Red Cross volunteer told Julie that there was a young man who had lost both legs, but had been waiting to meet her because he had carried Julie's autographed picture with him all the time he was in Vietnam. Julie knew in an instant the picture had probably been sent out by the TV series fan club mail service and it was a facsimile of her signature on the photo. When she approached the bed of the Vietnam veteran, he reached under his pillow and brought out the dog-eared picture of her. She smiled at him, gave him a hug, took the picture, and wrote across it; "Dear Bob: I'll never forget you and what you have done for all of us. My prayers will be with you always. Love, Julie Newman."

VIVIAN VANCE, best known for her role as Ethel Mertz on the old "I Love Lucy" television show, was seated in booth one at the Pump Room awaiting lunch. The staid environment of the Pump Room was usually a safe haven from autograph seekers. But this day, a society mother was seated at another table with her grade school-age daughter. Just as the waiters delivered Vivian Vance's lunch, the society mom got up from her table and brought her kid to Vance's table and shoved the kid into the booth next to Vivian Vance. "My daughter never misses you on TV," said the society mother, "and she wants your autograph." Ms. Vance tried to be polite and asked if they could come back after she had finished her lunch. "But she has a class project this afternoon," said the obnoxious society mother, "and she wants to ask you some questions, too." Vivian Vance put down her knife and fork, smiled at the young girl and said, "maybe, my dear, you could tell the class about how your rude mother embarrassed you today." And then she went back to eating her lunch.

Lange Trio has an emotional depth that ranges from vibrant percussive pop to tug-at-the-heartstrings ballads to showtunes. Their repertoire includes standards from the era of Cole Porter and the Gershwins, as well as today's favorites from pop, new age and Broadway.

Dinner Dance

"St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., is holding its fourth annual Valentine's Day Dinner-Dance on Saturday, Feb. 13th in the Grand Ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton, Chicago," announced Jim Segredo, director of development/alumni. "The evening begins with cocktails at 6 p.m. with dinner served at 7:30." The cost of the dance is $125 per person, $250 per couple, $1,250 for a table of 10. The dinner extravaganza will consist of hors d'oeuvres, prime rib dinner and an open bar.

The money raised from the benefit and the silent auction will go into an endowment fund for St. Rita High School. Last year's dance, attended by over 250 alumni and friends of the school, raised over $40,000 and this year's promises to raise even more.

For reservations or information, contact Mr. Segredo at (312) 925-5029.

Cardinal Appoints Fitness Review Lawyer To Address Allegations Against Clerics

Cardinal Joseph Bernardin has named Stephen F. Sidlowski, an attorney with the Office of the Cook County Public Guardian, as professional fitness review administrator for the Archdiocese of Chicago, a new position created to help address allegations of clerical sexual misconduct with minors and determine the fitness for ministry of any priest withdrawn from a ministerial assignment as a result of such allegations.

Announcing the appointment, Cardinal Bernardin said, "I am grateful to the members of the review board who have conducted an extensive search for highly-qualified candidates and have recommended Sidlowski as professional fitness review administrator. I am pleased to accept their recommendation. His appointment is an important step forward in our effort to create a professional review process by which the fitness of a priest accused of sexual misconduct with a minor can be determined promptly and credibly."

Sidlowski begins his new responsibilities on Feb. 1st. His office initially will be located at 25 W. Chicago Ave.

The position of administrator was created as part of new policies and procedures on clerical sexual misconduct with minors announced by Cardinal Bernardin last September. The administrator is the full-time staff director who is to work closely with an independent, nine-member review board, appointed by Cardinal Bernardin, responsible for processing and managing all cases of priests against whom allegations of sexual misconduct with minors have been made. As part of his duties, Sidlowski will be designated as a mandated reporter to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS), and help victims and survivors to do the same to all public authorities.

Sidlowski has served as an attorney/guardian ad litem with the Office of the Cook County Public Guardian since August 1989. He is actively engaged in child welfare law as a representative and advocate for legal rights and general welfare of hundreds of abused, neglected and dependent children. Prior to joining the office of the public guardian, Sidlowski had been employed by the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago, and Catholic Charities Immigration and Legalization program. He has also worked as a youth minister and high school teacher.

OAK LAWN POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Jan. 7th, Earlie Allers of Calumet City told police she had parked her car in front of the Americana Health Care Center at 6300 W. 95th St. at 2:41 p.m. and when she came out at 10:55 p.m., she found the driver's side door window smashed. Four cases of tapes and a leather cap were missing. Estimated loss is $150.

Martella Jones of Chicago was seen by the security agent at Venture, 4101 W. 95th St., allegedly concealing merchandise under her coat and leaving without paying. She was stopped outside and $125.77 worth of merchandise was recovered.

On the 8th at 4:53 a.m., Gerard Clausen of Chicago told police he was working out at the Chicago Health Club, 6700 W. 95th St., and after he had finished, found his locker had been entered. Someone removed the combination lock and stole his pants, shirt, hooded sweatshirt, shoes, socks, car keys, gym bag, a wallet containing $31 and credit cards. Also missing was a gold wedding band with a ruby valued at $2,000, a gold chain with a medallion, $500; and a Casio watch.

On the 9th, a clerk at the Amoco station at 10259 S. Cicero, told police a white man came into the station, looked around and asked how much a case of anti-freeze costs and was told it was $40.66. The offender then picked up the case and said he had to go to his car to get his credit card. The clerk told him to leave the merchandise, but he ran out of the station, threw the case in a car and fled north on Cicero.

Daniel Minot of Burbank was charged with criminal damage to property after he was allegedly seen smashing a window in a car parked at Cagney's lot at 4600 W. Cicero while he was involved in a fight. Minot fled the lot on foot, running east toward the Arena Bowl. He was found at 10329 S. LaCrosse Ave. crouched down behind a bush. Estimated damage is $500.

John Hart, Jr. of Palos Hills was stopped at 111th & Cicero at 2 a.m. and charged with DUI, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and no proof of insurance.

Talbot Serigny of Chicago Ridge was stopped at Southwest Highway and Ridgeland Ave. at 3:12 a.m. and charged with a missing taillight, revoked driver's license and DUI.

On the 11th, Peter Thomas Vevers of Merrionette Park was stopped at 5340 W. 111th St. and charged with improper lane usage, speeding, DUI and BAC over .10.

On the 12th, a resident on the 10000 block of Pulaski reported two men knocked and told him that the landlord had sent them to inspect the windows. One of the offenders talked to the victim about the water pressure while the second offender and another man who had joined them went into the bedroom. The three left, telling him they would be back. The victim went to the bedroom, saw his wallet had been moved and found that eight $5 bills were missing. He then searched the room and found two cash boxes were missing; a buffalo nickel; a 1/2 carat diamond ring valued at $950; and his bank books had been taken. Estimated loss is $2,290.

On the 13th, Clodagh Nester, an employee at Costello's Lounge, 9953 Southwest Highway, told police she had served two beers to an unknown subject between 1:20 and 1:45 p.m. and after he left she noticed her purse which she had left behind the bar was missing. It contained credit cards, her driver's license, $80 cash and keys to her residence and car.

A police officer on patrol noticed a gray van backed up against a blue Cadillac DeVille parked inside the lot at Shirey Cadillac at 10825 S. Central Ave. He found the hood of the Caddy had been damaged and a tire on the rear door of the van was missing.

Job Interview Skills Forum

Job candidates can learn all the techniques for having successful job interviews at the "Interviewing Skills" program from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, Feb. 13th at the Oak Lawn Public Library, 9427 Raymond Ave. Patti Bach, a former human resources consultant with United Airlines, will bring her expertise and experience to share with the audience. Bach will cover seven points in her presentation: preparation, first impressions, you as the interviewer, tuning in to your interviewer, how to respond to sensitive questions and the followup.

Bach has a BA in Organizational/Corporate Communications from Northern Illinois University with a minor concentration in Behavioral Sciences. She had 11 years of experience with United Airlines before starting her own firm and says that the subject of finding and interviewing for jobs has become very popular, perhaps due to recessionary times. Originally, she tried to present her programs in 90 minutes, but because the audience asks so many questions, she now plans on spending at least two hours. She notes that she has stayed an hour or more at some locations in order to answer individual questions.

Comments from other libraries where Bach has spoken include "great speaker, very thorough," "excellent—very ample information presented, very informative, great ideas," and "good handouts."

The program is open to the public without charge or registration. For additional information, contact Mary Nelson, public relations and development officer, at 422-4990.

Townhomes Are Proposed For Zayre Property

It was a short agenda, but a long meeting Tuesday night when the trustees at the regular meeting of the Oak Lawn Board heard John M. Ford, petitioner for the owner of the former Zayre property at 5100 W. 111th St. who is asking that the zoning be changed from M-1 to R-3 residential. Ford said they plan to build 123 townhouses and 84 condos on the property. Trustee Harold Mozwez was concerned about the number of children who might be living in these houses and pointed out there weren't any plans for a park. There is a park at 109th and Laverne and Bill Lindley, engineer for the wetland demonstration project and Ford said they had been meeting with members of the park district and the Army Corps of Engineers because part of that is wetlands which cannot be built on.

Trustee Robert Streit said he had 67 pages of excerpts taken from the minutes of the planning & development commission in connection with this property. Although it had been discussed at the P&DC meetings, Streit was perturbed that there were no plans for light industry or commercial projects.

Ford told him and the board that there have been no takers who have shown an interest in locating light industry or commercial projects there. He also pointed out that it was not in the right location for that type business and reminded them that three other businesses had been there and they all folded.

Trustee Bill Hefka, and the rest of the trustees agreeing with him, said that the taxes are too high in Cook County; that Oak Lawn is losing business to Will and DuPage Counties.

Trustee Marjorie Joy said she had talked to a number of residents who will be neighbors, some of whom were present at the meeting. She asked that they be allowed to speak. Stanley Sikony of 108th and Laramie said he has been concerned because he wanted to be sure no three-story condos will be built near the parks and about possible flooding and said all of them were relieved to hear about the change in plans as brought this evening.

The matter of the impact on the schools in the area was also discussed and were told there should be nothing to worry about.

Streit suggested getting an independent firm to do a feasibility study to make sure of what would be the best use of the property, although Ford had told them he had this done two months ago and they said the townhouses and condos are the best usage.

Trustees Joy and Hefka made the motion to change the rezoning from M-1 to R-3, subject to the property plan as presented by Ford, which passed by a unanimous vote. When asked, Ford said they hope to start building in June.

In other business the board adopted the refuse contract. Village Attorney Burton Odelson said he had made a resume with the highlights of the contract. He said each house will pay 81 cents less and there is another reduction on the recycling. There is also a reduction of 4 percent per year and Waste Management has agreed to pickup debris in plastic bags.

Clerk Jayne Powers reported that Feb. 1st is the first day to file petitions with Feb. 8th, the last day to file and the office will be open until 5 p.m. March 22nd is the last day to register to vote for the April 20th election.

Joy reported the engineering department of the University of Illinois has agreed to take core samples from the Hartz project to test the cement in the driveways. Dr. East said this will be a class project and they will be taking three cores from the driveways of five houses in the Eagle Ridge project.

Gilbert Defends Actions

Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert, in response to an article in last week's Oak Lawn Independent, said that he brought charges against Captain Timothy Doyle of the department on various charges including failure to do assigned work, insubordination, obtaining contracts for his landscaping business through police department contacts and for failure to substantiate claims of wrongdoing on Gilbert's part.

Gilbert is a 33-year veteran of the force, not 23-year, as stated in the article and, according to Gilbert, Doyle offered money in the form of a political contribution if he could be assured that he would be chosen to replace Gilbert as police chief.

Library Circulation Up

A total of 62,978 more circulations at the Oak Lawn Public Library were completed in 1992 than in 1991, an overall increase of more than 10 percent. Dr. James Casey, library director, reported the statistics to the library board of trustees at its regular meeting on Jan. 19th. He also noted that although the library was closed from Dec. 24th through 27th, the Dec. circulations still increased by 10 percent over

Dec. 1991.

Casey indicated that the cutback in funding by the Chicago Public Library may have accounted for a large proportion of the borrowing of materials by non-Oak Lawn residents. He said that a July-Dec. 1992 report indicated that 29 percent of the library's total circulation was reciprocal borrowing and the biggest share was by Chicago residents, a 60 percent increase by that group.

The library board approved the formation of the Oak Lawn Community Library Foundation and directed the attorney to take appropriate legal action for not-for-profit incorporation.

In regular business, the board approved payment of $44,843.89 for library materials, $33,248.50 for general library operations, and 145,753.81 for personnel. Following a presentation of several liability insurance proposals by Payan, Alberts and Thompson, the board awarded liability insurance coverage to Aetna Insurance.

The next regular board meeting is at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 16th. Board meetings are held in the library's Oak Lawn Rotary Room, 9427 S. Raymond Ave. (5300 west on 95th St.) Meetings are open to the public.

Pulaski. The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. with dinner, followed by Ubell's presentation on, "The Crime Victim Compensation Act."

New Pace Telephone Numbers

Pace, the suburban bus service, is updating its phone equipment to improve customer service by providing a direct number for its current and potential riders. The existing phone system has been overburdened with calls, mostly to Pace's passenger services office for travel information. With a new phone system that went into service on Jan. 25th, the current Pace phone number (708) 364-7223 will be used exclusively as a direct line for customer inquiries.

As a result of the new system, other Pace departments will have new phone numbers that include a voice mail feature. The general administration number will be (708) 364-8130. New phone numbers for other key areas include (708) 228-3570 for the Pace V.I.P. vanpool program, (708) 228-3572 for human resources/personnel and (708) 228-3573 for purchasing.

All phone number changes are now in effect. Individuals, communities and organizations dealing directly with particular Pace staff members will be advised of their new phone numbers.

The noun "lobbyist" has fallen on rough times along the beltways of Congress and the 'politically-correct' corridors of Washington ever since presidential-hopeful Ross Perot made the influence peddlers as nervous as a gaggle of long-tailed cats in a roomful of rockin' chairs.

One of the centerpieces of Perot's bid for the White House was he was going to do away with the hordes of Washington lobbyists who were being paid huge sums of money to influence members of Congress. He also wanted to make sure a person is not allowed to leave a job in one administration and turn right around and join a Washington lobbying firm. Perot wanted Congress to enact a bill which would keep former government employees from becoming lobbyists for a minimum of four years.

President Clinton went along with Perot's lobby-bashing during the campaign promising to "change the face of America," but no sooner had he been elected president and he started appointing high-priced Washington lawyers/lobbyists to his cabinet. At last count 13 of the 18 top level cabinet appointments in the Clinton administration are lawyers—many of whom worked for Washington law firms who lobbied for some of the biggest corporations in America as well as foreign interests.

Lobbyists, in the minds of many, have about as much respect as a dope peddler. Ask the average person on the street to give you a definition of a "lobbyist" and the first words you will hear are "high-priced bribers." A somewhat pedestrian definition for the job-ap of a Washington lobbyist.

The American Heritage Dictionary defines a "lobby" as: "a group of persons engaged in trying to influence legislators or other public officials in favor of a specific cause." The word can also mean a person or group of persons who try to influence officials on behalf of or against a proposed piece of legislation.

Perhaps Ross Perot and his hubristic followers had in mind lobotomizing all Washington lobbyists by a surgical incision into the frontal lobe of the brain to sever one or more nerve tracts depriving the lobbyists of their competitiveness. Perot's fatuous and phillistine sychophants are sadly and grossly uninformed about the role of a Washington lobbyist.

Jeffrey H. Birnbaum, a Washington reporter, recently wrote a book: The Lobbyists—How Influence Peddlers Get Their Way in Washington.

In his book, Birnbaum quotes one unnamed lobbyist as saying that being in his profession "has long been synonymous in the minds of many Americans with being a glorified pimp."

However, Birnbaum goes about proving that the simple definition of the job of a lobbyist, a dope peddler or glorified pimp, is not valid.

Contrary to most views, the lobbyist in Washington today is not a proponent of gridlock. Instead, they are experts on science, technology, labor unions, tax law, consumer groups, nonprofit organizations and environmentalists.

Some of the fiercest battles in Washington are between lobbyists for rival industries. A few cases are stock life insurance companies against mutual life insurance companies; or trucking lobbyists battling with high-speed railroad lobbyists who want more money poured into high-speed rail projects.

One area that ultimately effects all Americans are the lobbyists who try to forge coalitions of nontraditional allies, like that between Universities and businesses to try and get more Federal money for research projects.

Labor unions, which want to give the appearance of favoring non-war goods, are still lobbying Congress for more money to build more fighter planes and more military hardware.

Mark Roberts, an AFL-CIO official, says military budgets have been shrinking in the post-cold war period, creating a loss of jobs, and to offset the declining job base the union has been lobbying for warplanes and other weapons to keep people working. One machinists' union and the United Auto Workers, which between them have 200,000 members still employed by weapons companies, have been lobbying members of Congress for more federal funds for the manufacture of weapons. However, their press stance is they support funds for public infrastructure projects.

Just eight days ago, President Clinton's administration took over running the United States. Before leaving Capitol Hill and hundreds of sub-level cabinet jobs in the Bush administration, many Bush aides went through what has become known as the Washington "revolving door." The outgoing aides chose their successors, the very people they will lobby, after they have joined a high-priced Washington lobbying firm.

The ubiquitous Perot has cranked up his nonprofit United We Stand, America Inc. and by calling a 1(800) number the politically naïve can join by sending in $15 for a yearly membership to lobby Congress. Save your money and buy some Elvis stamps—they'll be worth more in a few years than a United We Stand, America Inc. "lobbying" card.

Don't kid yourself—it's business as usual in Washington.

The Chicago Board of Education has announced its selection of a national screening committee to assist in the search for a new General Superintendent of Schools. At the same time, the board announced that the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation has offered supplemental funding to help cover projected costs associated with the national search.

"This search is one of the board's major responsibilities for the next several months," said Board President Florence B. Cox. "It will require a thorough, professional selection process. The screening committee will help us assess candidate's strengths to capitalize on school reform in order to improve the quality of public education in Chicago. The MacArthur Foundation's continuing commitment to school improvement will help the board take advantage of the training and resources it needs as it undertakes the search process."

Adele Simmons, president of the MacArthur Foundation, said, "The foundation is pleased to help the board with financial support necessary to recruit and screen candidates for this position of great importance to the future of the entire city. This is a key hiring decision that will have a large impact on the course of school reform over the next several years. It is important that the board have the tools to attract the best candidates and to make the best decision. With this excellent advisory committee, the board is off to a good start."

The national screening committee will conduct a proper review of candidates' credentials and assist in networking to identify potential candidates.

To date, the board has solicited and received public comment on its proposed criteria for the General Superintendent's position. It is also consulting with the Illinois Association of School Boards regarding the process for collecting, organizing and maintaining confidentiality in the candidate application process. The board has completed a brochure that invites applicants for the General Superintendent's position. The brochure will be circulated locally and nationally, and advertisements will be placed in national publications to attract candidates. The board will begin accepting applications immediately.

After applications have been gathered, the board, in consultation with the screening committee, will review applicants' credentials and schedule interviews.

Applicants should send a letter of application responding to the selection criteria, a current resume and a portfolio of work demonstrating their accomplishments and experience. Those items should be sent to Illinois Association of School Boards, 200 W. 22nd St., Suite 249, Lombard, IL 60148, mark envelope attention: Joan S. Isenberg, Chicago Public Schools.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Homelessness affects people all around us. Of the more than 55,000 persons who were homeless in Illinois during the past year, one in three was a child.

Three years ago, the Homeless Assistance Fund was established to give taxpayers an opportunity to help homeless individuals and families. Since the program began, more than $717,000 has been donated to the fund.

Simply by writing in a donation of $1 or more to the Homeless Assistance Fund on line 15d of their 1992 Illinois income tax form, taxpayers can make a difference in the lives of Illinois' homeless. The contributions are either deducted from tax refunds or added to taxes owed.

Money collected by the fund helps support local agencies that provide shelter, food and other services to homeless individuals and families. These services play a vital role in getting people off the streets and into permanent homes.

Please remember the Homeless Assistance Fund when completing your 1992 Illinois income tax form. Your donations will help provide essential services to the homeless in your community.

Sincerely,
Phil Bradley
Director, Ill. Dept. of Public Aid

It has been stated, it behooves all of us, in our own small way to contribute to national security, that of protecting our country against all enemies both foreign and domestic. Selecting Federal Judges

Senator Paul Simon, now Illinois' senior senator and already a leading member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has announced major changes in the way federal judges, prosecutors and marshals will be selected in Illinois under the new Democratic administration.

The Illinois Democrat said he will share the role of selecting candidates for the posts with Sen.-Elect. Carol Moseley Braun (D), who was sworn in as Illinois' junior senator on Jan. 5th. He also announced that he and Braun will create merit commissions in each of Illinois' three federal court districts to screen finalists for the appointments, another new feature in the selection of federal judges, U.S. attorneys and U.S. marshals in Illinois. When vacancies occur in the courts, Simon and Braun will alternate each time in choosing one candidate from three finalists forwarded by the merit commissions for each vacancy. There are three immediate vacancies in the Northern District and one in the Southern District, with another vacancy there expected soon.

The arrangement, endorsed by Braun, will be the closest partnership for a state's judicial selection process presently in use by the senators from any state.

By tradition, the selection of federal district judges, U.S. attorneys and U.S. marshals in each state is the prerogative of the senior senator of the President's party. With the departure of Sen. Alan Dixon and with a new Democratic administration about to take office, the role shifts to Simon from Rep. Bob Michel (R-Ill.) who handled the selection process in the Reagan and Bush administrations when Illinois had no senators of those presidents' party.

"We've put together a process that puts a premium on quality, public input and diversity," said Simon. "We want to find people who will serve Illinois well and who will have the trust and respect of the people of Illinois."

Though not an attorney, Simon has considerable experience in the judicial nomination process. He is Illinois' first member of the Judiciary Committee in several decades and early in his term was assigned by Sen. Joseph Biden (D-Del.) to oversee, on behalf of the panel's Democratic members, the entire confirmation process, including all hearings, for all lower court nominees for federal judgeships. After the Nov. 3rd election, Simon began surveying judicial selection processes in effect in other states and then worked with Braun to construct the process.

In a written statement, Braun said: "Sen. Simon and I are setting in motion a process that will ensure that the judicial appointees in Illinois are of the highest possible quality, draw broadly from the diversity of talent in our state and are knowledgeable about the particular needs of Illinois." She also thanked Simon for sharing the authority to select candidates. "Most senior senators take full responsibility for judicial selection in their states or else give a minor role to the junior senator," she said. "Sen. Simon, by offering me an equal role to his in this process, is being quite generous and magnanimous."

To chair the three commissions, Simon and Braun have appointed: Illinois Appellate Judge Anthony Sciarano of Chicago, to chair the Northern District Judicial Selection Commission; Susan Cane Stone of Urbana, a former member of the Illinois Commerce Commission, to chair the Central District Judicial Selection Commission; and Hiram H. Lesar of Carbondale, founding dean of the Southern Illinois University School of Law, to chair the Southern District Judicial Selection Commission. Appointments of other commission members will be made by Simon, Braun, the Illinois State Bar Association and the deans of law schools in the respective districts.

Sticker Deadline

Secretary of State George H. Ryan reminded passenger car owners who have license plates expiring in January to buy their renewal stickers at a Secretary of State vehicle facility in Chicago or Springfield or at a financial institution that sells stickers. It is now too late to mail applications and guarantee delivery of stickers before the January 31 expiration date.

Stickers may be purchased at approximately 2,200 financial institutions, statewide for a slight fee.

The new, blue sticker is attached to the back of the ID card. To protect your sticker from theft, remove as many of the old stickers as possible before placing the new sticker on the rear plate.

Help On Taxes

The American Association of Retired Persons' (AARP) largest volunteer program 'Tax-Aide' is celebrating its 25th anniversary. Volunteers provide free one-on-one income tax assistance from Feb. 1st through April 15th to any low or moderate-income older taxpayers. Each year, more than 30,000 volunteers help approximately 1.6 million taxpayers. All volunteers are trained, in cooperation with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS), to understand provisions of the tax code that affect older people.

Volunteers need these forms to assist you: a copy of last year's tax forms, any forms showing income earned or pensions or Social Security paid to you, 1099 forms showing interest or dividends that investments have earned, and receipts or cancelled checks for income or property taxes paid or any contributions made to charities.

To locate a 'Tax-Aide' site closest to your home, call your local IRS information office. The telephone number is in the telephone book under "U.S. Government."

Ethic Talk

Moraine Valley Community College will host a free lecture, "Chicago Ethnic Neighborhoods and the Movement of Their People to the Southwest Suburbs," as part of the college's ongoing celebration of cultural diversity.

The lecture will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 23rd at 6:30 p.m. in the College Center Moraine Rooms on campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave.

For more information, call (708) 974-4300, ext. 4207.

Since 1981, because no member of the Senate from Illinois was a member of the president's party, Congressman Michel has controlled the selection of U.S. judicial, U.S. attorney and U.S. marshal candidates in Illinois, as the senior member of the Illinois delegation of the president's party. The customary process followed by Rep. Michel is still also used in several other states. When a vacancy has occurred in any of Illinois' three district courts, Rep. Michel would publicize the vacancy and solicit recommendations from individuals, bar associations and other organizations.

After the specified application period expired, Rep. Michel would send all names to the Illinois State Bar Association for the bar's evaluation. In addition, for Northern District vacancies only, Rep. Michel also sent names for evaluation to the Chicago Council of Lawyers, Cook County Bar Association, Chicago Bar Association and the Federal Bar Association.

Rep. Michel then sent three names to the Department of Justice for consideration by the President.

Monday, February 1, is going to be a busy place in all township/village/city halls. It's the first day of filing for the Tuesday, April 20 general election and all candidates would like to get the top slot on the ballot. It's worth an extra 5% of the votes, pollsters say.

It used to be first there first served, but now, in most cases all who are in line for the opening bell will be included in a lottery for position.

Then, old timers say, the next best slot on the ballot is the last position so look for another flurry of filers at closing time February 8, the last day to file, hoping to be last.

At stake this year are offices of almost all city mayors/village presidents, clerks, and trustees. In the townships the offices of supervisor, clerk, trustee, highway commissioner, assessor, and collector are to be voted on; also school, park, library and trustee positions will be on the ballot.

There also are referenda in some school, village and fire districts.

Cook County Clerk David Orr is in charge of all suburban elections. He will publish ballots in local newspapers (including this one) pertaining to each election district.

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan visited the Advanced Technical Training Center, 15958 S. Cicero, Oak Forest on Tuesday January 26th. Phelan allocated over $38,000 in federal funds last month to Advanced Tech for the purpose of training 20 low income residents from south suburban Cook County in electric technology, nursing certification and data processing. He was just checking on the progress and functions of the center.

In case the fluctuating warm and cold weather has left your favorite outdoor skating place too dangerous to use you might try Ice Rink 37 located on State Street between Randolph and Washington which is open free to the public. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays.

This year the McDonald Corporation provided sponsorship for the installation of cooling coils under the ice allowing the rink to be open during warmer weather according to Director James E. Sheahan of the Mayor's Office of Special Events. There are also other co-sponsors of the rink.

Don't forget Crestwood Mayor Chester Stranczek's annual V.I.P. dinner-dance tomorrow night (Friday Jan. 29) at Dave's Rosewood West. Cocktails are at 7 p.m. followed by dinner and dancing.

Crestwood's new Hampton Inn will hold ribbon cutting ceremonies Saturday February 6th. The Inn is located in the RiverCrest Shopping Center, 13330 S. Cicero Ave.

Midlothian Mayor Tom Murawski, just back from the Presidential Inauguration, urged members of the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association (SSMMA) to fight unfunded mandates handed down by the state. He also made a plea for tax reform, "real reform isn't just a tax cap... it is a cap without unfunded mandates" he told the group which also included a bevy of law makers.

Stickney Township Supervisor Lou Viverito reports that Congressman Bill Lipinski will open an office with him in the new Stickney Township Democratic Headquarters when it is moved next month to 6238 W. 79th St.

Oak Lawn Mayor Ernie Kolb and his Coalition Party for Integrity is receiving and avalanche of support from all quarters judging by the reception given at the opening of headquarters at 52nd Ave. and 95th St. Running with Kolb are incumbents Clerk Jayne Powers and Second District Trustee Ron Stancik, along with new comers Michael Walsh in the fourth and William Keane in the sixth.

For the first time in its history, the Illinois Community College Board is called on to appoint a community college board trustee. The reason is that the Moraine Valley Board of Trustees failed to agree on a candidate, from 15 names submitted, and the deadline passed last Friday.

The board is split along political lines and no quorum was present at any recent meeting therefore a successor to Trustee Patrick O'Malley was not chosen. O'Malley resigned his position on the MVCC Board when he was elected State Senator last November.

Special meetings were called on Jan. 20th, 21st and 22nd (the final day for the board to make a choice) but all were adjourned for lack of a quorum. The choice is an interim selection to fill the vacancy until the next election is held.

The Stickney Township Regular Democratic Women's Organization is presenting a fashion show and dinner on Thursday, Feb. 11th at the Martinique. Tickets are $20 a person.

Palos Township Supervisor Beverly "Betty" Lebloch, announced that free income tax service for senior residents will again be offered at the township office, 10802 S. Roberts Rd. IRS, trained volunteers will be available for simple tax returns, beginning Feb. 2nd and continuing into April. Appointments are necessary and can be made by calling 598-4449.

Taxpayer Donations Will Aid Homeless

Illinois taxpayers again have the opportunity to help homeless families and individuals by writing in a donation to the Homeless Assistance Fund on line 15d of their 1992 Illinois Income Tax Form.

"Through the charity of Illinois taxpayers, more than $717,000 has been contributed since the fund began three years ago," Public Aid Director Phil Bradley said. "The continued generosity of Illinoisans will enable us to help more homeless families and individuals in their efforts to find permanent homes."

Every dollar donated to the fund supports local agencies that provide shelter, meals and other services needed by homeless individuals and families to help them move from temporary shelters to permanent housing.

More than 55,000 persons were served during the past year by homeless programs funded by the Department of Public Aid. This year the Department will spend $7.1 million on homeless programs.

Taxpayers may write in a donation of $1 or more to the Homeless Assistance Fund on line 15d of their 1992 Illinois Income Tax Form. The contribution will either be deducted from the tax refund or be added to the taxes owed.

Oak Lawn Reviews

Very strange weather we have been having. I have a theory about this, that all of the excursions made by the spaceships and missiles shot into space have disturbed the jet stream and whatever else controls weather, hence, the goofy weather.

Last call for the meeting of the Southwest Mystery Book Guild and the chance to meet Michael Cormany, author of "Skin Deep is Fatal." The date is Thursday, Feb. 4th at 7 p.m. at the Oak Lawn Library, 9427 S. Raymond Ave. One may call Barbara Reiser or Irene Costel at 346-5249 for more information.

Brandon Cole, son of Ken and Linda Dangman, left on Jan. 18th for San Diego, CA to be inducted into the U.S. Marines. Congratulations and good luck!

"Dance to the Music of the '60's" is the theme for a fundraiser for Maureen Diericks, Alsip park commissioner, to be held at the Apollo Recreation Center, 12521 S. Kostner, on Saturday, Feb. 6th from 7:30 until 11 p.m. The donation for tickets, which will be sold at the door, is $10 per person and includes the dancing and refreshments. For more information, one may call 389-1003.

Sorry to report that a former Oak Lawn police officer, William Novotny, died on Jan. 22nd. Bill retired six years ago to Bonfay, Florida, where he was cremated. He leaves his widow, Annette, children and grandchildren. He will be missed.

Had an occasion to go to 38th and Ashland and decided to take Rte. 1-55 to the Ashland/Damen exit. That highway is in very bad shape. The potholes for getting on at the Cicero Ave. ramp are horrendous, and the outer edges of the road are also lined with "booby traps." In fact, I hit one so hard I thought I was going to get a flat tire, but fortunately it didn't happen.

St. Gerald School is conducting a fundraiser called MANNA to get the money needed for computers for their lab. MANNA involves selling certificates for the Jewel, Dominick's, Carson's, Sears and other stores. One may use these certificates exactly as you would use the cash and by using these the school gets a percentage of the sales for this special fund. Further information and certificates may be obtained by coming to Room 121 after all the weekend masses or by calling Ron at 425-3342, Pat at 422-1785 or Debbie at 423-1930.

St. Gerald Altar & Rosary dinner and card party will be held in the parish hall on Friday, Jan. 29th at 6 p.m. The donation for tickets is $7 per person or one may call Mary at 424-6244. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Another date to mark on your calendar is Tuesday evening, Feb. 9th, when St. Gerald Mother's Club will present their annual dinner-fashion show at the Old Barn, 8100 S. Parkside. The donation for tickets is $20 a person. The ticket deadline is Feb. 1st and they may be purchased after all the masses in January or by calling Joanne Peterson at 425-0261, who is also handling the reservations.

Well, I have seen the Elvis stamp and it is very nice. I received it on a publicity release from Bethel Performing Arts Center, 4220 W. 98th St., Evergreen Park, which is presenting the "Wizard of Oz" this coming weekend, Jan. 29th, 30th and 31st, and on Feb. 5th, 6th and 7th. Oak Lawn residents appearing in the production as Munchkins are Robbie Mallon, 1st grade, and Katie Mallon, 3rd grade, at Sward School; Tracy Spellman, 9th grade at Richards High School; Rebecca Finn, 6th grade, and Natalie Finn, 3rd grade, at St. Gerald School; and Jack Obelson of Hannum School. Also from St. Gerald is Stephanie Janor, 6th grade, who is playing a tree and an Oz person; Aunty Em is being played by Jenny Hederman, 9th grade, at Mother McAuley. Performances are at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. on Sunday. The donation for tickets is $7 adults, $6 seniors and $4 children.

Three members of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Aux. participated in the Cerebral Palsy Telethon aired over Channel 7 over the weekend. They were Commander Robert Prinder, Regina Finnegan, auxiliary president, and member Dorothy Prinder. They had arrived at 4 p.m. on Saturday and were to stay until 12 midnight, but the third shift of volunteers did not show up so they and the others stayed until 3 or 4 a.m.

An American Flag was presented to the Iroquois Nation of the Southwest YMCA Maiden and Brave Indian program, by the Johnson-Phelps VFW Ladies Auxiliary on Sunday, Jan. 24th at the Worth Park District building where they meet. There are ten tribes. Kathi Campagna is the Chief and Asst. Chief and Waumpum Bearer is Allison Finn. Making the presentation were Ann Bennett, patriotic instructor & Americanism chairperson; Regina Finnegan, auxiliary president; and Grace Finn, auxiliary secretary.

The board congratulated the Prairie Junior High 8th grade girls basketball team which took 3rd place in the South Suburban Junior High School Conference and their coach Mary Hamann, physical education teacher at Prairie Jr. High.

Honorary Lane School assistant principals were presented to the board. The board heard presentations by Prairie Jr. High staff members Dave Wood and Noreen Williams on various educational programs at Prairie.

The board appointed a committee to meet with the administration and teachers union officers to review the 1993-94 school calendar options. In other action, the board accepted, with regret, the letter of retirement from Geraldine O'Rourke, Stony Creek teacher aide, effective in June. Mrs. O'Rourke is completing her 16th year with the district.

The board voted 6-1 to give Superintendent William Boucek a 3 percent raise for the 1992-93 school year. The board set Thursday, Jan. 28th from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. for a meeting at the administrative center to interview finalists for the Hazelgreen principalship. The interview session will be closed to the public. At 8:30 p.m. that same evening, the board will meet as a 'committee of the whole' to discuss staffing for the 1993-94 school year. This committee of the whole meeting will be open to the public.

The board congratulated the new officers of the district Council of Teachers Local 943; President Maureen Fournier, Lane/Stony Creek physical education teacher; Vice-President/Secretary Lorraine Griffiths, Hazelgreen LD/primary resource teacher; and Treasurer William Dahlstrand, Stony Creek 5th grade teacher.

The board heard a report that the upcoming Monday 7 p.m. Feb. 15th PTA meeting at Stony Creek School, 11700 S. Kolin, will feature the Young Author Awards and the Chicago Police Detective J.J. Bittenbinder's program "Street Smarts: How to Avoid Becoming a Victim."

Superintendent Boucek reported that the 5plus5 legislation on teacher retirement passed on Jan. 12th and that three of the bills introduced into the legislature for this session deal with property tax relief and a property tax cap for Cook County. The superintendent also reported that the district's Dec. 31st, 1992 education fund balance was down $392,825 compared with the 1991 balance.

Elaine English, curriculum coordinator, gave an update on the district steering and curriculum committees.

The next regular school board meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 17th at the administrative center. "The public is always welcome to attend," said board member Carl Ceretto.

Legislation On Demolition

In one of his last actions as State Senator, Senator Thomas Dart (D-14) took over as sponsor of a bill that would speed up the time it takes for abandoned buildings to be demolished.

The legislation authorizes certain municipalities to demolish, repair, or enclose a building or remove debris from a building if the building is open, vacant, and a hazard. There are stipulations to the bill ensuring that a building's owner be notified several times before it can be demolished.

This legislation is parallel to one of Mayor Daley's initiatives to address the blight of abandoned buildings in Chicago. The ordinance covers all aspects of allowing the city to require an owner to repair or have the building demolished, including owners who shield themselves from liability for demolition costs by transferring their ownership rights to organizations that can not afford to maintain or demolish the buildings.

Dart took over the legislation because he knows there are several areas in his district that it will benefit. These buildings are a haven for the transfer of drugs and other crime related activities and are otherwise unsafe.

The legislation has passed both houses and is waiting to be signed by the Governor.

Edgar "Steering Illinois In The Right Direction"

Now completing his first two years in office, Illinois Gov. Jim Edgar earns high marks for tending to the health of the state's small businesses, according to the National Federation of Independent Business/Illinois. With 20,000 members, NFIB/Illinois is the state's largest business organization.

NFIB/Illinois State Director John Davis said that Gov. Edgar deserves an A plus for supporting tax and government spending controls, encouraging state government to pay its bills on time, fostering more opportunities for small business and resisting costly and ineffective government mandates on employers.

"In 1991, Gov. Edgar began office with a state economy and revenues spiraling downward, but successfully resisted strong pressure for big tax increases and more spending," Davis said. "The 1989 income tax surcharge was continued and the governor steered the state through a period of difficult but necessary spending cuts. The pattern he set in 1991 made any major tax increases in 1992 out of the question."

Davis said that Gov. Edgar's leadership in creating a blue-ribbon private enterprise review and advisory board was a significant step toward opening the door for the private sector to bid competitively on jobs and services presently provided by government agencies. The board began its work in November and will make its report to Gov. Edgar before his budget message to the General Assembly on March 3rd. The 26 board members, appointed from business, public employee unions, the legislature and the state administration, include Jerry Naughton, chairman of the NFIB/Illinois Guardian Advisory Council (GAC), and Edwin H. Moore, GAC past chairman.

Davis also praised Gov. Edgar for his opposition to laws mandating costly and ineffective rules. "In 1991 the governor vetoed a 'comparable worth' act, creating a public administration to determine which state and state university jobs should receive equal pay," Davis said. "NFIB has no problem with the idea of equal pay for equal work, but this legislation would have created a bureaucratic nightmare."

"Gov. Edgar also opposed mandatory family leave legislation as a burden to small business, 94 percent of whom now provide this benefit when needed," Davis said.

Sharing The American Dream

"We grow too soon old and too late smart."

That's why you need an IRA today.

When lifelong friends Floyd and Gus have a meeting of the minds, they tell it like they see it.

What would they do if they were working toward retirement today? "Open an IRA," comes the sharp reply.

Our IRAs pay you high interest—interest that's tax-deferred until you begin withdrawing funds at retirement (when your tax rate will most likely be lower). And, depending on your adjusted gross income and pension plan coverage, you may be able to deduct an annual IRA contribution of up to $2,000 from your federal income tax.

Take it from two guys with 20/20 hindsight: "It's not what you make, it's what you save." Our high-yield IRAs. The smart way to keep your American Dream young.

"Singing Sweethearts"

upbringings to superstardom. Each grew up in Philadelphia and performed in that city at the same time. They did not meet, however, until they found their way to Hollywood. Nelson, who taught himself to sing, was offered a screen test after a successful vocal recital at the Los Angeles Philharmonic Auditorium. Jeanette had been performing since the age of six and her talent, beauty and stage experience led to her screen test and film contract.

In 1935, Nelson was a little-known singer whose movie career seemed to be going nowhere, while Jeanette had made several successful movies with Maurice Chevalier and other major stars of the day. That year, Louis B. Mayer, head of MGM studios, paired the two in the operetta "Naughty Marietta" which became one of Hollywood's top-grossing films and was nominated for an Academy Award. After one movie, Nelson and Jeanette became the team sensation of the industry. Between 1935 and 1942 they made eight films together. Generous movie clips from such classics as "Maytime," "Naughty Marietta," "Rose Marie," and "Sweethearts" showcase their most memorable performances, characters and songs.

In one of Jeanette's later movies, "Three Darling Daughters," a young actress named Jane Powell played her oldest daughter. Powell, host of "Nelson & Jeanette," came to Hollywood at the age of 14 from Oregon, where she had her own radio shows. She starred in 20 films, mostly MGM musicals, some of which have been described by critics as among the finest musicals Hollywood has ever made, including "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers." Many of the songs Powell introduced became standards.

Still a top musical performer with a vibrant soprano voice, Powell has starred in every entertainment medium. On television she has been a regular featured cast member of ABC's popular daytime series "Loving" appeared as Lisa in the series "As the World Turns" and played Irma in the TV hit series "Growing Pains." She performs often in nightclubs, at corporate functions and with symphony orchestras.

CURTAIN UP...."Jesus Christ Superstar," the critically acclaimed rock opera by Andrew Lloyd Weber and Tim Rice, is slated for a "one-week only" run at the Chicago Theatre from March 16 through March 21....The Jimmy Ballet, under the artistic direction of Gerald Arplao, who co-founded the company in 1956 with Robert Joffrey, will open its annual spring engagement on March 16 at the Civic Opera House with the Chicago premiere of the full-length "Billboards," set to a sizzling pop score by the contemporary popular music composer/performer Prince. The limited engagement will run through March 21....Hollis Resnik (inset) will be honored as "Chicago's Leading Lady" at the March 1 Sarah Siddons Society 40th gala honoring Stefanie Powers as "Chicago's Actress of the Year." Resnik was chosen for the award based upon her brilliant performance in the Interplay production of "Plaf" at the Pilsen East Center for the Arts. Stefanie Powers has announced she will leave for Kenya, Africa shortly after the Sarah Siddons bash where she will marry Patrick de Lachennais on April 1.

MULTI-CULTURALISM THEATRE...."Two Trains Running," which opened last Monday at the Goodman Theatre, will move to the New Regal Theater on March 4. The play is the fifth in August Wilson's lyrical cycle of plays exploring the African-American experience in this century...."Puddin' N Pete," a modern day fable by playwright Cheryl L. West, will have its world premiere at the Goodman Studio on Feb. 15. Puddin' is a sharp black woman with a good job and a will to do even better. She's been married once, hurt more than once, and she's decided she doesn't need "nobody or no thing." Pete is a janitor at the local high school whose first wife left him because he was "too busy getting through the day to think about dressing up tomorrow." But when Pete meets Puddin', he sees "a whole lotta of maybe's" where he used to have a "whole lotta no-can-do's." Cheryl L. West is a Chicago-born playwright who will be making her Goodman Theatre debut with a play which is a rich, honest and a hopeful reflection of the state of affairs between men and women in the African-American community today...."In White America," a chronicle of the black experience in white America, opened this past Tuesday at the Stage Left Theatre and is slated to run through February 21...."The Loman Family Picnic," a poignant but satirical assessment of a modern, middle-class Jewish family under the pressures of keeping with tradition, opened last night at the Next Theatre Company in Evanston.

ETHAN HAWKE (inset) stars as one of the survivors of an ill-fated flight to Chile of a South American rugby team whose plane crashes in the snow-covered Andes Mountains in the real-life drama "Alive" which is playing at movie houses all around the Chicago area....Jean-Claude Van Damme, the new motion picture heart-throb, makes the transition from action star to classic Hollywood hero who befriends and eventually protects a young widow and her two small children, in the movie "Nowhere to Run," also appearing at theatres all over the Chicagoland area...."Hexed" is the outrageous and sexy comedy thriller about a tall, gorgeous blonde who chases her man from rooftop to rooftop, brandishing a large butcher knife, in a madcap pursuit of will over common sense, in the movie that opened this past week at movie houses all around the city and suburbs.

KELLIE MARTIN (inset) plays a pink-clad princess with a capricious streak and boyfriend trouble in the Universal Pictures movie "Matinee" which opens tomorrow at movie houses all around Chicago. John Goodman, who plays in TV's "Roseanne," stars in the flick as a B-movie producer who changes the lives of four teenagers when he comes to Key West, Florida to test his latest gimmick-laden science fiction thriller....Mitzl Gaynor will return to Drury Lane Oakbrook Terrace in an all-new concert engagement from March 3 through March 7....Tony Romano, Chicago's best-known photographer, and his wife Lorraine are moving to Las Vegas and they will be feted by the Variety Club of Illinois on March 22 at the Empire Room of the Palmer House....Jennifer Scholze, who is married to 43rd Ward Alderman Edwin Elensdrath, has been named executive producer of Channel Five News. The station's press release states she will not be assigned to any stories regarding her husband.

Valentine Dance

The University of Chicago Alumni Association Pipe Band has announced its annual Valentine's Dance on Saturday, Feb. 13th from 7 p.m. till 12 midnight at the Local 150 Engineer's Hall, 6200 Joliet Road, Countryside (across the street from the William Tell restaurant). We have always held the dance at the Irish-American Heritage Center, but expressway construction and a growing crowd have forced us to change locations. There will be a cash bar, Irish and Scottish food, door prizes and dancing to a DJ (playing contemporary music). Rampant Lion Celtic Traders will also be on hand selling tapes, CDs and other goods.

This year's entertainment includes the University of Chicago Alumni Association Pipe Band, one of the top Grade III bands in North America, placing second in the 1992 Canadian Championships, and Midwest Champion Supreme 8 out of the last 11 years. The band played in the World Pipe Band Championships in Glasgow, Scotland in 1987, 1990 and is going again in 1993; "Celtic Aire," which includes members of the University of Chicago Alumni Association Pipe Band who combine bagpipes, guitars, keyboards and drums to produce a sound that combines the best of traditional Celtic music and modern rock. "Celtic Aire" also performs at the Duke of Perth, Chicago; Gillan Scottish Dancers; and Mark Howard Irish Step Dancers, also known as the Trinity Academy of Irish Dance, who have appeared on the Tonight Show and in the movie
"Backdraft." They have won the World's Championship for Irish Stepdancing.

For more information about the dance, call Mike Dietz at (312) 229-1766 or Steve Scott at (708) 356-3684, before the day of the dance.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

There are those who would attribute the military's reluctance to admit gays to a bigoted, prejudiced or even Neo-Nazi attitude. Those who believe this (and thus accept the homosexual community as a "legitimate" civil rights group) are either unaware of the dangers of gays in the military or are intentionally bent on destroying the morale of our fighting forces.

Retired Colonel David Hackworth, the most decorated living American veteran, says that putting gays in foxholes is the surest way to destroy fighting spirit and gut combat effectiveness. Although homosexuals who have served have been kept partially in line by the attitude of their contemporaries and the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), there are many cases where gay officers made sexual advances toward soldiers; gave combat awards to lovers (who hadn't even been in action) and traded test scores for sexual favors. One can imagine the increase in such acts and the decrease in morale should pervers be accepted into the military.

In addition, we must consider the AIDS factor. What wounded soldier in his right mind would allow blood to be transferred into his system from a soldier who had anonymous sex encounters with other men the night before?
And what right does society have to impose that kind of risk on those asked to defend their country?

The military is not just another job. Men live with men, shower with them, as do female personnel, for extended periods of time. To insert known homosexuals into such an environment is truly immoral as well as morale destroying.

The direct connection between homosexual activity and the AIDS epidemic justifies the treatment of that activity as conduct dangerous and even criminal rather than as a constitutionally protected right.

It is time we reaffirm our belief in Judeo-Christian moral and ethical standards which firmly condemn all forms of sodomy.

OUTDOORS

By Jim Kirby

SHOWTIME - NORTH AMERICA'S LARGEST OUTDOOR SHOW - For 14 solid years, the Chicagoland Sport Fishing, Travel & Outdoors Show has drawn millions of avid outdoorsmen out of hibernation and through its doors for the most complete selection of trips, tackle and cutting-edge outdoor gear. This year's event, taking place from Jan. 29th to Feb. 7th, at the Rosemont Convention Center (formerly the O'Hare Expo Center), Rosemont, promises to offer the sporting enthusiast even more.

"With the expansion of the expo center, we were able to add many exciting new exhibitors," stated Keith Ogulnick, show manager. "This includes the unveiling of a brand new pavilion devoted solely to hunting - the fisherman's second favorite hobby. It's the perfect addition to what will be our best show yet!"

The '93 Show's roster of exhibits and featured events also includes:

- Tackle Hall - over 200 top tackle manufacturers and representatives make this the largest array of tackle in the nation.
- Dozens of retailers offering thousands of outdoor products at special show prices.
- Unique vacation getaways from over 450 travel & resort exhibitors.
- Hundreds of marine dealers and charter boat captains.
- Comprehensive fishing and hunting seminars, featuring over 40 of the sports' top professionals.
- Action-packed special events such as: BUDWEISER SHARK MANIA - realistic simulations of the challenge and suspense of battling 3,000 lb. Great White Shark.

New this year, the show will house all of its over 900 exhibits on one convenient level. This layout is possible due to the sizeable expansion of the exposition facility to be completed in the fall of '93.

In addition, the overall format of the show has taken on a new look. Historically, the show has been somewhat divided into different product areas, but for the first time, it will entirely be arranged by category. "The reorganization will make it easier for attendees to locate specific products and services and give them a better opportunity to shop and compare," explained Keith. Exhibits will be categorized by the following groups: Travel & Resort; Tackle Hall; Tackle Retailers; Hunting; Outdoor Recreational Products; Marine.

This year's seminar program includes a "For Women Only" session featuring US'99 Radio's Nancy Turner, Illinois Department of Conservation's Fran Chastain and ILLINOIS/IOWA FISH & GAME FINDER'S Linda Love. To top it off, noted bowhunters Ralph Cianciarulo and Fred Lutger will take the stage for their respective hunting sessions.

"This is probably the best seminar line-up we've had in the history of the show," said Keith. "We're covering everything from Illinois' cooling lakes and local hunting and fishing hot spots to an overview of sport fishing by Al & Ron Lindner."

"It's just another way we're serving our attendees while continuing to make the show dynamic and exciting."

Last year, over 800 Chicago area first graders bounced their way through the Chicagoland Sport Fishing, Travel & Outdoors Show for a unique class field trip. This year, thousands of the little tikes will burst through the doors of the Rosemont Convention Center from February 1 - 5, for the outdoors industry's latest educational innovation, the SECOND ANNUAL GONE FISHIN' PROGRAM.

BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

Local cagers took to the courts and some met with success while others fell short. As they move toward playoff action in just over a month, the tension mounts as to which teams will be on top.

Friday Games

Oak Forest 59 - T.F. South 44

A trio of Bengals posed a triple threat to the Rebels as they paced their squad to a 59-44 SICA Central victory in Oak Forest.

Mike McFarlane sent 13 points through the twine while fellow Bengals Chris Carlson and Wayne Johnson contributed a dozen markers apiece.

Tinley Park 57 - Bremen 52

The Titans invaded the Braves wigwam and won a close battle 57-52 in SICA Central action.

Brave Joe Myers was the high net man for Bremen with 16.

Lincoln-Way 66 - Andrew 57

The Knights marched into the confines of Tinley Park and emerged victorious with a 66-57 finish over the Thunderbolts.

Shepard 58 - Richards 43

The Astros' orbit remained in warp speed as they overpowered the Bulldogs in SICA North play 58-43 to keep the goose egg in their loss column.

Bulldogs Levant Williams and Brian Dyson put their best feet forward as they totaled 14 and 12 points respectively.

Reavis 77 - Argo 45

The Argonaut ship definitely capsized as they went up against the Rams in Burbank and were dominated 77-45 in SICA North action.

All of the Rams, from starters to bench players, hit the floor in this game. Leading Reavis in scoring was senior center Tony Bombacino with 18.

Sandburg 35 - Stagg 32

This low-scoring squeaker saw the Eagles edge the Chargers in SICA North action at Sandburg in Orland Park.

Soaring for the Eagles on the floor was Casey Peters and his 16-point performance.

In other Friday games, St. Ignatius beat out the Brother Rice Crusaders 79-64 at St. Ignatius in Catholic League action while Evergreen Park took care of business against Riverside-Brookfield 61-39 in Southwest Suburban play in Evergreen Park.

'Contract For Life'

Each year more than 5,000 teen drivers are killed in motor vehicle crashes and many thousands more are critically or permanently injured according to the insurance Institute For Highway Safety. The frightening statistic, though, is that at least 32 percent of these accidents are alcohol related.

Students Against Drunk Driving (S.A.D.D.) has been active since 1980 in organizing students to combat death and injury caused by the destructive combination of drinking and driving. Thousands of local school chapters have been established throughout the country with the support given to them by corporations.

Most recently, Executive Director Bill Cullinane of S.A.D.D. joined forces with the Chicago branch of Hanover Insurance Company, in a cooperative effort designed to provide customers in Northern Illinois and Wisconsin who have teenage children with a solution to the dangers of drinking and driving. Under this new arrangement, every existing and new Hanover auto insurance policyholder who has a teenager in the household will receive a copy of S.A.D.D.'s "Contract For Life" along with a personalized letter of endorsement.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Jan. 14th, Brenda Pittacora of Chicago reported that while her car was parked at 10341 S. Central, someone entered it and stole a man's black, long, suede jacket worth $200; two sweaters; a pair of Nike gym shoes, $125; a set of Christmas china valued at $250; as well as shirts and a pair of sweats, for an estimated loss of $850.

On the 15th at 6:26 p.m., David Lunebach, 22, of Evergreen Park reported he and Thomas Gaffney of Worth were driving east on 87th St. when a newer Pontiac cut in front of them and the complainants were now following the offender in the curb lane. Lunebach cut into the center lane to pass and while doing so, the offender brandished a middle finger at him and a male Hispanic in the rear seat lowered the window and fired a weapon at them. The alleged offender then fled south through the parking lot at 5805 W. 87th St. and then west in the alley in the 5800 block and then north on Mayfield Ave. and stopped and the man in the rear seat shot three more rounds from the passenger side window, then they left at a high rate of speed going east on 87th St. Complaints will be signed.

Rita Gailus of Alsip and Ann Powers of Midlothian were seen by the security agent at the Venture store at 4104 W. 95th St. allegedly placing assorted merchandise in a toy box which they purchased for $29.99 and they left the store and were stopped outside. $1,155.31 worth of merchandise was recovered along with $190 which they had taken from the Venture in Matteson.

On Jan. 16th, four motorists were stopped by police on 95th St. and charged with driving with a suspended license, expired registration, suspended regulation and no proof of insurance.

Radio Shack, 4819 W. 95th St., reported that a Cathar Identification System was missing. He checked a video from a surveillance system which was on during business hours and it showed two offenders. One took the item from the top shelf and put it on the bottom shelf and after a short period of time, took it from the shelf and put it inside a pocket on the right side of his jacket. Both subjects left the store with the ID system which is valued at $79.95.

Pete George's, 9440 S. Cicero, told police a spare tire and cover were taken from a 1993 Chevrolet Blazer while it was parked in the south lot. Cost to replace is $500.

At 2:04 a.m., David Bianchi of Hickory Hills reported he parked his car in the lot at 4616 W. 103rd St. and when he returned found someone had broken the cover on a set of T-tops with a broken bottle and it will cost $800 to replace.

On the 18th, Roger Polnaszek of Palos Heights told police his 1979 Chevrolet camper truck was stolen from the Jewel lot at 4650 W. 103rd St. It is valued at $3,500.

On Monday, while on patrol, a police investigator noticed a gray Plymouth Horizon parked in the Walgreen's lot at 95th and Cicero in which the occupant was acting suspiciously by making calls on the telephone and looking into parked cars. A short time later a woman came out of Walgreen's and got into the Plymouth and they drove to the Hilton Hotel at 9333 S. Cicero where they stopped the car four times and looked into the parked cars and then entered the hotel lounge. The original officer was joined by another investigator and entered the hotel lounge where he saw a man later identified as Gustavo Enriquez of Milwaukee. The three left the hotel together and entered a red Mercury with a Wisconsin plate on it and drove to where the Plymouth was parked, left the car, opened the trunk and pulled out two large plastic bags which he handed over to the man from the Plymouth who placed it on the rear seat. The driver then went north to Southwest Highway; police attempted to effect a stop and made it at 87th & Kedzie. In the meantime the woman had thrown both bags out of the car in the 4600 block of Southwest Highway. Police radioed Hometown police and asked them to pick up the bags. The other officer followed Enriquez in the Mercury which was stopped in the 4900 block of W. 95th St. Enriquez was taken to the station and there police found $676 in his wallet and another $2,300

Pictured (center) is Jan Rafferty of West Lawn, program chairman of Court Harvey's fundraiser for The Illinois Veterans Home in Manteno, which raised $1,750 that purchased four portable aspirators. Honored guests were Uncle Sam (Ed Klimasz of Palos Hills) and Betsy Ross (Kim Novak of Oak Lawn).

Safety Meeting

The Oak Lawn police and fire departments are set to participate next week in a safety information program, organized by the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce. Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert said the meeting is part of the village's safety response to the Palatine tragedy, where a number of employees of a fast food restaurant were killed in an apparent armed robbery. The meeting is open to the public and is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 1st at Oak Lawn Community High School, 95th and Southwest Highway. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

"Our first concern is always the safety of our community," Gilbert said. "We want to use this public forum to reassure our residents and business community that the police department is on the alert against this type of crime that recently occurred in Palatine."

Among other topics, Gilbert said that the police department is planning to focus on safety tips for teenagers employed by fast food restaurants and convenience stores.

"We realize a large number of local teenagers work after school and evenings," Gilbert said. "At the public meeting, we want to focus on employment safety and pass along tips and information to these working youngsters and their parents."

Representatives from the fire department are also scheduled to participate and discuss physical safety in the workplace. A number of top security professionals from the business community are also scheduled to speak.

in his socks. Evergreen Park police found the Plymouth parked in back of an apartment building but were unable to locate the passengers.

Candidate Lottery For Ballot Position

A lottery for ballot placement is to be held in the Village of Oak Lawn. The drawing to determine ballot position is scheduled at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 9th in the village council chambers, 5252 Dumke Drive. The lottery is to be held on the same night as the regularly scheduled village board meeting.

The drawing is for the following candidates to be voted on at the Consolidated Election on Tuesday, April 20th. Parties included in the lottery procedure are Ernest F. Kolb, incumbent mayor seeking re-election; A. Jayne Powers, incumbent clerk seeking re-election; Ronald M. Stancik, incumbent trustee seeking re-election, and trustee candidates Michael Walsh & William C. Keane. All are members of the Citizens Coalition for Integrity.

Also in the lottery are Robert J. Streit, candidate for mayor; Barbara Dorgan, candidate for clerk; Estelle Batzel, trustee candidate, and Steven Rosenbaum & Harold Mozweck, both incumbent trustees. All are members of the United Village Reform Party.

Included in the lottery are Oak Lawn Library Trustee candidates Shirley A. Barrett, Richard Rein and Marian Sullivan. Library Board candidates run as non-partisan office seekers.

The lottery procedure is for these candidates only. The final day for filing petitions for office is Monday, Feb. 8th at 5 p.m. All candidates who file between now and the final date are not a part of the lottery, but will appear on the ballot.

The Oak Lawn Citizen's Coalition for Integrity (CCI) Party comprised of Mayor Ernie Kolb (center), Village Clerk Jayne Powers, veteran Trustee Ron Stancik (right) (District Two) and Trustee hopefuls Mike Walsh and Bill Keane (left) for Districts Four and Six, respectively, are poised for victory in April.

Coalition Candidates

"I am concerned about the direction that Oak Lawn has been headed for the last year," said a flamboyant Kolb after announcing the Coalition's slate. Kolb, who has been Mayor for 16 years after serving as Village Clerk for 12 years, is quite disturbed about the poor publicity plaguing Oak Lawn and encourages residents to speak out against opponents who have diminished the credibility and rapport built between the Village and its residents for the last decade. "It (bad publicity) has hurt this town drastically. I hope, by regaining the seats, we can move on to improve the Village and provide the best services possible for the people," said Kolb.

Motivated by a desire to wipe away the "patronage politics" that opponents have poured into the system and restore the concept of better management in Oak Lawn, the CCI Party is filled with both veterans and newcomers; all of whom understand the governmental process and are deeply committed to fighting for the Village's interests rather than their own self-interests.

Village Clerk Jayne Powers, a woman in love with both her job and the people she serves, believes it is time to recoup the power of the people back into Oak Lawn. For 16 years Powers has developed a close, personal relationship with residents by performing various duties, including: preparing agendas and minutes for Village Board meetings, maintains all records of the Village, handling voter registration and serving as Secretary to the Board of Trustees. In her words, the Clerk is the "Jack-of-all-trades" type person, helping residents on pertinent matters and listening to their complaints.

The three Trustees, Stancik, Walsh and Keane, have a set vision for restoring honesty in the Village. Stancik's vision centers around a five-part plan whereby residents would receive the best value for their tax dollars. "We must continue performing services that otherwise people would pay for from their own funds," said Stancik. For example, he continued, Oak Lawn's Crime Prevention Program dubbed "Neighborhood Watch" which began immediately after his re-election four years ago, would not only continue but possibly filter into the two remaining districts that have not yet accepted the program. The Neighborhood Watch allows residents to meet every month to discuss the use of crime prevention tactics in their area.

Other points in Stancik's five-part plan include the continued elimination of sewer and rear lot flooding, business development and redevelopment and affordable housing for senior citizens. Earlier this year, Stancik proposed a senior citizen housing complex to only be struck down by what he calls the "Not in my backyard syndrome." "We need to provide housing for our senior citizens," said Stancik. Where that housing is located, he added, needs to be determined.

A firm believer in better government and partisan politics, Walsh would bring to the Village a vast amount of experience in municipal government and an understanding of the political process. This experience in and understanding of municipal government stems from his being a partner in a local law firm, Gierach, Schussler & Walsh Ltd., which previously served as Village Prosecutor and Worth Township Attorney and now the attorney for the Village of Worth and the Alsip and Merrionette Park and Library Boards.

Walsh received his law degree from DePaul University in 1977 after graduating from Loyola University in Chicago. He later served as President of the Southwest Suburban Bar Association; a member of the American and Chicago Bar Associations; and Illinois Trial Lawyers Association.

Another believer in better government is Bill Keane, a local businessman who graduated from Quincy College and Mt. Carmel High School. Keane is an active participant on a local level, including his 10 year reign as President of the St. Catherine's Athletic Association and Past President of the Athletic Conference. He also served as a member of various fundraising committees and the Pastoral Council.

Additional individuals committed to the CCI party are: Campaign Co-Chairperson Kathy Vogrich and Blas Oliveras; Office Managers Lenore Goodfriend and Louise Szekely; Issues Coordinator Lenore Colson; and Area Coordinators Quinn Mucker, Dan Brannigan, Mary Feerick, Dave Enright, Ed Joy, Joe Powers and Pat Stancik.

If anyone is interested in volunteering with the CCI Party to bring back Integrity and Dignity to Oak Lawn, stop by the newly opened CCI Headquarters, 5205 W. 95th St., or phone (708) 423-7767.

Despite a poor performance at the polls in the last mayoral race in Hometown, Martin Safstrom has thrown his hat in the ring for '93.

Hometown's 3rd Ward alderman, Safstrom will run against incumbent Mayor Raymond Forsyth. "As mayor, I will offer leadership which has the potential to improve the community as it

Safstrom related. "Our families deserve a government that will utilize efficiency, cooperation and genuine concern for their overall well-being."

Chief Circuit Court Judge Harry G. Comerford (right), administers the oath of judicial office to Dennis Dohm and Kenneth L. Gillis in ceremonies held last week. The two were appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill judicial vacancies. Gillis, 56, had been a judge from 1978, serving in the chancery division, until he resigned in 1991 to become first assistant state's attorney. He fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Judge Monica Reynolds in December. Gillis has been assigned to the law division.

Dohm, 51, has most recently been chief legal officer for the administrative office of the Illinois Courts where he served in various capacities since shortly after receiving his law degree in 1969. He fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Charles J. Durham in November. He has been assigned to the 6th Municipal Division.

Gillis is married and resides in Glencoe. Dohm and his family are residents of Oak Lawn.

Porkbusters Coalition Lunch

Congressman Harris Fawell (R-IL) and Tim Penny (D-MN) hosted a Porkbusters Coalition working luncheon Jan. 26th to recruit members of Congress to join in their efforts to eliminate wasteful spending. The Porkbusters Coalition has signed up 75 members of the 103rd Congress, including Representative George E. Brown, Jr. (CA), the respected Chairman of the House Science, Space and Technology Committee. The coalition is a bi-partisan group of Members of Congress and taxpayer groups concerned about the budget deficit and the continued Congressional practice of "funding pork." In 1991, the coalition was formed in order to take the first necessary step to deficit reduction, eliminating wasteful and parochial projects which elude the established Congressional procedures for appropriations.

"Our constituents understand that if Congress can not reach a consensus on eliminating pork spending which flagrantly violates Congress' own rules, there is little hope that we will find the courage to address the growth of 'entitlements,' the largest source of our deficit," said Fawell.

Last year, the Porkbusters Coalition introduced legislation on behalf of President Bush to rescind $7.9 billion in Fiscal Year 1992 Appropriations. This effort prompted the Appropriations Committee into action, ultimately resulting in $8.2 billion in deficit reductions.

With the commitment and enthusiasm of 10 new members, Porkbusters is working on legislation to rescind wasteful spending from Fiscal Year 1993 Appropriations bills.

Approve Request For Senior And Handicap Funds

During his report as senior citizen and handicap coordinator for Worth Township, at the Jan. 28th board meeting, Emmett "Bud" Meyer informed the board members that the funds for his group are very low.

"We have a problem. Our finances have run down to where we have a balance of $3,000," Meyer related. "I checked last year and what we spent in February was over $3,000. So, we won't have enough money to go to the end of the month. Also, we have some bills coming due for January. We are supposed to get $7,500 a quarter and on the first of December, we only got $5,000. That will not cover us for three months. For the last year, we have been going along with less money and it has whittled our balance down to where at the end of February, it will be zero."

In response to Meyer's request, Trustee Donald Bettenhausen made a motion to approve disbursement of $2,500 to bring the group's balance up. "My motion is to authorize the treasurer to give them $25,000, no, $2,500, just kidding," he quipped. The motion was passed with a unanimous vote.

Meyer also told the board that his group received six tons of food for distribution during December. This food was able to be given to 600 households within the township.

As a part of her report, Supervisor Joan Murphy stated that she was in receipt of a letter from Cook County Sheriff Michael Sheahan's Department, with reference to an E-911 emergency telephone system for the unincorporated areas of the county. "We did have a discussion on this and could not promote the 9-1-1 question," Murphy explained. "However, at the recent Supervisor's Association meeting, the attorney who was present said that giving information is not promoting it. For example, what E-9-1-1 means and what it will do for the community. By providing information without taking a stand one way or another is acceptable."

According to attorney Matt Delort, "The statute in question says that you cannot use public funds to support or oppose a referendum. This does not apply to the dissemination of information. This has always been a very touchy issue. Here, you have the sheriff using tax money to say vote in favor of it. There are many communities that have carefully supported 9-1-1 referendums by simply saying 'this is the referendum, it will be on the ballot,' and if it passes, this is what will happen."

Trustee Bettenhausen then moved to give the board control over any information distributed in the township. The board would examine the material and give its approval. The motion passed with no dissenting votes.

Discussion was also presented on putting in a park on the township premises by Trustee John Dorgan, who chairs the township services committee.

"I have been looking into our park, and even on a 50-50 grant, it doesn't seem feasible at this time," he noted. "Reality set in. The way that I interpret the grant was you plan your park, build it, submit the amount that was spent and then the county will let you know whether or not you would get the grant. That amount would probably be at least $20,000."

"What I thought might be an avenue is getting in grant applications to both the state and county," Supervisor Murphy suggested. "Then, if we receive the grant, we would be in a position to borrow money from one of the local banks. They could give us a loan for a specified period of time that will cover us until we get reimbursed."

Trustee Michael Davies interjected, "I am not sure that when we take that loan whether or not we'll have the grant approved. We could end up borrowing, say $40,000, and find out like the last grant that it hadn't been approved."

In other business, Assessor William Connors reported, "The results of a survey by the Cook County Township Assessors Association indicated that the cost ratio for administering our office is the lowest in Cook County. The cost per parcel is $1.05 for everything including permit applications, sales ratios on homes, material, equipment and salaries. There are 58,293 parcels of property in Worth Township."

Also, Clerk Thomas "Bud" Gavin announced that a public hearing on the tentative town fund and general assistance budgets will be conducted on Thursday, Feb. 25th at 7:30 p.m. in the township council chambers. "Residents can give written or oral comments on budgeted items," Gavin stated. "These budgets will be posted for inspection outside the clerk's office for 30 days prior to the hearing."

Admits Train Brake Tampering

A 14 year old Chicago Ridge boy admitted to tampering with the braking system of a freight train that collided with another train at a Summit railroad yard a short time ago, precipitating a derailment. The boy was taken to the station for questioning when he was videotaped apparently tampering with another train on the day after the collision.

In the incident, an Indiana Harbor Belt train sideswiped an Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe freight train on the evening of Jan. 21st in the railroad yard at 63rd and Archer. No one was injured in the accident.

Belt officials admitted that the IHB train was approaching a red light, but said that the train crew had attempted to obey the signal. However, the attempt failed because the brakes had been tampered with, apparently at the stop before, at 103rd St. and Oxford Ave.

Railroad police placed a monitoring video camera near the site where the tampering was believed to have occurred, recording the boy as he attempted to tamper with another train.

At the time of the collision, the Belt train had stopped for approximately 10 minutes at the Chicago Ridge site, allowing a passenger commuter train to go through. During the time of the stop, between 7:40 and 7:50, the boy was on his way to school with some companions. He admitted closing a valve on a car of the freight train, according to Chicago Ridge Police Chief Michael Rio.

According to a Belt spokesman, "This was an isolated incident; a case of a boy's curiosity concerning train equipment."

The collision took place in the freight yard about 40 minutes after the boy closed the valve.

Rio said the boy did not tamper with the valve maliciously. "He just didn't know what he was doing," Rio added that the lad was "scared to death."

File By March 1st Get Refunds In Three Weeks

The Department of Revenue is guaranteeing that taxpayers who file their 1992 state income tax return electronically before March 1st will receive any tax refund due them within 21 days.

"Our 21-day guarantee, worked out in cooperation with Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch, offers one more reason to file electronically," said Douglas L. Whitley, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue. "Taxpayers can count the days, or they can count their money."

The Illinois Electronic Filing Program is in its third year. Under a tax year 1990 pilot program, more than 800 returns were filed. In tax year 1991 nearly 22,000 returns were filed. This year the goal is to have 100,000 returns filed.

"Money is tight; we in state government have to work smarter to get more done with less," Whitley said. "By embracing new technology through electronic filing, we can do things faster, do them right the first time, and offer better service to taxpayers."

The department has embarked upon a program to familiarize taxpayers with electronic filing. The cover of the IL-1040 promotes the program and public service announcements will promote electronic filing.

For the first time, the department will begin accepting balance due returns this year. A taxpayer can file electronically and then send us a check by mail.

Although the 21-day guarantee only holds for returns filed before March 1st, tax forms that are filed electronically will be given first priority all tax season. A taxpayer who waits until April 15th to file will get his or her refund much faster by filing electronically.

Besides speed, electronic filing offers taxpayers:

- Reliability — No taxpayer will have to wonder whether the tax form dropped in the mailbox made it to the Department of Revenue. We will acknowledge receipt of the electronic filing within 24 hours.

- Accuracy — The program checks for addition and subtraction errors and other common mistakes.

The program can accept: the individual income tax return, the IL-1040; the non-resident and part-year resident schedule, Schedule NR; the wage and tax statement, Form W-2; the gambling winnings statement, Form W-2G; and the form that reports distributions from profit sharing, retirement plans, IRAs, etc., Form 1099-R.

To file electronically a taxpayer can go to a preparer who is approved to file with us electronically and have his return prepared and filed by the preparer. Or, the taxpayer can prepare his return and take it to a return collector approved by the department and have it sent to us.

This year more than 400 electronic filers have applied to participate in the department's program, compared to 250 who applied last year.

For more information, taxpayers can call the department at 1(800)732-8866.

Weatherman At Amateur Radio Club

This meeting will be held at the Hazel Crest Fire Department media center at the fire station, 175th and Stonebridge (just east of Kedzie Ave.).

This should be an interesting program for both the public and private sector in addition to all amateurs.

The meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 5th, and is sponsored by the Tri-Town Radio Amateur Club. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. You do not need to be a HAM or a Tri-Town member to take part in this meeting and discussion.

Annual Awards

Applications are now available to volunteer organizations wishing to compete for recognition in the 12th Annual Governor's Home Town Awards competition.

The non-monetary awards recognize outstanding volunteer efforts that improve the quality of life for the citizens of communities throughout Illinois. Winners are announced during an awards banquet scheduled for June 10th in Springfield.

Jan M. Grayson, director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), which administers the program, encouraged volunteer organizations to enter the competition.

"The past 11 years have witnessed many extraordinary and inspiring achievements by Illinois volunteers," Grayson said. "From youth groups uniting to fight substance abuse, to senior citizens sharing their wisdom with others, to dedicated volunteers tackling community needs, the Governor's Home Town Awards have come to symbolize the best that is in each of us."

Any community group, organization or unit of local government -- cities, towns, villages, townships or counties -- may submit applications on behalf of projects which benefit the community. General Awards are given to projects that result in the overall improvement of a community and its quality of life. In addition, three special categories -- Senior Involvement, Youth Involvement and Economic Development -- recognize projects that specifically benefit or mobilize seniors, youths or community development efforts.

First place winners of the General Award and the special category awards receive road signs and plaques noting their achievement. Plaques are also awarded to second and third place winners.

When judging is complete, all first place winners compete for the grand prize Governor's Cup, a traveling silver trophy, as well as a special road sign noting the special honor.

Applications are judged against projects undertaken in communities of similar population. A panel of impartial volunteer judges evaluates the projects according to four criteria: addressing an important community need, commitment of volunteer resources, generating tangible results, and community support.

For further information or an application guidebook, contact your local officials or Pam Jefferies at the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), 620 E. Adams, Fifth Floor, Springfield, IL 62701, phone (217) 524-4842.

Minority Spokesman

State Sen. Gary LaPaille (D-Chicago) was given a powerful voice in the Senate this week when he was appointed to serve as Minority Spokesman for the Local Government and Elections committee in the senate.

The position of minority spokesman is the voice of minority caucus in a committee. That means that, although LaPaille is a relatively new senator, he will have a great impact on the face of legislation that passes through his committee. His votes on the committee will be the measuring stick for other democratic senators to follow.

LaPaille was also appointed to serve on two other committees in the senate. He will be a member of the Financial Institutions and the Agriculture and Conservation committees. LaPaille feels that the diversity in the committees he has been appointed to allows him a unique insight into the state of Illinois.

"I have the rare opportunity to design legislation for both farmers and bankers alike," LaPaille said. "It complements my position as head of the Democratic Party in Illinois very well and I look forward to the task of uniting both interests into one workable model."

Tax Caps Do Work

State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park) says reports from tax officials in the collar counties indicate that property tax caps are working.

The Senate Executive Committee heard testimony on Jan. 26th about a proposal to extend property tax caps to taxing districts across the state, including those in home-rule municipalities such as Cook County and Chicago.

"Many people who work as township assessors or county clerks in the collar counties have nothing but praise for property tax caps. They told committee members that tax caps are working to control tax bills in their communities," O'Malley said.

Senate Bill 1 would amend the Property Tax Extension Limitation Act of 1991, which currently imposes an annual limit of five percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less, on increases in property tax extensions for taxing districts in non-home rule municipalities in the collar counties.

The 18th District Senator says local governments concerned about loss of revenues still have the option of referenda, which would allow voters to approve taxes higher than the limit.

Senate Bill 1 is sponsored by Senate President James "Pate" Phillip (R-Wood Dale) and State Sen. Dan Cronin (R-Elmhurst).

Meeting On Grants

Worth Township Supervisor Joan Patricia Murphy will be conducting a meeting for residents in unincorporated township areas who have expressed interest in the availability of potential community development block grants for their communities. The meeting will take place on Thursday, Feb. 4th, at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of the Worth Town Hall, 11601 S. Pulaski Rd. All concerned residents are encouraged to attend.

For additional information or directions call (708) 371-2900.

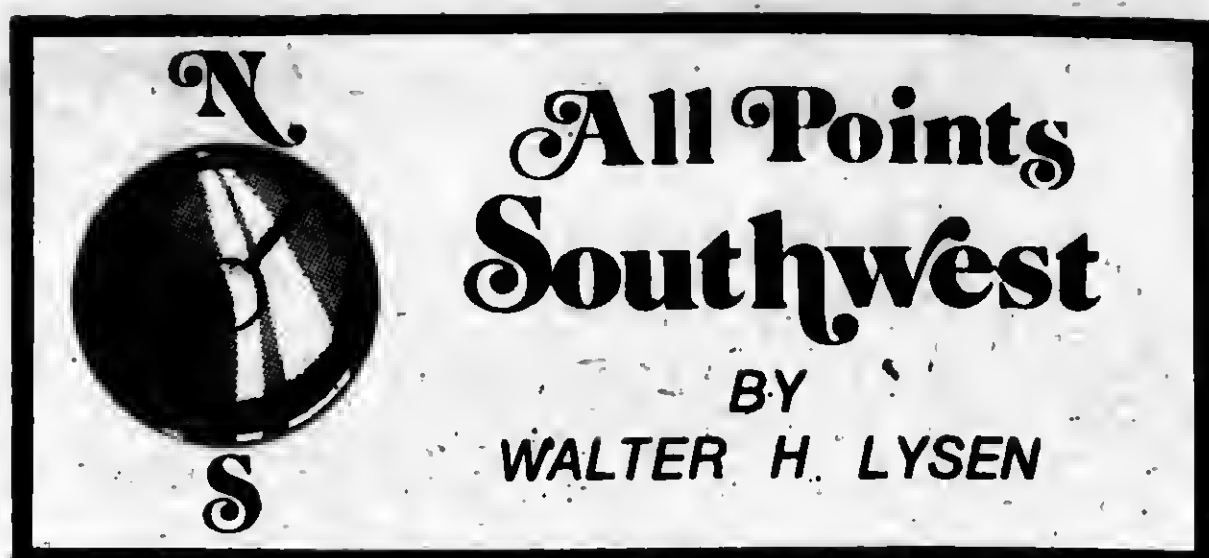

SIPP Survey

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau began visiting selected area households on Feb. 1st to conduct the monthly Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP). Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office, announced.

SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey introduced in the fall of 1983, one of the nation's largest, with about 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey. Subjects covered include jobs and earnings; the economic effects of unemployment, disability and retirement; how taxes affect personal spending; and participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and pension plans.

Information from SIPP helps policy makers and administrators determine how well government programs are serving the public and how changes in programs and policies will affect the public.

"A mayor is accountable to the voters. We don't want the problems with a village manager that we see in Oak Lawn," was the decision of the Chicago Ridge village board last week when they voted 5-0 to make President Gene Siegel the village's first full-time mayor and CEO. Don Ryan, the trustee who was on vacation, forwarded a letter expressing full support for the move.

Trustees in attendance, Ed Buettner, George Ryniak, Maureen Socha, Larry Grove and Jim Saunoris praised the move and said they preferred a full-time mayor to a village manager. "A mayor is accountable to the voters and if things don't go right he can be removed at the next municipal election," said one.

Trustee Buettner said that the growth of the village necessitates a full-time mayor and that "the mayor must sell Chicago Ridge in order to attract new business and no one is better at selling Chicago Ridge than Gene Siegel."

Siegel's comment was, "It is becoming more and more difficult to work as a part-time village president (mayor). A full-time mayor is more accessible to the public and, in addition, is answerable to that public."

Mayor Arnie Andrews, who has piloted Alsip from a truck garden and open prairie village to the industrial giant of the Southwest in his quarter of a century as mayor, will seek re-election April 20th along with three incumbent trustees and a candidate for village clerk who has been with him as a trustee for 19 years.

The Clerk candidate is Penney Black who was appointed trustee in 1974 and has been re-elected every year since. She now is seeking to succeed Robert Gruber who declined to seek another term. The three trustees are Frank Hiter, Joseph Jolivet and Jerome Marzac. They comprise the United-Progressive Association Party who filed petitions Monday. Based on performance the United Progressives and Andrews should have no problem being re-elected.

John McNamara, Worth Township Democratic Committeeman, will be feted at a cocktail party Feb. 12th at Rosewood West, Crestwood. Friends of McNamara will host the testimonial for his 9½ years of dedication to communities during his terms as state representative. Special guests expected are House Speaker Michael Madigan, County Board President Richard Phelan, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch, Phil Rock, Recorder of Deeds Jesse White and many other state and local officials.

State Representative John Sheehy (D-Tinley Park) stressed this week that college students seeking information about financial assistance have a quick five-days (Feb. 8-12) to call a toll-free hotline for information. "The Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC) is only going to operate the hotline these five days from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. so 'mark your calendars'," says Sheehy.

Interested parties can access the "hotline" by calling 1-800-628-7939 starting Feb. 8th. For further information they can also contact Representative Sheehy at (708) 614-1417.

Chief Circuit Court Judge Harry G. Comerford last week administered the oath of Judicial office to Dennis Dohm of Oak Lawn in ceremonies held at the Daley Center. Dohm, appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill a vacancy, has most recently been the Chief Legal Officer for the Administrative Office of the Illinois courts where he has served in various capacities since shortly after receiving his law degree in 1969.

Cook County Assessor Thomas Hynes of the 19th Ward was recently named to the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee by National Chairman David Wilhelm. He joins the six-member committee that includes House Speaker Thomas Foley (D-Wash.) and Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell (D-Maine).

Mark Wednesday, March 17th on your calendar. It's the date of the cocktail reception honoring Evergreen Park Mayor Anthony Vacco at the Martinique. Cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and music are included in the $25 per person fee.

Vacco once again is heading the Good Government Party in the April 20th Consolidated Election. Running with him are incumbents for clerk Ruth Donahue and trustees Arthur N. Bliss, Jerome Bosch and Carol E. Kyle.

When Fidel Castro took over Cuba he had a quick way to handle drug kingpins. It was "to the wall" and the firing squad did the rest. Governor Edgar in his State of the State message last week practically said the same thing except he tempered it with a soft "impose the death penalty on all drug kingpins." Also, don't give the users a soft tap on the wrist-lock them up."

"Those who master mind the violent and deadly competition in the lucrative drug markets should face the death penalty," Edgar said. "First time drug offenders should not be given supervision and have their records wiped clean after a year or so," he added.

Southwest Messenger Corporation and its editor, Walter H. Lysen, respectfully regret the misstatement and inaccuracy made in the July 16, 1992 "ALL POINTS" section of its publication relating to any inference that Bill Hefka lost his job at Clearing Industrial Plant. In fact, Mr. Hefka did not and has not lost his job and remains in the employment of his current employers. Mr. Lysen regrets the inaccuracy and any problems or hardships placed upon Mr. Hefka as a result of this incorrect statement.

Evergreen Park Mayor Anthony Vacco read a letter at Monday night's village board meeting in which the South Cook area office of the American Cancer Society recognized the contribution made by the village to the "Love Lights a Tree" program. Among 56 south and southwest suburban communities, Evergreen Park was credited with the highest total contribution, $11,700. This represents 43 percent of the total amount collected, $27,000. The second highest total was raised by Oak Lawn, $4,617 (17 percent). Other area figures were: Orland area, $1,500 (six percent); Tinley Park, $500 (two percent) and Oak Forest, $395 (one percent).

Evergreen Parkers can also point with pride to the fact that the village is credited with the highest participation in a recycling program. Curbside recycling, with 93 percent of the residents participating at least once a month, is apparently 'the way to go.' Evergreen Park purchases the bags which can be picked up at the village hall. In Oak Forest, where the blue bags are purchased by the city, participation is 90 percent. Much lower percentages of participation are recorded where residents must purchase the recycling bags. According to Mary Murphey, recycling director in Evergreen, the blue bags are less expensive and are neater than bins which are used by most suburbs.

Oak Lawn Fire Chief Jack McCastland is resigning his position and is accepting a job as deputy administrator with the Orland Fire Protection District. McCastland, 50, is resigning after 29 years of service with the Oak Lawn Fire Department, where he has served as chief since 1969.

It is up to the Oak Lawn Village Manager to appoint a successor and the probability is that one of three division chiefs, Keith Koeppen, Tom Moran or Jack Wesselhoff will succeed McCastland. McCastland will continue to live in Oak Lawn.

Jack's father, John McCastland Sr., was O.L. Fire Chief from 1962 until his death in 1966. Michael, Jack's son, has been a village firefighter since 1969.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

As we head into 1993, the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) is celebrating a very special event. This is the 10th anniversary of the signing of the child passenger protection law. Our theme for this year's celebration is "Just a little effort...for a little life." We will begin our anniversary celebration during Child Passenger Safety Week, Feb. 8th to 14th.

The law, signed on July 1st, 1983, and amended on September 5th, 1990, requires anyone who transports children in non-commercial vehicles to secure children under the age of four years in an approved child restraint system and to secure four and five-year-olds in a safety seat or a safety belt. The bill also stipulates that parents and legal guardians of children under the age of four are responsible for providing a child safety seat to anyone who transports his or her child.

Presently, all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico have enacted laws requiring the use of child passenger protection systems.

According to figures from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 247 children, age four and under, were saved in 1991 by child passenger safety restraints. Also during that year, if child safety seats had been used 100 percent, 500 deaths could have been prevented, and 53,000 serious injuries could have been avoided to children under the age of five.

These are astounding figures. It only takes a few minutes before each trip to secure a child in a safety seat. We hope that you will take time to remind your readers that it takes "Just a little effort...for a little life." Thank you.

Sincerely,
Kirk Brown
Secretary

Anne Zickus Is Sworn-In As State Rep.

Sworn into the 88th General Assembly as the State Representative from the 48th House District, Anne Zickus took the oath of office last week surrounded by her husband Chuck, daughter Kathy, son-in-law Greg and her sister Gail.

Rep. Zickus (R-Palos Hills) said she looks forward to working with her colleagues to address problems in the areas of taxes, education and job creation.

"I am extremely pleased to be returning to Springfield to represent the people of our area," said Zickus, who served in the House for two years from 1989 to 1991. "While we've made progress on many fronts, there's still much to be done to shore up the state's business base, bring fairness and accountability to the school funding process and make sure we have programs in place to help our aging population."

Zickus said she will work toward eliminating unfunded mandates passed on to local governments by the state and federal governments, give local school boards more flexibility regarding curriculum, keep taxes in check, build up the business base to create more jobs, push for property tax relief in suburban Cook County, make education funding more equitable for suburban schools and make Chicago schools more accountable for the monies they receive, promote programs to help senior citizens remain in their homes.

Zickus was sworn into office, along with other House members, in ceremonies at noon on Jan. 13th. Joining Zickus' family for the ceremonies were many friends and supporters who traveled to Springfield to share this special occasion. Zickus and fellow representative Maureen Murphy (R-36) of Evergreen Park held an afternoon reception for their family and friends at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel.

Oak Lawn Student In National Geography Bee

Mark Molnar, a seventh grade student at St. Gerald, won the school's geography bee on Jan. 14th and a chance at a $25,000 college scholarship. The school-level bee, at which students answered oral questions, was the first round in the fifth annual National Geography Bee sponsored by "National Geographic World," the society's magazine for children, and Amtrak. The kickoff for this year's bee was the week of Jan. 4th with thousands of schools around the United States, the District of Columbia, and five U.S. territories participating. The school winners, including Mark, now take a written test. Up to 100 of the top scores in each state and territory will be eligible to compete in their state bee on April 2nd.

The National Geographic Society with its co-sponsors will provide an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. for state champions and their teacher escorts to participate in the Geography Bee National Championship on May 25th and 26th. The first place national winner will receive a $25,000 college scholarship; the second place winner, a $15,000 scholarship; and the third place winner, a $10,000 scholarship.

Alex Trebek, host of "Jeopardy," is to moderate the national finals, which air as a prime-time special on the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) at 8 p.m. on May 26th.

The National Geographic Society developed the national bee in response to a growing concern about the lack of geographic knowledge among young people in the United States. A 10-country Gallup survey conducted for the Society in 1988 and 1989 found that people in the U.S., ages 18 to 24, the youngest group surveyed, knew less about geography than young people in any of the other participating countries.

The society, with nearly 10 million members, has as its mission the "increase and diffusion of geographic knowledge." BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

March madness is fast approaching for local cagers and their coaches. All have high hopes, but not all can end up at the top of the heap.

Tuesday Games (January 26)

Oak Forest 63 - Stagg 51

The Bengals were right on track as they took down the Chargers 63-51 in Oak Forest during this nonconference game.

The hot trio for the Bengals included Mike McFarlane who netted 18 points, 13 for Chris Carlson, and Sajie Abdel-Razik put in 10.

Leading the Chargers was Greg Baker with 11.

Eisenhower 65 - Andrew 63

A last second shot from just inside the three-point zone sealed a victory for the Eisenhower Cardinals over the Andrew Thunderbolts 65-63 in this nonconference match-up in Blue Island.

Top gunners for the T-Bolts were Steve DeHaan with 17 points and Mike O'Neill with 16.

Evergreen Park 80 - T.F. South 66

The Mustangs won this one for their home fans in Evergreen Park against the Rebels as they took a 80-66 decision in this nonconference game.

A season-high scoring effort from Mustang Jerry Rossi with 31 was all the power that his team needed. Another top scorer for Evergreen was Jim Czerwinski with 19 points.

Bradley 56 - Sandburg 43

The Eagles proved to be no match for the Boilermakers as they fell 56-43 in this nonconference game at Bradley.

Pacing the Eagles was Casey Peters, who sent 13 points through the twine and was lone player on his team to hit for double digits.

Joliet Central 63 - Richards 55

Another local squad took a hit in cager action as the Bulldogs were outscored 63-55 by Joliet Central in a non-conference contest.

Shining stars for the Bulldogs were Demarious Collins with 18 and Brian Dyson with 15.

Friday Games

De La Salle 72 - Brother Rice 44

The Crusaders fell short in their Catholic League South contest with the Meteors 72-44 in Mount Greenwood.

Hot hands for the Crusaders belonged to Jimmy Sexton who had 28 points followed by 17 from Theo Hutcherson.

"Our game plan was to press, run and wear them out with our motion offense," remarked Crusader Coach Pat Richardson. "But we didn't press, we didn't run, and our offense was ridiculous. Every kid had his own game plan."

T.F. North 54 - Oak Forest 53

This SICA Central match-up was a fight to the finish and the Meteors prevailed 54-53 against the Bengals in Calumet City.

A trio of Bengals connected for double number, including Mike McFarlane with 15 and 14 apiece from Chris Carlson and Wayne Johnson. Johnson also contributed 10 rebounds.

"It was our game to win," related Bengal coach Howard Lineberger. "If we'd have just gotten a rebound there at the end, we would have won. But the team is enjoying this season and I don't think they're going to let a loss like this ruin it for them."

Mt. Carmel 84 - St. Laurence 51

The Vikings just couldn't overcome the might of the Caravan as they took a 84-51 loss in Catholic League action in Burbank.

Vike Jaysen Orkowski lead his team with 18 markers that included 10 of 12 from the charity stripe.

St. Rita 65 - Weber 54

Four sharp shooting Mustangs powered St. Rita toward a 65-54 victory over Weber in Catholic League North play at Weber.

Weber was outscored 27-18 in the fourth quarter as the Mustangs surged ahead for good. Hitting the twine for high numbers were senior guard Ken Harvey with 20 points; Marques Buford, 15; an even dozen from Charles Smith and 10 from Byron Jackson.

Richards 63 - Oak Lawn 52

An 18-10 scoring performance in the fourth quarter pushed the Bulldogs to a win over the Spartans 63-52 in SICA North action.

Top Bulldog scorers were Brian Dyson with 18 points, followed by teammates Demarious Collins, Patrick Williams and Dion Parker with 10 apiece.

Leading the Spartans were Jeff Cowart with 15 points paired with nine assists and Brian Fuss with a dozen points, all on three-point shots.

Reavis 41 - Stagg 35

The Rams and the Chargers butted heads in this SICA North battle and the Rams emerged victorious 41-35 in Palos Hills.

Ram Jason Blizniak scored nearly half of his team's points as he sent 21 through the net.

Pacing the Chargers were Mike Carnes and John McGuinness with eight apiece.

Shepard 64 - Sandburg 53

Astro might took down the Eagles 64-53 in SICA North play to keep Shepard on top of the standings.

High scorers included Randy Byron with 14 points plus 13 each from Tyrine Wilson and Dennis Payne for Shepard.

On the Eagle side of the scoreboard, lucky number 13 was scored by Jim Tomczak and Dave Koryczan netted an even dozen.

Andrew 66 - Joliet Central 54

Showing how they could win in SICA West, the Thunderbolts struck down Joliet Central 66-54 in Joliet.

Thunderbolt Mike O'Neill shot in 19 points that included 11 of 15 from the free throw line and Joe Navickas added 15.

Hillcrest 68 - Bremen 58

The Hawks swooped down upon the Braves in Country Club Hills and matched a 68-58 victory in SICA Central action.

Braves on the warpath included Joe Myers who had 16 and an even dozen from Carlton DuBose.

Marist 73 - St. Viator 66

Four three-point shots from the hands of Redskin Bill Ruff enabled Marist to pull one out against St. Viator 73-66 in this East Suburban Catholic Conference game in Mount Greenwood.

Ruff totaled 21 points for the game and teammate Chris Christiansen put in 18 markers.

SNOWMOBILE SAFETY COURSES IMPROVE THE SPORT FOR ALL - SPRINGFIELD, IL - Conservation Director Brent Manning said infrequent snowfall last year likely is responsible for a low number of accidents occurring during the 1991-92 snowmobiling season, but said similar weather patterns this year may cause anxious snowmobilers to abandon safe operating practices.

"The relatively few days when adequate snow conditions existed last season resulted in correspondingly light snowmobile usage, consequently the accident rate was fairly low," Manning said. "Conditions such as these, however, are potentially more conducive to accidents because people become anxious to ride and often go out as soon as there is any snow accumulation and ride in the nearest available field or roadway."

Of the nine snowmobiling accidents reported to Department of Conservation (DOC) last year, one was fatal. Eighteen accidents and one fatality occurred during the 1990-91 season and 20 accidents and two deaths occurred during the 1989-90 season.

So far this season, three accidents and no deaths have been reported. State law requires operators involved in an accident to file a report with DOC within five days of the accident occurring.

Deputy Conservation Police Chief Tom Wakolbinger said a 40-year-old snowmobiler died in December 1991 when his sled fell through the ice on a pond in Kane County.

"He had been riding with friends but made a fatal mistake when he left them late in the evening and rode on alone," Wakolbinger said. "The buddy system quite possibly could have saved his life."

"In addition, it is possible that alcohol was involved as the victim was seen with friends in a bar earlier in the evening. Poor snow conditions, alcohol use and riding alone make for a dangerous combination."

Most of the accidents were the result of the operators failing to exercise caution, and Wakolbinger said the accidents might have been prevented had the snowmobilers taken safety courses. The courses cover operating safety tips, snowmobile laws, handling a snowmobile in different snow conditions, emergency first aid, clothing and equipment needed for survival, responsibility to the environment and wildlife, and sled maintenance and repair.

Safety courses are required of youths age 12 - 16 who want to operate a snowmobile alone. Courses are recommended for adults who recently have acquired snowmobiles or who want to brush up on snowmobile safety practices. Children under the age of 12 are prohibited from operating a snowmobile, even if under the direct supervision of an adult.

SHAKESPEARE REPERTORY, Chicago's professional Shakespeare Company, will present "King Lear" set to open this Sunday at Chicago's Ruth Page Theatre. Richard Kneeland and Susan Hart

(inset) star as Lear and Cordelia in the production which runs through March 28. William Shakespeare's story is about a king, who, dispossessed of kingdom, power and shelter, for the first time has to confront his humanity. Moved at last by the suffering of others, Lear is reborn out of a tempest, offering light and hope to the play's dark world of chaos and loss....The Midwest premiere of Keith Reddin's "Life During Wartime" opened last Thursday at the Wisdom Bridge Theatre. The play is a savage and funny look at violence in our society as the playwright pits the ethics of John Calvin, the French-born Swiss Protestant theologian who broke with the Roman Catholic Church in 1533 and set forth the tenets of his theology, known today as Presbyterianism. In "Life During Wartime," Reddin skillfully uses Calvin's doctrines against the cold, calculating monster of American capitalism. His targets are ruthless marketing tactics, sinister business practices and an increasingly paranoid American public.

CUTTING INDY CAR RACING COSTS....At a time when everyone is looking to be more cost-effective, the people who build and manage Indy car racing teams are already looking to 1994 when a set of restrictions, which are not yet cast in stone, will keep Indy-car racing affordable. At the present time, an annual budget of $5 million for a one-car team allows that only the best engines are in the hands of a few Indy-car racing teams.

BATTER UP....Now that the Super Bowl has been written into the history books, the attention is already being focused on the 1993 baseball season. Soxfest '93 begins tomorrow and runs through Sunday at the Hyatt Regency Chicago. A new feature of the annual event will be "kid's corner," where fans age 12 and under can enjoy a carnival atmosphere full of food, games, contests and prizes. There will also be a panel of four former Negro League baseball players from the 1940's and 50's. White Sox stars Bo Jackson, Jack McDowell, Frank Thomas, Robin Ventura and Ozzie Guillen are scheduled to make appearances and be available for autograph signings.

JOHN ILLIS, KEN PRICE AND TONY ROMANO (inset) "camera up" for a testimonial dinner for Variety Club's photo guy and one of Chicago's favorite photographers. Tony is retiring and moving to Las Vegas. He and his bride Lorraine will be honored at a testimonial dinner to be held March 22 in the Empire Room of the Palmer House. Tony has "shot" every notable who has passed in Chicago since 1949. Proceeds from the dinner will benefit Variety Club Children's Charities.

BIRTHDAY BASH....Christopher Marlowe, the English playwright and poet whose plays include "Tamburlaine the Great," and "Edward II," will be honored this weekend at Christopher's on Halsted (1633 N. Halsted) when his 429th birthday is celebrated. The chefs at the restaurant are preparing an "Elizabethan Dinner" to mark the occasion when Marlowe and Shakespeare were acclaimed as the two geniuses of Elizabethan theatre. Born on February 7, 1564, Marlowe died at the age of 29 but in the short span of his life his plays and poems were, and still are, considered classics. To add to the weekend's festivities, costumed students from Chicago's Academy of Performing Arts High School will perform tableside readings from Marlowe's works. In "Tamburlaine the Great," Marlowe wrote: "Accurst be he that first invented war." And in "The Jew of Malta," Marlowe wrote: "Excess of wealth is cause of covetousness." In "Hero and Leander," he wrote, "Who ever loved that loved not at first sight?"

PAUL GROSS (inset) stars as the hottest ski instructor on the slopes in the movie "Aspen Extreme" which is currently playing at movie houses all over the Chicago area....Gulldhaus, the half-way house for substance abusers located in Blue Island, will hold its annual dinner and dance on Friday, March 5 at the Lexington House. A tax deductible donation of $25 per ticket includes dinner, dancing and a speaker. Tickets are available at Gulldhaus, 2413 Canal St., Blue Island, or by calling (708) 385-DAAT. By the way, DAAT, stands for "Day At A Time."

"Never Too Late," the rollicking comedy that had an extended 1,007 performance New York run is now playing at the beautiful Drury Lane Dinner Theatre in Evergreen Park. Executive producer John R. Lazzara has scheduled eight performances each week through March 14th. Bill Visteen and Edith Lamert, veteran performers, are seen as a middle-aged couple living through the throes of welcoming a new and unexpected addition to the family.

The laughs come 'fast and furious' as the sixtyish father and his fiftyish spouse await the unexpected blessing.

"Never Too Late" was written by film and TV writer Sumner Arthur Long, and was one of New York's most hilariously successful comedies for two years and five months, while it was simultaneously toured in 132 other cities and presented in 16 foreign countries.

'Filmed In Chicago'

On the heels of a record-breaking year for filmmaker spending and hiring in Illinois, the Illinois Film Office of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) is announcing the kick-off of yet another promising year.

Film Office chief Suzy Kellett announced that actor Harrison Ford will shoot his first feature film in his native city of Chicago when he begins filming "The Fugitive" on Feb. 3rd. Andrew Davis will direct the Warner Bros. film.

Another star with a Chicago connection, Daniel J. Travanti of "Hill Street Blues" fame, will be here late in January to shoot "Missing Persons," a pilot for ABC-TV directed by Gary Sherman.

Actor Joe Pesci returns to the Chicago area to make his fourth film here in two years. "With Honors" begins filming in late February. Pesci has filmed "Home Alone," "Home Alone 2," and "Private Eye" in Illinois.

Paul Newman is scheduled to arrive in March for the Chicago filming of "The Hudson Proxy." The cast includes Charles Durning, Jennifer Jason Leigh, Tim Robbins and Chicago actors

"The Film Office continues to be a major economic development force for Illinois," said DCCA Director Jan M. Grayson. "By helping to bring in $84.8 million on a general revenue fund budget of $482,000, it has generated $176 of spending in Illinois for each dollar of taxpayer's funds. That is an amazing return on investment."

Has President Clinton shelved his campaign slogan: "It's the economy, stupid," for the more pragmatic Kermit the frog principle: "It ain't easy being green?"

Why do I and so many others have this uneasy feeling that being President of the United States is maybe too big a job for Bill Clinton?

Why do so many people feel President Clinton just does not get it and his watch is already going through severe 'promises' damage control and their worst fears are being realized?

Could it be because he completely misread the impact Zoe Baird's hiring undocumented domestic workers would have on the public?

Clinton even subjected his attorney-general nominee to a grueling examination by the Senate Judiciary Committee after she had already told him about the Peruvian couple she had working for her were illegal aliens.

Or could it be because President Clinton also misjudged the "gag the gays" order would have on the over one million heterosexual military "grunts" as well as millions of Americans who feel the military should not be turned into a social experiment playground?

Just because figures indicate one out of every seven votes he received were gays, and $3.5 million poured into his campaign coffers came from gay activists groups, does this mean President Clinton should have ignored the six out of seven heterosexuals, most of whom are against lifting the ban, who voted for him?

Why do I keep remembering that letter Bill Clinton wrote when he was at Oxford University where he wrote about how he "loathed the military?"

And why does it bother me that President Clinton and his wife Hillary have insulated their daughter Chelsea away from 'socially unacceptable' behavior in a private school, but for the sons and daughters of millions of Americans who are serving in the military, he seems totally insensitive?

Why do I keep thinking about the rash of opinions on gays in the military like the poster which has already surfaced at the United States Marine base at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina?

The poster shows the word "GAYS," enclosed in one of those red circles with a diagonal line through it and beneath it is the statement: "Not in My Corps."

Or could it be the new recruiting poster being circulated? It shows Uncle Sam pointing his finger and underneath are the words: "Join the Army—See the World!—See and Live with a Person of a Different Sexual Orientation!"

And why is it when I watch George Stephanopoulos, White House communications director, or Dee Dee Myers, White House press officer, at a White House press briefing, I get the feeling I am being given the results of a recent student body council meeting.

Or maybe it is because when I look at Clinton's aides on television I get the feeling I am looking at a college "fraternity" meeting.

Or maybe it is because the White House press corps has been told by Stephanopoulos that access to the White House press office is off limits because they don't want members of the press "loitering around."

The press has gone from being called the "media elite" by the Bush administration to "loiterers" by the Clinton administration. Of course, for "media bashers," this new job description for the Washington press corps is probably a boost for Clinton's "favorable" ratings.

Or maybe I am remembering that Paul Tsongas labeled Bill Clinton the "pander bear" during the early days of the political campaign and now that he is President Clinton, Tsongas looks more and more like a fortune teller.

Or maybe it is because candidate Bill Clinton promised to "hit the road running" with an economics and job plan by Jan. 21 if elected, and now I am being told I will have to wait until Feb. 17 for the plan.

Or could it be that many of candidate Clinton's Arkansas friends and foes labeled him "slick Willie" when he was Governor and they were trying to tell me something or warn me?

Why do I keep thinking 57 percent of the people voted for either George Bush or Ross Perot, and only 43 percent voted for Bill Clinton and anyway you cut it that hardly constitutes a "mandate?"

Why do I keep remembering during the heat of the political campaign candidate Bill Clinton said he would commit American ground forces to the problems in Serbia and Bosnia-Herzegovina?

In the past few days, the civil war over there has taken a turn for the worse and now what will the in-experienced in foreign relations President Clinton do?

Why do I keep thinking about all those campaign promises which are going down in flames?

Why did I buy the slogan of Clinton's campaign guru, James Carville: "It's the economy, stupid!" when it turns out a more appropriate phrase would be: "You can fool half of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time?"

And why does that Kermit the Frog ditty keep floating around in my head—"It ain't easy being green?"

Why do I have this uneasy feeling about President Clinton—let me count the ways?

Oh, I just did!

'Impromptu' Comes To Television

"Impromptu," a playful look at the romance between flamboyant woman author George Sand and composer Frederic Chopin that shocked 19th century Paris, airs on Sunday, Feb. 7th at 8 p.m. Judy Davis stars as the cigar-smoking, pants-wearing novelist and Hugh Grant plays the consumptive, priggish Chopin.

Written by Sarah Kernochan and originally a theatrical film, "Impromptu" deals with the group of celebrity artists who formed the Sand-Chopin circle. Julian Sands portrays composer Franz Liszt and Bernadette Peters plays his mistress, Marie D'Agoult. Ralph Brown plays painter Eugene Delacroix and Mandy Patinkin portrays poet-playwright Alfred de Musset. Emma Thompson is on hand as the socially ambitious Duchesse D'Antan, who hopes to establish her own literary salon, and Anton Rogers plays her husband.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

An Oak Lawn woman reported she had gotten out of her car in the Jewel lot at 4650 W. 103rd on Jan. 22nd, when three youths came running up behind her, grabbed her purse and ran south toward 103rd St. The purse contained $125 cash, medicine and other items. She said the three had Oakland Raiders jackets and black and white-laced tennis shoes. She told police she had delayed making the report because she recognized gang symbols on the tennis shoes.

On the 23rd, police were called to Covington School, 9130 S. 52nd Ave., with reference to a fire in the entryway. The police and fire department found a sparkler firework had been taped to the south entrance door and it was set off and caused the window to crack. It is estimated it will cost $100 to replace.

On the 24th, the clerk at the Amoco station at 5870 W. 95th St. said he had released the automatic lock to the bathroom in the back. When he came out, he washed the floor and after completing 3/4 of it, looked into the cashier's cage and saw the drawer of the cash register was open and envelopes with money and cash were missing. Estimated loss is $570.

Charles Schnepf of Frankfort, owner of the White Hen at 10441 Cicero, told police he checked the receipts on the 23rd and noticed a lot of no-sales had been rung up. He then checked the videotape and saw the midnight clerk, William Vail, ring up a no-sale and pocket the money. Also on the 23rd videotape, someone took merchandise and left the store without paying. With police present, Vail said he was shown how to shortchange the register by another midnight employee, Ryan Shields. Vail said he would make restitution.

A resident of the 5200 block of Stony Creek Dr. reported someone entered the rear window of his home and removed a VCR and a lot of jewelry for an estimated loss of $9,000.

Kevin Newton of Chicago Ridge reported that when he was at the Taco Bell store at 8700 S. Cicero on the 22nd, he had a fight with two male white subjects, known to him as Jason Viner and Jerry Forden, who were accompanied by three other subjects unknown to him. Newton said that Viner, Forden and their associates broke three windows of his vehicle which will cost $375 to replace. The offenders got away before the police arrived.

Police were called to the Stingray Lounge at 10401 S. Cicero about an alleged fight in the bathroom but the suspects were gone before police arrived. Police then drove to the back of the building and two male whites were having a loud verbal altercation with a male black, about where people could drink. After being told to go, Guy Sisto and Brian Lynch, both of Chicago, entered a red van, then got out and began a loud conversation. The officer again told them to leave and they started to get into the van but came back and refused to leave. Sisto was charged with disorderly conduct and was identified as the person who had done damage to an automobile belonging to James Marciano. Someone had put key scratches on the hood and both sides of his truck for estimated damage of $2,500. He also said Sisto had thrown a brick and damaged the rear fender and a brick which broke off the passenger side mirror.

On the 25th, Rodolfo Mancilla reported his wife had been hospitalized and was released to come home on the 11th. A hospital bed, nurses and an oxygen machine were arranged for her care. She died on the 16th. While going through his wife's belongings, Mancilla found two of her rings and some coins missing. The rings were valued at $20,500 and also missing was a box containing 50 silver dollars and a portfolio of commemorative copper and gold coins valued at $6,000. He gave police the name of the person who took care of his wife and complaints will be signed.

Dominick's, 8716 S. Cicero, reported approximately 100 wooden pallets were taken from a partially fenced area adjacent to the door. The majority of the pallets were stamped with $7 deposit and the loss is $700.

O'Malley Targets Three Issues

State Senator Patrick J. O'Malley (R-Palos Park) says his Senate committee assignments, announced Jan. 26th, reflect priorities and concerns of 18th District residents.

The 18th District Senator will serve on the Revenue Committee, and the Insurance, Pensions and Licensed Activities Committee. He was previously appointed Vice-Chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

"Education funding, taxes and pensions are among the leading issues facing our state," O'Malley said. "These committees will hear all proposals relating to those topics and I will have a hand in shaping legislation that will make a real difference."

"My committee assignments allow me to directly address issues that concern my constituents, especially property taxes and education funding. My work on the Revenue Committee will give me more insight into the state tax system, which will help me with my responsibilities as Vice-Chairman of the Education Committee," O'Malley said.

The Insurance, Pensions and Licensed Activities Committee considers issues such as the state pension system's funding crisis, and the mandatory auto insurance law that expires at the end of the year. The Revenue Committee considers legislation that concerns the state budget and related financial matters. The Education Committee considers changes in the laws governing the state's education system.

O'Malley was sworn in as 18th District State Senator Jan. 13th.

On the 27th, reports were taken from three employees at the nursing home at 9525 S. Mayfield. One lost $27, a pair of eyeglasses and dentures; another had $20 cash removed and the third person said a grey wallet containing a money order for $100 and a Visa card, both of which she cancelled.

On the 28th, Edward Jefferson of Chicago was seen by the security at K-Mart, 4101 W. 95th St. allegedly taking a Black and Decker drill, two bottles of Exclamation perfume and a racket and socket set and leave without paying. The merchandise, valued at $1,119.68, was recovered and he was charged with retail theft. A short time later Reginald McKissic of Chicago was reportedly seen removing a cordless Black & Decker drill valued at $51.97 which was recovered after his arrest.

Police were kept busy arresting 12 drivers during the week who were charged with suspended driver's license, no proof of insurance, expired registration, improper use of registration, speeding, one headlamp, etc.

Number One Rating

The Village of Oak Lawn has been granted a 'Number One' fire rating by the Insurance Services Office (ISO). ISO rates fire departments throughout the nation, a rating utilized by insurance carriers in setting insurance premiums for residences and businesses.

Of 1,500 cities and villages in the State of Illinois which were recently reviewed by ISO, Oak Lawn and Springfield were the only two granted a 'Number One' rating. Throughout the nation, just 10 communities share this prestigious achievement.

Mayor Ernest Kolb credited Fire Chief Jack McCastland for his efforts in obtaining the rating.

Reform Party Wins First Spot On Ballot

The United Village Reform Party, headed by Trustee Robert J. Streit, won the number one spot on the ballot in the lottery held at the regular meeting of the Oak Lawn Board of Trustees on Tuesday. Joan Buschbach did the drawing for the two parties and for positions for the library trustees.

Running on the Reform Party ticket are Barbara Dorgan for village clerk; Estelle Batzel for trustee in District 2; Steven F. Rosenbaum, District 4 and Harold Mozwez, District 6.

The Citizen's Coalition for Integrity Party is headed by Ernest F. Kolb, village president (incumbent), A. Jayne Powers, village clerk (incumbent) and Ronald M. Stancik in District 2 (incumbent), Michael D. Walsh, in District 4 and William C. Keane in District 6. Candidates for the library board are Shirley A. Barrett in the #1 position; Richard Rein, 2; and Marian Sullivan, 3.

Clerk Jayne Powers said her office will be open on Saturdays, March 13th and March 20th for voter's registration from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and Monday, March 22nd is the last day one can register to vote for the Tuesday, April 20th election.

Streit reported Superintendent Jerry Peterson of High School District 218 had gone to Springfield to see what could be done about the incinerator proposed to be built in Robbins. There he met with Senator Patrick O'Malley who has proposed a bill to ban building one within five miles of a school and mentioned this would be within a mile and a half of Eisenhower and a couple of elementary schools. He went on to say since Oak Lawn had already passed a resolution not to use the incinerator, he had prepared another resolution supporting O'Malley's bill.

Trustee Marjorie Joy said she did not object to supporting the resolution, but did object to having it presented at the meeting before any of the rest of the trustees had a chance to see it.

Kolb said that area mayors are urging the Governor to keep allowing the surcharge to continue as it has in the past, and had presented a resolution to this effect. The motion to accept was amended by Trustee Harold Mozwez who said it will be used to help abate the real estate taxes.

In other business Kolb asked to have the number of Class I liquor licenses reduced and said that O'Neill's Sports Bar is closed.

Kolb 'On Call'

Multimedia Cablevision viewers will have the opportunity to call in live and talk to Oak Lawn Mayor Ernie Kolb on "On Call," a live call-in talk show, Tuesdays at 7 p.m. on Channel 44.

On Tuesday, Feb. 16th, Mayor Kolb will be the guest on "On Call" to take questions and comments regarding Oak Lawn's recent improvement of the fire insurance classification from Class Two to Class One, effective March 1st. There are only twelve Class One cities nationwide, 2 of them in Illinois - Springfield and Oak Lawn.

Mayor Kolb will explain what the classification means and how it affects local residents. The mayor said, "The most important thing about the classification is that it means more safety to the residents of Oak Lawn, providing the best of all services in case of an emergency."

Mayor Kolb will also discuss the necessary changes and upgrades that took place to make the improved classification possible.

LIBRARY NOTES

This is the time of year to take a cruise, according to the Friends of the Oak Lawn Library. If it is impossible to get away right now, join the Friends for "Cruising," a travelog that takes the audience away from the ice, cold and snow and replaces it with sunny skies, the blue seas and a typical, leisure-oriented cruise ship. Meet the other "cruisers" at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 11th in the lower level meeting room of the Oak Lawn Public Library, 9427 S. Raymond Ave.

Carol Lekki will conduct the cruise. She is an expert in the field and will explain where cruises go, how to select the right one for individual preferences, how to prepare, what to expect before and after boarding and much more. She will answer questions from the audience and will bring brochures and information for audience pickup.

Knowing how to have a good interview could be the difference between getting or not getting the job, according to Patricia Bach, human relations consultant who will present a program at the library at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 13th.

"Interviewing techniques are the key for the person seeking the job," Bach said. "Job candidates have to learn how to be in control of the process and not let the interviewer take charge." Those people looking for employment are invited to sharpen their skills at this library-sponsored workshop.

This two-hour program will be held in the lower level meeting room. There is no charge and reservations are not required.

Contact Mary Nelson, public relations and development, at 422-4990 for additional information on library programs.

Variety Club Valentines

This Valentine's Day, you'll see Chicagoans, famous and not-so-famous, wearing gold hearts on their sleeves. Not exactly a new fashion statement, but rather a way for Variety Club of Illinois to introduce their Second Annual Gold Heart Day on Feb. 14th. At a time where poppies represent the support of veterans, a red ribbon acknowledges the fight against AIDS and pink ribbons generate awareness for breast cancer research, wearing a gold heart pin symbolizes your concern for children. F&M Distributors is once again, supporting this unique fundraising program as the main distributors, gold heart pins sell for $2; all proceeds go directly to Variety Club's Sunshine Coach program.

"Variety Club is a very worth charity and we are proud to continue our efforts for Gold Heart Day, helping to spread the true spirit of Valentine's Day -- caring about others," said Frank Newman, F&M Distributors' president and CEO. "We hope all Chicagoans will wear their heart on their sleeve to show that they care for children."

Gold Heart Day is an extension of Variety Club International's 'Rosie Rags' program. 'Rosie Rags,' a special doll developed by Variety Club International, brought to the U.S. by F&M last year and now sold at all Chicago-area F&M's for $9.99, was the first to wear a heart of gold on her sleeve. Rosie's motto is "have a heart of gold and wear it on your sleeve." Adults and children quickly followed suit. Variety Club and F&M hope that trendsetter Chicagoans hear Rosie's message and continue wearing the special gold heart pin as a symbol of caring about kids.

The Variety Club of Children's Charities in Illinois, founded in 1944, is one chapter of an international volunteer organization dedicated to improving the lives of underprivileged, mentally-and physically-challenged and abused children. Almost 600 members strong, the Variety Club has raised millions of dollars for programs in Illinois such as the Variety Club Sunshine Coach Program which provides specially-equipped vans to meet the transportation needs of children in hospitals, shelters, residential facilities and schools.

They were chosen on a merit basis for excelling in qualities which determine good citizenship including leadership, dependability, service and patriotism, to an outstanding degree.

The senior class from the nearby schools chooses, by vote, three seniors having these qualifications, and from these three, the high school faculty chooses one to represent their school as the DAR "Good Citizen."

The 1993 winners are: Andrea Hargrave of Chicago, Morgan Park High School; Shahzad Rasul of Burbank, Morgan Park Academy; Krista Szubert of Burbank, Reavis High School; Theresa Ziemba of Oak Lawn, H.L. Richards High School; Kelly Cohen of Chicago, William J. Bogan High School; Karen Murphey of Chicago, Mother McAuley High School; Jennifer Haggerty of Evergreen Park, Evergreen Park High School and Jennifer J. Paske of Oak Lawn, Oak Lawn Community High School.

These students will receive the DAR "Good Citizen" pin and a certificate of award at the Dewalt Mechlin chapter meeting to be held at the Ridge Field House-West Room, 96th and Longwood, on Monday, Feb. 8th at 1 p.m.

The program "Abigail Adams" will be presented by Mrs. Edmund Fjortoff. Anyone eligible to belong to the Daughters of the American Revolution is welcome to attend.

Lions Want Glasses

On Saturday, Feb. 27th, local Lions Clubs throughout northern Cook and Lake counties, will be collecting used eyeglasses as part of a 'Recycle for Sight' program. Cooperating 7-11 stores will accept donated glasses during regular business hours in specially-marked collection bins decorated with the cartoon figure Lens Lion. Donated eyeglasses will be recycled for distribution to persons in need in Central and South America as part of the Lions' continuing mission to provide vision-related services around the world.

There are 1,399,900 Lions who belong to 41,331 Lions Clubs in 177 countries and geographic areas around the globe. In keeping with the organization's official motto "We Serve," the Lions undertake more than 500,000 service projects each year, investing more than $275 million in their communities.

"DON'T SETTLE FOR COST, QUALITY OR SERVICE. CALL THE PEOPLE WHO CAN GIVE YOU ALL THREE."

THEODORE L. DESCH, SENIOR VP, LAW & CORPORATE AFFAIRS

Health insurance is a balancing act. You don't want to realize cost savings at the expense of quality care. And you don't want to save money if it means losing out on the level of service you expect. So what's the answer?

Well, over the years, nobody has done more to manage cost and preserve quality than we have. Nobody is more responsive to the needs of your people. And no one has more doctors, hospitals and coverage plans to choose from. Cost. Quality. And service. If you don't have all three, you don't have Blue Cross."

WHEN YOU HAVE BLUE CROSS, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ You are working with the pioneer in effective cost containment strategies.
- ☐ The carrier that's doing more to monitor quality.
- ☐ The most professional claims and customer response systems in the business.
- ☐ The most trusted health plans in Illinois.

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Cook County Board Update

Dear Friends, "SALES TAX"

The collection of the sales tax on big ticket items remains on hold following the passage of an ordinance by the Cook County Board that will delay implementation of the Cook County Home Rule County Use Tax until September 1, 1993.

The 3/4 percent tax on cars, boats and airplanes was originally set to be collected on September 1, 1992, but was pushed back until January 1, 1993, because of Governor Edgar's veto of the use tax legislation which would have required the Illinois Department of Revenue - which is best equipped to collect these levies - to collect the tax for the county.

This newest delay will give the county time for one more chance to push for an override of the veto and will facilitate the orderly implementation of the collection of the sales tax should the override fail.

"USER FEES"

In an effort to increase revenue through users' fees, the board voted to increase greens fees at all of the county's golf courses.

Joseph Nevius, General Superintendent of the Forest Preserve District, proposed these new rates because the county can no longer afford to charge lower fees than other area golf courses while county courses were losing money. Our fee schedule was lower than all courses that were surveyed. Regardless of the increases, county courses remain a reasonable bargain.

The higher fees will bring in several hundred thousand dollars a year in revenue and allow some county courses, especially George W. Dunne National, to break even.

In a time when taxes are continuing to rise, I feel that the user fees are a fair alternative to increase revenues while avoiding a tax that would affect everyone.

In another move to increase revenue and users' enjoyment, the Forest Preserve District of Cook County this year will begin offering bicycle, roller-blade and cross-country ski rentals. Gift shops will also open up at five of the district's six nature centers.

Bicycle, roller-blade and cross-country ski rentals will be available at Busse Woods, Salt Creek bicycle trail and Tinley Creek bicycle trail. If these areas prove to be successful, the rentals will be expanded to other areas.

These concessions will generate, in conjunction with the existing concessions, an estimated $123 million - a $250,000 increase over last year.

"CONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE"

The Construction Committee, headed by Commissioner Allan Carr, is one of the most effective committees of the Cook County Board.

Cook County will save $20 million on the construction of a new addition to Cook County jail thanks to the superior oversight of Commissioner Carr and project managers who tightened bid documents and eliminated costly and unnecessary frills.

"PICNIC RESERVATIONS"

For those who wish to make picnic reservations, the district will begin to computerize the picnic permit office. The new automated reservation system will greatly simplify the picnic permit process.

The Forest Preserve District issued more than 11,000 permits for the 320 groves and 183 picnic shelters last year. The new system will cut down the delays in receiving permits as well as provide users with a more accurate listing of available picnic groves and shelters.

Census Survey

The U.S. Census Bureau will collect data on employment and unemployment from area residents the week of Feb. 14th to 20th, according to Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office. The local labor force data will contribute to the national employment and unemployment picture to be released March 5th by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Census Bureau collects monthly labor force data for BLS from a national sample of 71,000 households.

Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

Election

The election of officers for Court Harvey No. 1076 of The Independent Order of Foresters (IOF) will take place at 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 19th at the Orland Chateau, 14600 S. LaGrange Rd. Light refreshments and entertainment will follow. Reservations are required.

Call chairman Bonnie Culver at (708) 597-6888.

"BOTANIC GARDEN"

The Chicago Botanic Garden will host the traveling Smithsonian Institution exhibit "Tropical Rainforests: A Disappearing Treasure." The exhibit, which opened Jan. 4th, is designed to raise public awareness of the issues involved in the destruction of the rainforests and the practical steps that must be taken to preserve this vital resource.

This is a worthwhile endeavor for people of all ages. The garden's docents will be stationed throughout the exhibit to answer questions and share their knowledge of the rainforests.

The exhibit is open daily including weekends, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursdays, the exhibit is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. The exhibit closes on March 28th.

The Group Visits Department is available to provide further information, answer questions and make arrangements for a group visit. Please call (708) 835-8249 Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"COOK COUNTY TAX SALE"

The sale of tax delinquent real estate properties for the tax year 1991 has been scheduled to begin on Monday, Jan. 25th, at 8 a.m. It should conclude on March 19th. The sale will be conducted in the 2nd floor corridor of the County Building, 118 North Clark Street, Chicago, Illinois. A list of the tax delinquent properties has been published in community newspapers during the week of Dec. 18th.

There are substantial changes in the way that the annual tax sale will be conducted. In order to make the process as simple as possible, the County Treasurer is implementing rules and regulations in conducting the tax sale. You can receive a copy of the Cook County tax sale rules and regulations by calling my office at (312) 443-4216.

Wishing everyone a Happy New Year, I am

Sincerely,

/s/ Robert P. Gooley (Bob)

Announces "All-American" Program

Congressman William O. Lipinski (D-3rd) announced that plans are currently underway for his "All American Boy and Girl" program, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

This program is designed to applaud and highlight the outstanding accomplishments of the young boys and girls in the 3rd Congressional District. This event was first introduced in 1969 when Congressman Lipinski was employed by the Chicago Park District.

The "All American Boy and Girl" program is a two part program where students fill out the necessary application, which are delivered to the area schools, and submitted to be reviewed by a committee. The top entries are then given the opportunity to be interviewed before a panel of judges, made up of teachers, business owners, and civic leaders.

This event concludes with an awards program, which is scheduled for Feb. 26, at the Mayfield Banquet Facility, where the awards for the finalists are handed out.

Students can obtain an application at school or receive an application by mail by calling Congressman Lipinski's office at (312) 886-0481. For any further information contact Jerry Hurckes, Congressman Lipinski's Director of Special Events, at (312) 886-0481.

Going Out of Business Laws

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris has alerted members of the Illinois Municipal League to be on the lookout for illegal going out of business sales.

The warning was prompted by a number of inquiries and complaints the Attorney General's Office has received from Illinois consumers and retailers regarding whether many of the sales they saw advertised were in compliance with Illinois law.

"Illinois has strict laws that govern going out of business sales which help to prevent consumers from being victimized by misrepresentation," Burris said. "Retailers must obtain a license from the local municipality before advertising or holding a going out of business sale. The license application requires detailed information about the nature of the sale and the goods for sale. It was designed to prevent misrepresentation about price, quality and ownership of goods offered for sale."

Burris sent similar letters to several Illinois trade associations including the Illinois Retail Merchants Assn., the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois New Car & Truck Dealers Assn. and the Illinois Jewelers Assn.

The Attorney General recently filed suit against a Chicago-area furrier and a New York supplier, which advertised and held a "Total Liquidation Sale" at two retail locations without obtaining the necessary licenses. A restraining order was obtained, which temporarily closed the two business locations and permanently put a stop to the illegal sales.

The Fraudulent Sales Act requires that any person conducting a going out of business sale must first obtain a license from the clerk of the city, village or township in which the sale is to be conducted. The license is good for 60 days and renewable for an additional 30 days. That means that a going out of business sale cannot last longer than 90

Burris said that every application for a going out of business license must be made to the city clerk's office in writing, under oath and must contain the following information:

- The name and address of the applicant, who must own the goods for sale;
- The name and address of the store;
- The dates when the sale is to occur;
- The name and address of the person in charge of the sale;

• A full statement of the reason for the sale and a statement that business will cease at the store location after the sale is finished;

• An itemized list of all inventory to be sold including: identifying information for each item, including make and brand names; the cost price of each item, seller and date of purchase by the retailer applying for the license; and a separate list of any goods purchased by the retailer conducting the sale within 60 days prior to the sale;

• A statement that no goods will be added to the inventory and that the inventory contains no consignment goods;

• A statement that the applicant has been in business at the location and has sold goods listed in the inventory for at least four months before applying for the license.

Once a license to conduct a sale is granted, the Act requires that the list of inventory attached to the application be posted in the store so that customers may examine it. Also, a duplicate copy of the license must be posted on the front door of the store, clearly visible from the street.

Further information about the requirements for going out of business sales is available at the local municipality or the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office at (312) 814-3749.

Foster Parents Needed

Catholic Charities is looking for individuals and families to "foster a child's future." There is an increasing number of children from infancy to 18 who have been abused and neglected in the Chicago-land area in need of a safe and loving foster home. Individuals willing to provide short-term or long-term care are needed. Catholic Charities provides services and support to children, their families and foster families throughout the child's stay in the home. Individuals of all social, ethnic and religious backgrounds are needed.

Information on how to become a Catholic Charities foster parent will be presented at a meeting on Monday, Feb. 15th beginning at 7:30 p.m. at St. Julie Billiard Parish in the William J. Devine Activity Center, 7399 W. 159th St.

For information, call Michael Smith at (312) 655-7200.

LaPaille is looking forward to serving the people of Chicago's southwest side where he has been a lifelong resident. LaPaille was anxious to get the day's business out of the way since his wife was home expecting their second child.

It's All in The WANT ADS

by bill corcoran

In 1876, the Scottish-born American inventor Alexander Graham Bell first demonstrated the electrical transmission of speech by an apparatus which became known as the telephone. Two years later, in 1878, James Clerk Maxwell, the British physicist, wrote: "When at last this little instrument appeared, consisting, as it does, of parts every one of which is familiar to us, and capable of being put together by an amateur, the disappointment arising from its humble appearance was only partially relieved on finding that it was really able to talk."

Now, a mere 117 years after its birth, the telephone has turned American politics into a giant phone-bank as switchboard democracy lights up nearly a thousand radio and television talk shows on any given day.

Larry King, Rush Limbaugh, C-Span, and CNN, who reach millions of American homes and cellular-phone equipped cars, are finding out Americans, like in the movie "Network," are "mad as hell" and they are not going to take it.

Locally WLS radio leads the parade of phone-in programs with Don Wade and Roma, Roe Conn, Rush Limbaugh, Ed Vrdolyak and Ty Wansley, Catherine Johhs and substitute host Richard Roeper fielding phone calls on every subject from gays in the military to home-alone kids.

But Americans aren't just calling radio and TV call-in programs.

Two weeks ago when President Clinton announced he was going to lift the ban on gays in the military, the offices on Capitol Hill recorded 434,000 phone calls in just one day.

The White House has even had to upgrade its phone system and now you can call a number and a recorded voice will forward your call to a message unit where you leave a message.

If you can get through, which is virtually impossible, a soft-spoken southern speaking gentlemen (no, it isn't President Clinton) answers with a recorded message asking if you would like to leave a message for President Clinton, First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton or their daughter Chelsea. To my knowledge, you can't leave a message for "Socks" the famous White House cat—but just wait awhile, the White House is still in the process of upgrading their "dial-a-President" technology.

According to White House sources, the messages are sorted out by the White House staff and brief reviews are sent to either the President, the First Lady or Chelsea.

Meanwhile, back in that "vast wasteland" of television and radio, as FCC Chairman Newt Minnow referred to broadcasting years ago, a poll of over 850 radio call-in shows indicates the majority of the hosts are conservative. The survey of television and radio call-in shows also indicates most of the hosts are male, in spite of the advances made recently by women in the workforce.

In fact, one national news magazine listed the hosts of the top 10 television and radio call-in programs and only one host was a woman, Diane Rehm, from Washington, D.C., who coincidentally listed her pet peeve, "callers who disregard a women's rights."

Brian Lamb, founder and host of C-Span's call-in features, is cited as being the perfect host because you never get a feel for which side of an issue he is coming down on.

Why are call-in programs so popular, and gaining in popularity with new programs coming on board almost every week?

According to people who study call-in programs, they liken it to eavesdropping. "It is like listening to what your neighbor is talking about on the old party-line," said one person we talked to.

Then there is the Ross Perot theory.

When Ross Perot started barnstorming around the country appearing on every television talk show and radio call-in program the other political candidates sat up and began taking notice.

Ross Perot used to talk about the deficit like "a crazy Aunt in the basement that nobody in the family wanted to talk about."

Well, now the "crazy aunt or uncle" has a cellar-cellular phone and they are calling in and want to be heard.

President Clinton has only been in office three weeks and already the Zoe Baird issue (complicated by Judge Kimba Wood and already confirmed Commerce Secretary Ron Brown), gays in the military and the possibility of cutting social security cost of living adjustments has lit up the phones at the White House, Capitol Hill by 'Ma Bell-heads' all across the country.

The sensitivity of each caller can also be measured by the pulse of the days news.

When it is a slow news day, the calls are more genteel—almost polite in a sickening fashion.

But when the news-of-the-day is gays in the military, home-alone kids, politicians with their hands in someone's pocket, or some other topic which pushes someone's hot-button, the callers sound like they have just had their dinner interrupted by a tele-marketing outfit trying to sell them storm windows.

Ben Jonson, the famous English writer and actor, once wrote a passage which should be pasted onto the phone of every person who has ever thought of picking up a phone and calling a television and radio call-in program. Jonson said: "Talking and eloquence are not the same; to speak, and to speak well, are two things. A fool may talk, but a wise man speaks."

Pace Schedule For Holidays

Pace, the suburban bus service, is operating regular weekday service on the presidential holidays that occur during February.

Repeal The Mystery Tax

By Bradley J. Furnish

Would you favor the enactment of a tax without knowing whether you would pay the tax or how much you would pay? Would you favor it if nobody knew who paid the tax? Brace yourself. We already have such a tax. It is called the corporate income tax. It should be repealed immediately.

With predictable regularity, politicians and commentators call for increases in the corporate income tax. Usually, the calls are accompanied by pious declarations that business should "pay its fair share of taxes." That statement is absurd. In meaningful economic terms, no business ever paid a tax, or ever will.

Consider what happens when your income tax increases. You will probably spend less and save less - that is, your current and future consumption will decline. The loss in enjoyment you experience is your payment of the tax. The transfer of funds to the government is a mere accounting formality.

What if you could silently slip your hand into somebody else's pocket and remove enough money to cover the proceeds of the tax? You would still be "paying" the tax in the formal accounting sense, by remitting the proceeds of your theft to the government. But the other person, not you, suffers the diminished pleasure resulting from less current and future consumption. Therefore, the tax would really be paid by the person from whom you steal the money.

Politicians often pretend that a corporation can be made to pay taxes, thereby preventing the burden from falling on people. But a business cannot truly pay a tax because a business cannot undergo a loss of enjoyment. Only human beings can feel such a loss. Therefore, only human beings can pay taxes. The fact that the law treats a corporation as though it were a person does not make it one.

If business does not pay the corporate income tax, then who does? The burden of the tax is likely borne by three groups of people: stockholders, consumers and employees.

The immediate effect of the tax is to redistribute money from stockholders to the government, thereby lowering the rate of return on investment in the corporate sector. Perhaps some people believe that it is only fair that money be taken from "fat cat" stockholders. But this aspect of the tax affects a majority of Americans - not only those who own stocks directly, but also those whose pension plans invest in stocks. Only a small fraction of these people are rich.

The lowered corporate rate of return causes money and resources to be withdrawn from the corporate sector in favor of the non-corporate sector. Corporations produce fewer goods, and the prices of those goods rise. Thus, part of the burden of the tax is borne by consumers, in the form of higher prices. Since this reallocation of resources is the artificial result of the tax rather than (say) a change in consumer demand, resources are satisfying human wants less efficiently than before the tax was levied.

By lowering the rate of return, the corporate income tax lessens the incentive to save and invest. If less saving results from this, firms purchase less plant, equipment, vehicles, and other capital goods. This reduces employee productivity, leading to lower wages.

The last three paragraphs are a simplified analysis of a very complex economic question. Despite many studies, economists cannot determine the portions of the corporate income tax that are paid by stockholders, consumers and employees. Since we are not sure who pays the tax or in what proportions, we cannot claim that the tax is fair. (Of course, there is no generally accepted standard for fairness in the distribution of income. But even if such a standard did exist, we could not apply it here.)

Proponents of the corporate income tax say that business should pay taxes because that is fair. But in fact, businesses

Fax Divorce

The Cook County Circuit Court Judiciary and the Clerk of the Court are making life easier for attorneys who work in the suburbs. Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Courts, and Honorable Benjamin Mackoff, Presiding Judge of the Domestic Relations Division, have announced the availability of petitioning for hearings of default divorce cases in suburban districts by facsimile procedures.

"With this new procedure beginning March 1st, suburban attorneys will be able to file divorce default orders in Municipal Districts 2-6," said Pucinski.

"This procedure will alleviate the time it would take suburban attorneys to drive all the way downtown in expressway traffic. It can also save their clients money because billing time by attorneys can be minimized for the time it would take to drive downtown," Pucinski added.

According to Pucinski, divorce default by FAX is just an initial step in providing expanded services to our suburban districts. "We are using the latest technology to benefit the public," said Pucinski. "With the growing population in the suburbs, we have to find ways to increase our services, she said."

Airport Planning

Gov. Jim Edgar has announced that the state received $2 million to begin preparing a master plan for a third major airport in the Chicago metropolitan area.

"I am pleased that the federal government has committed funding for the detailed studies of environmental and other factors needed for construction of an airport at the south suburban site," Edgar said.

"After the master plan study is completed, we will finalize a decision about whether to proceed with a new airport. We are taking this project a step at a time," the governor added.

The study will take two years to complete. The work will include an airport layout plan, a financial plan, an environmental impact assessment, public hearings and public participation.

"In conjunction with the master plan work, the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) is to provide assistance to local communities to help them plan for the possible impact of the new airport," Edgar pointed out.

Plans call for funding the $1.8 billion airport through general revenue bonds supported by airline use agreements and other airport revenues. No state funds would be used for construction of the airport.

do not pay taxes, and the corporate income tax cannot be characterized as fair.

There is no rationale for the corporate income tax in economics or in equity. No doubt this is why its repeal is supported by right-wing economists such as Milton Friedman and left-wing economists such as Lester Thurow. Repealing the "mystery tax" would strike a blow for honesty as well as economic efficiency.

All Points Southwest

How did Crestwood natives feel about Mayor Chester Stranczek's marquee sign, in front of the village hall which read "Mr. President .. NO GAYS IN MY FOX HOLE"?...consider this...aside from several businesses marquees saying "Stranczek for President" his phone calls totaling over 150 gave 146 approvals compared to six complaints. Stranczek, a Korean War Vet, knows what it was to be in a fox hole with fellow soldiers for long periods of time.

Stranczek, who is seeking re-election this spring, will soon announce a 20 percent refund of real estate taxes to 3,400 home and condo owners in the village. Next year it will be 40 percent followed by escalation refunds every year until 100 percent of home owners real estate taxes are re-paid. Stranczek told ALL POINTS that over $1,000,000 is now in the fund to begin repayment. Refunds are made only to those who live and own their own homes and have been residents of Crestwood for a number of years.

All of this money has been made possible by the taxes paid by RiverCrest Shopping Centre on the grounds of the old Howell Airport at Route 83 and Cicero. Big contributor is the tax paid to the village from the successful Off Track Betting Parlor in the Centre (OTBP), Winner's Circle.

So successful is the OTBP that the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources (ENR) this week announced a grant of $139,551.43 to the Crestwood Park District. This grant represents three quarters of one percent of the tax revenue on receipts collected from intertrack wagering locations. This grant program was authorized by the Horse Racing Act of 1987.

Then consider this... at the annual Crestwood VIP Party January 29th honoring Stranczek, a record crowd of over 700 jammed Rosewood West to salute the four time mayor...Cheering him on for a fifth term.

Mayor Gerald R. Bennett of Palos Hills will be feted at a cocktail party Tuesday, Feb. 23rd from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Holiday Banquet, 10140 Roberts Road. Hors d'oeuvres and liquid refreshments will be served. The Palos Independent Council is sponsoring the event honoring the three term mayor who is seeking his fourth term in the April 20 Consolidated Elections. Tickets are $25 each.

Congratulations to freshman state representative Tom Dart of the 19th Ward (D-28) who has been appointed to serve as the Democratic Floor Leader by House Speaker Mike Madigan for the 88th General Assembly. Dart will be in position to guide legislation through debate on the floor of the House of Representatives. He is one of two Floor Leaders for the 67 member Democratic majority.

Friends of State Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park) are holding a fundraiser for their new 18th District senator this Sunday, Feb. 14th, Valentine's Day, at the Condesa Del Mar, Alsip, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. For more information call (708) 389-5124.

More than four million persons will need blood transfusions this year, explains Cook County Board President Richard Phelan. Donors are needed each day to provide blood for those suffering from disease or serious injury. Cook County Hospital is encouraging people to donate blood. The hospital supplies blood for many medical emergencies, including critically ill burn and trauma patients. Give the gift of life. Call County's blood bank today at 312-633-6282.

Cook County Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell is making it easier for those who want to pay their real estate taxes in person. Starting Feb. 16th daily office hours in his downtown office and five suburban offices will be 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. All offices will be open Saturday, Feb. 27th from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The deadline for the payment of the first installment bill is Tuesday, March 2nd and all offices will be open that day from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Treasurer's office will be closed Friday, Feb. 12th and Monday Feb. 15th in observance of Lincoln's birthday and President's Day.

Rosewell said that any property owner who has not received his (or her) bill should call the Treasurer's Office at (312) 443-5100 or visit any of his six offices for a duplicate bill.

The corporation counsel for the City of Chicago, Kelly Welsh, announced that he plans to return to private law practice. Welsh has been Mayor Richard M. Daley's right hand man during city council meetings for the past four years and has been lauded for his role in last year's flood in the Loop. Welsh was an articulate spokesman for the mayor's office at press conferences during that critical juncture in the city's history. Welsh also spent much time in helping develop crime fighting legislation and demolition of abandoned buildings. A successor has not yet been named.

The Worth Township Regular Republican Organization has opened a headquarters in Oak Lawn, according to Township Committeeman Jeff Layhe. The HQ is at 5110 W. 95th St. and the phone number is 636-5800. "Anyone who wants to support the GOP in the April 20th Consolidated Election is welcome to stop in or to call. An open house is scheduled in the near future," said Layhe.

In what has been described as 'philosophical differences,' Chicago Alderman James Laski (23) has apparently broken with his longtime political mentor Congressman William O. Lipinski (D-3). Laski, who had been alderman for the past three years and a staff assistant for 14 years prior to election, broke with Lipinski over his decision to vote against Mayor Richard Daley's proposed property tax hike. Laski and Lipinski differ as to who initiated Laski's move from the 23rd Ward HQ. Laski claims he was ordered to move out while Lipinski says Laski left of his own volition.

Closed For Holidays

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, Secretary of State George H. Ryan announced today. Both holidays are observed by all state agencies.

Driver Services facilities outside Cook County, which normally are open Tuesday through Saturday, will be closed on Friday, Feb. 12th and Saturday, Feb. 13th, and will reopen on Tuesday, Feb. 16th.

Consumers Complain Most About Homes And Cars

Complaints about houses and vehicles led the list of Top Ten Consumer Complaints of 1992 while complaints against the leisure/travel industry moved up to the third spot in the rankings, Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris announced recently.

"An analysis of the complaints filed in the Attorney General's Office shows more and more of the shady operators rely on telemarketing schemes to ply their trade," Burris said. "Whether they are peddling travel packages, investments or charities, more and more salespeople are relying on the telephone for their initial contact, and thousands of Illinois consumers have filed complaints with the Attorney General's Office because of those calls."

Burris said the goal of the Consumer Protection Division is to educate consumers to help avoid fraudulent activity, to seek restitution on behalf of consumers who have been defrauded and to penalize those who violate the Consumer Protection Act. He said 29,000 complaints were filed last year, an increase of almost 2,000, and consumer calls rank as the number one source of inquiry into the office.

All totaled the Attorney General's Office saved consumers approximately $5 million last year, Burris said. The $5 million total represents restitution to consumers, plus savings to consumers through litigation and mediation.

"Consumers should be skeptical of bargains that sound too good to be true," the Attorney General said. "Everybody, especially senior citizens, should realize there are people out there who are trying to separate you from your money."

The Top Ten list includes:

1. Houses, 24 percent. Home repair fraud continues to run rampant despite repeated warnings to consumers to be alert on home repair projects. Some of the worst offenders were caught and sent to jail. Numerous complaints were the result of a dispute between the homeowner and person hired for the improvement project, and many of those were resolved without litigation. The office also receives hundreds of complaints about furniture and drapery, floor coverings and installation of appliances.

2. Motor vehicles, 22 percent. Buyers of new and used cars regularly complain to the office about unsatisfactory service and questionable warranty practices, and lease arrangements account for an increasing number of disputes as the industry grows. In a major sting operation last summer, the office sent investigators to dealer lots all across the state to determine if they properly displayed "Buyers Guide" stickers as required by law. Many did not and as a result of the charges paid fines to the state. The office also conducted a sting operation against a fraudulent transmission repair company, and warned consumers to be alert on all vehicle repairs.

3. Leisure/travel, 9 percent. Consumers complained about pitches for free vacations and promoters who sold airline tickets and travel vouchers that were never received. Complaints were also received regarding cable television service and magazine subscription telephone sales.

4. Finance/credit, 8 percent. This category fell to fourth from third the previous year, perhaps because the credit reporting industry attempted to improve its customer relations as the result of pressure from state Attorneys General. Burris and the National Association of Attorneys General entered into legal settlements with the three major credit reporting companies to force them to improve consumer access to their files.

5. Investments, 7 percent. Promotions, schemes and contests were a common gripe. Some were sophisticated sales pitches to wealthy investors involving hundreds of thousands of dollars, and a few convictions resulted in the defendants being sent to the penitentiary.

6. Mail order, 4 percent. Complaints were filed against numerous types of catalogue sale companies regarding failure to ship merchandise, failure to provide exchanges and receipt of the wrong product.

7. Business/professional services, 4 percent. Businesses which provide a service rather than a product are included in this category. For example, numerous complaints were received regarding a company which provided credit services for health care providers' patients but failed to reimburse their clients.

8. Health, 4 percent. Medical services, beauty and diet aids and health clubs are included in this category. Complaints alleged that products were often misrepresented and health clubs closed without notice.

9. Insurance, 4 percent. Although the state Department of Insurance is the proper depository for complaints against the insurance industry, hundreds of consumers were so angered by the industry they contacted the Attorney General.

10. Electronics, 3 percent. The sale of high-technology equipment and the marketing of their warranties is of growing concern to consumers, who also complained about the failure to repair or replace defective products.

The Top Ten list is based on the number of complaints filed in the Attorney General's offices in Springfield and Chicago and 17 regional offices. Approximately 11 percent of the complaints fell into other miscellaneous categories such as employment (job search) claims.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor,

Special rights for homosexuals?

The hard fact is that homosexual orientations are caused by abnormal environments and/or brain defects.

(To anyone who says that biologically caused homosexual orientations are NOT brain defects, one can easily respond: If all living things had homosexual orientations life would die out in short order, so it's obvious that any biologically caused homosexual orientations are brain defects.)

We should have much understanding for those born homosexual, for after all we are all born imperfect; but brain defects do not per se justify behavior.

Thinking people have known for centuries that there is no logical or moral justification for homosexual behavior, because such behavior is a bad legal precedent. If we condone homosexual deviations, then we must fairly condone other unusual deviations. What if someone is accidentally born with the desire to have sex with cows or sheep? Some people have such sex. How ridiculous and bizarre are we going to allow the world to get?

If you think, as reasonable people do, that homo- and bi-sexuals do NOT deserve "special rights," do NOT deserve to be treated like a "minority" such as black people, if you think Colorado did the moral thing by passing an amendment which denies homo- and bi-sexuals special rights, please contact me at 708-968-6450. We need to collect signatures to get a similar referendum on the Illinois ballot.

People clearly should be penalized for wrong behavior. Homosexual activity is clearly wrong behavior. Penalizing immoral people is obviously NOT discrimination. Penalizing homo- and bi-sexuals is NOT discrimination.

Cordially,
s/s Wayne Lela

Auto Crashes

In two unrelated accidents, a Chicago man was killed and five people injured in a three-car accident on Cicero Ave. at 113th St. Joseph Asplund, 38, of 56th and Homan, was pronounced dead on arrival at Christ Hospital at 9:15 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 9th. Joseph Lascola, of Darien, was reported in serious condition at Christ and Dawn Riesbac was in satisfactory condition at St. Francis Hospital, Blue Island.

In another collision, Kenneth W. Urbanski, 53, of Orland Park, was killed in a head-on car crash at Cedar Road and Bruce Circle. Urbanski was northbound on Cedar Road at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 8th, when his car swerved into the southbound lane and struck another car.

Kevin Coopman, 31, of New Lenox, the driver of the other car, was treated and released at Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet. Urbanski was pronounced dead on arrival at 7:58 p.m., also at Silver Cross.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation.

Real Estate Tax Bills In The Mail

Cook County Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell said Monday that all 1.5 million first installment real estate tax bills have been mailed to property owners.

Rosewell also announced that the penalty date for payment of the real estate taxes will be Tuesday, March 2nd. Monday, March 1st, is Casimir Pulaski day, a legal county holiday.

However, Rosewell said that all facilities of the Treasurer's office will be open on March 1st for payment of real estate taxes. This includes the Chicago downtown office and the five suburban offices.

"Even though March 1st is a legal holiday, we are keeping all of our facilities open as a convenience to taxpayers," Rosewell said.

The real estate tax bills, reflecting 1992 taxes due in 1993, must be paid by March 2nd in order to avoid the 1 1/2 percent per month penalty on the amount due. Mail payments postmarked by midnight of March 2nd will be accepted without penalty, Rosewell said.

The first installment taxes are estimated bills based upon one half of the previous year's total tax bill. The second installment bill, due in August, will reflect the actual tax rates and property assessments.

Rosewell said that any property owner who does not receive his (her) tax bill by next week should call the Treasurer's office at (312) 443-5100 for a duplicate tax bill.

The bills can be paid by mail or at any of the Treasurer's six offices. These offices include the downtown office at 118 North Clark Street, and the five suburban offices at 16501 S. Kedzie Ave., Markham; 1500 Maybrook Square, Maywood; 5600 Old Orchard Road, Skokie; 10200 S. 76th Ave., Bridgeview, and 2121 Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows.

Camp Reservations

Picnic shelter and group campsite reservations will join the Department of Conservation's regular campsite reservation program in 1993, announced Conservation Director Brent Manning. "Because the new reservation programs will be available at dozens of sites throughout the state, the Department hopes families and groups will be better able to plan get-togethers during the busy summer months."

Regular campsite reservations will be available at 11 state parks. Reservations for campsites and shelters will be accepted by mail beginning Jan. 2nd and in-person reservations will be accepted beginning Feb. 1st. No telephone reservations will be accepted. A daily lottery will be conducted for mail-in reservations, while in-person reservations will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis.

A reservation fee must be paid at the time reservations are made. Once a reservation has been confirmed, the fee is non-refundable unless the department closes an area due to storm damage or other reasons. In addition to regular camping fees and utility fees payable upon arrival at the site, regular campsites and group campsites require a $5 reservation fee at the time the reservation is made. The shelter reservation fee is $20.

Campsites can be reserved for a maximum of 14 nights and reservations should be made at least seven days before the site is needed. Reservations will be held until 10 p.m., after which the site will be offered to campers on a first-come, first-served basis.

Most state parks offering group campgrounds will accept group campsite reservations. Interested groups should contact individual parks for specific information.

The state parks accepting regular campsite reservations are Chain O'Lakes and Illinois Beach, Lake County; Kankakee River, Kankakee County; Kickapoo, Vermilion County; Lake Le-Aqua-Na, Stephenson County; Lincoln Trail, Marshall County; Pere Marquette, Jersey County; Siloam Springs, Adams County; Starved Rock, LaSalle County; White Pines Forest, Ogle County, and Wolf Creek, Shelby County.

Sound Off!! There is this outcry about the incinerator which is proposed to be built in Robbins. These are used in other states and in Europe for years with no adverse effects. To my way of thinking this is more sanitary than landfills; I worry about the fact that these leak all kind of things into the soil and the water tables and we are running out of space for them. It will help Robbins by providing work for their residents and from what I have read, it is cheaper.

Our Lady of Fatima K.C. is sponsoring a free seminar on Tuesday Feb. 16th in their hall, 5830 W. 95th St. Rita Boylan, seminar leader, is from Operation Able which offers shopping assistance for older persons, 40 years and more. Call Jim Dillon at 424-7443 for more information.

OLCHS Combats Party Syndrome

The staff of Oak-Lawn Community High School would like to again address what we see as a very serious and continuing problem in our nearby communities. We know that many of you share this concern with us. The issue relates to the 'party syndrome' that regularly occurs, especially on weekends, frequently without adult supervision, and alarmingly at times with parental/guardian knowledge. This syndrome is often characterized by many young people using drugs, especially alcohol. More often than not, students from several area high schools are involved, from all years, including both sexes.

This syndrome has far-reaching consequences, especially as the inappropriate behavior it engenders can result in bodily injury or death, as well as the destruction of or damage to private property.

With proper parental/guardian influence, these parties can be eliminated. OLCHS may take the disciplinary action necessary to address the problem on or off our campus. At the same time, if help is needed for students who may be having any type of problem with substance abuse or psychological problems, that help will be provided.

We also issue a caution in regards to parental liability according to the laws of the state. These are statutes which apply to 'host' liability meaning that parents/guardians are legally responsible for parties which their sons and daughters hold on their property, even if they have not given permission for the gathering or are aware of it.

As educators, we are primarily concerned with the health and safety of your daughters and sons, our students. We ask for your cooperation as we continue to address jointly this most serious situation. While we all feel that the integrity and reputation of our school is important, the well-being of your daughters and sons whom you entrust to us is our primary concern.

We strongly urge you to know where your sons and daughters are, whom they are with and what they are doing. It is your right as a parent to have this most basic of information from your children.

Please discuss this matter with your sons and daughters and help us alleviate a major problem before it gets any worse.

Was Meeting Illegal?

During the Jan. 26th city council meeting in Hometown, Alderman Ron Masino alleged that a meeting held on Jan. 25th was illegal. The meeting was called by Mayor Raymond Forsyth and was attended by eight aldermen. According to Masino, this session was not necessary and further discussion was conducted as to the proper method of calling a meeting.

In other business, Alderman Marty Safstrom inquired about some additional street lighting on Cicero Ave.

He was informed by Public Works Director Joseph Madden, Sr., that the cost would be approximately $30,000 for 10 poles installed from 87th St. to 88th Pl. and that figure does not include labor.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Jan. 30th, Michelle Marrello of Midlothian told police she was driving north in the 9800 block of south Moody Ave. and came to a steel barricade which prevented her from going farther. As she was turning her vehicle around a man approached on foot with a baseball bat and struck the passenger side rear door, the roof was damaged and the window broken. The offender was gone by the time the police got there.

Vandals damaged the front door of Best Price Windows & Doors at 9918 Southwest Highway in what police believe may have been a robbery attempt. The owner of the business was called but he was not at home so police called a board up company to cover the damage. Estimated cost is $400.

Three residents in the 9100 block of S. Meade Ave., reported persons unknown had used spray paint and markers to mark their garage doors with graffiti.

At 4:20 a.m. Joseph Kennedy of Chicago was stopped at 10940 S. Kostner and charged with DUI, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, negligent driving, no proof of insurance and improper use of registration.

Napleton Honda on W. 95th St., reported the theft of a 1990 blue Mercury from the lot on the 26th. Burbank Police Department, on the 28th, said they had seen the car parked at 5701 W. 79th St. Napleton sent two employees to pick up the vehicle and return it, but it was missing. On the 29th, received another call from Burbank stating the car was at 5749 W. 79th St. The two employees went out and met a woman who said her son had loaned the car to her since December. A short time later, the son arrived and admitted to police he took the vehicle and gave it to relatives to use.

He was charged with criminal trespass to a vehicle.

On the 31st at 12:46 p.m., John Harper of Alsip told police when he and his friends were leaving Wag's Restaurant, 10501 S. Cicero, four men began yelling at them for no apparent reason. Trying to avoid an argument, John and his friend got into the car at which time the offenders began to kick the car causing damage to the driver's door. The four offenders, picked up by police and charged with one count of criminal damage to property and two counts of disorderly conduct, were Caludio Desantis and Mark Navarro, both of Chicago; Lawrence Murdock of Homewood; and Jeffery Troiani of Chicago Heights.

About $100 was stolen from the cash drawer at Foodie's Store at 9652 Pulaski. According to police two men took the money after they distracted the clerk by asking where the milk was located and while she was helping that person, the second man allegedly cleaned out the drawer.

At 2:33 a.m., John Compagna of Rutherford Ave., was stopped at 95th and Merton and charged with DUI, BAC over .10, and improper lane usage.

On Feb. 1st, at 7:30 p.m., Rosemary Gerhardt of Kolin Ave. reported a rock was thrown through her front window which will cost $300 to replace.

The Oak Lawn Park District reported a plastic chute on a slide was melted by unknown means. Will cost $900 to replace.

On Feb. 1st, Ryan Shields of Chicago was charged with theft from the White Hen Pantry at 10441 S. Cicero for stealing $200 cash and merchandise.

James Whitman, 27, of Oak Lawn, was stopped at 97th St. and Southwest Highway and charged with having a suspended driver's license, possession of cannabis and failure to display a license plate.

On the 2nd, Wanda Moran, manager of Kay-More Building Co., 11010 S. Pulaski, told police that a tenant, Daniel Healy, had not paid his rent for a couple of months so on Feb. 1st a court order was taken out to allow the company to take possession of the apartment. On entering the apartment, it was clear that Healy had already moved out. There was garbage scattered through the apartment and the hot water was running in the kitchen, bathroom sinks and bathtub. Other damage was done by splashing the walls with bar-b-que sauce and a black permanent marker was used to mark up the bathroom vanity and writing on the kitchen cabinets. Estimated clean-up and repair will be $1,000 or more.

On the 1st, Robert Niehoff of Burbank was charged with DUI, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, and criminal damage to village property. At the station Niehoff had been allowed to make a phone call and became violent when there was no answer. He threw the phone on the floor, pulling the wiring from the wall and breaking the phone. A short time later he was seen scratching the plastic window in the station with a dime.

Haggerty Pontiac, 9301 S. Cicero, reported a 1993 Pontiac Gran Prix, parked in the new car lot was entered and a Delco AM/FM stereo with a compact disc player was taken from the dashboard which was damaged. Estimated cost to replace and repair is $275.

On the 4th, a resident of the 4800 block of 105th St., came home and found the front door was unlocked and inside found the jewelry boxes in the bedroom were empty. Entry was made by prying open the sliding door to the family room on the ground floor. Several watches, gold and diamond rings and sets, valued at $15,000; miscellaneous jewelry was also taken.

At 8:30 a.m. the clerk at the Oak Lawn Pet Center, 4939 W. 95th St. reported someone had spray painted graffiti on the west wall of the building. Estimated cost to clean is $100.

BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

The regular season is fast approaching its conclusion for local cagers and playoff excitement is in the air. For some, it will definitely be 'March Madness,' while others won't feel that way.

Tuesday Games (Feb. 2nd)

Shepard 41 - Reavis 39

The Astros got into their winning orbit and edged out the Reavis Rams 41-39 in Palos Heights to take this SICA North contest.

"I feel a whole lot safer than I did before the game," admitted Astro coach Kurt Enzinger. "They test your patience. Not only defensively, but once you get a rebound, there's a tendency to want to come back and play offense because you've been on defense so long."

Astro Tyrine Wilson put in a game-high 18 points from the floor to lead his team.

On the Ram side of the scoreboard, Jason Blizniak totaled 13 markers with nine rebounds and Tony Bombacino added 10 points.

"If it was about effort, maybe we would have won," lamented Ram coach Jim Tracy. "If the shots don't go sometimes, maybe it's not supposed to be. That's tough for the kids."

Stagg 67 - Argo 57

The Argonauts couldn't stay afloat as they went down at the hands of the Chargers in Palos Hills 67-57 in SICA North action.

Charger Phil Richard paced his team with 17 points and six caroms.

Sandburg 62 - Oak Lawn 43

The Eagles soared over and above the Spartans during this SICA North match-up in Oak Lawn.

Eagles Dan Barrett and Chris Morris proved to be the dynamic duo for their squad as they put in 12 and 11 markers respectively.

Spartans who scored in double numbers were Jeff Cowart with 13 and D.J. Smith contributed an even dozen points.

Richards 53 - Tinley Park 36

The Bulldogs put the bite on the Titans with a 53-36 nonconference romping in Tinley Park.

Bulldog Demarious Collins netted a game-high 16 points plus teammate Brian Dyson put through 11.

Thornton 74 - Bremen 56

Even though the Braves outscored the Wildcats 13-8 in the first quarter, they were unable to keep on the warpath as Thornton prevailed 74-56 during this nonconference game in Harvey.

Top scorer for the Braves was Clarence Hicks with 23.

Marist 74 - St. Rita 58

Redskin might took charge as they battled the Mustangs in Mt. Greenwood and won 74-58.

Hot hands for the Redskins belonged to sophomore Dave Cahill with 22 points and 15 rebounds and Bill Ruff poured in 15.

For the Mustangs, the sharpshooter was Charles Smith with 22.

Romeoville 70 - Andrew 54

Romeoville won in SICA West over Andrew.

High net man for the T-Bolts was Mike O'Neil with 20.

In another nonconference game, Brother Rice's Crusaders just got past Hinsdale South 71-68 in Hinsdale.

Friday Games

Reavis 30 - Oak Lawn 29

The ball fell through the net at the right time for the Rams as they edged the Spartans 30-29 during SICA North action in Burbank.

Top gunner for the Rams was Tony Maciaga with 10 points.

On the Spartan side, Rick Arnold put in 10.

Shepard 62 - Argo 38

The Astros continued their winning ways in SICA North with a 62-38 trouncing over the Argonauts.

Pacing the Astros were Tyrine Wilson and his 14 points followed by 11 from Ontario Pryor.

For the Argonauts, Jasper Mallory netted 10.

Richards 57 - Sandburg 49

This battle raged for three quarters, but in the fourth, Bulldog might prevailed to take this SICA North win over the Eagles 57-49.

The Bulldogs ignited for a 18-10 scoring spurt over the Eagles in the last eight minutes. Taking it to the hoop for Richards were Doug Kirar with 15 points, 14 for Patrick Williams, 13 for Demarious Collins, and Brian Dyson scored 11.

On the Eagle side of the scoreboard, Casey Peters netted 15 points and Jim Tomczak put in 13.

Oak Forest 51 - Tinley Park 35

Bengal power on the floor got the better of the Titans.

Hitting the twine for high points on the Bengal side were Mike MacFarlane with 18 plus 11 from Chris Carlson.

Bremen 62 - T.F. North 56 (OT)

It took an overtime period to get it done, but the Braves pulled out a 62-56 SICA Central victory in Midlothian.

Pacing the Braves in the scoring department were Joe Meyers with 15, Trumane Hampton added 17, and putting in 10 was Carlton DeBose.

Bollingbrook 67 - Andrew 61

The Thunderbolts started out like lightning but fizzled in this SICA West match-up against the Raiders and lost 67-61 in Tinley Park.

Leading the way for the T-Bolts was Steve DeHaan with 16 points.

De Sales 75 - St. Laurence 70

Unfortunately, close only counts in the game of horseshoes and not basketball as the Vikings lost by a slim margin 75-70 to De Sales in the Catholic League South in Burbank.

Pouring it through the hoop for the Vikes were Jason Orkowski and his 26-point total, 16 for Matt Daley and 10 for Keith Webster.

St. Rita 61 - Fenwick 49

The Mustangs got their horsepower in gear after being down by nine at halftime and put a victory on the scorebook over Fenwick in Catholic League North play.

Helping to ice this win were Mustangs Marques Buford with 16 points, Charles Smith and Ken Harvey each had 13, and John Sanders totaled 11.

Brother Rice 72 - Gordon Tech 67

The Crusaders won this close contest 72-67 at Gordon Tech in Catholic League action.

Sharp shooting by Crusaders Britt Booker, 19 points, Theo Hutcherson, 16, Shaun Jacob, 15, and Jim Sexton's 10 gave them the edge over the Rams.

Benet Academy 48 - Marist 44

Try as they might, the Redskins couldn't pull this one out against Benet Academy as they went down to defeat 48-44 in East Suburban Catholic Conference play at Benet Academy.

The Redskins got firepower from Ed Saidat with 18 points plus Dan Michalak's even dozen, but it wasn't enough.

OUTDOORS

By Jim Kirby

GOOD MORNING VIETNAM! As we sail up the Saigon River aboard the cruise ship Golden Odyssey (only the second cruise ship to make SAIGON a port of call) I can't help being impressed with the amount of activity on this river. Ships of all sizes and flying flags from around the world are at anchor and I'm told the same is true of the Mekong River a few miles to the west.

This 14-day cruise of the SOUTH CHINA SEAS has taken us to seven countries: Hong Kong, Canton China; Saigon (renamed Ho Chi Minh City) Vietnam; Kota Kiwabalu, Malaysia; Brunei; Kuantan, Malaysia and Singapore. We had a knowledgeable English-speaking local tour guide at each port of call. In addition to the usual history, cultural and points of interest, I engaged every English-speaking local I met in conversation relating to hunting, fishing, and gun control in their country. They understood that I am an outdoor writer doing newspaper columns, magazine articles and seminars related to outdoor activities.

The main diet throughout the area consists of rice and fish, and it's easy to see why - rice paddies are everywhere and the populated areas are located on the South China Sea and river systems. With the exception of Singapore, sport fishing as we know it is unheard of. Thousands of small fishing boats can be seen tending the nets.

Children throughout the world seem to enjoy fishing with pole, line and bobber, each time we crossed had a contingent of kids fishing from the banks of the river. I visited two so-called sporting good stores. The one in Saigon had only the basics - line, hooks, and sinkers, no rods or reels. The store in Singapore displayed the very latest in rods, reels, lures, quality lines and electronic fish locators for fresh and saltwater fishing.

I found Vietnam to be of particular interest to me. I had to see what was worth over 56,000 American lives in a senseless war that I personally believe could have been won in 90 days if it wasn't for Washington politicians and the likes of "Hanoi Jane." We had the manpower and technology to get the job done, but the military had their hands tied with Hanoi and other prime targets that could have brought the war to a quick and decisive end, placed off limits to aerial bombing.

The Vietnamese I talked to put it very simply - "We had a war, we won, you lost, let's go on from there." The people in Vietnam were very warm and friendly and expressed an interest in normalizing relations with the U.S.A. I saw no signs of a military regime.

As I stood at the Presidential Palace/former U.S. Embassy gates, I couldn't help but reflect on what was a low point in U.S. history - our hasty withdrawal of personnel by helicopters and the hundreds of stranded Vietnamese who were loyal friends and employees begging to be taken out because they would be severely punished for their affiliation with our country.

We hired the Vietnamese version of rickshaws called "sicos" to take us shopping. Every shop we visited had hundreds of "Zippo Lighters" engraved with U.S. servicemen's names and branch of service, a grizzly reminder of the war. I would like to know how many of those lighters came off the bodies of our fallen heroes and how many were traded by our boys for favors or goods.

I complimented my driver on his excellent command of the English language. He told me his father was an American G.I. and taught him to speak English. His father never left Vietnam, he stayed on, married the boy's mother and became a Vietnamese citizen. I wonder how many American MIA fall in that category.

Our guide in Canton, China told us that each family was limited to one child and exceeding the limit could result in losing your apartment, job or worse. She heard a rumor that in the U.S.A., a mother on welfare received more money for each additional child she had and wondered if such a thing could be possible. She was shocked to hear it was true.

■The 1991 National Survey of Hunting, Fishing, and Wildlife Associated Recreation by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service revealed that 76 million Americans enjoyed non-consumptive wildlife activities like bird watching and bird feeding that year. The Southern Illinois Audubon Society bird seed sale this past September indicates that Illinoisans are joining in the trend. The Carbondale group sold four and a quarter tons of bird seed in one day.

■The Bobcat (Lynx rufus) is one of three mammals listed as threatened on the Illinois Endangered Species List.

Baseball Camp

Kids and adults can learn how to play ball better this spring through fielding, pitching, hitting and catching camps sponsored by the South Suburban College athletic department. The camps are designed to help children improve their skills through a variety of station drills as well as provide adults with effective teaching methods applicable to the sport.

The times and dates for the camps, to be held in the college's fitness and athletic center, are: pitching from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Feb. 12th or 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Feb. 13th; hitting from 1 to 4 p.m. on Feb. 13th; 12 noon to 4 p.m. on Feb. 14th; or 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Feb. 21st; fielding from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Feb. 19th or 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Feb. 20th; catching from 1 to 4 p.m. on Feb. 20th; advanced hitting from 3 to 6 p.m. on Feb. 21st.

The cost is $25 per camp for one adult and child and $10 for each additional child. To register or for more information, call (708) 596-2000, ext. 413 or 334.

Inadequate School Fire Safety

Over 70 percent of schools in the United States fail to provide adequate fire safety for students, according to a special report conducted by the National Fire Protection Association. The report cites widespread use of flammable construction materials, outdated building designs, and the absence of automatic fire suppression equipment in schools across the country. Moreover, the association reports an average of 8,200 school fires per year occurring in the United States, resulting in 186 injuries, four deaths, and direct property loss of $99.9 million annually. The NFPA report is based on data for the years 1986 through 1991.

Far greater security measures are taken to protect schools against theft, vandalism or unauthorized entry than in detection and suppression of fire, the report stated.

Members of the fire safety industry were distressed with the report's findings. "Our schools are being constructed with less concern for fire safety than roadside motels," said Tom Kruse, president of the Northern Illinois Chapter of the National Fire Sprinkler Association, a trade group. "Most of the schools in Illinois are major fires waiting to happen."

Kruse noted even the largest of Illinois' schools were constructed with dangerous masonry exterior walls, wood interior partitions, and wood floor and roof assemblies. The 'honeycomb' building design, popular in public and private schools since the 1930s, allows fire to spread easily from one area to another. Automatic fire sprinklers, installed in less than 30 percent of America's schools, are typically only partial systems protecting limited areas of the schools.

Although Illinois recently did pass into law fire sprinkler legislation targeting new school construction, there are no current requirements for older schools to be retrofitted with sprinklers for increased fire protection. Many fire departments and private fire safety specialists agree that school fire loss could be dramatically reduced by retrofitting existing school occupancies with sprinklers. Yet most believe it will take another tragedy, such as Chicago's Our Lady of Angels School fire which killed 96 children in 1958, to enact government legislation.

The Northern Illinois Chapter of the National Fire Sprinkler Association is dedicated to educating and informing the Chicago-area public of the vital role sprinkler systems play in the protection of life and property against fire. The association is devoted as well to the support and encouragement of responsible workmanship through member firms, which comprise more than 80 sprinkler contractors, installers and manufacturers in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Elect President For MWRD Board

Thomas S. Fuller was elected President of the Board of Commissioners of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago during its annual meeting.

Fuller is the first African American to serve as President of the Board of Commissioners. Elected to the office of Vice President and Chairman of Finance were Frank E. Gardner and Nancy Drew Sheehan, respectively.

Fuller, first elected as commissioner in 1978, was formerly an Assistant to the Sheriff of Cook County. In his term as commissioner, he has pushed for the inclusion of minorities and women in all District construction contracts. As the former Affirmative Action Officer for the State of Illinois he wrote the State of Illinois Affirmative Action Plan. On a local level, he wrote the Chicago Plan. Both documents address fairness in employment for minorities and women.

Fuller holds a Bachelor's Degree in psychology and a Master's Degree in Public Administration and is a certified social worker. He was also awarded an Adjunct Professorship at Chicago State University.

Gardner, an attorney and a former District employee, was selected vice president of the board. He is a cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Illinois and has 11 years of experience as a District staff attorney.

Gardner, married and the father of two children, also serves as a director of the New Horizon Center for Retarded Children and President of the 41st Ward Regular Democratic Organization.

Sheehan, an attorney, has been a member of the Board of Commissioners since November 1986. She was the first woman vice president of the Board of Commissioners from 1989 to 1992 and was the first woman to be elected President of the Illinois Association of Wastewater Agencies in 1990. She holds a Bachelor's Degree from St. Mary's College of Notre Dame, a Master's Degree in Education from Northeastern Illinois University and a Juris Doctorate from John Marshall Law School.

Celebrate Pulaski Day

The State of Illinois will officially celebrate Pulaski Day with a ceremony to be held on Monday, March 1st at 1 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Polish Museum of America, 984 N. Milwaukee Ave.

Prominent state and city officials have been invited to speak, as well as representatives of Polish American organizations. A short program and speeches will be given in General Pulaski's honor. This will be followed by a wreath-laying ceremony at the wall-size oil painting by Stanislaw Batowski (1866-1946) which depicts General Casimir Pulaski on horseback in the Battle of Savannah, where he was mortally wounded while fighting for American freedom.

The guest of honor will be Commander Thomas Kuroski of the Chicago Police Department's 13th District.

Edward G. Dykja, chairman of the board of the Polish Museum of America and president of the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America, cordially invites the public to attend this annual ceremony in honor of Poland's American hero.

On Board

Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Richard M. Farrell to its board of directors. Dr. Farrell has been a member of the hospital's department of medicine since August of 1985. As a board member, Dr. Farrell will take part in formulating the direction the hospital will take as it continues to move forward into the '90s.

RICHARD M. FARRELL

"My goal in serving on the board will be to ensure that the hospital continues to provide quality health care to our community," Dr. Farrell said. "In today's volatile health care environment, it's important that physicians be involved in the hospital's decision making process. I hope to help Little Company remain at the forefront of medical care on the Southwest Side by ensuring that the hospital keeps pace with the newest medical advancements, while retaining its tradition of providing personalized, compassionate care."

Dr. Farrell is a native of Evergreen Park and brings with him a heritage of providing medical care at Little Company. His father, the late William Farrell, M.D., served as medical director of the hospital, and his two brothers, orthopedic surgeon William J. Farrell, M.D., and otorhinolaryngologist Brian Farrell, M.D., are also members of LCM's professional staff.

Dr. Farrell is board certified in internal medicine. He is a graduate of John Carroll University, Cleveland, OH, received his medical degree from Loyola's Stritch School of Medicine, and performed his residency in internal medicine at Mercy Hospital, Chicago. Dr. Farrell and his wife Colleen live in the Southwest suburbs and have recently become new parents with the addition of Shannon Marie.

Viking Spirit Award

The Fathers' Club of St. Laurence High School has created a "Viking Spirit Award," to acknowledge those students who "go the extra mile" toward their personal development in academics, athletics and citizenship as seen through the eyes of peers, teachers, coaches and parents. The nomination process for students has begun for the award's first presentation in the spring, according to Brother Thomas Mahoney, assistant athletic director at St. Laurence.

"It's a nice idea and it's a chance for some of our students to get recognized for their efforts on behalf of the school," he said. "Many students will be nominated since teacher's and coaches can nominate anyone at anytime. It will be quite interesting later on when we have to get down to a workable list of qualified students. But, so far the kids are excited about it, and it has been a worthwhile venture."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

Sen. Paul Simon (D-IL), who consistently votes against the rights of law-abiding citizens to own firearms, should have contacted the NRA regarding its positions before he incorrectly stated them in one of his most recent columns, "Taxpayers Win Round One In Fight Over Guns for Felons' Program."

The NRA does not believe that it is unconstitutional to prohibit felons from owning firearms. In fact, we have consistently supported legislation to prohibit violent criminals from possessing firearms.

The 1986 reforms to the 1968 Gun Control Act, the subject of Sen. Simon's column, simply removed the essentially arbitrarily set limits imposed on which felons could apply to the government for reinstatement of those rights. The 1986 reforms also allowed persons prohibited from gun ownership for reasons other than criminal conviction to apply for relief from disabilities since the federal courts have decided that, as a matter of constitutional principle, prohibited persons have the right to petition to have their rights reinstated. The rigid standards for granting reinstatement remained unchanged. As it is costly to run a program investigating the background of felons to determine whether they will misuse firearms, the NRA supports legislation to make applicants for restoration of their rights pay for the costs of the investigation. The reforms also allowed state law on restoration of rights to prevail, so if all of the person's rights were restored by the states, gun rights were too, unless the state decided otherwise. Ironically, the United States is one of the few countries in the world automatically and permanently to prohibit firearms ownership to anyone convicted of felonies; in most other countries, the prohibition is imposed on the individual based on his character and crime and/or lasts only five or 10 years.

So far, the federal program works well. Although there have been allegations of rearrests of a minuscule percentage of those whose rights have been restored, there is no record of anyone being convicted of using a gun to commit a violent crime. Most of those persons whose rights have been restored were not convicted of violent crimes to begin with, let alone gun-related violence. Furthermore, arrests after restoration of rights have been unrelated to violence and certain unrelated to the restoration of gun rights.

Sen. Simon then tries to portray the NRA as an organization which works on behalf of the firearms industry. In fact, nothing could be further from the truth. The only monies received by the NRA from gun manufacturers is through advertising, placed in the two NRA publications, "The American Rifleman" and "The American Hunter," which each have a circulation of close to 1.5 million. Rates are set accordingly. And that income was far less than $7.4 million in 1990. (That figure is NRA's total advertising revenues for the "American Rifleman" and the "American Hunter.") Obviously this income is for advertising services received.

Logically, gun manufacturers want to appeal to the NRA audience because of their special interests in firearms. In turn, readers of our magazines want to be kept informed of any new products on the market. Notably, the 'big four' manufacturers are becoming less concerned with their civilian domestic market, since they have lucrative government contracts, foreign markets and subsidiary businesses other than guns, making more money than their firearms sales here at home.

The firearms industry is well-financed and has two organizations representing their interests. The consumers, on the other hand, have only the NRA to protect their rights. If the consumer interest conflicts with the manufacturer interest, there is absolutely no question where the NRA will go — with the consumer every time.

Sen. Simon should spend more time supporting legislation which (unlike the Brady Bill) is designed to get criminals off the street without infringing upon the rights of law-abiding gun owners, and less time criticizing the NRA and its positions based upon erroneous assumptions. If he would grant his constituents this service, not only would America's gun owners be better off, but all citizens would benefit as well.

Sincerely,
David W. Gibbons

HOLIDAZE...February has the fewest days of any month in the calendar year but it leads the list with special holidays. Few of us realize that Feb. 2 was originally celebrated as Candlemas Day, a Christian feast day commemorating the purification of the Virgin Mary and the presentation of the infant Jesus in the temple. However, the modern-day celebration of Feb. 2 has been dedicated to Punxsutawney Phil, the groundhog who emerges from his burrow to check out his shadow to see if we are going to have six more weeks of winter. This past Groundhog Day, Punxsutawney Phil did indeed see his shadow so we are in for six more weeks of winter. This Friday we celebrate the 184th birthday of Abe Lincoln. And on Sunday we celebrate St. Valentine's Day. The origin of St. Valentine's Day is a little vague, but most historians credit Geoffrey Chaucer, the medieval English poet and literary figure, who wrote "Parlement of Foules" around 1380 and referred to "Seynt Valentynes day/When every foul cometh there to chese [choose] his make[mate]." Monday, Feb. 15, is President's Day. Feb. 22 is the 201st anniversary of George Washington's birth. And Feb. 24 marks Ash Wednesday, the seventh Wednesday before Easter and the first day of Lent, on which many Christians receive a mark of ashes on the forehead as a token of penitence and mortality. The day this columnist better remember is Feb. 15, not just President's Day, but our 35th wedding anniversary, or my bride Lola Fisher-Corcoran (you can see who is President in our house) will send this word processor groundhog back into his burrow with more than a few ashes on his forehead.

DIANE LADD (inset) joins Ellen Burstyn and Olympia Dukakis in the movie, "The Cemetery Club," the story of three life-long friends who suddenly find themselves as middle-aged widows, and they discover the transition from mating to dating is a tricky proposition at best. The flick opens tomorrow at theatres all over the Chicago area....Speaking of Groundhog Day as we were earlier, the movie "Groundhog Day," starring Bill Murray and Andie MacDowell, will also open this Friday. Murray plays a TV weatherman who is sent to cover the annual Groundhog Day festival in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania and finds himself stuck in time, endlessly repeating the day over and over again....Michelle Pfeiffer and Dennis Haysbert star in "Love Field," the story of a woman who has joined the throng at Love Field Airport in 1963 when Jacqueline and President John F. Kennedy arrive for the fatal motorcade through the streets of Dallas. Pfeiffer feels she has no choice but to go to the President's funeral in Washington and her bus trip is filled with odyssey, an alliance of fugitives, and the discovery of herself. The movie also opens tomorrow.

BENJ THALL (inset) bids a tearful goodbye to his golden retriever "Shadow" in the Walt Disney movie "Homeward Bound: The Incredible Journey," which opens this Friday at movie theaters all over the Chicago area. The movie is about three domesticated pets—two dogs and a cat—separated from their human family and how they embark on an extraordinary journey through untamed wilderness to find their way home....Sophocles' passionate, vengeful "Electra" is set to open on March 4 at the Court Theatre at the University of Chicago....Hollis Resnik, winner of this year's Sarah Siddons Society Award as "Chicago's Leading Lady," will perform in a one-night-only benefit this Sunday at the Apple Tree Theatre Company in Highland Park. Resnik will be joined by Ross Lehman and she will perform highlights from her musical triumph "Plaf."

LISA JAKUB (inset) plays a rebellious, free-spirited teenager, in the movie, "Matinee," starring John Goodman, which is now drawing big crowds at movie houses all over the Chicago area....Car-crazy Los Angeles has spent $329 million a mile for 4.4 miles of a new subway. In southern California, 91 percent of the people drive to work; 77 percent of them alone. The $5.3 billion Red Line will eventually cover a stretch from downtown LA to North Hollywood, a distance of 22 miles, by the year 2001. One commuter, who drives to and from work, was asked if she would use the new system. Her answer, "I wouldn't even know how to get on a subway." Sitting in traffic on the freeways for hour-after-hour is a way-of-life for most Los Angelesers.

Impact Study

A proposed third airport for the Chicago area has become a major issue in the state, with debate raging on its location and the number of jobs it would create. But a University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service public finance specialists warns that some figures bandied about are grossly inflated.

"One study about the proposed economic impact of a third airport claims there will be 20,000 new jobs created in the metropolitan area," said John B. Crieftfield, who recently prepared a study related to the airport issue with graduate assistant Harrison S. Campbell, Jr.

"Such estimates fail to take into account the jobs that would be taken away from O'Hare and Midway airports by a third facility. In fact, the number of new jobs at the airport and elsewhere in the metropolitan area would be closer to 10,000."

Crieftfield bases his projection on a strict use of 'multipliers,' a factor often used by consultants hired by proponents of development projects that project the economic impact of a given proposal. The study dealt with the use of multipliers in economic development project projections.

"There are many ways to calculate multipliers," he noted, adding that on some occasions backers of a particular plan will take the highest figure possible, without figuring in other factors that might reduce the projected jobs created.

"The true net impact of a third airport in the Chicago area, whether it was located in the city or a rural site, is the difference in total metropolitan-area jobs with and without the new airport. Considering the potential loss of jobs either directly or indirectly related to the other airports puts a range of 9,000 to 15,000 on possible new metropolitan-area jobs created by the airport."

Just because some studies supporting various airport sites have failed to take potential lost jobs into account does not mean a new airport is a bad idea, Crieftfield emphasized. "The important question is whether the benefits from better air transport facilities exceed the cost of the new investment. This is the question federal, state and local authorities should address as they consider the various plans."

'Simple Mortgage'

Kenneth J. Ozinga, chairman of the board and president of First National Bank of Evergreen Park, has announced that the bank is now offering a new mortgage product that takes a forward step in making home buying more affordable. Backed by over 40 years of commitment to the community, Evergreen Bank is introducing the 'Evergreen Simple Mortgage Plan,' which features a 10 percent down payment and no points. This alternative mortgage loan is offered to prospective home buyers whose gross annual income is $53,900 or less and are looking for a home whose purchase price is $144,500 or under.

The product offers low closing costs as well as an introductory rate of 8.49 A.P.R. through March 31st. The low down payment and no-points feature minimizes the home buyer's initial expenditures. The 30-year repayment term reduces the monthly mortgage

The fee, which includes lunch, is $25 for Moraine Valley students; $35 for community residents. For more information, call (708) 974-5393 or (708) 974-5477.

Edgar Calls For Tax Caps

Gov. Jim Edgar recently renewed his call for statewide property tax caps and proposed major initiatives in the areas of education and job training to assure Illinois workers and their companies prosper well into the 21st century.

"Illinois is on the rebound and moving ahead. More of our people are working, more of our people are prospering," Edgar said in his State of the State address to a joint session of the General Assembly.

The state's unemployment rate has dropped significantly and stands below the national average and third lowest among the 11 largest states.

"One of the major thrusts of my administration has been to help small and medium-sized Illinois businesses grow and stay in Illinois. And I am pleased to say our efforts have produced results in every corner of Illinois. However, we must be inspired and propelled by these achievements instead of resting on them. There is much more we can do."

"Our conditions are improved, our revenues are growing and coming in on target. But our revenues are not growing as fast as some of the programs that were enacted in the last decade, which will require us once again to make tough fiscal decisions," the governor told lawmakers. "So we must continue to review existing programs and dare to change, to innovate."

The governor concluded, "Our challenges are great, but our resolve must be even greater. Our responsibility is serious, but the consequences of shirking our responsibility is even more serious. We have a solemn obligation to leave this state an even better place with even greater opportunities for our children and our grandchildren."

Child Safety Awareness Week

The Forest Preserve District of Cook County's Little Red School House Nature Center, west side of Willow Springs Rd., one-half mile south of 95th St., will distribute flyers informing parents of the proper way to use a child car seat during the "Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week," Feb. 8th to 14th.

"This is the first time Cook County Forest Preserve District nature centers are participating in this important effort," County Board President Richard Phelan said. "With the large number of families visiting the nature centers, it is a wonderful opportunity to inform parents of the importance of child car safety."

Research shows that when used properly, child protection devices are 71 percent effective in reducing fatalities and 67 percent effective in preventing serious injuries.

"I want to encourage parents not just to use car seats, but to use these devices correctly," Phelan said. "I urge parents to take time to review the information we have available. Accidents don't discriminate."

The Illinois Child Passenger Protection Act requires children under the age of four years to be buckled in an approved child safety seat. The forest preserve district police will also be on the lookout for drivers on forest preserve property who are in violation of this law.

"Parents have a responsibility to their young children to protect their safety," Phelan said. "It only takes a second to strap your child into a car seat and it could save his or her life."

Forest preserve police also say parents should carefully read instructions that come with the safety seat before installing it in the car; the safest place for a child is the rear seat of a car; air bags do not take the place of a child safety seat or seatbelts; and only use a safety seat that has met federal safety standards.

Com Ed Asks Stay Of Appeal

Commonwealth Edison will ask the Illinois Supreme Court to accept a direct appeal and issue a stay of Jan. 6th's ruling by the Illinois Commerce Commission. Edison Chairman James J. O'Connor said the order, which reduces Edison's annual revenues by approximately $331 million, totally ignores the effect of the decision on the company's ability to serve its 3.2 million customers.

"Our highest priority is providing quality electric service to the families and businesses of northern Illinois," O'Connor declared. "Today's order denies us the resources we need to invest in the electrical infrastructure on which our customers depend."

"In making its decision," O'Connor declared, "the Commission had been directed by the Illinois Supreme Court to consider how service to customers would be affected by any rate order. The Commission failed to meet this critical mandate. Therefore, we will move quickly to make sure the Court directs the Commission to consider the impact of its decision on our customers and our ability to improve service and provide support for new businesses and jobs."

In the past six months, Edison has launched the following initiatives to enhance operational efficiency and save costs:

- Reduced its annual operating budget by $153 million.
- Reduced the stock dividend by 47 percent.
- Eliminated 1,500 management and contractor positions.
- Renegotiated coal and transportation contracts to save customers $2 billion in costs.
- Reorganized operations to streamline personnel and improve service to customers.

Governor's State Of The State Message Reviewed

State Senator Patrick M. O'Malley (R-Palos Park) says Gov. Jim Edgar's call for statewide property tax caps, education reform, better job training programs and tort reform will keep the state's economy moving forward.

Edgar presented his proposals to a joint session of the General Assembly Jan. 27 during the annual State of the State message.

"The Governor gave an upbeat, but realistic assessment of the state's progress during the last year. The recession has eased its grip on the state's finances, and he deserves a lot of the credit. He noted our many accomplishments, but also indicated he will not be content for us to rest on our laurels," O'Malley said.

"With the state's revenue picture improving, we can funnel more money into education, while at the same time holding the line on taxes," the 18th District Senator said. "I applaud his commitment to downsizing state government, his vow to veto unfunded mandates for local governments, and his plans to present a budget in March that provides more funding for education."

The Governor has targeted a Senate Republican proposal for statewide property-tax caps to provide taxpayers some relief from double-digit property tax increases. The legislation will limit the increase in property-tax extensions to five percent, or the rate of inflation, whichever is less.

Edgar outlined education reforms such as a Student Apprenticeship System that combines classroom education and work-place training, geared to students who want an alternative to a four-year college degree program. He also noted his support for a proposal to streamline the administration of state universities by eliminating bureaucratic organizations such as the Board of Governors.

His other education proposals include an expansion of Project Success, which assures the availability of family and health services for disadvantaged children, and a Governor's Conference on Education and Parenting to develop strategies on increasing parental involvement in education.

Another Edgar Priority is reforming the tort system in the product liability and medical malpractice areas to help cut the cost of doing business and increase health-care accessibility.

In the continuing fight against crime, the Governor is pushing for legislation that would extend the death penalty to drug gang lords who are responsible for murder. He also proposed tougher penalties of a $1,000 fine or community service for first-time drug users. Another initiative would allow the Illinois National Guard to work with disadvantaged youths to temper gang influences.

Violence Grants

Governor Jim Edgar announced that 48 community agencies that provide services to domestic violence victims in Illinois will share in $535,784 in grants.

"The financial support for community agencies means that women and children will continue to receive vital services during difficult times," Edgar said. "The grants raise the total amount distributed by the Illinois Department of Public Aid to community agencies this fiscal year to $8.8 million."

The programs operated by community agencies provide shelter, counseling and advocacy for victims of domestic violence and their children. This year local agencies will help 36,000 persons.

The Department of Public Aid and a coalition of domestic violence service providers determined the recipients and the amount of the grants, which come from federal funds. Decisions were based on proposals submitted by the agencies with priority given to programs that have a demonstrated need and a history of success.

Local federal domestic violence prevention grants are as follows: South Suburban Family Shelter, Inc., Hazelcrest, $11,780; Crisis Center For South Suburbia, Tinley Park, $11,780; Rainbow House/Arco Iris, Chicago, $11,780; Chicago Abused Women Coalition, Chicago, $11,780; Family Rescue, Chicago, $11,780; Neopolitan Lighthouse, Chicago, $11,780; and Des Plaines Valley Community Ctr., Summit, $11,780.

Plan New Stadium

A new $400,000 stadium will be in the works for Oak Lawn Community High School, 9400 Southwest Highway, beginning this summer. It replaces the original structure, built 40 years ago. The existing stadium has been deemed structurally unsound, with cracks in the cement stairs that pose a danger to the public.

The project is being funded through a $3 million bond sale approved by the school board last spring. The stadium will be completed for the start of football season in the fall.

Honoree

Gina Lassandrello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lassandrello of Hometown, is among those students named to the President's List at North Central College for academic excellence during the fall term.

Kathy Vogrich (center), Blas Olivares (right) chairpersons for the CITIZEN'S COALITION FOR INTEGRITY PARTY with Mayor Ernie Kolb invite everyone to the grand opening of the campaign headquarters, 5205 W. 95th St., Sunday, Feb. 21st from 2 to 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Deputy registrars will be present to register anyone who isn't registered to vote.

CCIP Headquarters Grand Opening On Sunday

A grand opening of the CITIZEN'S COALITION FOR INTEGRITY PARTY Headquarters, 5205 W. 95th St., is set for Sunday, Feb. 21st, 2 to 5 p.m., marking the beginning of the April 20th elections for Oak Lawn Mayor Ernie Kolb, Village Clerk Jayne Powers, Veteran Trustee Ron Stancik, and Trustee hopefuls Bill Keane (District 6) and Mike Walsh (District 4).

The CCI Party, poised for victory on April 20th, hopes to restore INTEGRITY and DIGNITY to Oak Lawn, wiping away the "patronage politics" inflicted by opponents throughout the year, says Blas Olivares.

At the grand opening, Oak Lawn residents will have an opportunity to meet the Coalition Candidates and voice their concerns about the Village. "This [Grand Opening] will be a time for the Village to unite," said Kolb. "There is too much at stake in our Village to succumb to the selfish few who constantly make a mockery of our democratic form of government," he added.

Refreshments, including libations and snacks, will be served throughout the afternoon for Oak Lawn residents. Residents who are not registered to vote may do so at the grand opening as deputy registrars will be available for their convenience. Residents interested in volunteering with the CCI Party to bring back INTEGRITY and DIGNITY to Oak Lawn, stop by the new headquarters, 5205 W. 95th St., or phone (708) 423-7767.

Tear Gas Incident

A 14-year-old Midlothian boy, a student at Central Park School, discharged a tear gas canister in a classroom late Monday morning. Eleven students of the 17 in the class were taken to area hospitals where they were treated and released. Six other students and two teachers were checked at the school by paramedics. Complaints ranged from "an unpleasant odor" to "irritated throats and watering eyes."

The boy was showing off the canister and released the spray on a desk resulting in the incident in which no one was seriously injured, according to police.

The boy, released to his parents' custody, told authorities he had purchased the canister from a local store. On Tuesday, the boy was charged with juvenile criminal charges for unlawful use of a weapon and reckless conduct. As state law prohibits sale of tear gas to anyone under 18, police plan to investigate the possibility area retailers are violating the law.

Robbins Board Gives Incinerator Site Approval

The Village of Robbins has granted local site approval to a proposed $300 million recycling and trash-to-energy facility, a plant that will help to revitalize the southern Cook County community and solve the region's garbage disposal problems. Last week, the board voted unanimously to approve the request by Reading Energy Co. of Philadelphia and Foster Wheeler Power Systems, Inc. of Clinton, N.J. to build a modern trash-to-energy plant.

The vote marks the second time the village has approved siting of the facility. The 1988 approval was struck down by a Cook County judge last year on a procedural technicality, in which it was alleged some owners of property near the site did not receive prior written notice of a public hearing. Approval was based in part on testimony presented to the board at a special hearing on Dec. 22nd and by public comments received in writing since that time.

"We applaud the village board for once again standing up and being counted on this important public policy issue," said Dr. Thomas Cassel, president of Reading Energy. "Municipal policymakers have to deal with reality, not theory. While this country must aggressively pursue recycling and source reduction, it is unrealistic to suggest that those measures alone can solve the garbage crisis. Modern trash-to-energy technology has to be a part of the solution."

State and federal environmental permits have been on hold pending the decision on the siting. Emissions standards set for the Robbins project by the Illinois EPA in 1990 remain more stringent than those established since then by the federal government, Cassel noted.

More than 140 trash-to-energy facilities are safely operating in the United States, including in major Midwest cities such as Minneapolis and Indianapolis. Cassel also cited experience in other countries, especially those where landfill space is at a premium, that have safely and successfully used trash-to-energy technology for years.

In the environmentally conscious country of Sweden, for example, more than 50 percent of household trash is disposed of in modern, trash-to-energy plants such as the one proposed for Robbins. Even greater percentages are realized in Switzerland, Denmark and Japan.

"These plants are modern, highly-regulated and clean facilities with advanced pollution control equipment to protect air quality. They bear no resemblance to old-fashioned, smoke-belching garbage incinerators of the past, most of which have been shut down," Cassel said. "This project made sense when we first proposed it, and with additional landfills reaching capacity or closing, it makes even more sense now. The plant will provide trash disposal costs lower than those projected for landfills by the time it opens. Equally important, it will mean stability and predictability in planning and budgeting for municipalities for years to come."

The Robbins facility will work hand in hand with community recycling programs by including millions of dollars in modern equipment that will recover recyclable materials from the trash before it is burned.

"In this way, the plant will increase recycling by catching recyclables that are missed in community recycling programs," Cassel said.

He cited a survey showing a majority of communities with trash-to-energy plants have recycling rates significantly higher than the national average. Cassel also pointed out the economic impact the project would have, not only in providing construction and operational jobs for years to come, but also in revitalizing one of the Chicago area's poorest communities by attracting additional development to the village.

The project is expected to create an estimated 600 jobs during a two-year construction period, more than 80 full-time permanent jobs on-site and many more jobs indirectly.

Low Income Mortgage Loan Program

Moderate and low-income families in Cook County will be able to buy a home with lower initial costs and, armed with the knowledge necessary to navigate the complicated home-buying process. It's all thanks to a new partnership between the Illinois Treasurer's office, Southwest Federal Savings, the Federal Home Loan Bank and area realtors. Treasurer Patrick Quinn and Richard E. Webber, president of Southwest Federal Savings, announced the program, explaining it is supported by a $3 million state deposit. State funds will earn interest for taxpayers and not be at risk, while providing Southwest Federal the liquidity needed to make mortgage loans. Loans will be offered at market rates, which are hovering near their lowest point in 20 years. To complement those low rates, these mortgages will require only a 10 percent down payment. For low-income families, the loans will be at below-market rates and will carry no points at closing.

"Increased home ownership means stable communities and a growing tax base," Quinn said. "But we have to be creative in developing mortgage terms that meet the needs of today's families. That's what this partnership has done, targeting moderate and low-income families who might otherwise not have been able to afford their own home."

Another partner in this program is the Federal Home Loan Bank which is providing a letter of credit to allow Southwest Federal to collateralize the state's deposit. This is the first time the home loan bank has participated in this type of program with the treasurer's office.

Quinn praised the seminars being offered for first-time home buyers by Southwest Federal. These seminars include presentations by area lenders and realtors and are designed to take the mystery and confusion out of the real estate market.

"Southwest Federal has demonstrated the leadership necessary to bring together all of the elements of this process for the benefit of local families," Quinn said. "These classes demonstrate a commitment to the community and to the goal of increasing home ownership as a foundation for a stronger economy."

CPA Computer Show In Rosemont

The Illinois CPA Society/Foundation is sponsoring its annual 1993 Midwest Computer Show from May 19th to 21st at the O'Hare Exposition Center in Rosemont. The show, which will host companies such as Lotus, Digital Equipment, Microsoft and Apple Computer, Inc., expects 125 exhibitors and 7,000 attendees.

Keeping with its mission to offer the Midwest business community the latest in technology, the show is focusing on areas such as manufacturing and healthcare, industries of crucial importance in today's economy. The show will explain to professionals how to manage their companies better through the use of technology, as well as demonstrating the newest developments in applying technology. It will also provide a better understanding and usage of networking.

The education offered is solution-based, whether it be for the day-to-day computer user or the high-level company executive.

Featured in this year's show will be the Institute of Competitive Manufacturing's Mobile Laboratory (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign).

The institute, which has completed 150 projects for more than 100 companies, provides workshops, seminars, information services and a mobile laboratory, tackling industrial problem-solving projects for Illinois businesses. The lab is specifically designed to serve and aid the large population of Illinois companies with small technical staffs and a lack of equipment to support engineering design and manufacturing activities aimed at improving competitive position.

The lab serves as a delivery "in the field" vehicle for bringing faculty, students and laboratories to the business site. University of Illinois senior students conduct the on-site workshops and seminars, bringing existing and emerging technologies to bear on product and process design and quality and productivity improvement problems. Businesses receive formal classroom instruction on-site reinforced by hands-on laboratory experiences provided through the lab facilities. The students gain valuable experience teaching new methods of management, engineering and supervisor personnel.

Show attendees can visit the lab on display outside the main entrance of the exposition center to see the latest in manufacturing technologies.

Fees for a three-day registration to the show floor and educational sessions will be $175 for Illinois CPA Society members; $205 for non-members. Persons can also register for individual sessions for $35 each or for a $100 one-day pass. Floor admittance is free if requested in advance or $25 on-site. To attend either the manufacturing conference or the networking conference, held in conjunction with the show, persons must pay a separate registration fee of $175.

To register for the computer show or the conferences, call the Illinois CPA Society at (312) 993-0393 or (800) 572-9850 (in Illinois only) and ask for the CPE department.

County Clerk's Office Responsibilities

Dear Friends,
"Office of the Cook County Clerk"

In December I received a mid-term report from David Orr, Cook County Clerk, which thoroughly reviews the office of the Cook County Clerk. I would like to share with you the highlights of this report which appropriately recognizes the vast responsibilities of this office.

The Cook County Clerk is empowered by the Illinois Constitution to act as Clerk of the Cook County Board and as an election authority for suburban Cook County, to issue licenses, extend taxes, keep vital statistics records and maintain a variety of other records.

"Elections"

All elections in suburban Cook County are administered by the Clerk's Office. This includes registering voters, setting precinct boundaries, securing polling places, selecting and training election judges, printing ballots, receiving election results, canvassing the results and announcing them.

Cook County registered a record number of residents, including 110,000 in the last five days of registration, for a total of 1.4 million registered voters. This was done through an extensive voter registration and education program. The process was cost-efficient and extremely productive.

"Tax Service"

The Clerk's Office maintains records of tax delinquent property, including records of all county tax sales. The office also receives tax levy ordinances from all local taxing bodies in the county and uses the state equalization factor to calculate tax rates for property in the county.

All tax and real estate functions were consolidated under one department and an attorney with real estate experience was hired as its first director. Also, a new information system has allowed the average time for a customer to receive a completed tax search order from two weeks to three days.

"Vital Statistics"

The Clerk's Office issues marriage licenses and certifies notaries public, registers non-corporate businesses operating under an assumed name and provides copies of birth, death and marriage records.

Suburban customers can now obtain valid same-day documents from suburban offices and avoid making a costly trip downtown. The service was also expanded to allow Cook County residents to get next-day delivery of vital records by ordering them over the phone.

"Clerk of the Board"

The Clerk of the Board prepares notices of county board meetings and agendas, acts as clerk at board meetings, prepares minutes for publication, and receives and processes contracts and bonds, leases, county invoices, resolutions and proclamations.

Publication of the journal of proceedings of the board of commissioners, after an eight year hiatus, gives county residents access to the debates and decisions of their representatives on the county board.

"Ethics"

The Clerk's Office receives and makes available statements of financial disclosure filed under the state's ethics and campaign finance laws and the county's lobbyist registration ordinance.

With the assistance of the Clerk's Office, the new county lobbyist registration law was drafted and 1992 was the best year ever for compliance with the Illinois Governmental Ethics Act.

I have maintained a fine working relationship with the Clerk's Office and it is a pleasure to recognize their many accomplishments. Productivity has been increased, more cost savings have been found, new revenue has been created and more and better service has been provided for all residents of Cook County. For more information on the Clerk's Office, please call (312) 443-5656.

"Forest Preserve News"

Relief is on the way for people who ache to golf 18 holes or hit a few buckets of golf balls during the winter. The Forest Preserve District of Cook County is now offering winter golf at two district golf courses and one driving range.

Indian Boundary, 8600 Forest Preserve District Drive, Chicago, and Burnham Woods Golf Course, 142nd Street and Burnham, Chicago, will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily when there is no snow cover. The fee will be $4 for golfers with a resident identification card and $6 for non-residents or residents without identification cards. Resident cards can be purchased from the district for $20 and are valid for one year.

The moon, stars and lanterns will guide cross-country skiers on spectacular trails during the Forest Preserve District of Cook County's Moonlight Nordic Ski outing on Feb. 6th, from 6 to 10 p.m., at Deer Grove Forest Preserve, Quentin Road (north of Dundee Road), Barrington.

Hot cider, cheese, bread and wine will be served along the trails. Bonfires will also be set up to warm skiers. Participants must provide their own skis. There is a $5 fee for the program and reservations are required. For reservations and further information, call (708) 771-1014 or (708) 771-1062. Special assistance and accommodations can be arranged.

Until next month, I am Sincerely, Robert P. Gooley, Cook County Commissioner.

'Teacher TV' On TLC

How do teachers reach students who are confronted daily with violent crime, teen pregnancy and AIDS? Can the arts be effectively integrated into such subjects as math and science? Are textbooks a thing of the past? "Teacher TV," the ground-breaking series produced for classroom teachers by The Learning Channel (TLC) and the National Education Association (NEA), explores these questions and many more when it launches its winter 1993 season. Thirteen new episodes profile innovative schools and educators from across the nation. The new season premiered on Sunday, Jan. 17th, with "Violence in the Schools--Solutions that Work." TLC now reaches more than 17 million homes across the nation.

Now that the long-awaited $30 billion economic stimulus program has been unveiled by President Clinton, better known as "it only hurts for a little while," I expect we are in for more "run it up the flag pole and see if it flies" town hall meetings.

After the last televised group encounter therapy session in Detroit, coupled with the "no pain, no gain" program announced by President Clinton last night, perhaps James Carville, the Clinton-Gore campaign guru brought back to the White House to stop the bleeding, would better serve the President if he were to refer to any future televised events as "triage hall meetings."

Two weeks ago President Clinton, following the advice of political maven Carville, inventor of the campaign slogan; "It's the economy, stupid," did an end run around the White House press corps and took his dog-and-poww show directly to the people via what was billed as a "town hall meeting."

But instead of being a "town hall meeting," the carefully scripted question-and-answer session, took on all the trappings of a "triage hall meeting," a process whereby injured people were sorted into groups based on their need for, or likely benefit from, immediate treatment or answers.

During the one-hour cable television show, President Clinton, a pro as a hands-on doctor with a bedside manner which would make "Dr. Welby" envious, fielded questions from 14 whiners and moaners who had submitted their personal gripes to a screening panel of White House and television producers before the "triage hall meeting."

The softball questions were carefully grouped around mostly personal health-care or finding-a-job problems which allowed Clinton to trot out all his old campaign rhetoric as the soothing balm for the crisis in each questioner's life.

Missing from the "triage hall meeting" was the adversarial White House Press Corps with their scope and knowledge on each subject and the always present "follow-up" question which more clearly articulates and expands the topic.

A case in point is when one young woman asked Clinton why he chose to bring up the gays in the military question in his first week on the job where the economy and jobs was the centerpiece of his campaign.

President Clinton looked the young lady right in the eye and said it was not his idea to bring up the gays in the military topic right out of the box, but he was forced into it by Republicans in Congress.

The truth of the matter is, he addressed the topic of lifting the ban on gays in the military throughout the campaign, again on Armistice Day, and during his first week in office he brought the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the White House to announce his plan to lift the ban.

But at the "triage hall meeting," Clinton's answer went unchallenged.

Asked if there was a possibility he would raise taxes on the middle-class and not just people who earn $200,000 a year or more as he had stated all throughout the campaign, Clinton again looked the person asking the question right in the eye and hedged by saying the figures he was given by the office of budget management after he took office were off by $50 billion dollars.

Again nobody at the "triage hall meeting" was allowed to challenge Clinton's answer or question him as to why every member of his party, Democratic Senators and Congressmen, were aware last August that the deficit figure was higher than anticipated, and he and his staff continued to ignore the report and campaign on the basis of raising taxes for only the wealthy.

During the presidential campaign, candidate Clinton said he would allow Haitian refugees to enter the United States, but when he took office he changed his mind.

A sincere person at the "triage hall meeting" wanted to know why he changed his mind and President Clinton disingenuously brushed off the question by saying he didn't want "Haitian people using wood from their roofs to build unsafe boats."

The obvious follow-up question would be to have asked President Clinton why he raised the hopes of all the Haiti refugees when he said during the campaign they would be allowed to enter our country. That's when Haiti people started building boats out of wood from their roofs.

Now Clinton and his economic advisors have announced their economic recovery and jobs program which is bound to cause a lot of anguish all across America.

But we have a suggestion we will offer Carville on how Clinton can pull off a public relations coup.

At the next "triage hall meeting," Clinton can sit in a chair dressed in a Santa Claus suit and instead of the whiners and moaners asking questions from the audience, they can sit on his lap, put their head on his shoulder, spill out their wishes, and "President Santa Claus" can say: "There, there--don't worry--have you been good?--you'll get your wish--someday."

And the beauty of this press agent's photo-op dream is nobody will know if it is President Clinton or really Santa Claus.

Housing Courts

Smaller communities wanting to cut the cost and time spent on enforcing building codes will have the option of establishing local housing courts, under legislation introduced by State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park).

Senate Bill 36 will allow the corporate authorities of a municipality of 20,000 or more residents to establish a housing court responsible for enforcing municipal housing codes and ordinances. Those cases that will be affected are currently heard in circuit court.

"This legislation is the result of discussions with city officials from Blue Island. That community is 150 years old and some of the older buildings are in need of repair. The process of enforcing building ordinances can be slow, however, because disputed cases are often referred to Cook County Circuit Court, where routine requests for continuances often delay the proceedings," O'Malley said. "This legislation will allow more local control in enforcing building codes and ordinances."

"Current law allows communities of more than 100,000 residents to establish a local housing court. Senate Bill 36 offers that option to smaller communities like Blue Island," O'Malley said. "A local housing court would act only on building code matters and should be more convenient and cost-efficient for the municipality, property owners and tenants."

The 18th District Senator said fees generated by building codes should be used to pay any costs associated with the housing court.

Speedier enforcement of housing and building codes could also help alleviate gang problems, according to Blue Island Mayor Donald Peloquin. "Run-down buildings are havens for gangs because they can get in and out of them easily," Peloquin said. "Large apartment complexes where gang members congregate can be dealt with in a manner that will benefit both the residents of the complex and the surrounding areas. A local housing court will make it possible to make these areas more safe and secure for senior citizens and other residents."

Senate Bill 36 is co-sponsored by State Sen. William Mahor (R-Orland Park) and State Sen. Robert Raica (R-24th, Chicago).

Gas Tax Opposed

Three of four Americans are opposed to a 25-cent per gallon increase in the gasoline tax, according to a random telephone survey released by AAA-Chicago Motor Club. More than 50 percent say they are 'strongly' opposed to an increase.

"These survey results should send a clear message to the gas tax proponents inside the Washington Beltway that Americans really care about this issue," says Darryl Wyland, AAA senior vice-president of public and government relations.

Another 72 percent of the people surveyed favor increasing the Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standard to 45 miles per gallon as opposed to increasing the gas tax by 50 cents per gallon. The current CAFE standard is 27.5 miles per gallon.

"Why should we keep raising the gas tax when $21 billion languishes in the federal highway trust fund, unspent for any useful purpose other than to make the deficit look better?" Wyland said.

AAA already has written to President Clinton applauding his public statements that the last thing the United States needs now is a gas tax increase which burdens the middle class of the economy.

"Trying to balance the budget at the gas pump would hurt the economy and it will incur the wrath of consumers," he said.

Tests For Lead

On Jan. 1st, 1993, a new state law was enacted that all children under six years of age who enter day care, preschool, or kindergarten must have a blood lead test.

Realizing that some residents may have financial problems complying with the mandate, the Cook County Department of Public Health (CCDPH) has coordinated efforts with the state to provide free testing to medically indigent children. Because the health department does not have the means to test all children who need to be in compliance, village health departments can sign an agreement with CCDPH to provide screenings to the medically indigent in their community.

"This is a partnership in the true sense of the word. If we can get village health departments to screen the children through an agreement with the health department, the state will then provide free testing," said Cook County Board President Richard J. Phelan. "This partnership divides the responsibility of the screening, the paperwork and the cost between three levels of government. Lead poisoning is a very serious and real problem. We must all work together to ensure that suburban Cook County children are not only in compliance with the law but are treated if elevated blood lead levels exist."

Village health departments wishing to participate in this effort can call the CCDPH at (708) 445-2530. Persons needing accommodation for a disability should call (708) 445-2400 or TDD (708) 445-2406.

All Points Southwest

Guest Editorial
 By Dr. Richard L. Leshner, President
 U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The cost of health care in this country is rising about 10 percent per year, placing severe strain on both the public and private sectors and posing a major threat to our economic future.

The average business spends an amount greater than half of its net earnings buying medical insurance for employees, and many firms simply cannot afford it. As many as 36.3 million Americans have no health insurance of any kind.

Meanwhile, Canada's national health care system insures everyone and still costs less than ours on a per capita basis. Many Americans, including more than a few business people, suggest that what works for Canada should work for us.

However, before we adopt the Canadian system as a 'magic bullet' to solve our health care dilemma, we would do well to take a hard look at Canada's health care system, and truly weigh its adequacy for us. For example, we enjoy greater access to high-tech therapies and expensive medical procedures. There are 3.26 open heart surgery units per million citizens in the U.S., compared with 1.23 per million in Canada. There are 1.31 organ transplant units per million citizens in the U.S., compared with 1.08 per million in Canada. We have eight times as many MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) units per citizen as Canada does. Also, Canadians must wait long periods of time for many kinds of surgery which are readily available in the U.S.

Of course, from 20 to 30 percent of our high-tech procedures and tests are unnecessary, but that underscores another important difference between the U.S. and Canada. Many expensive tests used in the U.S. are 'defensive medicine' in anticipation of lawsuits. Canada does not permit attorneys to exploit its health care system. Canada prohibits contingency fees, and Canadian doctors decline out-of-court settlements, increasing legal costs for plaintiffs.

Our crime epidemic is another factor. Shootings are common in many of our cities, taxing the resources of hospitals, emergency crews and physicians. In 1984, for example, 10,728 people in the U.S. were killed by handguns. The number in Canada was 52.

Infant mortality is 10.5 per 1,000 live births in the U.S., compared with 7.9 in Canada, a disparity in part attributed to drug abuse in the U.S. which is not as rampant in Canada. Some 11.3 percent of U.S. adults have used cocaine; only 3.5 percent of Canadian adults have. About 5 percent of our medical bill, or $45 billion, is attributable to crime and drug abuse. Also the U.S. reports five cases of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) per 10,000 population (cumulative); Canada only 1.3.

Finally, a major reason for our soaring medical bill is the tab for research and development of new medicines, therapies and medical equipment. The U.S. is the world's most fecund source of medical breakthroughs. Other nations, including Canada, benefit greatly from our innovations, but do not fully share their cost.

In sum, Canada's system includes many features we can learn from, but it is clear their system cannot be transplanted here without a major reduction in quality and availability, along with a major increase in cost.

Steps To Balance Federal Budget

By: Harris W. Fawell

In 1929, the federal government created the National Helium Reserves to insure a constant supply of helium for blimps. In 1992, the blimps have long since been grounded, but we still haven't pulled the plug on the Helium Reserves. 128 billion taxdollars float away each year to support this program. Former Labor Secretary Lynn Martin once said that when she dies she wants to come back as a federal program so she can have "eternal life." Government does a bang up job creating new spending programs, but is terrible at eliminating them after they've outlived their usefulness.

We won't balance the budget solely with elimination of programs such as the helium reserve. But we won't balance the budget without the elimination of these programs. The American people will not tighten their belts through higher taxes, as President Clinton is asking, unless government tightens its belt.

How much could be saved by cutting helium for blimps, and all the other programs that have outlived their usefulness? In preparation for Clinton's budget, I took a stab at finding out.

I spent a morning combing through reports by the Grace Commission, the General Accounting Office, the Heritage Foundation, the Congressional Budget Office and our Porkbusters Coalition citing dozens of federal programs that we could live without. I had to set some ground-rules: I did not include any savings from new revenues of any kind, nor include cuts in programs for low-income people. I did include programs that have failed or already accomplished their mission, duplicate other programs, subsidize people who don't need subsidies, serve only a local (pork barrel) purpose, or could be made to work more efficiently.

I found 702 that could be eliminated or trimmed "without even breaking a sweat," as Ross Perot would say. The savings from these cuts is a whopping $188 billion over five years; $15 billion in the first year.

Many of these programs are real doosies. Of the 702, 640 are projects I knew about from our Porkbuster's Coalition. Some examples: $25 million for an attempt to harness the energy of the Aurora Borealis, the Northern Lights, and turn it into electricity. Then, there is the ever-popular $19 million to study cow flatulence. The other 62 projects, not on our Porkbusters' list, include:

• Federal commissions including the "Christopher Columbus Quincentenary Jubilee Commission," and the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial Commission." Five year savings: $1 billion.

• The default-plagued Small Business Administration loan programs. Some 99.8 percent of small businesses receive no direct help from the SBA and nearly $4 billion of SBA's loans are expected to go into default. Five year savings: $3 billion.

• The Economic Development Administration (EDA) has been a haven for pork barrel loans rarely targeted to economically depressed areas; the most famous was a loan to a man who built a facsimile of the pyramids as a tourist attraction, not surprisingly, the enterprise was a complete flop. Five year savings: $1 billion.

• A myriad of subsidy and grant programs for students or schools who do not need subsidies, including grants for "law related education," "law school clinical experience," and "homemaking education," and subsidized loans for medical education for doctors. Five year savings: $1 billion.

• The Rural Electrification Administration (REA) was created in the 1930s to bring electricity to rural areas. Fortunately, the REA fulfilled its purpose decades ago; nearly 100 percent of rural America has electricity. Unfortunately, we can't get rid of the REA. Five year savings: $200 million.

• Farm subsidies, costing taxpayers over $17 billion per year, should be scaled back and tobacco, dairy, honey, and peanut subsidies should be eliminated. Also, people whose gross revenues exceed $500,000 should be barred from getting federal subsidies. Five year savings: over $17 billion.

• In 1931, the "Davis-Bacon" Act was enacted to force contractors to pay the locally "prevailing wage" on federal construction projects. This generally required higher union wage rates which raises costs, knocks out competition from smaller firms or non-union companies. "Davis-Bacon" also makes it more difficult to recruit lower-skilled local workers, who are disproportionately minority Americans. Repealing the Act would create jobs for minorities and save taxpayers $5 billion.

• Finally, I would cut Congressional expenses by 10 percent and freeze total federal employee compensation, including members of Congress, for one year. While these savings don't fit my original guidelines, I believe they are necessary given our fiscal situation. Five year savings: $39.5 billion.

I have sent the complete list of 702 programs to Clinton for inclusion in his economic program. If you are interested in receiving the full list; contact my district office at (708) 655-2052.

Couple Charged In Death Of Infant

THOMAS W. EKEN

Murder charges were filed on Saturday against Thomas W. and Susan L. Eken, both 19, of Midlothian, in the death of their three-month-old son, Thomas. The infant died as a result of severe trauma to the head. Police received a call at 11:49 a.m. on Feb. 9th from Mrs. Eken, who said her son had stopped breathing.

Midlothian police and fire personnel responded, and the first officer on the scene initiated CPR procedures, which were taken over by the fire department. The child was transported by ambulance to South Suburban Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival (DOA) at 12:11 p.m.

A joint investigation by the Midlothian Police Department, the Illinois State Police and Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley's office culminated in the murder charges against the couple. Through a combination of resources, the three departments gathered evidence and, according to Captain Robert Johnson of the Illinois State Police, the county will attempt to prove "a pattern of systematic abuse to the child, by both parents, took place."

Statements taken from friends, neighbors and relatives indicate that anger and inappropriate behavior by the parents was observed, but no one acted on what they had seen and heard. "These parties apparently witnessed tell-tale signs of abuse, but failed to act. This baby was crying out for help, but no one responded to its pleas," said a police spokesman.

In response to a question, Captain Johnson stated that no charges are contemplated at this time against the witnesses. They are not, he said, presently viewed as accessories to or after the fact.

The Cook County Coroner's office said the cause of death was trauma to the head by a blunt instrument. The coroner's office added that in addition to the head trauma, four fractured ribs from an old injury and other bruises were observed. Both parents were unemployed and they claimed that the father had been carrying the child and tripped over a laundry basket, causing him to drop the child on the floor. The incident was originally treated as a possible accidental death.

A preliminary hearing for the couple was continued until Friday, March 12th. On Tuesday, Associate Judge Will E. Gierach, in Sixth District Court, Markham, granted a request from prosecutors for more time before they proceed in the cases. Both husband and wife are being held without bail in Cook County Jail.

Report On Schools

The Archdiocese of Chicago's Catholic school system received high marks from Dr. Elaine Schuster, the archdiocesan superintendent of schools, in a "Catholic Schools Report Card." Two of the most important statistics are: 99 percent of Catholic high school students in Cook and Lake counties graduate, and the average daily attendance at Catholic elementary schools is 96 percent.

Dr. Schuster reported the following statistics for Catholic elementary schools: 100 percent of the system's eighth grade students go on to high school, with 66 percent of the students enrolling in Catholic high schools; the average daily attendance for faculty at Catholic elementary schools is 98 percent; the average daily attendance for students at Catholic elementary school is 96 percent; 71 percent of the system's seventh grade students score in the upper half of the nation in reading, math and language; 92 percent of Catholic elementary schools have school boards; and 82 percent of parents attend at least one elementary school activity during the school year.

Schuster reported the following statistics for Catholic high schools: 99 percent of Catholic high school students graduate; 89 percent of Catholic high school students take the ACT, with an average score of 20.3; 88 percent complete four credits of high school math; 76 percent complete four credits of high school science; 86 percent attend college; one in 10 Catholic high school students is named an Illinois State Scholar; and more than half of the 35,600 Catholic high school students volunteer service in their communities.

Schuster also noted that since the inauguration of the awards, 15 Catholic high schools and seven Catholic elementary schools have received the blue ribbon for excellence presented by the U.S. Department of Education.

'Economy On Rebound,' Edgar

Gov. Jim Edgar has unveiled his "Team Illinois" initiative as part of his far-reaching agenda for building on job-generating gains in the state's economy.

"The Illinois economy is definitely on the rebound, but we must keep pushing for more good jobs," Edgar said. "Through state government's growing partnership with the private sector, we will reach out aggressively to targeted businesses that have strong potential to either expand or locate in Illinois."

The governor called upon his newly formed Illinois Economic Development Board, under the leadership of John Rau, to spearhead and implement the innovative program.

"Board members from the private sector will team with others from the business community to carry our case to companies both within and outside of Illinois. We have a good message, and these are the best people to deliver it," the governor told members of the economic development board at its first meeting.

Targeted by the teams will be Illinois companies that have the potential to expand; Illinois companies that have facilities in other states and could benefit from consolidating their activities here; and prospects from other states that could be attracted by the particular benefits of locating in the Chicago metropolitan area and elsewhere in the state.

Edgar said he expects major business associations in the state to play an important role by supplying team members for the outreach program. "We aren't going to wait for businesses to come to us. We are going to reach out as well as respond."

"Team Illinois will become an important component of our streamlined and retooled economic development efforts. It will both augment and take advantage of what we already have accomplished and what we will accomplish through economic development initiatives I stressed in my State of the State address a couple of weeks ago."

"We are doing the right things in Illinois -- in workforce preparation, in giving special attention to small and medium-sized businesses, in providing a good infrastructure and in creating a business climate that is conducive to job retention and growth. And I am convinced we are in an excellent position to build on our successes."

The economic development board is charged with shaping and pursuing economic development goals, especially for the long term.

Suburban United Way Reduces Budget

As a result of an anticipated shortfall in the United Way/Crusade of Mercy's fundraising efforts this year, Robert A. Young, chair of the United Way of Suburban Chicago (UWSC), announced recently that the organization would have to reduce its fiscal year 1992-93 overall budget by approximately $1.1 million. The United Way/Crusade of Mercy, the organization responsible for raising money on behalf of the United Way of Chicago and the United Way of Suburban Chicago federation's 80 member United Ways, is currently projecting a campaign total for 1992 of $95.6 million, which represents an approximate $10 million shortfall of what was raised in last year's campaign.

Mr. Young stated, "United Ways across the country have had a difficult year raising money and the Chicago area is no exception. Unfortunately, our member United Ways will have approximately $1 million less to allocate to the more than 270 affiliate agencies that provide health and human care services to individuals in the suburbs. I am deeply concerned about the effect a decrease in funds will have on the people in need that rely on these services and can't get them."

The UWSC Board of Directors has been working on contingency plans for the organization since early November when campaign projections first indicated the possibility of a shortfall. Young stated, "As part of a system in which all partners benefit from the campaign proceeds, we must all share in the loss of campaign dollars as well. It was necessary to reduce the grants to our member United Ways. However, UWSC has reduced its operating budget a much larger percentage than the grant reductions have been to the members."

Actions the UWSC board of directors has taken to reduce the organization's operating budget include reducing the staff by 25 percent (five out of 20 positions); reducing the salaries of the organization's president and three vice-presidents; and reducing its administrative expenses, such as printing, postage, supplies, etc. This represents approximately a nine percent reduction in the operating budget for the remainder of the year.

Over the past few weeks, member United Ways have been reviewing their 1992-93 budgets to determine how they will manage the grant reduction they received. This will include the United Way examining its own operating expenses and its allocations to its affiliate agencies and decide where reductions, if any, will be made.

Young added that the 1992 United Way campaign is not over yet and asks the public to support the many fundraising efforts that are continuing in order for United Way to reach the $95.6 million it is projecting.

United Way of Suburban Chicago, an allocating member of the United Way/Crusade of Mercy, is a federation of 80 member United Ways, serving more than 160 communities in suburban Cook, DuPage, southeast Lake and parts of Kane and Will Counties.

O'Malley (third from right) bank chairman of the board and chief executive officer. This latest contribution from the bank represents sponsorship of the table wine for LCM's Crystal Heart Ball. An event which the bank also supported last year, this hospital fundraiser included a social hour, dinner, dancing and presentation of a humanitarian award.

Many Standard Bank officers are active on hospital committees. Alfred J. O'Malley serves on the president's advisory board. Vice-president Lawrence P. Kelley (far left), a member of the finance committee, works with many physicians and surgeons through the professional services division, a special area of the bank, designed to serve the needs of the educational, legal and medical professions.

More Riders Pick Up Pace

Pace, the suburban bus service, posted the third largest ridership in its history, carrying more than 39.3 million passengers during 1992. Affected by a lagging economy and a fare surcharge, Pace's 1992 ridership dropped 3 percent from 1991's record-breaking ridership of 40.5 million passengers.

Ridership on Pace's private-contracted services increased 5.2 percent, while ridership on Pace's municipal-contracted services declined by 5.1 percent. The Pace-owned divisions, which carry more than 85 percent of Pace's passengers, posted a combined decrease of 4.3 percent.

Paratransit ridership climbed 2.7 percent on dial-a-ride and ADA special services. During 1992, Pace's new vanpool incentive program (VIP) carried more than 134,000 passengers, while subscription buses had more than 65,000 riders.

In addition to the year's recession and two fare changes, other factors may have contributed to Pace's ridership loss. The demographics of Pace's region have changed, with more people moving from older, traditional suburbs where Pace offers more extensive service, to newer, less densely populated suburbs where Pace offers fewer commuting options.

Also, with more businesses moving to a variety of suburban locations, there are more employees making a suburb-to-suburb commute instead of the traditional trip to the downtown central business district. Pace has made strides in meeting this commuting challenge with its new VIP program.

Other highlights in 1992 include Pace experienced ridership growth on bus routes previously operated by CTA and Pace's reverse commute ridership continued to increase.

Youth Hearings

Cardinal Joseph Bernardin wants Catholic junior high and high school students to tell him about their greatest challenges and concerns during a special series of 'youth hearings,' to be held at 14 sites across Cook and Lake Counties in the month of February. Locally, the meeting is scheduled at Sacred Heart Church, 8235 W. 111th St., on Sunday, Feb. 21st from 1 to 3 p.m.

As a response to the U.S. Bishops' "Putting Children and Families First" initiative, the Archdiocese of Chicago, at Cardinal Bernardin's urging, designed this process to invite young people to speak about the issues that most affect their lives and about how they would like the church to be of help.

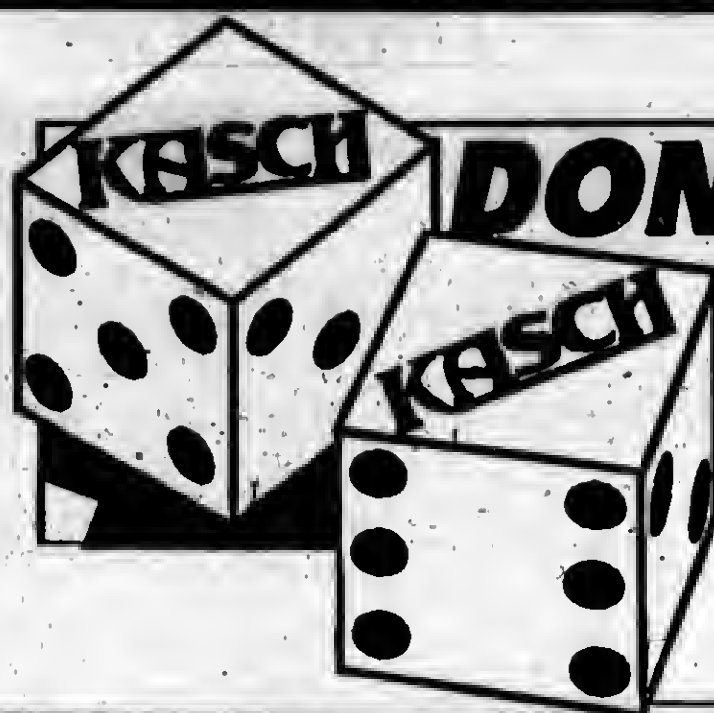

"As difficult as things were when I was growing up, they pale by comparison with the overwhelming pressures on families today," said Bernardin. "Today, our young people have to contend with increasing drug and alcohol abuse, proliferating gang violence and intimidation, failing educational systems, increasing neglect and physical, emotional and sexual abuse."

"I want to listen to the concerns of youth," Bernardin added, "and let young people know that the church cares about them and needs them."

Young people attending the hearings will be encouraged to speak from their own experience but also to consider the needs of all U.S. children and youth. For more information, interested junior high and high school age students should contact their principals or parish youth ministers/religious education coordinators, or contact the Catholic Youth Office at (312) 733-7405.

Workshop For Single Parents

A workshop for single parents is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 27th from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Our Lady of Loretto, 8925 S. Kostner. This free workshop, presented by trained facilitators, focuses on the topics of grief and loss in parents & children, how to deal with family change, parenting skills and spirituality in the single-parent family. Pre-registration is required.

For further information, call the rectory at 424-7471.

When a group of 15 retired men from St. Linus Church in Oak Lawn wanted to learn about computers, Moraine Valley Community College developed a special non-credit introductory class for them. As the retired parishioners formed special interest clubs, such as golf and woodworking, many expressed an interest in starting a computer club. Ed Roche (pictured), one of those interested in computers, contacted Bill Wendt, director of MVCC's career training center, for assistance. After giving a presentation to the group, Wendt scheduled a class for the parishioners and helped get them registered for a four-week personal computer fundamentals class. The class covered word processing, spreadsheet and data base programs.

Although the retired men from St. Linus still enjoy getting together to play golf and enjoy other club activities, they plan on registering as a group for other classes at Moraine Valley.

"I'm 67, and if I live to be 85, I have a lot of time to learn new things," Roche said. "We're going to continue learning."

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

Auxiliary Sophie Agnes Popielewski of Route 2, Oak Lawn, has begun training in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps at the First WAAC Training Center, Fort Des Moines, Ia. She was immediately assigned to a receiving center company for a week's elementary military training. Here she is issued clothing and equipment, instructed in rudiments of drill, and given Army classification tests. These tests will help determine the job she will fill in the WAAC. For the following four weeks she will be assigned to a basic company for more detailed training preparing her to replace a man in a non-combat Army job.

The Oak Lawn village board Tuesday evening authorized the issuance of $26,000 additional water and sewer revenue bonds. The additional bond issue will be used to extend the village combined water and sewer system through the Lynwood subdivision of the village. The village board also appointed Herbert DeRudder in complete charge of the combined water and sewer system, $100 was authorized to be expended on the necessary painting and repairs of the pump and disposal plant.

Last Sunday afternoon at the Covington School, Oak Lawn, a presentation was made of a beautiful American flag and a standard flag to the Mothers of Unit No. One of Illinois. This was made possible through popular subscription of funds contributed by the fathers and friends of sons and daughters in the armed services of our country.

BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

The end of the regular season is fast approaching and visions of the playoffs are in the eyes of local high school cagers. Just who will end up at the top of the heap is anybody's guess right now, but that climb will prove to either be futile or fruitful.

Tuesday Games (Feb. 9th)

Brother Rice 87 - St. Gregory 55

The Crusaders kicked some booty on the court in their 87-55 trouncing of St. Gregory's Greyhounds during nonconference action in Mt. Greenwood.

A trio of Crusaders couldn't miss the hoop and emerged in the likes of Jim Sexton's 17 points, 11 marks from Brian Lyons, and 10 from Dan Mahoney.

Marist 71 - St. Ignatius 54

The basketball had eyes once it left the hands of Redskin Dan Michalak as he amassed 29 points in his team's 71-54 win over St. Ignatius in this nonconference match-up at St. Ignatius.

Michalak totaled seven 3-point shots in his performance. Other hot hoopsters for Marist included Ed Saidat with 15 and 10 for Pete Cosme.

Stagg 59 - Bremen 58

The Chargers barely pulled this one out against the Braves with a 59-58 victory during nonconference play in Midlothian.

The lone cager in double numbers for the Chargers was Mike Carnes and his 20-point total. But it proved to be enough for his team to hang on.

The dynamic duo for the Braves was Joe Myers and his 26 markers plus John Abramic with 14.

Bolingbrook 76 - Argo 61

The Argonaut ship continued to sink into the depths with their 76-61 defeat by the Raiders in Bolingbrook.

Despite the loss, Argo did see some bright moments in the 16 points by Fred White and 15 from Jasper Mallory.

Friday Games

Lockport 77 - Andrew 50

Thunderbolt zing fizzled against the Porters as they took a 77-50 loss during SICA West action in Lockport.

"We had to play great defense to win," noted Andrew coach Mark Klutarch. "If you don't play defense every time down the floor, they're going to take advantage of you. And we didn't do that tonight. We didn't help very well. We didn't play aggressive enough."

Bright spots for the T-Bolts included 22 points from Mike O'Neill and 11 by Joe Navickas.

Argo 56 - Oak Lawn 53

After playing 21 games without a win, the Argonauts broke the losing streak with a 56-53 triumph over the Spartans in Summit during SICA North action.

"After awhile when you don't win at all, you wonder if it's ever going to happen," remarked Argonaut coach John Gianotti. "In the fourth quarter, when they began fouling us, we did well from the free throw line. In the past we lost our composure, but tonight we didn't let the fouls bother us. We just went up and hit our free throws."

Connecting for the Argonauts were Jasper Mallory with 15 followed by 10 from Sylvester Gilleyen and nine from Ali Mister.

On the Spartan end of the court, Rick Arnold had the hot hands as he sand 23 marks that included seven 3-point shots, D.J. Smith totaled 13, and Dan Burns came away with 10 points.

Shepard 65 - Stagg 50

Astro power ignited in front of their home fans in Palos Heights as they took down Stagg's Chargers 65-50 during SICA North play.

Four Astros hit for double numbers in the game including an even dozen from Ontario Pryor, another dozen out of Craig Tracy, 11 from Tyrine Wilson, and John Economos, 10.

On the Charger side of the scorebook, Mike Carnes and John McGuinness paced their team with 18 apiece.

St. Laurence 71 - Brother Rice 54

Viking might pulled off the upset of the weekend as they took care of Brother Rice's Crusaders 71-54 in Catholic League South action at Brother Rice.

Powering the Vikes to victory were Jaysen Orkowski and his 23 points plus 10 points from Keith Webster.

From the Crusader side, Jimmy Sexton hit for 20 and Theo Hutcherson put through an even dozen.

St. Ignatius 62 - St. Rita 56

The fangs of the Wolfpack proved fatal for the Mustangs as they went down to defeat 62-56 in the Catholic League at St. Rita.

Highlights for the Mustangs were 16 points for Ken Harvey and 15 from John Sanders.

Marist 59 - St. Joseph 53

A trio of Redskins enabled them to scalp the Chargers for the first time in eight years with a 59-53 victory in the East Suburban Catholic Conference in Westchester.

Five 3-point shots plus another bucket for Danny Michalak gave him a 17-point total for his Redskin squad, Pete Cosme put in 11 points, and Ed Saidat connected for 10.

Joliet West 64 - Sandburg 48

The Tigers preyed upon the Eagles with a 64-48 nonconference win in Orland Park.

Hitting the twine for the Eagles were Eric Losieczka and his 14 plus lucky number 13 from Dave Koryczan.

In another Friday night game, the Reavls Rams came into Oak Lawn and edged past the Richards' Bulldogs 57-53 in SICA North play.

"Free Assistance Day" For Tax Non-Filers

The American Bar Association (ABA) and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) are jointly sponsoring a "free assistance day" to encourage individuals who have not filed prior year federal income tax returns to do so. Members of the ABA, the Chicago Bar Association (CBA) and other volunteer lawyers will join IRS employees and community volunteers on Saturday, Feb. 20th to offer free tax help and advice to non-filers at 29 locations in northern Illinois. Assistance will be limited to prior year (1991 and earlier) tax returns. Since the non-filer program started in early October, over 3,000 Illinois residents have contacted the IRS for information and assistance. Others have come into a local office for help.

"Non-filers usually stop filing initially because of a difficult personal circumstance; divorce, death in the family or a severe financial setback," said Marilyn W. Day, IRS district director for Northern Illinois. "After they miss a year, fear frequently takes over and they are afraid to file because they think they may lose their home or go to jail."

Burton Litwin of the ABA noted that the major reason his organization is participating in the program is to help people overcome that fear. "On Feb. 20th we will be giving people an opportunity to talk to a lawyer for advice prior to getting help with their tax returns. We want people to know that this is the best time to get right with their government and that they will not be going to jail if they come forward and make a true financial disclosure."

The ABA will have lawyers available for brief consultations at no cost and on a privileged and confidential basis. The attorneys will be available to address concerns about making a voluntary disclosure of past non-filing of income tax returns. Trained community volunteers and IRS employees will be present at each location to help people prepare prior year returns. Non-filers should bring as much of their tax information as possible with them to the assistance sites. In addition to getting help with preparing tax returns, many of those who owe money will be able to get a payment agreement on the spot.

"Anyone who has a total tax bill less than $10,000 and can pay it off in three years will get an automatic payment agreement that day," said Day.

Call the IRS at (312) 435-1040 for more information.

Student Loan Reform Supported

Sen. Paul Simon (D-IL) has praised the decision by the National Commission on Responsibilities for Financing Postsecondary Education to endorse the idea of direct student loans and income-sensitive repayments as key reforms they suggest for the federal student aid system. The commission, appointed jointly by former President Bush and by Congress, issued its final report on Feb. 3rd.

"This is a timely counterweight to the intense lobbying that Sallie Mae and others are mounting to kill the direct loan idea in the cradle," said Simon.

Simon and Sen. Dave Durenberger (R-Minn.) last year led efforts during Senate consideration of the Higher Education Act reauthorization bill to inaugurate a program of universal, direct student loans, with income-sensitive repayments, collected through IRS withholding. The plan has emerged as the cutting-edge idea in federal higher education policy. Simon and Durenberger have named their proposal the Income-Dependent Education Assistance Credit (IDEA Credit) plan.

Their allies in the House include Reps. Thomas Petri (R-Wisc.) and Robert Andrews (D-NJ). They overcame a threatened veto over the issue to add a $500 m. (loan volume) pilot program to test direct loans and income-contingent repayments on selected campuses across the nation, beginning in the 1994 school year. The bill then was signed by President Bush.

Simon's direct loan and income-sensitive repayment ideas have been discussed as possible components of the administration's forthcoming national service plan.

'Who's Buying Homes In Our Area'

The average price for home buyers in the Chicago metropolitan area in 1992 was lower than the national average, $158,700 versus $170,800. Lake County had the highest average home price of $182,900 and Will County, the lowest at $134,100 according to "Who's Buying Homes in the Chicago Metropolitan Area," a survey conducted by Chicago Title Insurance Company.

"Who's Buying Homes in the Chicago Metropolitan Area" takes the first in-depth, county by county look at housing trends in the Chicago metropolitan area. The survey adds a local dimension to "Who's Buying Homes in America," the Chicago Title and Trust Family of Title Insurers' annual national survey of 18 representative metropolitan housing markets. The national survey has been conducted since 1976. Findings were taken from more than 1,200 telephone interviews in Cook and the six surrounding counties of Du Page, Lake, Will, Kane and McHenry and DeKalb.

Cook County reported an average home price of $153,400, Du Page, $176,300, Kane, $166,500, McHenry, $148,700, and DeKalb, $142,200. Lake County also had the highest median home price of $165,400, while DeKalb had the lowest at $104,400. Median home prices in other counties were: Cook, $146,100, Du Page, $158,400, Kane, $136,800, McHenry, $145,400, and Will, $127,700. For the entire Chicago metropolitan area the median home price was $147,600.

"The Chicago metropolitan market staked out the middle ground in 1992 with more sales in the affordable price ranges, while nationally home prices were more unevenly skewed toward the high end of the pricing spectrum," said John Pfister, Chicago Title and Trust vice-president and market research manager. "The median household income in the Chicago metropolitan area of $54,300 was a few thousand dollars below the national figure of $58,800. Lake County led the way locally with a median household income of $58,600, while DeKalb had the lowest at $48,500. Cook's was $52,500, Du Page's, $55,200, Kane's, $53,200, McHenry's, $53,400 and Will's, $51,700."

First-time buyers accounted for nearly half of all 1992 home sales in the area, mirroring a national trend. The percentage was higher in Cook County, 55.1 percent. In the Chicago metro area, the average price for first-time buyers ranged from $153,600 in Du Page County to $93,000 in Will County, bracketing the national average of $142,400. The local median price ranged from $121,700 in Du Page to $89,400 in DeKalb, compared with a median price of $122,400 for first-time buyers across the nation.

Average monthly mortgage payments for first-time buyers were highest in Du Page County at $934 and Cook County at $929, while lowest in DeKalb and Will at $736 and $709, respectively. First-time owners had monthly payments of $924 in Lake, $893 in McHenry, and $864 in Kane. For repeat buyers, average monthly mortgage payments were similarly higher in Lake at $1,236 and Du Page at $1,191. Cook, Kane and McHenry weren't far behind with payments averaging $1,092, $1,078, and $1,041. Will, at $873 and DeKalb, at $823, were at the lower end.

Condominiums accounted for 21.6 percent of all home sales in Cook County and 20.8 percent in Du Page County, which has a relatively high number of condominium/townhome developments. In contrast, condos were only 2.4 percent of the market in McHenry, 5.6 percent in Lake and DeKalb and 6.9 percent in Will. Condo sales were 13.1 percent nationally.

Seven of 10 home buyers in the Chicago metropolitan area were married couples, on a par with the national average. The percentage of married couples was highest in McHenry County at 85.6 percent and lowest in Cook County at 63.1 percent. Among married buyers, couples with two family incomes accounted for more than eight of every 10 sales in Cook, Kane and Lake counties. The percentage dropped off in Du Page County, one of the more expensive markets and in the smaller counties where housing is generally less expensive.

"More than six of every 10 buyers in the Chicago metropolitan area, like buyers across the country, elected conventional financing last year, including first-time buyers," Pfister stated. "On average, first-time buyers spent 34.9 percent of their combined income to make their monthly mortgage payment (somewhat higher than the 30.8 percent of income invested by repeat buyers). The average down payment for first-time Chicago metro buyers was 15.3 percent."

"Chicago Title's study confirms that first-time buyers in the more expensive counties made larger down payments, relied more on financial assistance from relatives and opted for less expensive adjustable-rate financing on a more frequent basis," said Pfister. "In general, people were willing to go the extra mile to stake a claim to a piece of the American dream."

"9-1-1" Access For Unincorporated Areas

Residents of unincorporated areas of Cook County could have access to "9-1-1" emergency telephone systems, under legislation sponsored by State Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18).

Senate Bill 30 authorizes fire protection districts to sponsor "9-1-1" referenda in the unincorporated areas of their districts.

"Municipalities within fire protection districts often provide '9-1-1' services to residents within their borders, but the districts' unincorporated areas do not have access," O'Malley said. "This results in confusion among district residents when making emergency calls."

"Response time is critical in fire protection districts because a large percentage of fire and ambulance calls are life-threatening. Precious minutes are wasted if there is confusion about how to call for assistance," O'Malley said. "This has become a problem in southwest suburban Cook County, where large portions of Orland, Palos and Worth townships are unincorporated."

Senate Bill 30 is co-sponsored by State Sen. William Mahar (R-Orland Park), State Sen. Robert Raica (R-24th, Chicago), and State Sen. Marty Butler (R-Park Ridge).

The finished 'Eternal Flame' honoring the veterans of all wars in which the U.S. has been involved, is to be unveiled on Sunday, May 23rd. The ceremony is to begin at 11 a.m. at the 'Eternal Flame' monument on the northeast corner of 111th and Harlem in the Veterans Memorial Park.

The 'Eternal Flame' is to extend 24-feet, four-inches when completed and is made up of five burnished steel branches, representing each of the Armed Forces of the United States; Air Force, Army, Coast Guard, Marine Corps and Navy.

According to Alfred W. Grajek, P.D.C., executive chairman for construction of the 'Eternal Flame,' approximately $40,000 is still needed to insure that the memorial is unveiled on May 23rd. Any donor who contributes $1,000 or more is to receive a granite marker with his, her, or a loved one's name engraved into the two foot by one foot marker. "Anyone can be memorialized," Grajek said, "the name of the individual to be remembered is up to the contributor."

Make checks payable to Veterans Memorial and mail to Worth Bank and Trust, 6825 W. 111th St., Worth, IL 60482.

For more information, contact Grajek at 448-0282.

Irish Fest Plans

Plans have begun for Gaelic Park's seventh annual Irish Fest held on Memorial Day weekend at the Irish cultural center at 6119 W. 147th St., Oak Forest. The first order of business is the selection of Irish Fest '93 Queen at a dance on Sunday, March 7th.

Brother Rice High School Alumni Director Jim Casey has announced that Friday, April 2nd is the date for the annual Brother Rice All-Alumni Reunion Dinner. This year's dinner will be at the Lexington House in Hickory Hills at 7 p.m. Alumni are encouraged to order their tickets now for this always popular event so they can reserve seats at the same table with their friends and classmates. Tickets are on sale now for $40 at the Brother Rice Alumni Office or for $50 at the Lexington House door. Call (312) 779-3410 for details. During the evening, Brother Rice's Men of the Year, Cliff Petrak '60, Tom Lyons '63, and Brother J. R. McDonald will be honored.

Petrak, a Mt. Greenwood resident and a member of Brother Rice's first graduating class, has taught math for 20 years and served as a librarian for 17 years. He was the first alumnus to teach at the school. Between 1976 and 1989, he was chairman of the library sciences department. Petrak guided Rice's freshman-sophomore baseball team to 10 Chicago Catholic League championships between 1966 and 1989. In 1990, Petrak was named varsity coach. Petrak has also received the Tony Lawless Award for baseball coach of the year in the Catholic League. He also serves as a baseball clinic speaker and has written a book, The Art & Science of Aggressive Baserunning, which has been used by a number of major league coaches. Petrak previously had been inducted into the Brother Rice High School Hall of Fame and the Brother Rice Hockey Hall of Fame.

Tom Lyons, '63 of Evergreen Park, has donated much of his free time to Brother Rice, serving as volunteer assistant freshman football coach for the past six years. He has also donated his time to the school's fundraising efforts and is an active participant in the Dads' Club. Lyons is the father of a 1992 Rice graduate, Tim, and two current Rice students, Brian and Brendan.

Brother J. R. McDonald spent 15 years at Brother Rice. During that time he led Rice athletes to nine state championships in water polo and eight straight swimming sectional championships. In the process, he earned six Coach of the Year awards. Rice's water polo team dominated the sport in Illinois during the 1980s. During one four-year span, the team won 130 games and lost only one. One year, the entire varsity team was selected to the All-State Water Polo Team. Br. McDonald also taught chemistry and biology at Rice from 1973 to 1989 and served as chairman of the science department from 1985 to 1988. He is currently teaching at O'Dea High School in Seattle.

Pictured is alumni association co-chairman Tom Bogusevic '73 handing complimentary tickets for the dinner to Petrak and Lyons as alumni director Jim Casey '70, alumni association co-chairman Charlie Willis '67 and alumni association moderator Brother T.J. Collins look on.

EMBETH DAVIDTZ

(inset) portrays the medieval love interest who falls into demonic hands and becomes evil incarnate in the outrageously comic sword-and-sorcery fantasy "Army of Darkness" slated to open at motion picture houses all over the Chicago area tomorrow. Bruce Campbell plays an innocent 20th century man who is hounded by demonic forces back into the Dark Ages in the Universal Pictures release. Billed as a hilarious macabre tug-of-war between the living and the dead, Campbell finds himself face-to-face with pestilence and pillage, sorcery and savagery, poverty and plague and the broadsword of grungy peasants. In this battle for survival, his exalibur is an unreliable chainsaw; his lance, an aging 12-gauge shotgun; and his sword, a 1973 Delta 88 Olds in sore need of a new engine.... Tom Berenger stars in the movie "Sniper" currently playing at movie houses all over the Chicago area. A former Marine sniper, Berenger's mission is to track down and eliminate the leader of a powerful rebel group and his financier, a Columbian drug lord, who is hidden away deep in the hostile jungle of Panama.... "Amos & Andrew," a flick about a self-made black man, a wealthy, Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, who prides himself on being the "angry voice of his people," but also enjoys spectacular cross-over success in white America, is set to open on March 5 at local movie theaters.

JEAN DWAN, the congenial and industrious manager for the past two-and-one-half years of the Java Express at 107th and Hale, is moving to Omaha, Nebraska on March 10. A life-long resident of the Beverly area, Jean earned a degree in restaurant management from Southern Illinois University. Sean and Sue Doherty, owners of the Java Express, said Jean has been a tremendous asset to their popular coffee shop and restaurant where her cheerful attitude made everyone feel welcome. Terry Creagan, head cashier, said Jean had the capacity to make everyone feel right at home the minute they stepped inside the cozy coffee shop. "She was on a first name basis with just about everyone of our customers," said Creagan. In her new job, Jean will be the manager of a large sports complex in Omaha. Jean and her boyfriend Dave will be feted on March 6 at a going-away party and birthday bash in the Beverly area. We join the scores of "Java Express-heads" in wishing her well as she embarks on another phase of her career.

ELLEN BURSTYN, OLYMPIA DUKAKIS and DIANE LADD (inset) are currently starring in the hit movie, "The Cemetery Club," which is pulling in boffo box office receipts in its first week since opening last Friday around the Chicago area. The trio of middle-aged widows join an over-50 singles circuit, but they quickly find that the harvest years have produced a fallow field of suitable single men....Oops! We must have been thinking of the problems President Clinton is having with the national deficit, or it is just our lousy math, but we goofed last week when we mentioned the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. This year marks the 172nd birthday of President Lincoln and the 261st birthday of President Washington....There are still tickets available for the annual fund raising dinner dance for Guldhaus, a Blue Island halfway house for recovering alcoholics and substance abusers, which will be held March 5 at the Lexington House. Jack King, executive director, reports there are presently 29 men residing at Guldhaus. Plans call for a new building for more residents, a community center and library. King, a retired Chicago fireman, said a search is also being made in the local southwest area for a halfway house for women. Tickets are available at Guldhaus, 2413 Canal Street, Blue Island, or by calling (708) 385-DAAT.

RITA MORENO (inset), vocalist Patti Austin and comedienne Paula Poundstone will headline at the Annual Gala "Not Just Song & Dance" benefit for the AIDS Foundation of Chicago on April 3 in the Grand Ballroom and International Ballroom at the Chicago Hilton and Towers....A UCLA study of children hospitalized for depressive disorders has found that rates of recovery during the first year after hospitalization were higher among children whose parents coped with their children's problems without expressing a high level of emotion, criticism, or overinvolvement. Children whose parents displayed high levels of criticism or overinvolvement continued to suffer from depression at the end of the one-year period.

Irish Cabaret At Willowbrook

Make plans now to kick off St. Patrick's Day with a fun-filled Irish Cabaret Show, celebrating the music, comedy and dance of Ireland. Beginning at 8 p.m. on Saturday, March 13th, Cabaret-goers will feel as if they've been magically transported to the Emerald Isle, as the legendary Willowbrook Ballroom transforms into the site of an authentic Irish Cabaret. This high-spirited evening of hand-clapping, toe-tapping Irish fun is modeled after the popular cabaret shows staged in hotels throughout Ireland.

The Irish Cabaret will be headlined by the nationally renowned Irish folk music group Arranmore, and include an appearance by the award-winning Trinity Irish Dancers. In addition, the cabaret will include an Irish boutique, corned beef sandwiches and Guinness Stout, together with a chance to win a series of prizes, ranging from a deluxe weekend for two at the Chicago Hilton and Towers and lunch at Kitty O'Shea's, to Waterford Crystal and Belleek China.

Irish Cabaret tickets are available at $20 per person, and include complimentary snacks and one free Guinness Stout, with a full cash bar available. Tickets for children 12 and under are available at $12 each.

All ticket sales benefit the restoration of St. James Church at Sag Bridge in Lemont. Founded in 1833 by Irish immigrants, St. James is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and proudly bears the distinction of being the oldest functioning parish in northern Illinois.

Irish Cabaret tickets are available at the door or in advance by calling (708) 246-6072. The Willowbrook Ballroom is at 8900 S. Archer Road.

"Play One-On-One"

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Northern Illinois will offer sports enthusiasts an opportunity to play one-on-one with Chicago Bull John Paxson. It's one of the many sports items to be featured in the silent auction at Wish Ball 1993, the foundation's annual black-tie fundraiser, at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 13th at Chicago's Palmer House Hilton.

The silent auction has traditionally been the event's most popular attraction. This year's auction will include an array of items for sports fans, featuring a jersey and basketball autographed by Michael Jordan; a Bulls weekend for two in New York complete with hotel accommodations and tickets to a Bull-Knicks game; two tickets to a Blackhawks vs.

Tampa Bay match-up; two tickets to a Chicago Bulls vs. Washington Bullets game; an old Comiskey Park chair; mountain bikes; a one-year membership to The Sporting Club and many more.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Feb. 5th, John Hall of Chicago was allegedly seen by the security agent at Marshall's store, 9601 S. Cicero, carrying a large black handbag when he reached the last point of purchase, left the store without paying and when he got out of the door, the security alarm went off and he was asked to return to the store and open the handbag. The offender tried to flee but was caught and $257 worth of merchandise was recovered.

On the 6th at 12:31 a.m., Carolyn Rice of Evergreen Park reported she left Reilly's Daughter at 4010 W. 111th St. and when she got to the parking lot noticed her keys were missing from her jacket pocket and her 1992 BMW had been stolen. At 2:34 p.m., the radio dispatcher reported he had seen the stolen BMW parked at the rear of Wag's Restaurant. The victim's Sony CD player was taken from the trunk of the car for an estimated loss of $1,425.

At 2:22 a.m., police on patrol saw several male subjects involved in a fight in Cagney's lot, 4642 W. 103rd St. Wayne Holt, 22, of Berwyn was charged with aggravated battery after he cut Richard Satori of St. John, Indiana with a broken beer bottle. Richard Pollizzi of Orland Park was charged with disorderly conduct. Satori was taken to Christ Hospital for treatment.

Edward M. Draper, Jr., an Oak Lawn firefighter, told police that when he got off duty at 7 a.m., he went to his van parked at the 9400 block of 53rd Ct. and discovered two windows on the back door had been shattered by a BB or pellets. Cost to replace is $200.

Richard Giffons of Evergreen Park reported that while he was at a meeting at 4040 W. 95th St., someone removed the spare tire from the underside of his truck which will cost approximately $300 to replace.

While an eight year old girl was waiting to cross Major Ave. at 93rd St., a white car pulled up alongside her and the driver threw a pair of trousers in the back seat, opened the door and exposed himself. A number of charges were brought by Oak Lawn police against John Whelan, 29, of Naperville who drove his car into a limousine at 2 a.m. Whelan was charged with driving under the influence, leaving the scene of an accident where there was a personal injury, failing to give police information and failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident. The victim told police he was sitting at 95th & Southwest Highway waiting for the light to change when Whelan's auto skidded and hit the limousine from behind. Although the victim got out and talked to Whelan, he drove off. Police found Whelan nearby and said the front end of his jeep was smashed. She said the assailants then hit her 10 more times.

Credit Change Has Good Effect

The results from October 1992 standardized testing indicate that District 218's increased graduation requirements appear to have a positive effect on student achievement. Students graduating in the spring of 1994 will be the first class required to complete 21.25 credits. In the past, the district required students to complete 19 credits in order to graduate.

The 1994 graduating class "will be helpful in assessing the effect of the credit requirement change. Also of interest is the current sophomore class, which demonstrates highly positive growth," says Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services Dr. Norman Felland.

For the most part, current sophomores are enrolled in required courses only, which mirror the subject areas on the Test of Achievement and Proficiency (TAP) which students took during the first semester.

"It appears that the student growth is highly positive in the content areas in which they are enrolled," Felland said.

In 1990, the Board of Education not only changed the number of credit hours needed to graduate, it changed the composition of those required credits. For instance, students now must successfully complete two science classes, instead of one. Also, additional and different English and math classes are required according to individual student achievement. In the past, students could complete their graduation requirements in English and math by passing designated remedial courses. Those courses no longer meet graduation requirements, and thus students complete a more thorough preparation for college and the job market.

The current junior and sophomore classes, when compared with their TAP results from previous years, display significant gains. The five test components (written expression, reading comprehension, math, social studies and science) are broken down by quartiles. A quartile represents 25 percent of U.S. high school students who took the exam. Schools desire that their students place in the upper two quartiles (top half of the nation) and display achievement gains when compared to their own scores from the previous year.

After one year of high school study, the sophomore class gained in 14 quartiles (each test has four quartiles) and did not gain in six. After two years of high school study, the junior class gained in 12 quartiles, but did not gain in eight. After three years of high school study, the senior class gained in nine quartiles, but did not gain in 11.

Tax Rebate?

It was a short agenda at Tuesday night's regular meeting of the Oak Lawn Village Board, however, Trustee Harold Mozweck brought up an ordinance which would rebate cash to individual home owners, in the amount of $1,000,000 from the tax surcharge. Mozweck said he had worked since he was elected in 1989 to get these monies back to the people. He pointed out that a resolution was passed that would earmark 65 percent of the sum received each year, but it never happened. The monies were used for other urgent projects in the village, but this time there is $1,000,000 available.

Trustee Ron Stancik told the board he was going to call the State's Attorney's office if this violated the ruling about public meetings. He said the four trustees had this published in a local paper last weekend with a picture of them holding up the check, and wanted to know why the Village President, Clerk and Trustee Joy and himself were not notified about this. In answer to a question, this rebate would amount to about $65/70 per assignee (home owner).

Trustee Joy asked if this was equitable and said she thought it is discriminatory because businessmen and owners of large apartment buildings, who pay taxes, would not get any return. She also felt that this money should be abated and there would be no cost to distributing it because it would lower everyone's taxes.

It was pointed out that the cost of mailing the checks, cost of the ordinance, plus other expenses that will be incurred should take quite a "chunk of this money."

Joy asked how it was determined what amount of money each town or village will get of the income tax surcharge and was told it is done by a head count. The amount of the surplus is known and it is divided by the head count.

A dozen of the residents attending the meeting were unanimous in stating they would like to see this money turned over to local school districts. Some of them asked why the four could not wait until after the election since there may be new persons on the board and they also felt that this money should have been abated which would lower the tax bills.

Kolb, Stancik and Joy feel this is a political ploy. The motion to adopt the ordinance with regard to the distribution of the monies which passed by a 4-2 vote.

Mozweck said this was one of the happiest days of his life. In other business, Keith A. Raspovich was sworn in to the position of police sergeant.

Trustee William Hefka said Police Chief Frank Gilbert has indicated he would like to reinstate the position of Deputy Chief. Gilbert said at one time there were four captains, now down to one due to the fact that two have retired and he is in the process of streamlining the department and needs a deputy to act in his place when he isn't there, is out of town, or is on vacation. This request was approved.

Trustee Joy said she had a resolution on behalf of the children of Oak Lawn and the State of Illinois and pointed out that presently the state provides 33.6 percent of the cost of public education in contrast to 1970 where 48 percent of all money came from the State of Illinois.

She also asked that the mayor and trustees join forces with others in a state-wide effort to increase the percentage of funding to 51 percent of the cost and that they call upon all legislators in the state to introduce and pass legislation that all money received from the state lottery shall not be part of the common school fund, but a source of additional revenue that will be divided equally among all students. She said the way the money from the lottery is handled is a "big rip-off!"

Village Attorney Burton Odelson presented a resolution from District 123 and said that Ray Gonker of the 123 school board was present to answer any questions. Gonker pointed out that all school districts throughout the state are in dire straits and listed some eliminated programs and pointed out there is a shortage of teachers because there isn't enough money for salaries. He asked trustees to consider giving the check to the district and said he had checked with the Illinois law about use of the tax surcharge and it is legal to use it for education and for general welfare of the residents.

It was reported that since signing the contract with Waste Management and that the village now gets 50 percent for the recyclables; $2,700 was the total for January.

Reaching Out To Add Voters

Cook County Clerk David Orr testified recently in Washington, D.C. that the National Voter Registration Act "represents, without a doubt, our best hope for reaching the millions of unregistered voters across the U.S." Orr is one of three election officials from around the country who were invited by Congressman Al Swift, the Chairman of the Subcommittee on Elections of the Committee on House Administration, to testify in support of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993.

Clerk Orr asked the subcommittee to move quickly to pass the voter registration act saying, "It is the most significant voter legislation since the Voting Rights Act of 1965, and we should get on with turning its promises into realities with all deliberate speed."

David Orr, who is clerk of the second largest county in the nation, has been a key leader in the movement for motor voter legislation which allows persons to register to vote while getting their drivers licenses. Orr also spearheaded a voter registration and education drive in Cook County that registered over 370,000 new voters between January and October, 1992.

The National Voter Registration Act will provide for motor voter registration, mail registration, and agency-based registration in all offices that offer public assistance, unemployment compensation, and services to the disabled. A similar bill was passed by Congress last year and vetoed by President Bush. President Clinton has pledged to sign the voter registration bill which has been given the highest priority by the House and Senate leadership.

Orr and other proponents of the legislation believe that the bill would dramatically increase voter registration while controlling costs. "I know of no other single measure or strategy that will allow me to extend the opportunity to vote to so many of the eligible citizens of Cook County at such minimal costs," said Orr. "And that's the job I was elected to do."

Orr also addressed the concerns that some election officials have about vote fraud. "Let me tell you point blank - I am confident that we in Cook County can and will make this Act work, and work well," said Orr.

"As an independent Democrat, I have been active in the fight in Chicago and Cook County against voter fraud," Orr continued. "So believe me when I say that I would not be speaking in support of this Act, or any proposal, if I had not concluded, as have most members of Congress, that it contained sufficient protection against voter fraud."

More Hours To Pay Taxes

Cook County Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell recently announced extended office hours for property owners who wish to pay their first installment real estate tax bills in person.

Rosewell said that effective Tuesday, Feb. 16th, daily office hours at his downtown and five suburban offices will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. All offices will be open on Saturday, Feb. 27th from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The deadline for the payment of the first installment bills is Tuesday, March 2nd, and all offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. that day.

Under law, the first installment due date is March 1st. Since this is a legal holiday, Casimir Pulaski Day, the penalty date has been extended to March 2nd.

However, Rosewell emphasized that all six of his offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Pulaski Day, March 1st, for tax payments.

The first installment taxes are estimated bills based upon one-half of the previous year's total tax bill. The second installment bill, due in August, will reflect the actual tax rates and property assessments. Rosewell said that any property owner who has not received his or her tax bill should call the treasurer's office at 443-5100 or visit any of the six offices for a duplicate tax bill.

The offices are the downtown office at 118 N. Clark St., and his five suburban offices at 16501 S. Kedzie Ave., Markham; 1500 Maybrook Square, Maywood; 5600 Old Orchard Road, Skokie; 10200 S. 76th Ave., Bridgeview; and 2121 Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows.

MS Read-A-Thon Has Kids Reading For A Cause

Some 2,800 Chicago metropolitan area elementary school children representing 100 area schools have been reading for fun and for the benefit of 10,000 Illinois citizens who have multiple sclerosis, the disease of the central nervous system most often diagnosed in young adults between 20 and 50.

As the children enrolled in the MS read-a-thon reading program complete the project benefiting the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, an initial count of favorite authors and books finds the Berenstain Bears series listed most frequently, immediately followed by books by Roald Dahl such as Charlie and the Chocolate Factory and the continuing favorite, Dr. Seuss' Green Eggs and Ham.

During the read-a-thon program the children finish as many books as possible in a four-week period, then go back to sponsors who have pledged funds to MS for each book recorded. April 1st is the deadline for this year's group of readers to turn in their pledges and qualify for the program's various awards.

The MS chapter offered its first read-a-thon in 1974. In 1978, a survey of favorite books completed by children in the program found the "Peanuts" series by Charles Schultz the most popular choice followed by Dr. Seuss books, Nancy Drew stories by Carolyn Keene and the Hardy Boys novels by Franklin W. Dixon. Apart from series, top authors for both boys and girls were Syd Hoff, E. B. White, Patricia Lauber, Agatha Christie and A. A. Milne.

In 1993, authors named frequently in addition to Dr. Seuss and Roald Dahl include Beverly Cleary of the Ramona series and other books, Ann Martin, author of Baby Sitters on Board! and Francine Pascal, Jessica and the Babysitter.

Among books and authors preferred by boys are Matt Christopher with The Kid Who Only Hit Homer and The Great Brain series by John D. Fitzgerald. Witches and dinosaurs were subjects appearing on many lists.

Old favorites such as Black Beauty and Aesop's Fables along with the Laura Ingalls Wilder "Little House" series also are recorded.

Along with receiving a boost to their interest in reading, children enrolled in the program have been instructed at assemblies introducing the project to awareness of the needs and courage of people with disabilities.

The single reader who raises the most funds for MS will win four tickets to a Bull game and the opportunity to meet B. J. Armstrong offered as the top prize. Other prizes are awarded at various fund-raising levels, and all who complete the program receive Dairy Queen and White Castle coupons, a ticket to a Chicago Power soccer game, a certificate of achievement, and discount coupons for local attractions.

For additional information about the 1993 program and services available from the MS chapter, call (312) 922-8000 or 1-(800)-922-0484.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:
Senior citizens presently in a nursing home as 'private pay' residents or planning to enter as 'private pay' should be alerted to the "granny tax" which amounts to about $2,300 a year extra. This is paid to the state and became law last July 1st. Medicare pays only a small portion upon entry into a nursing home. Most residents who enter have minimum assets and qualify for Medicaid.

While no one doubts that Medicaid should help these people, it is unfair and unjust to put the burden on a small group of elderly who are on 'private pay' or their children to make such payment. For those, the yearly cost of a resident runs between $30,000 to $40,000. So there goes the retirement fund or money for their child's education.

Those affected should call or write their State Senator or Representative to eliminate the 'granny tax.' Also, for more information, contact the "Coalition Against the Granny Tax."

Bill Greene, who is organizing the group and deserves the thanks and credit for his efforts, can be reached at (708) 687-5158.

Sincerely,
s/s Jerry Pech

On Dean's List At SIU Carbondale

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has named 3,047 students to its fall semester academic Dean's List. These students make up the top 15 percent of SIUC's undergraduate student body. Dean's List recognition goes to full-time students whose semester grade point averages meet performance standards set by SIUC's various academic units. Those range from 3.25 to 3.75 on a 4.0 scale. During the fall semester, 1,167 students earned straight "A" grades.

Students included on the Dean's List from our area include Darin E. Cygan and Kimberly A. Saving of Chicago Ridge; Daniel A. Martino of Blue Island; Leonard J. Jarvic, Carrie A. Bettenhausen and Stephen M. Pabst of Oak Forest; Donald E. Fricka, Lowell L. Sumatra and Bryan F. McGoldrick of Oak Lawn; Michael A. Szubert of Burbank; Stacey L. Batchelor, Robert R. Lovesky, David J. Broschka, Daniel J. Gaughan and Amy E. Heinrich of Orland Park; Amy L. Natt and Kristin L. Kurland of Palos Heights; Kevin D. Andrasko, Jeffrey B. Herman and Cynthia L. Yelland of Palos Park; Lori M. Baker and Donald A. Kaminski of Palos Hills; Laura C. Nleman of Orland Hills; Jennifer M. Sinkeus of Worth; and Robert C. Staudacher of Evergreen Park.

Also included on the list were Clinton J. Body, Gregory C. Brewster, Chemell L. Ellis, Erick D. Oliver and Vincent L. Rawls of Ashburn; Marcus J. Washington and Chrise K. Parson of Beverly; and Megan M. Mandel and Matthew J. Wake of Mt. Greenwood.

Fax Papers From Court To Court

Suburban attorneys who request assignments for hearings to suburban courthouses in divorce cases won't have to drive to Chicago to do so after March 1st, according to a Cook County judge.

Benjamin S. Mackoff, Presiding Judge of the Court's Domestic Relations Division, signed orders on Friday, Feb. 5th, stipulating that facsimile machines will be used to transmit official court documents between the five suburban court districts and the Daley Center.

Mackoff signed the orders, he said, after becoming sensitive to the plight of suburban lawyers last summer when they were experiencing gridlock on the Kennedy Expressway. "Lawyers were sitting on the highway for two hours or more, just to have a preliminary hearing," he said. "This will save time and money for the lawyers and, subsequently, for their clients."

Under the plan, lawyers will file their documents in the court clerk's office of each suburban courthouse. The papers will be transmitted by facsimile machines to the Daley Center for review by a preliminary judge. If the preliminary judge approves the petition, the assignment can then be made to a suburban judge for a hearing.

"This came about because the suburban bar associations were anxious to have stipulated matters and uncontested defaults heard in the suburban court," Mackoff said. "Three years ago there were zero divorce cases tried in suburban courts. Last year, close to 10 percent of divorce matters were heard in the suburban courts."

All documents faxed to the Daley Center before noon will be acted on and returned to the suburb on the same day and will be available after 10 a.m. the following day to the attorneys.

The Cook County Circuit Court Clerk's office has also dedicated an information number for attorney inquiries on the program, according to Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Court. That number is (312) 443-6228.

National Disability Council Honors MDA

The Muscular Dystrophy Association has been honored by the National Council on Disability, the nation's only federal agency charged with recommending public policy on issues affecting people with disabilities. Chairperson Sandra Swift Parrino presented the National Council's outstanding service award to MDA President Lois R. West. MDA was honored "for outstanding leadership in the advancement of public awareness for people with disabilities."

Parrino cited MDA's Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, to be broadcast for the 28th year in September, as a pioneering force in increasing public awareness and encouraging social mainstreaming of people with disabilities.

"For more than 40 years, MDA has educated the public by presenting personal stories and achievements of people with disabilities imposed by neuromuscular diseases. While setting the standard for national voluntary health agencies with its programs of worldwide research and comprehensive services, the association has also had a dynamic impact on disability awareness," said Mrs. Parrino.

Jerry Lewis said, "We're honored by this wonderful acknowledgement of MDA's efforts to promote the rights of and opportunities for people with disabilities. Our 2,000,000 volunteers and the tens of thousands of children and adults we serve share my pride in this very special recognition."

Withdraw From Incinerator Negotiations

The South Cook County Environmental Action Coalition (SCCEAC) has learned that Mayor Tom Brown and the Village of East Hazel Crest, have withdrawn from negotiations with Reading Energy, developer of the proposed Robbins incinerator. Brown, in a letter to the members of The South Suburban Solid Waste Agency, said "While we will remain a member of the agency, we will no longer participate in any matters involving the proposed waste-to-energy facility to be developed in Robbins. We look forward to working with member communities on the development of long-range alternatives for the handling of wastes."

Mayor Brown has been a long term leader and a key municipal official in the effort to utilize the proposed incinerator. He headed the two-year study that resulted in the solid waste plan, which recommended using the facility. He subsequently headed the committee that has been negotiating with Reading Energy for more than a year.

"We have repeatedly detailed our concerns and demands but it seems as if we only inch along with revisions and that it now appears that a satisfactory agreement is not possible," said Brown.

Jeff Tagel, SCCEAC, said "No one in the south suburbs knows more about the economics of the burner and its inherent liabilities than Mayor Brown. And what he knows now is that it won't work. Since the mayor is the head of the negotiating committee we expect negotiations to collapse and the remaining 17 towns to look to other safer and economic solutions for their waste. SCCEAC supports that effort."

SCCEAC expects Mayor Brown's decision to leave The Robbins burner without any customers. A number of towns not part of the SSSWA have passed resolutions opposing the burner and have refused to ship it waste. "Those 18 towns were Reading's only potential customers," said Tagel. "Now they're probably gone. The only way for Reading to get this thing built now is to import waste and make the south suburbs a dumping ground."

Netsch Declares Illinois Is 'On The Mend'

January income taxes increased 12 percent from a year ago, $527 million compared to $470 million in January 1992, an indication that Illinois is experiencing modest economic recovery, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch reported recently. January closed with an available balance of $29 million in the General Revenue Fund. However, unpaid bills continue to be backlogged in the comptroller's office because of cash flow constraints.

The backlog at the end of January was $536 million, $34 million greater than the $502 million backlog at the end of January 1992.

Meanwhile, sales tax revenues into the general funds were $364 million in January, up from $358 million a year ago. Through seven months of fiscal 1993, sales taxes are running virtually even with last year's pace. Sales taxes through seven months of fiscal 1993 were $2.462 billion, $3 million less than the $2.465 billion through the first seven months of fiscal 1992.

Excluding short-term borrowing for both fiscal 1992 and 1993, total revenues to the general funds are up about 2.5 percent, $8.099 billion compared to $7.9 billion through the first seven months of fiscal 1992.

Money For Molecular Lab

Gov. Jim Edgar released nearly $45.9 million for the construction of a molecular biology laboratory at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) to significantly enhance the state's ability to capitalize on growing biotechnology.

"In addition to allowing the university to consolidate and expand its instructional and research programs in such areas as biological sciences and immunology, the new laboratory will become a centerpiece in efforts to support and stimulate the growth of the biotechnology industry in Illinois," the Governor said. "Tremendous scientific advances in the areas of genetics, DNA research and molecular biology are spreading to virtually all areas of life sciences. Investments in our educational system such as this will ensure that Illinois remains at the forefront of research and instruction in these rapidly changing technologies."

Funding for the project will come from bond funds that must be used for construction and cannot be used to support ongoing programs and services.

The 225,000-square-foot building, scheduled to be completed in early 1995, will house programs in genetics, biological sciences, biological chemistry, microbiology and immunology. With general laboratories, a nuclear magnetic resonance lab and library/research centers, the structure will provide state-of-the-art educational facilities for both undergraduates and graduate students.

The Governor's announcement brings to $478 million the total of state resources committed to improving college and university physical plants throughout the state in the last two years.

"That investment, in addition to providing better resources for our students and university faculty, also has translated into the creation of approximately 4,000 construction-related jobs throughout Illinois," Edgar stated. "Maintaining our educational infrastructure has the dual benefit of providing a better educational experience for our students and of creating quality jobs for our construction industries."

Construction of the four-story laboratory is expected to take two years and will generate 390 construction-related jobs. It will be located on the University's West Campus at the intersection of Polk St. and Ashland Ave. Planning funds totaling $2.4 million for the project have already been released. Ground is scheduled to be broken in April.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

The Pentagon is expected to announce on March 15th the closing of one of three naval bases in accordance with the recommendations made by the Congressional Base Closure and Realignment Commission: Orlando, San Diego, and Great Lakes operate similar training and recruitman facilities. Having served in the navy during WWII, and being a concerned citizen, I find the closure of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station would be a most wasteful and a flagrant misuse of taxpayers hard earned money. Great Lakes has over $1.8 billion in plant and equipment value of which $103 million has been invested in just the last five years. This state-of-the-art training facility would cost hundreds of millions of dollars more to rebuild and is neither economically feasible nor practical to move.

Great Lakes should not be closed. In fact, because of its capacity, it should be expanded! Great Lakes could easily absorb either the Orlando or the San Diego Naval Training Centers. It could also absorb many of the navy's smaller training facilities, thus saving taxpayers tens of millions of dollars through these economic measures. Great Lakes currently trains over 40 percent of our recruits and could train 100 percent of recruits given minor modifications. It trains virtually all of the sailors going to the surface fleet. The navy has over 32 separate commands at Great Lakes whose relocation costs are almost incalculable.

The midwestern location of Great Lakes Naval Training Center saves transportation costs, and valuable time, for the many recruits who come mostly from the midwest area and beyond. The many airlines using Chicago's O'Hare and Midway Airports provides air service to the many cities throughout the nation, making the Chicagoland area an important transportation hub of the country. Nearby colleges, hospitals, cultural and recreational activities provide an outstanding quality of life for sailors and their families. Lake Michigan is an unsurpassed resource with its unlimited supply of fresh water and its training potential. Need I remind you that two converted aircraft carriers plied the inland waters of Lake Michigan during WWII, training the many thousand navy pilots who saw much action in wartime? Great Lakes is the only naval training station which cannot be targeted by short range missiles.

To ensure Great Lakes future, everyone is requested to write their congressional representatives, and their senators, to persuade the Pentagon to keep the Great Lakes Base off next month's recommended list of possible base closures.

Sincerely,

s/s Gene Gallagher

Worksite 2000 Pilot Program

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan and community groups dedicated to improving employment and training opportunities for females and minorities have joined forces through a pilot program called Worksite 2000. The initiative is designed to help increase minority and female participation at the Division XI jail addition.

The Hispanic American Construction Industry Association (HACIA) and the Chicago Urban League will staff a trailer at the Division XI construction site to facilitate faster hiring. Qualified applicants will be referred to either a trade union for enrollment in a pre-apprenticeship program or to a contractor or sub-contractor as a potential employee. All records will be maintained as references for employment on a future project. The Chicago Women in Trades will concentrate their efforts on training and servicing the needs of women on the job including on-site sensitivity training and workshops on the subject of sexual harassment.

Cook County is the first public entity to aggressively seek increased participation of females and minorities through Worksite 2000, Phelan noted. "Cook County Government will continually monitor the status of female and minority participation on-site and work with contractors and sub-contractors to help them achieve participation goals."

According to Associate Director Karen Spivey, "The Chicago Women in Trades will serve as ombudsmen for tradeswomen, monitor the job site to ensure a comfortable working environment for women and train contractors and their employees about sexual harassment."

Phelan noted that female employment, in particular, is lagging significantly at only 2.5 percent of the construction workforce but said he is confident that with the help of the Chicago Women in Trades female participation in non-traditional trades will increase significantly.

Incinerator Control

State Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18) is addressing local concerns about the siting of garbage incinerators by introducing legislation that will require more public input in the siting process.

"The Edgar administration has advocated a policy of local control, instead of regional or statewide review of potential incinerator sites. What I am suggesting is that we expand the definition of local control to include more of the residents who will be directly affected by an incinerator project," O'Malley said. "This could help avoid situations such as the case pending in Robbins."

Senate Bill 52 will require the approval of every municipality within five miles of the proposed site of a new garbage incinerator. The legislation would also prohibit the construction of a garbage incinerator within five miles of any school. Senator O'Malley compared his proposal to territory limits in zoning issues.

"Currently, communities have control over zoning up to 1.5 miles outside their corporate boundaries," O'Malley said. "Certainly when we are talking about an incinerator, which will have much more of an impact than most general zoning matters, local citizens should have more to say in the siting process. These are reasonable local restraints."

Senate Bill 52 is co-sponsored by State Sen. Robert Raica (R-24).

Moats went on to say that two $4,000 scholarships will be awarded to 1993 graduates of any public, private, or parochial Chicagoland area high school.

Support For Balanced Budget

The leading sponsors of the Balanced Budget Amendment to the U.S. Constitution reintroduced the amendment on Feb. 4th in both the House and the Senate. The amendment represents a bipartisan, bicameral effort to establish in the Constitution the principle that the federal government must not spend beyond its means. In the Senate, efforts to pass the proposal will continue to be led by Sen. Paul Simon (D-Ill.) its chief sponsor, joined by a core group of cosponsors that includes Sens. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.), Larry Craig (R-Idaho), Dennis DeConcini (D-Ariz.), and Howell Heflin (D-Ala.). In the House, the drive to enact the amendment will be led by Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-Texas), its chief sponsor, and Rep. Bob Smith (R-N.H.), along with Reps. Payne (D-Va.), Kennedy (D-Mass.), Snowe (R-Maine) and Inhofe (R-Okla.).

The amendment requires the federal government to achieve and maintain a balanced budget, unless three-fifths of the House and the Senate approve a specific excess of spending over receipts. Congress may also waive the balanced budget requirement during wartime or when the threat of military action is imminent. According to Hatch, "These provisions achieve the flexibility and strong mandate necessary to set our nation on a path toward fiscal responsibility."

The constitutional amendment is identical to the proposal hammered out last summer in extensive negotiations among key House and Senate sponsors. Last June, this consensus version came within nine votes of the two-thirds needed for passage in the House. Simon, chairman of the Senate subcommittee with jurisdiction over constitutional amendments, said the amendment "will be the principal vehicle for a structural balanced budget reform in both the House and Senate. The amendment is a tool of fiscal discipline that would make balanced budgets the general rule, instead of the rare exception."

Congressional sponsors say that the broad-based support for the amendment reflects a growing recognition in Congress, and in the nation as a whole, that persistent budget deficits cause long term economic damage. A poll conducted by ABC and the Washington Post from Jan. 14th through 17th revealed that, by a margin of more than two-to-one, Americans feel a major reduction in the federal deficit is far more important than short-term spending to boost the economy. Referring to this recent poll, as well as other survey results, Stenholm said, "If ever a President has been given a mandate for deficit reduction, surely President Clinton has. The public understands the devastating effect of ever-growing deficits. They also understand that a constitutional guarantee is the only way to ensure fiscal responsibility in the future."

The amendment's sponsors note that recent economic studies have reinforced concerns about the government's lack of fiscal discipline. Last June, the general accounting office (GAO) warned that present fiscal policies are likely to lead to economic stagnation, or even financial crisis, unless action is taken to reduce the growing burden of federal debt. According to recent estimates by the Congressional Budget Office, the budget deficit for the current fiscal year will be $30 billion, the 24th straight year that federal spending has exceeded revenues. Gross interest payments, estimated at $295 billion in the current year, are only $7 billion less than Social Security expenses, the largest spending item in the budget. Referring to these figures, Smith said, "With a $4 trillion debt and an ever growing deficit, the American people have concluded that Congress can't muster the political will to balance the budget without a constitutional requirement to do so."

Family Leave

"This ends years of gridlock over an issue that is important to millions of working families," was the reaction of Senator Paul Simon to the President's signing of the Family and Medical Leave Act.

"When there's a crisis in the family, it's wrong to force a worker to choose between helping at home or keeping a job. For these families and their employers, this law is a good, solid answer."

"The new law exempts firms with fewer than 50 workers, and a federal study says the cost to employers will be just $5.30 a year for each covered employee. Sixty-four nations already have such laws. The employers who have led on this say they enjoy better productivity and morale and lower turnover and training costs," he concluded.

(Senator Simon has been a leading cosponsor of the Family and Medical Leave Act and serves on the Human Resources Committee, which has handled it in the Senate.)

Rate Increase

Pace, the suburban bus service, is eliminating the 25 cent surcharge on monthly and weekly bus passes that was part of a CTA fare demonstration. However, in order to continue to coordinate its services with those of the CTA, Pace is changing the price of these passes to match CTA increases. There will be a joint CTA and Pace Monthly Pass priced at $78, that can be used on both systems seven days a week for the entire month.

In addition, Pace will sell a monthly passport for $66 that can be used everyday on Pace buses, but weekdays only on the CTA. The CTA will also sell a monthly pass, that is only valid Monday through Friday on both CTA and Pace services, for $66.

A joint CTA and Pace weekly pass will be available for $20.50. It will be valid on both systems for a seven-day period, Sunday through Saturday.

Some transfer costs to the CTA will change slightly and the rush-hour period will be extended to include the hours of 6 to 10 a.m. and 3 to 7 p.m. More detailed fare information will be posted in Pace buses. All other Pace fares, tickets and transfer costs remain the same.

For more information, call Pace's passenger services office at (708) 364-7223.

Tax Advice

The Illinois CPA Society is offering Illinois taxpayers free tax advice on Tuesday, March 3rd and on Tuesday, March 10th from 6 to 8 p.m., kicking off its second annual "Tax Knights" program. For two hours volunteer certified public accountants (CPAs) will answer questions of Illinois taxpayers via the phone at no charge. Residents can call CPAs at the Illinois CPA Society offices - (312) 993-0393 or 1(800)572-9850 -- with questions regarding their individual Illinois and federal tax returns.

All Points Southwest

By Congressman Harris W. Fawell
13th District

As the first full legislative week of the 103rd Congress began, the talk from the majority party was full of great expectations of Congressional reform and the end of Washington "gridlock." Unfortunately, as one of the first major pieces of legislation emerged from the House Labor Committee, it became clear that Congressional reform was having its usual troubles.

This week the House Labor Committee, of which I am a member, took up consideration of the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (H.R. 1). The bill would require employers who employ 50 or more persons to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave per year in instances of the birth or adoption of a child or the placement of a foster child with an employee. The unpaid leave could also be taken in instances where there is a rather ambiguously defined health condition of the employee or a health condition affecting a child, spouse or parent of the employee. The health condition precipitating the taking of leave need not be verified by a physician. Upon return from leave, the employee must be reinstated by the employer to the same or an equivalent position.

I support the concept of unpaid leave for employees, but oppose the legislation because I object to the notion that a national personnel leave plan can be mass-produced by Congress to fit the needs and missions of all of America's employers and employees, both public and private. How this 50-page arcane personnel leave law could adequately monitor the coming and going of employees, say, of the Chicago Police Department or a busy health trauma unit of a major hospital, escapes me. As I have written in previous columns, this "one-size-fits-all" mandate also restricts the opportunity that employees increasingly have to choose from a "cafeteria" of benefit options such as early retirement, a flex-leave policy, a four-day work week, home work, life and health insurance, education, extended vacations, legal aid, elder care, child care and more. Why should Congress choose for employees which benefits they receive? If Congress mandates unpaid leave, they must realize that we are correspondingly limiting other employee benefit options.

Despite my opposition to the bill, I believe that Congress should not exempt itself from the employment laws which it mandates upon private and public employers. Accordingly, during consideration of the Family and Medical Leave Act in the House Labor Committee, I offered an amendment which would have removed such an exemption. The exemption protected House committees, agencies, or Members of Congress from being sued and taken to federal court if any of the 12,236 House employees felt that their bosses had abridged their rights under the new employee leave law.

Currently, H.R. 1 provides that all covered employees, with the exception of employees of Congress, may file suit, including a jury trial, for any of the myriad potential violations of the new law, including various forms of employer "retaliatory" discrimination for the employee taking advantage of the many provisions of this new law. Damages would include recovery of any wages, salary or employment benefits or other compensation denied or lost; plus liquidated damages, equitable relief including employment, reinstatement and promotion, fees and costs, interest and legal fees. But, of course, Congress is exempt and employees of the House of Representatives are not afforded the opportunity to seek these judicial remedies. Instead, enforcement of the act has been left to a totally internal Congressional review body called the Office of Fair Employment Practices (OFEF), staffed by House Members and employees, and whose proceedings are kept secret. In effect, Members of the House become prosecutor, judge and jury of complaints made by their aggrieved House employees. It would be unthinkable that private businesses could dispose of their employees' complaints in this fashion.

My amendment would have allowed an employee of the House who feels he or she has been wronged under the provisions of H.R. 1, and who is unsatisfied by the decision by the House Office of Fair Employment Practices, to take his or her case to federal court. This amendment was an attempt to bring Congress under the laws it passes for private employers and employees of America.

The amendment lost on a strictly party line vote. All the members of the majority voted against it. All the members of the minority voted for it. I suggested that Congress would exempt itself from the laws of gravity if they felt they could get away with it. No one disputed me. I plan to attempt to offer this amendment on the floor of the House when this bill is debated; however, the rules committee will probably not allow my amendment to be considered. So much for Congressional reform.

Housing Construction Upswing

"Total housing permits issued for the seven county Chicago metropolitan area rose 13 percent in 1992 compared to 1991. This is the first increase reported since 1986," said Robert G. Rowen, president and chief executive officer of Bell Federal Savings.

"Housing construction upswing in 1992 was basically due to the lowest mortgage rates in twenty years. The outlook for single family home construction looks good in 1993, since it appears interest rates may continue to remain low for the next twelve months," predicted Rowen.

His analysis is based on the volume of permits for single family homes and multi-family units recorded during the twelve months of 1992 by the Bell Federal "Survey of Building."

The entire metropolitan area issued permits for a total of 24,712 housing units compared to 21,948 housing units in 1991.

Single family permits rose 18 percent during 1992, totaling 20,408 compared with 17,349 reported last year. Multi-family housing year-to-date activity indicates, 4,304 units compared with 4,599 for the same twelve month period last year.

Total housing units reported since 1983 were:

	Single Family	Multi-family Units	Total Housing Units
1992	20,408	4,304	24,712
1991	17,349	4,599	21,948
1990	18,751	6,212	24,963
1989	21,914	7,639	29,553
1988	24,974	11,850	36,824
1987	24,562	12,588	37,150
1986	23,721	17,420	41,141
1985	15,670	14,134	29,804
1984	14,292	7,526	21,818
1983	12,917	9,530	22,447

Local Library Efficiency Plan

Secretary of State George H. Ryan recently joined Illinois State Chamber of Commerce President Sally Jackson in announcing a program that encourages local libraries and chambers to work together in meeting each other's needs.

"By being better entrepreneurs, libraries can find ways to help the businesses in their communities be more productive," Ryan said in a news conference at the Schaumburg Township District Library.

"When local businesses prosper, it's good for the tax base and for everyone involved, including libraries. Sally Jackson and I think it's time business people got to know their local librarians."

Chambers and libraries who agree to participate in the program, called Library Partners, will be asked to sign a contract stating their mutual commitment to cooperate on local needs.

Each community will be expected to submit an annual report outlining their cooperative activities. Participating communities will be eligible for an annual awards program recognizing and highlighting outstanding efforts.

Some libraries also maintain reference materials that are prohibitively expensive for individual businesses to buy. Others do on-line searches, help companies prepare marketing studies and help fledgling companies tie into business development programs.

In return, Ryan said, businesses can provide important support in the community for library construction projects and programs.

Businesses can also provide computer equipment, books and other materials, as well as technical expertise in helping libraries run more efficiently and provide better customer service.

"By truly making libraries everybody's business, I think we can look ahead to a day when both libraries and our business community will help each other prosper even more," Ryan said.

Authors Day

The South Suburban Library Association (SSLA) will host the 1993 Illinois Authors Day at the Tinley Park Public Library, 17101 S. 71st Ave., on Saturday, March 6th. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Two Illinois-area writers will take part in this popular annual event. This year's guest speakers are Edith Skom and John O'Brien.

The program offers the public a rare opportunity to hear local writers discuss their craft and their books. The program includes a book display and booksale of the works of the participating authors and provides opportunities for autographs.

Admission to the program is $5 for advance registration and $7 at the door. You can register in advance by mailing the registration form from the brochure available at many south suburban libraries. For additional information, call the Green Hills Library and ask for Renata Ochsner, (708) 598-8446.

Public Hearings

Public hearings will be conducted on Wednesday, March 3rd, in Chicago and on Thursday, March 4th in Springfield by the State Board of Education on a proposed amendment to the state plan for part B of the individuals with disabilities education act (IDEA) for fiscal years 1993-1995. The hearings are scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at both sites.

In Chicago, the hearing will be held in Room 040, ninth floor, State of Illinois Center, 100 W. Randolph. The plan, which includes state statutes, regulations, policies and procedures for instituting IDEA, is submitted to the United States Department of Education. This plan assures that Illinois will comply with all applicable federal laws, rules and regulations under IDEA. The amendment addresses changes in the state plan's comprehensive system of personnel development section.

The state plan and its amendment will be available for public review, until April 18th, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the state board's three offices: Springfield, 100 North First Street; Chicago, 100 West Randolph, State of Illinois Center; and Mt. Vernon, 123 South Tenth Street.

Individuals who want to present testimony at the hearings or need special accommodations should contact Gloria Jordan at (217) 782-6601 or TDD (217) 782-1900. Oral testimony will be limited to five minutes.

Persons unable to attend the hearings may send written testimonies to Jordan at: Department of Special Education, Illinois State Board of Education, 100 North First Street, Springfield, IL 62777.

IIT Womens' Program

The department of psychology at Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT) is seeking 21 to 60-year-old women who suffer from urinary incontinence for a four to six-week, non-invasive (no surgery or drugs) treatment program. Women who accidentally urinate when they cough, sneeze, laugh or lift weights will be considered for the program.

Under the guidance of IIT professor Jeffrey Cassisi, female therapists will teach participants how to strengthen their pelvic floor muscles using exercises. Participants will be required to attend educational workshops and keep a daily diary.

For more information, call Jeffrey Cassisi at IIT's psychology department, (312) 567-3518.

Ex-Husband Stalks, Kills Former Mate

In October of 1992, Lona Krull King, apparently fearing that her ex-husband might harm her, sought protection under the Illinois anti-stalking law. Last Friday, according to police, she agreed to meet her ex-husband, Wayne King, at a friend's house in Chicago Ridge. The meeting was to discuss visitation rights for the couple's three children, ages 7, 6 and 3. The friend was hosting a birthday party for Wayne.

Lona, accompanied by her three-year-old son, was at the home for approximately one hour where she spoke with Wayne. She left with her son and apparently Wayne left the home by the back door and followed Lona to her car. Moments later, gun shots were heard. While the three-year-old boy watched, Wayne shot Lona three times. She was pronounced dead at Christ Hospital at 1:56 a.m.

Early the following day, the 30-year-old man was stopped in Hammond by an Indiana State Trooper, and at that time shot himself. A .38 caliber pistol believed to have been the murder weapon was found in the car.

Wayne King had been indicted in November on stalking charges, which had been filed by his ex-wife in October. He had been freed on $200,000 bond. Stalking, defined in the Illinois statute as repeatedly following someone and threatening bodily harm, has been a felony offense in Illinois since last July. Stalking is punishable by one to three years in jail and a fine of $10,000 or more.

Lona and Wayne were married in 1984 and, according to friends, the marriage appeared to be solid about two years ago.

Lona's father, Peter Krull, blamed the court system for the tragedy. He feels that continuance after continuance, requested by defense attorneys, are the reason his daughter is now dead.

According to the Cook County State's Attorney's office, there is no rule as to the number of continuances allowed, sometimes a case may take six months to a year.

After the divorce last October, Lona and the three children were living with her parents in Hometown. The three children are still at the grandparents' home.

Archdiocese Annual Report Focus

The Archdiocese of Chicago's new annual report focuses on the faces behind the figures. Since its founding in 1843, the archdiocese has grown into one of the largest and most important institutions serving the Chicago metropolitan area. Its 382 parishes and 366 Catholic schools are an important part of the life and landscape of Cook and Lake counties.

According to the 1992 Official Catholic Directory, an estimated 2.306 million

Roman Catholics live and work in Cook and Lake counties. They represent people from all backgrounds and walks of life; in fact, masses are celebrated on Sundays in 20 different languages.

The theme of the annual report is "With courage and a passion for our mission." In its pages, stories are told, in words and pictures, of the countless ways Chicago-area Roman Catholics contribute to their church and their communities. Indeed, as

Cardinal Bernardin himself points out in a letter published in the annual report, "Catholicism has never been a spectator sport in Chicago."

Included in the annual report is a financial overview of the archdiocese for the 1992 fiscal year. According to Director of Finance John F. Benware, two of the most significant facts noted in the financial summary are that parish collections increased just one percent during the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1992, while parish expenses grew more than 10 percent during the same period. As a result, six of 10 parishes in the archdiocese spent more than they received during the 1992 fiscal year. "The message is simple. We must find a way to balance parish budgets," Benware said in a letter to parishioners published in the annual report.

Benware reported that the activities of the pastoral center also ran a $3.8 million deficit, although it was smaller than the $6.2 million deficit posted in fiscal year 1991.

The annual report is being published in three languages. The archdiocese is making available 300,000 copies of the annual report (including 25,000 translated into Spanish and another 9,000 translated into Polish) through the archdiocese's 382 parishes located throughout Cook and Lake counties.

Argonne Science Tourney

Sixty-four teams of high school science and math students will compete on Saturday, Feb. 27th at Argonne National Laboratory to represent Illinois and Wisconsin in the National Science Bowl this spring in Washington, D.C. Sixty-three high schools from Illinois and one from Wisconsin will compete. The Argonne event will be the seventh annual science bowl sponsored by the midwest's largest federal laboratory. Argonne's science bowl inspired the lab's parent agency, the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), to create the national event three years ago.

"Whether brushing up for the next round or watching two rival teams compete, the science bowl motivates and challenges students to learn about the world around them, reach their potential and achieve their dreams," said U.S. Secretary of Energy Hazel O'Leary.

The winning Argonne team and its faculty advisor will receive an expense-paid trip to the third annual National Science Bowl in Washington, D.C. on April 18th and 19th. Winners from 44 regional events are to compete in the National Science Bowl, co-sponsored by DOE and the Cray Research Foundation.

Participating area schools include A.A. Stagg High School, Bremen Township High School, Carl Sandburg High School, Lourdes High School, Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School and St. Laurence High School.

For two weeks now the American public has been bombarded with billions of dollars in taxes and spending figures which would send even a veteran Las Vegas croupier scampering to his medicine chest seeking relief from headache number 642.

The dust is finally settling and the wide array of spending cuts and tax changes proposed by President Clinton have been scrutinized and Americans are finally in a position to sort out just how all the changes will effect them.

As it stands now, there will be $1 in spending cuts for every $3 in new or increased taxes.

The increase in taxes for individuals will come from higher income taxes, from 34 percent to 36 percent for taxable income over $10 million.

The spending cuts by the federal government include some staff reductions, a freeze on pay for federal employees for one year, interest on the national debt by shortening the maturity of Treasury securities and the Defense Department.

The Defense Department would be hit the hardest of all government agencies by the Clinton administration with $12 billion sliced from its 1994 budget.

The Pentagon would cut $76 billion beyond what President Bush had proposed through 1997. The Defense Department would reduce new weapon purchases, trim the military by 200,000 troops, freeze all military pay through 1994 and all servicemen and women would receive smaller-than-forecast salary increases in the future.

In raw data figures, the Clinton administration expects to take in a total of $126 billion in higher income taxes from 1993 through 1998, while at the same time cutting defense outlays by exactly the same amount of $126 billion over the same five year span.

The vox populi is always to cut military expenditures. But is it sound reasoning? We don't think so, and here is why.

As wars proliferate and world order declines, the question becomes can the United States drift toward protectionism ignoring the fact our economy is highly interdependent with those of Europe and East Asia.

William E. Odom, who headed the National Security Agency from 1985 to 1988, and is now director of National Security Studies for the Hudson Institute says the Clinton administration needs a new slogan—"Guns and butter, stupid!" To foster interdependent economies requires security if we expect these economies to produce "butter." With this in mind, guns then simply become an overhead cost.

According to Odom, international prosperity requires international governance, not just national competitiveness.

Before President Clinton cuts the Defense Department as planned, he must convince us that world order does not spring up organically. World order is made by major powers.

The Versailles Treaty, which ended World War I in 1919, failed because America joined the other major powers, Great Britain and France, by placing a high degree on principle but short on military power. War resumed in 1939 and after World War II, the United States, having learned its lesson, stood high on principle but added military power.

Many people will argue that the cold war is over and that we don't need a big defense program.

The end of the cold war has simply focused the attention away from major conflicts to regional wars and not just in the third world. There are wars in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union and there will be more wars in the days, weeks and months to come all over the globe. And each regional war is a direct threat to the American economy which depends on stable democracies for the export of the products we produce.

There is also a strong argument for a permanent U.S. military ground presence in Saudi Arabia and Kuwait for long-term regional balance.

In the Far East, Korea wants assurance from President Clinton that he will keep military forces there as tensions mount between Japan and China and more economies are threatened.

The taxpayers, who would like to see the United States Armed Forces turned into a "paper tiger" by decimating military expenditures, fail to remember that history has a habit of repeating itself.

President Clinton, a student of history, would be wise in pondering what President Theodore Roosevelt said in 1901 before he slashes the Defense Department's budget to such an extent the United States cannot fulfill the world order inherent with being a super power. Roosevelt said, "There is a homely adage which runs, 'Speak softly and carry a big stick; you will go far.' If the American nation will speak softly and yet build and keep at a pitch of the highest training a thoroughly efficient Navy, the Monroe Doctrine will go far."

President Clinton has got the "speak softly" down pat, but does he have the will to make sure the United States will continue to "carry a big stick"?

The proposed slashes in the Defense Department budget could leave the United States holding a "small twig" just when world turbulence requires "soft speaking" leadership, firm diplomacy and a strong military as global economies become increasingly interdependent.

School Party

The A.A. Stagg High School Parents Association is again sponsoring an over-night party for graduating seniors on Friday, June 4th. The planning committee is looking for parents and interested community members to help plan and staff the party. The party will be held in the school with many activities for the graduates.

'Party '93' is offered as an alcohol and drug-free alternative to the kinds of celebration that too often add our loved ones to the grim statistics of highway accidents. Parents, community members and local businesses will again donate their time and resources to this worthy event. To volunteer or donate drawing or food items, please call 'Party '93' Chairman Pat Brown at 361-1810.

Donald W. Cranley, a salesman in the school products group of Jostens Co., presented graduation rings to three AFS students at Evergreen Park Community High School last week. The rings are mementos of the time spent at EPCHS and are inscribed with the school logo, a Mustang and other remembrances of the school. Pictured with Cranley and School Principal Charles Horn are the AFS students: Tiago Velho from Brazil, Jacob Johansen from Denmark and Ikhsan Mokoagow of Indonesia.

Dr. Frank Tatum, Alsip, Hazelgreen and Oak Lawn District 126 special education coordinator, has announced dates for this year's preschool screening for 3, 4 and 5 year old children being held during the week of March 15th at Stony Creek School, 11700 S. Kolin.

Parents can register 3 to 5 year olds for the screening during the kindergarten registration from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Tuesday, March 2nd at Hazelgreen School (371-5351; Wednesday, March 3rd at Stony Creek School (371-0220); and on Thursday, March 4th at Lane School (371-0270). A certified birth certificate is required for registration.

Conducted by the District 126 student personnel services staff, the screening includes vision, hearing and readiness.

Results will provide both parents and school personnel with a general profile of their children's relative abilities in readiness areas and indicate possible developmental areas which may need remediation or require further evaluation.

The age deadline for entrance into kindergarten for the next school year (1993-94) is five years old by Sept. 1st. At the time of registration, parents will be given an early childhood questionnaire to complete and bring with them to the screening.

If you have any further questions, contact Frank Tatum at 371-3080. If you are unable to register for screening on one of the above dates, call Sharon at 371-3080 after March 5th.

First-Time Operation At Christ Hospital

Two Christ Hospital and Medical Center physicians recently performed the hospital's first transluminal endorectomy catheter (TEC) procedure, which allows physicians to surgically open arteries blocked with cholesterol plaque.

Operating similarly to a roto-rooter, the TEC is a spaghetti-thin catheter with rotating blades at the tip. Inserted just above the blockage inside the artery, this instrument is able to cut through the cholesterol plaque blocking the artery. The procedure entails no surgery and is particularly useful in opening small arteries of the lower leg that can be difficult to bypass surgically.

In this first procedure at the hospital, physicians Victor Millan, M.D., and Jerry King, M.D., used the TEC on three arteries below the knee in a 70 year old patient. Following the procedure, two arteries were completely opened and the third was partially opened, bringing warmth to the patient's foot and stopping the leg pain.

Dr. Millan, a specialist in angiography and interventional radiology, is one of the nation's leaders in renal angioplasty and interventional radiology. He specializes in procedures used to improve circulation to the legs.

A cardiovascular and thoracic surgeon at Christ Hospital, Dr. King is certified by the American Board of Surgery and the American Board of Thoracic Surgery. The Palos Park resident is a graduate of Indiana University School of Medicine.

No Lead Problem In Hometown

Hometown Police Chief Nicholas Kolbasuk reported that his department has been making sure that residents are complying with the purchase of vehicle stickers during the Feb. 9th board meeting.

Kolbasuk also noted that there are problems relating to the state program for collecting sticker fees. He has discussed this with Alderman Marty Safstrom, who has made several calls and received conflicting information from state personnel.

Kolbasuk believes that the city is entitled to the sticker fees and according to Safstrom, the city clerk will contact the state again and get the proper information.

In addition, the city's director of public works, Joseph Madden, Sr., related that 40 water samples were taken recently and analyzed by a laboratory. The samples indicated that the city does not have a problem with lead in the water.

Safety Grant

The Cook County Sheriff's Police Department has been awarded a grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation to examine accident trouble spots and develop strategies to improve traffic safety on roadways in unincorporated Cook County. Under the grant, officers are to receive specialized training in accident investigations, traffic patterns and accident records analysis. The trained officers will then identify intersections and stretches of road that have an unusually high number of accidents. After analyzing the targeted areas, investigating officers will determine if any changes should be made and report their recommendations to the proper authorities.

"This grant will aid our efforts to make the streets of the county safer for motorists and pedestrians," said Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan. "We appreciate the Department of Transportation's help in improving traffic conditions in areas that have been plagued by high accident rates."

The Sheriff's Police will also form a traffic enforcement unit to patrol areas that have been targeted by the study.

The $41,196 grant will be administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT).

The Perfect Wedding

Be sure to read the following pages of the 1993 Messenger Newspapers' Bridal Supplement and you will be assured that special day in your life will be "The Perfect Wedding."

Relax At The Rehearsal Dinner

An elegant rehearsal dinner, a toast to the bride and groom with champagne or sparkling wine, close friends and family celebrating together—there is no better way to push the hassle of wedding preparations into the background.

Since only the bridal party and closest family members traditionally attend the rehearsal dinner, the intimacy of the meal allows for more elegant foods and wines. The costs are not nearly as prohibitive for a smaller number of people.

Here are some menu suggestions from Chef John Caputo of Jordan Winery in Northern California for an extra-special rehearsal dinner.

For late spring or early summer, Chef Caputo recommends a first course of crab cakes with roasted pepper mayonnaise or smoked salmon with baby vegetables followed by hot or cold filet of veal stuffed with wild mushrooms, or marinated Cornish hen with haricots. Dessert could be a tart of seasonal berries or a white chocolate mousse.

For colder weather and heartier appetites, the chef suggests fettuccine with smoked chicken in a cream sauce, or blinis with caviar and creme fraiche, followed by a seafood paella of bouillabaisse. A cheese course could precede a dessert of pears poached in red wine or a hazelnut torte.

A soft and elegant champagne, such as "J," Jordan Sparkling Wine, can do double-duty for toasting the couple before the meal and accompanying the first course, Chef Caputo says. To go with the main courses, he recommends a well-balanced white such as 1989 Jordan Chardonnay.

Tami Diane Dombrowski of Midlothian and Richard Donald Eischen of Skokie were married at St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Midlothian, last fall. Tami's parents are Diane and Joseph Dombrowski of Midlothian while Richard's parents are Pat and Bob Eischen of Skokie.

Perfect Gift Ideas For The Bride And Groom

If you know someone who said "I Do" recently, you're not alone. More than two million blushing brides walked down the aisle in 1991. This year, just as many women are expected to plan and celebrate their wedding day. With an estimated 200 guests at each event, chances are every adult in America will attend at least one wedding in 1992.

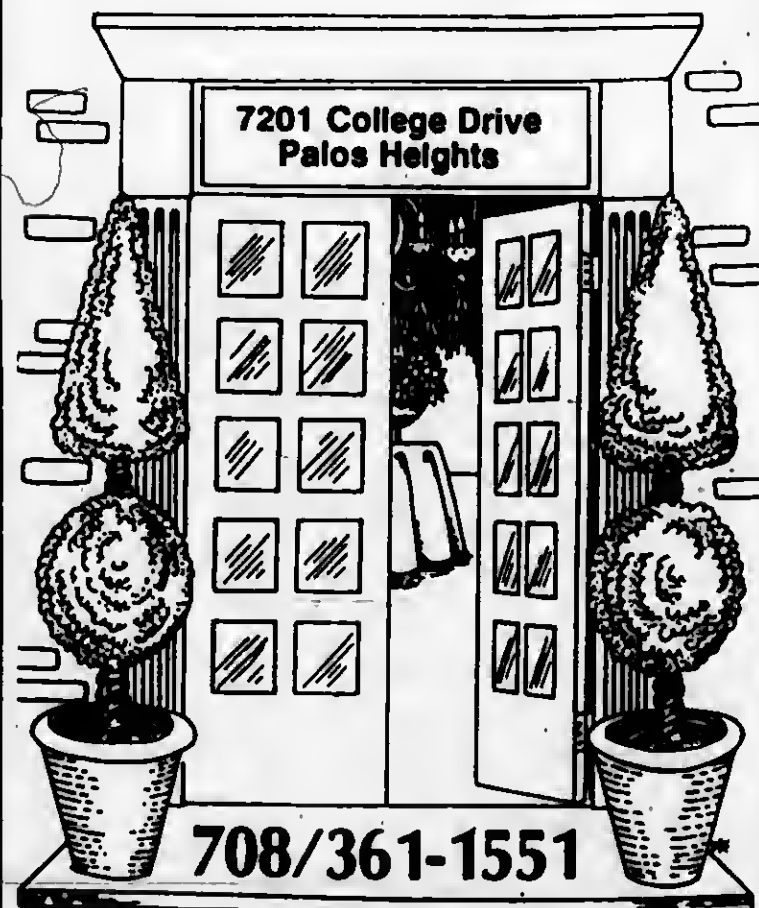

If you're one of the many guests with no idea what to give the bride and groom, wedding authority Suzanne Kresse offers some helpful advice. "People often like to be different and give a unique gift, despite a bride's request for the traditional," notes Kresse, author of THE COMPLETE WEDDING PLANNER. "Often appliances are overlooked as possible wedding or shower gifts. Yet small appliances are precisely the type of gift a bride wants and needs."

Basic need not be boring—the kitchen is one of the most important rooms that a couple will set up. According to Kresse, appliances such as a blender, coffeemaker, food processor and toaster topped brides' "must have" list for 1992. Among those quality kitchen appliances that Kresse suggests for the newlyweds is the Braun Hand Blender with Mincer/Chopper attachment, an easy-to-use appliance that saves space as well as time. Well suited for preparing small meals for two, the hand blender can mix milk shakes and cocktails in the glass, blend soups and sauces in the pot, puree ingredients in the bowl, and quickly chop and mince when needed.

While they are sometimes overlooked, groomsmen have a wedding wish list of their own. Included on the groom's list of most wanted wedding gifts is an espresso/cappuccino machine, a coffee grinder, a wok, and an ice cream maker.

Choosing Wedding Styles Is Bride's Prerogative

The time of day and formality of a wedding mandate the style of dress for the members of a bridal party and the guests. This is true only to a point, however. For example, a formal evening wedding calls for long gowns for bridesmaids and elegant long or short dresses for mothers and female guests. An informal wedding recommends day suits or short dresses for the bridal party and guests.

Within these broad guidelines lies fashion freedom for everyone. The bride can choose from a wide array of fabrics, flourishes and styles to accentuate her tastes and personality.

The bride selects her attendants' clothes to reflect her wedding colors and theme. From romantic long sweeping skirts to short and fitted sheaths, brides can create the perfect bridesmaid look.

Brides who wish to choose fashions their attendants can wear again should opt for soft suits or subtly elegant short dresses. A wedding is a special celebration, however, and some extravagance is expected. Lace, fabric roses and bows add charm and grace to bridesmaid fashions and these details can be removed later. The dress for the maid of honor should be similar to the other attendants, with a slight difference in gown style or shade.

Some brides even choose bridesmaid gowns which mimic their own gown exactly but in a vibrant color with fewer flourishes. An easy way to accomplish this is to have a dressmaker use the same pattern for all gowns and even a scaled-down version for the flower girl.

Jewel tones have been favored colors for winter and pastels for spring, but many shades are possibilities for all seasons. Floral prints are also popular year-round.

The bride will also decide how the flower girl and ring bearers will be dressed for the big day. Flower girls are usually miniature versions of the maids or bride. A wedding boutique, catalog showroom or dressmaker are the best choices for this type of uniformity in fashion.

Guests are generally left to their own discretion in dressing. However, the bride can steer their selections as well. By printing "black tie invited" on reception cards, the bride is requesting tuxedos for men and floor-length gowns to dressy cocktail suits for women.

If invitations contain no direction, guests should take a cue from etiquette books that spell out acceptable dress according to the time of day of the reception.

Ring bearers should mimic the dress of the groom. A short pant suit is an option for warm weather if the child is young. Tuxedo rental shops can provide a variety of options for ring bearers.

Mothers of the bride and groom and grandmothers should be given a color and length suggestion so that they'll coordinate with the bridal party. These suggestions also leave them room for individual expression.

Tuxedo Tips

Grooms are taking more interest in planning their weddings, and their formal wear should reflect their tastes as well as the bride's.

The 1990s have brought a relaxed look to men's formal wear. Shoulders are softer, fabrics are sensual to the touch and the fit is less stuffy than traditional Englishwear. Yet, the finished look is still very elegant and formal.

Choosing the correct tuxedo requires persistence, patience and the help of a professional. Visit several shops and try different styles. Ask plenty of questions, and record all information. This initial scouting should be done three to six months before the wedding day.

Also keep in mind the fathers of the bride and groom. Today's weddings often feature formal attire that matches that of the groom and attendants.

Be sure to pick up the tuxedo two to three days before the wedding. Make sure there are no stains, cigarette burns or fabric snags. Count the buttons on the jacket and check for fit as well.

Shirts should cuff up to one inch below the jacket line. The vest should line up with the front of the coat. Trousers should fasten comfortably, and shoes should match and complement the rest of the outfit.

Don't rent your tuxedos from a shop that doesn't specialize in formal wear and don't choose a cut-rate tuxedo. Don't allow out-of-town guests to bring tuxedos with them. You should take the necessary precautions to guarantee you have quality formal wear for every member of the wedding party.

For a formal ceremony, the groom can wear a long jacket in black or gray, a white shirt with wing collars and French cuffs, a vest, cummerbund, an ascot or four-in-hand tie, matching hat and/or gloves and overcoat and black dress shoes. Semiformal weddings simply eliminate elements from fancier attire.

The men in the wedding party should support the groom and be dressed similarly, with only slight variations. It is perfectly appropriate for all the men to wear the same tuxedo. However, slight and subtle variations between outfits can distinguish each man's role. One option is to have the groom wear a white pocket square to match the bride's dress while the groomsmen wear colored squares to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

Cummerbunds, bow ties and vests give added personality to formal wear. Cummerbunds should be worn with pleats face up. The wing collar is worn behind the front bow tie rather than in front. Black silk hosiery should be worn, except with a white tuxedo. Boutonnieres should be placed on the left lapel.

The following suggestions for the groom's personal appearance should not be overlooked:

- Get a haircut a few days to a week before the wedding. Have sideburns trimmed the day before.
- Hair should look controlled but not shiny. Use a water-based setting gel then brush through. Mousse will add body and control for thin hair.
- Shaving should be left for the last possible minute, especially for heavy beards.
- Shave in the bath or shower. Steam and hot water help to soften stubble. Finally, apply a moisturizer to prevent irritation.

Choosing Fashions For The Mother Of The Bride

These days many mothers of brides are looking for dresses that traditionally do not seem to suit this role. Grandmothers of the bride may still choose the traditional chiffon shirtwaist dress in mauve, pink, peach or aqua. The bride's mother, on the other hand, wants an outfit that is chic and shapely, unique and youthful.

The dress should be a reflection of the modern woman who will be wearing it. The mother of the bride today sees herself as more fashionable and with more distinctive style than her mother or grandmother had when they played these roles in wedding parties.

Striking and updated styling is not enough. The outfit must also be versatile enough to be worn later to parties, dinners and the theater. It should also be affordable. The mother's outfit is often bought near the end of the planning when the wedding budget is nearly spent.

Popular choices for formal weddings are long, beaded gowns or beaded jackets over long skirts. There are many options, and there is really no typical look. This wide array of available styles may make choosing even harder. Of course, it will be more satisfying if she can find an outfit that fits both her role as mother of the bride and her personal style.

Make Great Honeymoon Photos A Snap

Every newlywed couple wants tangible memories of their honeymoon. Whether it's a trip to an exotic island, Niagara Falls or Europe, the best way to capture the memories is through photographs. Here are some tips for taking photos that will let you relive that special time in your life.

- Choose a camera that can be tucked neatly into a corner of a suitcase or purse. An ideal camera choice is a lightweight 35mm compact zoom camera that doesn't require a lot of accessories.
- Choose an auto-everything camera for faster, easier picture taking. With many of today's advanced compacts, the camera loads itself, advances the film and rewinds at the end of the roll. Plus, auto-focus ability guarantees sharp images every time.
- Take panoramic pictures—sunsets, landscapes and group photos, for example—using the camera's wide-angle setting. A wide angle will capture the whole scene.
- Use telephoto to bring the subject closer. The zoom lens on the camera is ideal for portrait-type snapshots or for bringing the scene closer to you.
- Use fill-in flash for backlit photos. If the subject you're shooting is illuminated from behind, the camera may mistakenly register enough light for a properly exposed picture. But you'll most likely end up with a silhouette. Using fill-in flash will provide the proper exposure for a balanced photo.
- Use a camera with a self-timer so both honeymooners can be in the photo.
- Take along a mini-tripod or small beanbag. You'll need one of these to anchor your camera when using the self-timer or shooting at night.
- Take along lots of film. If you buy film in a foreign country, aboard a cruise ship or at a resort, you'll probably wind up paying a hefty premium. In some cases, you might not even be able to find film.
- Don't leave your camera in the sun or a hot car—it can ruin the film. Tip: Keep camera and film in a coldpack bag.
- Don't put your camera through X-ray checkpoints. Ask the attendant to hand-inspect it, as the X-ray can spoil your film.

Tips To Avoid The Wedding Jitters

The months leading up to your big day can be filled with stress as well as happiness. There are so many details to plan and carry out—choosing a site for the ceremony, finding the perfect clothes, choosing your wedding party and furnishing your new home, just to name a few. All of this added to the inevitable doubts about getting married in the first place can create wedding jitters.

Wedding jitters are as common as weddings themselves. There are some ways to make sure the anxiety doesn't get out of hand.

- Don't be afraid to admit you're upset and tell your partner what's bothering you. This applies if it's something as simple as forgetting vows to a serious question you may have about the relationship.
- Don't keep these stressful feelings to yourself. You'll end up transferring them to something or someone other than the real cause of your worries.
- Take positive action whenever possible. Practice reciting your vows in front of a willing friend or sign up for a premarital workshop. There are ways to work out the natural nervousness you may be feeling.
- Share the responsibilities of the wedding. Your fiancé should join you in picking out a catering hall and writing thank-you notes. He can also handle the honeymoon arrangements. The idea that the bride should handle all details is old-fashioned and exhausting.
- Keep a calendar of everything you need to do. This master plan will give you the security you need so you know you're not forgetting something crucial.
- Gather business cards, fabric swatches and magazine clippings you have accumulated and keep them in one place. Organization can greatly reduce anxiety.
- Have a system for doing each task. Invitations, for example, can be broken down into several steps. Address envelopes, stuff them, seal them and stamp them. You can then decide how long each step should take and who will be responsible for it. You should set a completion date as well as a time and place to begin. (Remember, invitations should be mailed six weeks before the wedding.)

Photograph courtesy of Sonshine Studios/Barb Williams

- Pace yourself. Don't try to do too much in one day. You'll make it through the wedding months much easier if you don't try to tackle more than one major job a day.
- Guard your health. Don't let a hectic schedule keep you from eating right. A drop in blood sugar will make you feel weak and even more jittery.

- Be sure to get enough rest and exercise. Exercise increases the body's level of norepinephrine, a substance that gives you a feeling of calm and well-being.
- If you can't fall asleep at night, try the time-tested methods of warm milk or a hot bath.

There are many details to remember when planning your wedding. If you stick to these guidelines and organize all the details, you'll get through the planning and enjoy your big day.

Designing Your Own Wedding Veil A Snap

Imagine going into a bridal shop and getting the bridal veil of your dreams with no one telling you that you can't have this puff with that length of veiling, with this headpiece, without costing you a fortune and taking 10 to 12 weeks to do it.

Well, if you can't imagine it, you haven't been to Know a Veil. Future brides go into to Know a Veil daily and experience the ultimate in service, with a smile. Wanda and Yolanda of to Know a Veil call the time they spend with each bride, helping them design their veil, their play time. Each girl is given an hour or more to sit and enjoy the experience of designing their own veil, as the ladies build their headpieces on their heads, much as a hair dresser designs and does their hair.

After the bride designs her dream veil, she is surprised again to learn she cannot only have her veil in 10 to 12 days, but she can also rent or buy her bridal slip, order jewelry for herself, bridesmaids and mom, as well as design her custom garter. In fact she can order almost all the accessories that she will need.

The ladies at to Know a Veil, want their brides to enjoy the time spent with them. They are glad to help in anyway possible, with advice, with last-minute items that may have been forgotten, i.e. A mother 10 a.m. Saturday needs a wreath at 1 p.m. the same day — a bride orders a custom headpiece Thursday night and needs it Saturday at noon! No problem — says Wanda and Yolanda, with a smile. Enjoy the experience of, to Know a Veil.

to Know a Veil is located at 9356 S. Roberts Road in Hickory Hills. Call 599-2430 to make an appointment.

Groom's Planner

There are many important duties for the groom to remember as the big day approaches. The best man, ushers and groom's parents can also make many contributions. Keep this guide for reference, and you'll be sure to remember every little detail!

Groom:

- Buy an engagement ring.
- Choose your best man, groomsmen and ushers for the wedding.
- Have a list of people you want to invite to the wedding. Your family should make out their list as well.
- Choose a wedding present for the bride.
- Go with your fiancée to a formal wear shop to select outfits for you and the men in the wedding party.
- Select the wedding ring with your fiancée and allow time for sizing and engraving.
- Apply for a marriage license.
- If you're planning a traditional wedding, plan on paying for the bride's bouquet, going-away corsage, corsages for both mothers and other close female relatives on either side, and boutonnieres for yourself, groomsmen and ushers.
- Make insurance changes for yourself and your new spouse. Considerations should include life, personal property, household, medical and fire insurance.
- Be certain you and your fiancée have all necessary papers, blood tests, birth certificates, etc.
- Give the clergyman's fee to the best man the day of the wedding. He will then give it to the clergyman following the ceremony.
- Notify your attendants of the time and place of the wedding rehearsal.
- Plan your bachelor dinner several days before the wedding. The best man and ushers often prefer to host this.
- Be sure both you and your new spouse sign the wedding certificate before leaving on the honeymoon.
- Send a thank-you note or telegram to the bride's parents the day after the wedding.

Notes:

Best Man:

- Inform the ushers of any special seating arrangements during the rehearsal.
- Get the wedding ring the day of the ceremony.
- Check the tickets, reservations, etc., for the honeymoon and be sure the groom has tickets when he leaves.
- Have marriage license and fee of clergyman ready the day of the wedding.
- Help the groom prepare for the ceremony. Make sure his bags are packed and his going-away clothes are ready.
- Accompany the groom to the wedding. Make sure you are there at least 15 minutes before the ceremony.
- Be timekeeper and toastmaster at the reception. Help the couple make their getaway at the appropriate time.

Notes:

Groom's Parents:

- Give your guest list to the bride so she can coordinate the list with hers.
- Give a rehearsal dinner for the bride if the bride's family is willing for you to do so.
- Call on the bride's family before the engagement is officially announced.
- Send the bride's mother a note expressing happiness about the couple's engagement.

Diamond Buying Basics

Courtesy of K's Merchandise

If the purchase of a diamond engagement ring is part of your wedding plans, you should learn the basics of diamond buying so you can get the most for your money.

The five basic parts of a diamond are:

Crown—The top of the stone. The crown lies above the girdle.

Girdle—The border or edge of the stone between the part you see and the part you don't.

Cutlet—The bottom point or lowest part of the stone. If the cutlet is missing, there may have been damage or it may have been taken out in the original cut. This sometimes happens with colored stones.

Pavilion—The bottom half of the stone.

Table (or Face)—The flat top of the stone and the stone's largest facet.

Keep in mind that diamonds are judged by four characteristics: cut, color, clarity or flawlessness, and carats. Knowing these four factors can help you select a diamond ring.

The cut of the stone is the most important. A good cut shows the brilliance of the stone.

The color of a diamond can be best judged by placing the diamond face down on a piece of white paper or cardboard. Look at the ring with the cutlet pointing toward you. The color refers to the amount of yellow or brown tint you see in the stone.

Diamonds are graded by color from D to Z. D, the best rating, means a diamond is virtually colorless. The stones get progressively more yellow from there. Any diamond rated from D to H is considered very good. Even K and L, which show tints of brown or yellow, can be used in certain settings.

Clarity affects a diamond's resale value, but it is possible to have a very beautiful yet flawed stone. You may be happy with a less than perfect stone if you aren't concerned about the resale value. The worst place for flaws in the stone is under the stone's table where it is the most noticeable. The best place is on the pavilion side where it will be least visible from the top.

Jewelers may say they can remove flaws with a laser. Lasers can make the black spots almost disappear. The holes from the laser, however, can be seen with a jeweler's eyepiece.

Diamonds are sold by the carat which is a unit of weight. There are 100 points to a carat. A stone that weighs 75 points is three-quarters of a carat. Many people want to have a full carat diamond, so you may be able to find a 95-point diamond that's considerably less expensive than a 100-point diamond. The 95-point diamond may even be a more beautiful stone.

When shopping for diamonds, ask to see the grading report for any stone that interests you. Very few fine diamonds are sold without this report which is also called a diamond certificate. Check the certificate's issue date. The stone may have been recently damaged if it was issued long ago.

You should also check the name of the lab who issued the report. The Gem Testing Laboratory of the Gemological Institute of America is the best known lab. Other highly respected labs are the Gemological Laboratory Gubelin, Schweizerische Stiftung für Edelstein-Forschung, American Gemological Laboratories, International Gemological Institute, HRD and the European Gemological Laboratory.

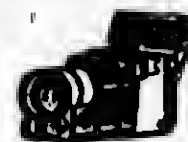

Check everything on the report. This includes the symmetry and depth percentage as well as color and clarity ratings. You may need to check out further reference material at your local library to explain the finer points of these grading reports. Only buy a stone with a depth percentage between 58 and 64 percent.

Keep this information in mind when searching for the diamond ring that's perfect for you.

Tips For Successful Videotaping

Weddings are a memorable event that can be forever cherished when captured on videotape. The quality should be as high as possible, and the type of camcorder you choose is very important. A compact 8mm camcorder can provide outstanding picture and sound quality. Its small size also makes it perfect for capturing the action unobtrusively. Another bonus is its ability to record for up to 2.5 hours on a single videotape.

Be sure you have an extra charged battery on hand. Most ceremonies and receptions last much longer than one or two hours. This is the standard amount of time a camcorder battery will last, so a backup is essential.

You can create more interesting videotapes by taking the time to interview the wedding participants. Segments can be edited at a later time and inserted anywhere throughout the video. You can also create a more personalized experience by adding your own titles and graphics for a more professional look.

The following will help you make a successful video:

- Read the manual. Many contain tips that can be very useful. Try them and learn!
- Get steady. Holding the camera steady as you shoot is essential. Stand with your feet shoulder width apart, with your elbows down and hold the camcorder in both hands.
- Low-angle shots are the most successful if you kneel with one leg raised for support. For longer scenes, brace yourself against a nearby support such as a wall or post.
- Keep the horizon level. If this is difficult, use a tripod.
- Alternate your shots. A variety of close-ups and long shots make the video more entertaining.
- Use enough light. Low light produces low contrast which tends to flatten a scene and make it boring.

And remember, a copy of the tape makes a great gift for the new couple!

A Pearl Of A Gift

Legend has it that thousands of years ago, a Hindu god dove into the sea to find one exquisite pearl as a wedding day gift for his daughter. Today, pearls, representing love and purity, are a traditional accessory for the bride.

Natural pearls, due to their scarcity, were once accessible only to the very rich. But about 80 years ago, man learned how to coax oysters into producing enough pearls to make them available to all. These "cultured" pearls, helped into maturity by man, are regarded as fine a gem as natural pearls.

Imitation pearls, on the other hand, are made almost entirely of synthetic and sometimes organic chemicals; and have no intrinsic value. These pearls have no place in a wedding party. Cultured pearls, however, can be worn with pride anniversary after anniversary.

To choose the cultured pearls right for the bride, consider these factors:

- Choose the best quality you can afford. Look for pearls with a bright, clear luster and a deep inner radiance. Try to select pearls without any noticeable surface blemishes such as cracks, bumps and blisters.
- Match the length and style of the pearls to the bride's gown. One- to three-strand princess- or choker-length necklaces are best suited to off-the-shoulder or scooped-neck gowns, and help to frame the face as well. Longer strands of pearls are called for to complement high- or closed-neck gowns.

• If wearing earrings, remember that drop earrings make the face appear longer while stud and button earrings have a shortening effect.

• As a general rule, choose rose-tinted pearls for women with lighter hair and fair complexions, and creamy off-white pearls for women with darker hair and skin tones. However, it's best to match pearl color to individual skin tone by placing the pearls against the skin.

Pearls are as perfect for the rest of the wedding party as they are for the bride. Inexpensive pearl earrings or bracelets for the bridesmaids and pearl cuff links or shirt studs for the ushers make wonderful gifts and help coordinate the wedding party's appearance.

Tips To Help You Look Your Bridal Best

Begin your bridal beauty regimen months before the big day. This will give you time to set up visits with a makeup artist, dentist, hairstylist and even a dermatologist as soon as possible.

Choose your makeup artist beforehand to guarantee a polished look for your wedding day. Discuss the best shades for you as well as any likes or dislikes. This will also give you plenty of time to practice prior to the big day.

Makeup shades should be kept subtle, and an attendant or parent can carry supplies so you can touch up throughout the day. Dust your entire face with translucent powder to minimize shine in photos.

A dentist can inform you of the latest techniques to whiten as well as straighten your teeth. A bleaching gel can be applied in three to four sessions for a whiter smile. Porcelain bonds called veneers can be affixed to the front of teeth to fill in gaps or hide stains. If teeth are too damaged for veneers, porcelain crowns can be used. Both procedures require two to three visits over several weeks.

You should decide on a hairstyle months before the wedding as well. You can keep your current style with only minor changes or you can go for a completely new look. If the style requires a new cut, perm or color, you should have these done at this time. If you start your new technique several months before the wedding, you'll have time to make corrections and get used to the new style.

Be Prepared

Your wedding is only a few weeks away and you're dreaming of a worry-free day. But, as we all know, even the best-laid plans sometimes go awry.

If you're the victim of a record heat wave or an organism that never shows, how will you cope? The following tips will help you get through the day with style.

Problem: You spill red wine on your dress. Zippers stick, wrinkles appear, buttons fall off and veils tear. Everything that can possibly go wrong with clothes is happening before your eyes.

Solution: Ask the salon owner where you purchased the dress what the dress is made of and how to make repairs in an emergency. Be sure to pack a small sewing kit with needle and thread, glue, safety pins, tape, a travel steamer and spot remover. If it helps you can move your flowers and use them to hide a spot or tear.

Problem: A bridesmaid is about to faint. Stage fright, too much excitement or a skipped breakfast could contribute to the problem.

Solution: Be sure to include all attendants in your wedding rehearsal. They should all practice walking down the aisle and practice what they will do at the altar.

You should also suggest plenty of rest and relaxation for everyone the week before the wedding. This includes plenty of sleep and exercise. Plan your rehearsal dinner for an early evening or hold it two nights before the ceremony.

Ask your maid of honor or an usher to carry smelling salts, aspirin, adhesive bandages and tissues.

Problem: The photographer is nowhere to be found. Or the wedding cake arrives with the wrong inscription. The florist drops off six centerpieces and you ordered 12.

Solution: Try to avoid these mistakes by getting everything in writing. A reliable contract should specify delivery date and hour as well as details such as dress colors, frosting flavors and liquor amounts.

Provide all delivery people with a map and instructions for reaching your home or the reception site. All services should be confirmed well ahead of the ceremony and again the day before.

On the wedding day itself, ask a friend to get to the church early to make sure the flowers are being delivered and the photographer is setting up his equipment. As a last resort, you should turn to backups for these services. Send the ushers to the bakery and liquor store for missing items and recruit your cousin for photographer. Don't wait until the last minute to make these changes if you think they may be necessary!

Problem: It's pouring rain or it's much too hot and you've planned an outdoor wedding.

Solution: It's essential for you to have a backup location for any outdoor festivities. You should also have signs with directions to the church or a detour route in case of flooded roads.

Wedding Invitations Need Proper Addressing

The mood of the '90s—especially when it comes to weddings—is a yearning for the elegance and ceremony of an earlier time.

And to go along with wedding invitations that fit that mood, experts emphasize the importance of hand addressing envelopes to your guests-to-be.

Here are some guidelines for addressing wedding invitations:

— When addressing the inner envelope, exclude the adults' first names and addresses. Intimate relatives may be addressed as "Aunt Elizabeth and Uncle John." Below the parents' names, include the first names of all children to be invited.

— When addressing the outer envelope, always use a guest's full name and formal title. Use abbreviations only for Mr., Mrs., Ms., Dr. and Jr.

— It is improper to use abbreviations in the street address or to abbreviate a city or state. House numbers and zip codes may be written in figures.

— It's a good idea to have the printer print the return address on the outer envelope to ensure that any undeliverable invitations are returned.

— Invitations should be mailed four weeks in advance.

— Check with the post office to see if the invitations need additional postage. Invitations on heavy paper or with several enclosures often do.

To receive a catalogue of wedding invitations—including rich linen, gold embossing and floral patterns to match the elegance of handwritten envelopes—call Wedding Invitations by Elaine, 1-800-323-2717.

For a catalogue of more moderately priced designs, call Rexcraft at 1-800-635-4653.

Tradition

Throwing Rice

• Originally thrown to increase fertility (symbolizing the close relationship between women and the life-bearing grain).

Dresses and Veils

- White gowns symbolize celebration and joy.
- When gowns made specifically for weddings were first manufactured in the U.S. during the 1800s, a very light brown shade was popular because it was complimentary to the bride's skin.
- A wedding veil originally protected the vulnerable new bride from the evil eye.

Who's winning the battle for the hearts and minds of our kids? Drugs, value-free education, youth suicide, crime, homosexuality, permissive sex; all are taking a terrible toll on our kids. Many Americans know their kids are hurting, but may not know what has gone wrong. Dr. James C. Dobson, president of 'Focus on the Family' and Gary Bauer, former domestic policy advisor to Ronald Reagan and undersecretary of the U.S. Department of Education, contend we are enmeshed in a civil war that will determine which value system will guide our nation. Our children are the prize to the winner.

A wise man will hear, and will increase learning.

—Proverbs 4:7

To make important decisions about buying or selling a home, you must communicate your objectives to a willing ear, to someone who listens, then translates those objectives into dreams fulfilled. Where you find that special knowledge and understanding of your objectives, there will you also find your dreams.

I heartily subscribe to this principle of real estate. Take time to explain what you want in your next home, and I will find it for you. Call today!

Hazelgreen Gets New Principal

The District 126 School Board held its regular monthly meeting on Feb. 10th.

The Board congratulated the Hazelgreen School girls basketball team which won the Intermediate grade tournament, and Coach Ron Paulson.

The board approved the policy, complaint and hearing procedures to comply with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and also adopted a grievance procedure for cases involving Section 504 and the American with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990.

The board authorized Tom Moore, district transportation coordinator, to negotiate a new contract with Alpha Bus Company for special education transportation.

Trustees adopted a resolution of Intent to sell $4.1 million in working cash bonds and directed Klein, Thorpe & Jenkins to oversee the sale of the bonds.

The board tabled any action on the wellness program for employees for the 1993-94 school term until the March meeting. A motion for the use of Prairie Junior High School from Feb. 19th to 21st for participants in the Winter Guard International Midwest Regional Championship died for lack of a second.

In other action, trustees appointed Ron Paulson, Hazelgreen School assistant principal, as Hazelgreen principal effective July 1st. President Reed Powers noted that the decision was a difficult one as all candidates that applied were highly qualified.

The board accepted, with regret, letters of retirement from Harry Hansen, Prairie Junior principal, effective June 1994; and Lou Madon, Prairie Junior science and language arts teacher, effective June 1994. Hansen will be completing his 22nd year and Madon his 31st year of service to the district.

In other personnel matters, the board granted Noreen Williams, Prairie Junior language arts teacher, a maternity leave for the first trimester of the 1993-94 school term.

Superintendent William Boucek reported that the education fund balance for Jan. 31st, 1993 was $170,528 vs. Jan. 31st, 1992 balance of $546,806, a difference of $376,278. February is the earliest that the fund has been in the red.

Trustee Dave Snooks reported on the board/administration/union calendar meeting of Feb. 10th. The calendar will be adopted at the March board meeting.

George Kernwein, assistant superintendent, gave an overview of the upcoming Feb. 26th teacher institute.

In other reports, Ed Buchalo, Stony Creek School 6th grade teacher, reported on the district's new D.A.R.E. drug education program.

The next regular school board meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 17th at Hazelgreen School, 11751 S. Lawler.

"The public is always welcome," said Board Member LeeAnne Grens.

Wedding Costs Who Pays For What Is Settled By Realities

Even in today's changing society, tradition is still an honored part of our heritage, and that tradition says that the major portion of the wedding expenses should be borne by the bride's family. But financial obligations can and do yield to everyday realities, and the final arbiter of who pays for what in a wedding frequently depends on who is most willing and able to pay.

Following is a list of the traditional expenses involved in a typical American wedding and who—traditionally—pays them.

The Bride

1. Wedding ring for the groom (if it's a double-ring ceremony).
2. A wedding gift for the groom.

Newlywed Party Planning

Newlyweds tend to "test the waters" in entertaining at home, according to a recent nationwide survey. Most newlyweds invite friends before parents and in-laws, and nearly two-thirds of all newlyweds serve "something simple" the first time they entertain.

Commissioned by Krups North America, Inc., a leading manufacturer of small kitchen appliances, the "Bridal Entertaining" survey was designed to determine the "entertaining profile" of newlyweds, with a specific focus on how couples perform in the unfamiliar role of host and hostess.

Murphy's law—"If something can go wrong, it will"—may never be more true than on the occasion of a couple's first party.

The Krups "Bridal Entertaining" survey was conducted by R.H. Bruskin Associates, a leading market research firm, through phone interviews with a total of 1,000 married men and women across the country.

Choose A Caterer To Match Your Wedding Style

Weddings vary all across the nation, from very simple to extremely lavish. Catering costs and styles vary as well. Couples should shop around to find the caterer that suits their needs, style and budget.

Menu possibilities have also changed. Sit-down dinners or simple hors d'oeuvres are traditional, but some weddings now include a number of buffet stations set up throughout the room. Each station serves different types of food, and guests can choose what they would like.

Your caterer will be more qualified to match your wedding style if you successfully communicate the details of the reception. You should make clear the exact type of party you have in mind. You should feel comfortable with the catering manager and communicate your understanding of the reception details with him or her. It is also important to discuss the type of atmosphere you wish to create—from simple to extravagant.

Many people do not realize the capabilities of most caterers. They can do as little as you wish, or they can organize and carry out the entire event. This could include transportation, flowers, entertainment and accommodations for guests. Available services will vary, so be sure to check with your local caterers to get a good idea of your choices.

It is usually easier if you approach the caterer with definite ideas. You should have a firm commitment on date, time and place of the reception. You should also consider how you would like the food served and what style of food you prefer. Another consideration is whether you plan to have dancing, since a larger space will be needed.

With proper planning and communication, your caterer can work with you for a reception that's a sure success.

Choosing The Perfect Fabric

The following guide will help you distinguish the many different types of fabrics so you can choose a look that's perfect for you.

Fabric Guide

Charmeuse—Made of silk or polyester blends. A soft, and lightweight cloth which drapes beautifully for a sophisticated look.

Chiffon—Made of expensive silk chiffon or less expensive polyester-silk blend. Gives a floaty feeling and is usually designed in layers. Very feminine and romantic.

Crepe—Made of light or heavyweight polyester or rayon, crepe provides a marvelous drape for cowl necklines, raglan sleeves and other sophisticated effects.

Crepe De Chine—A silk or blended fabric that gives a soft and floating look. This is most often used for informal bridal gowns.

English Net—A quality cotton net that is usually applied with lace or used alone for a sheer and bare yet covered look.

Eyelets, Batistes, Voiles and Piques—Young and summery fabrics of cotton-polyester blends or cotton. These are usually pure white and perfect for country and outdoor weddings.

Faille—Available in pure silk or polyester, this is a ribbed full-bodied fabric for high-fashion silhouettes. This fabric has a feel that is more appropriate for winter.

Jacquards, Brocades—Natural or man-made fabrics with an embossed pattern. These fabrics also have a feel that is more wintry, but the most appropriate season really depends upon styling.

Jersey—Available in silk jersey or a variety of blends, this fabric can be matte or lustered and has a fluid drape.

Linen—This is traditionally a warm-weather fabric that usually comes as a blend to prevent excess wrinkling.

Organza—Available as silk or polyester blends, this fabric has a crisp yet sheer look and is often applied.

Peau De Sole—A silk blend with a soft, rich feel. This fabric holds its shape for constructed designs.

Satin—A traditional and beautiful fabric that is available in silk-face or blends. Some of these have a high gleam, but delustered versions are available as well.

Taffeta—Available in silk or silk blends. Popular year-round, taffeta has nice body and wonderful rustle.

Tulle—Gives the appearance of veiling. Romantic when used layer on layer, similar to a ballerina dress.

Velvet—Choose only cotton or polyester velvet for body and richness. This is a sophisticated fabric for winter weddings that looks best in simple styles with detailed trims.

Champagne Is Perfect For All Occasions

"Each time a champagne cork pops, a woman laughs." This old gypsy proverb is good to remember when planning a wedding and the myriad activities associated with that special day.

Smiles and gaiety are all-important, so why wait until toasting the newlyweds to break out the bubbly?

Bridal showers, rehearsal dinners and wedding day brunches offer perfect settings for champagne.

Each of these pre-ceremony occasions gathers family and friends from the bride's most intimate circle, bringing together those she cherishes most and wants to acknowledge in a very special way.

Fine French champagne underlines the grandeur of a moment better than any other wine.

A full-bodied champagne, one with crisp and robust flavor, is a superb complement to a variety of menus.

By serving champagne from start to finish, the glamour of the meal is heightened and the problem of matching the right wine with the right food is eliminated.

Both the bride and her guests will be delighted.

Bonafide Champagne comes only from the Champagne region of France, an area about the size of Washington, D.C., located 90 miles northeast of Paris.

• Vintage brut: Only produced in years when the grape harvest is considered exceptional. It is generally richer and more complex than non-vintage.

• Prestige cuvée: A house's top-of-the-line bottle. Usually a blend of vintage wines, often using grapes from a house's own and finest vineyards.

• Rosé champagne: Usually vintage champagne to which a small amount of still red wine is added.

• Demi-sec champagne: A slightly sweet dessert champagne.

To add special appeal to a menu, the bride should consider serving two or more of these champagnes during the course of a single meal.

Strong spices and garlic should be avoided, as should sharp salad dressings, pungent cheeses and chocolate.

• Chilling. Place unopened bottle in an ice bucket filled with ice and a small amount of water for 20 to 30 minutes.

Or, refrigerate the bottle for several hours; never put champagne in the freezer.

• Uncorking. Loosen the wire muzzle, then grasp the cork firmly with one hand while rotating the bottle (not the cork) with the other.

Keep your hand on the cork at all times until it gently eases out of the bottle with a barely audible sigh.

• Serving. Pour a small amount of champagne into each glass, allow the froth to settle, then fill glasses 1/2 to 3/4 full.

Exotic Jumby Bay Honeymoon

by Dorothy Austin

"Very exclusive. Very private. Very, very special." This is the theme of the Relais & Chateaux resort, Jumby Bay.

Located just two miles north of the island of Antigua (pronounced An-tee-ga by the natives), Jumby Bay is a 300 acre, all-inclusive island resort, which offers the honeymoon couple, time, privacy and luxury. Access to the island is by private ferry from Antigua.

At Jumby Bay, from the scent of exotic tropical flowers, which serves as your silent morning wake-up call, to the last moonlit walk on the beach, there is time to get to know each other.

Long daytime walks on the pure white sands of the crescent shaped beach provide more time. As does swimming and snorkeling in the azure blue waters of secluded Pasture Bay.

Time while riding bicycles around this sun-drenched island. Time in the wee hours of the morning while watching the Hawksbill turtles lay their eggs in the moonlight or if you are really lucky, time while watching hatchlings find the sea under the stars.

The Hawksbills are an endangered species which has faithfully laid its eggs upon the beach at Pasture Bay for centuries, during the months from June to November. A gentle rap on the door by one of the naturalists on the island signals that one or more of these ancient decedents of dinosaurs has approached land to dig her nest.

Guests can assure their presence at this phenomenal event simply by signing up at the front desk. Be prepared to spend a few hours, because the Hawksbill (named for the shape of its bill) can lay up to 200 eggs at one nesting.

The absence of motor vehicles is one of the amenities that make Jumby Bay so special. Aside from the fact that there is no air pollution, there is no noise pollution. Electric golf carts are used to shuttle luggage and supplies around the island. To accommodate the guests, there are 100 bicycles, which are kept in the best repair for transportation.

There are no radios, no televisions and no telephones, but there are message boxes to keep in touch. The New York Post is faxed in daily for those suffering from news withdrawal. It's truly a place to communicate with each other and with nature.

You can be competitive on any of the three tennis courts under the supervision of resident pro Jerry Williams. Two of the courts are illuminated for night play.

Williams can also be a formidable opponent, ranking No. 2 in the OESC (Organization of Eastern Caribbean States).

Sea cycling, sailing, windsurfing, snorkeling and sun floating are also available at no extra charge. You can try your skills for an hour or all day.

Also included are instructions in water skiing, sunfish sailing and croquet. Snorkeling gear and guided tours are also supplied. You can also hone your skills on the putting green.

Available, at an additional charge, are chartered day sailing excursions, scuba diving instructions and deep sea fishing.

There is also sightseeing and shopping on the island of Antigua. It is a thrill to watch one of the "big ships" come into port and the rush of her passengers spill into the streets. There are many fine shops and restaurants near the docks.

You can try your luck at the casino or play golf or stay for some nightlife before you return to the tranquility of Jumby Bay.

You'll have time to enjoy each other's company while dining in the 230-year-old plantation manor, the Estate House. Back in the 1700s the island (then known as Long Island) was a sugar plantation. Breakfast, lunch, high tea and the cocktail hour all take place in the Beach Pavilion. Both areas are open air with a fabulous view of the bay.

The resort's cuisine is continental with an Italian flair. Executive chef Enrico Derflinger hails from Lecco, Italy. He has prepared feasts in seven countries from Italy to the U.S. In between he prepared pasta for the Prince and Princess of Wales at Kensington Place.

Chef Uwe Hagemeyer oversees the dinners at the Estate House and the weekly bar-b-que on the tranquil beach, which is livened by the steel band.

Jumby Bay was opened as a resort in 1985 by Banfi Vintners. There world-class wines are served with meals and as cocktails at the resort. You can also enjoy your hometown favorites, but their specialties are the tropical drinks served with a beautiful Antiguan smile.

On an historical note, the island's very first guest of record was Christopher Columbus. He landed in 1493 under the Spanish flag.

Guests can choose from 38 rooms, comprised of a 14 room Spanish villa, 12 rondavels and 12 cottages. All recently renovated. Each room is subtly unique, personality and charm distinguishes one from another, while the underlying theme is consistently outdoor Caribbean. The baths are luxuriously appointed with double marble sinks and indirect lighting.

The louvered doors let in the gentle night breeze off the ocean and each guest room has its own private balcony or patio. Well, semi-private, there are the birds, which are ubiquitous and unbelievably friendly.

For a honeymoon or just for the time of your life, a stay at Jumby Bay can be the most luxurious, peaceful, stress-reducing and rejuvenating you will find anywhere in the world. There are plans offered for four or seven nights with a welcome bottle of champagne, free laundry service, free postage and free transportation by car and boat from the airport on Antigua.

For more information, just call toll-free 800-421-9016, or ask your travel agent.

Bridal Shower Organization Tips

Proper planning can make any bridal shower more fun and relaxed. The first step is to send out the invitations four weeks in advance. If it is more convenient, ask for "regrets only" for those who cannot attend. If a head count is essential, traditional RSVPs should be requested. The following tips will help with other planning details.

- The theme of the shower should be specified. Guests need to know if the shower theme is general, kitchen, bathroom, etc. This will help the guests choose appropriate gifts and the bride-to-be can have a general idea of what she may receive.
- Plan the menu two weeks ahead and emphasize any make-ahead recipes.
- The bride-to-be should make a list of gift suggestions so you can help any guests who are unsure about what to buy.

- Non-perishable foods, supplies and decorations should be bought one week beforehand.
- Cook prepared-ahead foods the day before the shower. Prepare garnishes and place these in sealed containers at this time as well.
- Set up tables, chairs, utensils, glasses and decorations the day before the shower.
- Keep a list of guests and their gifts on the big day to make thank-you's easier for the bride-to-be.

If you follow this list and plan ahead as much as possible, your shower is sure to be a success!

Gift Giving Etiquette

In general, a wedding invitation—to a reception or to a small wedding in a club, hotel or private home—calls for a gift. A wedding announcement or invitation to a church ceremony alone carries no such obligation.

But it is in the selection of the gift that questions and problems can arise. Like most other aspects of weddings, existing "rules" can be most helpful.

All close members of the bride's and groom's families will want to send gifts, whether they attend the wedding or not. The bride's parents often will start the couple's flat silver service with as many place settings as they can afford. The groom's parents may give china or crystal or furnishings for the home.

If the bride and groom have registered at the bridal registry in a local store, selecting appropriate gifts will be easy. The registry allows the about-to-be-married couple to list their gift preferences. In addition to assuring guests that what they have chosen is something wanted or needed, it helps prevent duplication and the need for gift returns. The gift purchaser merely visits or phones the store, asks the consultant to check the form registered by the couple and selects a gift according to suggestions on the list.

Whatever the circumstances, a basic rule governs wedding gifts: No one is expected or obligated to give a gift beyond one's means.

Gifts are usually sent to the bride's home before the day of the wedding, addressed to her maiden name. When they are sent after the wedding, they go to Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed at their new address, or in care of the bride's family. People sometimes do, but should not, carry wedding gifts to the reception.

Save Money With A Bridal Consultant

As couples plan their wedding, confusion often mounts as fast as the bills.

After the initial shock of how much this wedding will cost settles in and becomes reality, the after-shock of how much work is involved hits.

With decisions to make about everything from invitation wording to honeymoon locations, couples may find they need outside help.

Help does exist—in the form of a bridal consultant. The consultant, also known as a planner, coordinator or director, is experienced in negotiating with caterers, florists, printers and other services, knows the best in each field, and can save couples money through volume discounts and by avoiding costly mistakes.

A wedding consultant, says Gerard J. Monaghan, president of the Association of Bridal Consultants, "will help you plan your budget, find the right vendors and turn your wedding dreams into reality."

Whether they're planning an intimate wedding for a few relatives or an extravaganza for hundreds, couples still need the same services and supplies. A bridal consultant saves them time by narrowing the choice of vendors who best meet their needs.

Weddings large and small all start with budgets. By making a bridal consultant part of the budget, couples can ensure that the rest of the expenses stay within their limits.

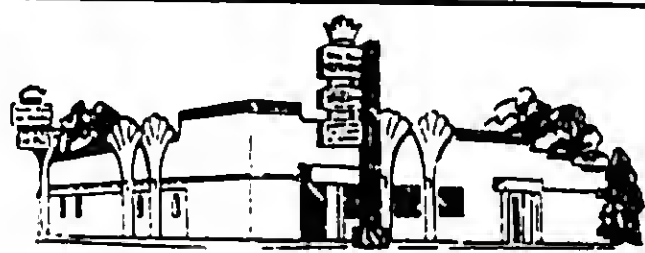

For a brochure on how to use a wedding consultant and the names of professionals near you, send $2 to the Association of Bridal Consultants, 200 Chestnutland Road, New Milford, CT 06776-2521, or call 1-900-WED-N-DAY.

Guide To Tableware Care

Many new brides are eager to entertain. This attitude places an emphasis on fine table accessories as well as a new responsibility—taking care of the finery. The following guidelines will help keep your tableware in great shape.

Fine Linens

Fine linens can last for generations if cared for properly. The manufacturer's instructions will help you keep the linens in top shape. If no instructions are provided, the following list can help.

- Machine wash new linens on a delicate cycle.
- Repeated bleaching is not recommended because it may fade the natural luster of the fabric. However, natural-fiber white damask may be bleached in mild solution when necessary.
- Spots are often easier to remove before drying. Red wine is one of the most difficult to remove. Try pouring table salt over the stain and then rinsing with cool water. If it has dried already, club soda poured through the stain may help to remove it.
- New natural-fiber linens will shrink when washed, so be sure to choose a larger cloth than necessary.
- Normally, cotton and linen shrink more in length than width. As a rule, the cloth should allow a drop of six to 20 inches on all sides. The more formal the occasion, the larger the drop.
- Damask and other wovens should be pressed while damp. High-temperature settings can be used for pure cotton or linen.
- Lightweight table linens and synthetics require a cooler iron. Embroidered, trimmed and lace tablecloths should be placed between two pieces of cloth before pressing.
- If scorching does occur, rub a cut onion over the scorch mark and soak the linen in cold water for about an hour before washing.

- Linens should be folded or placed on a hanger when stored. Any yellowing that occurs to old linens can be eliminated by the sun. After washing with mild soap and rinsing, spread them on the ground and allow the sun to do its work. The brighter the sunlight, the whiter the fabric.

Crystal

- Avoid drastic temperature changes which can cause large crystal items to crack.
- Dishwashers may be used to wash heavy crystal, but hand washing is preferred. If you choose to use a dishwasher, place the crystal on the top rack and make sure it isn't touched by other glassware.
- When wine leaves sediment in a decanter, fill the decanter with a room-temperature solution made of half vinegar and half water and allow it to soak. Sand can be added to provide mild abrasion that won't scratch the crystal. A denture cleaner may also be helpful to remove red wine stains.

- If mineral deposits leave a white line on the decanter or glass, try adding water softener at room temperature. This may help remove the deposit.
- Be sure to dry each piece thoroughly to avoid mold or bacterial growth. Place a tightly rolled paper towel inside the object to absorb any last drops of water.

Silverware

- Stainless, silver and silverplate may be washed in the dishwasher.
- Remove flatware from the dishwasher before the dry cycle and dry it by hand. Sterling and silverplate will tarnish less if used every day.
- Pewter and ceramic or wood-handled flatware should be washed only by hand in hot, soapy water. These should also be dried immediately with a soft cloth.

Tradition

Honeymoons

- The ancient Teutons celebrated marriages in Germany with a long period of feasting and drinking. Special wine, which was brewed from honey and yeast, was consumed for 30 days—from the full moon under which the couple was married until the next full moon.
- Many ancient people also thought the moon was guardian of lovers. Months when the moon shines more brightly, such as June, were believed to be excellent times for marriage.

Carrying the Bride over the Threshold

- Carrying the bride over the threshold dates back to ancient Rome, when it was considered bad luck for the bride to stumble or trip as she entered her new home.
- The Romans also had a custom of dragging reluctant brides into their new homes.

Full Financial Service At Standard Bank And Trust

Engaged couples and newlyweds can benefit from the full range of product offerings available at Standard Bank and Trust Co., an FDIC-member financial institution with offices in Evergreen Park, Oak Lawn, Palos Park, Orland Park and Hickory Hills. In addition to planning their wedding, a bride and her fiancé can plan their financial future, by speaking with professionals at any of the bank's locations.

Standard Bank and Trust Co. has taken the concept of "full-service banking" a step further, by making non-traditional bank offerings available at convenient times and locations. These alternatives, including investment and financial planning services, supplement the complete range of traditional products, so that virtually every financial service is offered. This program presents unique opportunities for couples trying to plan for goals and dreams that represent years in the future.

The investment and financial planning services are available through Standard Bank's relationship with the PEB Financial Group, a broker-dealer member of the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD), a registered investment adviser and licensed insurance agency. Certified financial planners (CFP's) from PEB can discuss client needs and priorities, review current and expected resources and establish a financial plan. In addition, they may recommend and offer numerous investment alternatives, including such products as annuities, mutual funds, municipal bonds, government securities and life insurance. Customers have the opportunity to utilize the combined resources of the bank and PEB, which together assist in meeting the clients' short and long-term financial needs. These combined resources can be particularly useful for people with specialized needs, such as brides, engaged couples, newlyweds or others planning a future.

Standard Bank and Trust Co. is sponsoring financial planning seminars for customers and members of the community, who can choose between a 7 p.m. presentation on Tuesday, March 16th at the Evergreen Park office, or Monday, March 29th, at the Orland Park branch. Reservations can be made by calling the marketing department, at (708) 499-2000.

This unique arrangement between Standard Bank and PEB is also helpful for couples establishing banking products for the first time. A complete range of deposit, loan and trust services is offered. The bank continues to remain in the forefront of financial institutions because of this range of products and services, its record of profitability, a tradition of strength and stability and an ongoing commitment to customers and community.

Brides, engaged couples and newlyweds are encouraged to begin planning their financial future at the same time they start making arrangements for their upcoming wedding. Through a unique relationship with the PEB Financial Group, Standard Bank offers the combined resources of bankers and financial planners, who together can provide the best combination of products and services to meet client goals and needs. Planning upcoming seminars at the Evergreen Park location on Tuesday, March 16th, at 7 p.m. and at the Orland Park branch on Monday, March 29th, at 7 p.m. are PEB representatives Evelyn McSherry, William Sherrin and Executive Vice-President James R. Corrigan, along with Standard Bank Vice-President Laura Shallow. Reservations for either seminar can be made by calling the bank's marketing department at (708) 499-2000.

'Working Brides'

Today's working woman is definitely the marrying kind. Whether the decision is made at the first blush of adulthood or later in life, the U.S. Census Bureau and Department of Health and Human Services reports that 95 percent of the population will eventually marry in their lifetime.

This means that a total of some 2,500,000 weddings will take place annually in the foreseeable future, and the bride planning the majority of these weddings will be working.

According to Bride's Magazine:

- Eighty-five percent of brides and 76 percent of grooms are employed.

- Of these working nearly-weds, 23 percent of both brides and grooms are in professional or managerial positions.

- Ninety-seven percent of new wives will postpone children and continue working up to five years after marriage.

Are these executive brides different from their sisters of several decades ago? As different as a cardfile from a computer.

The working bride, who checks her briefcase at the door of a bridal salon, is a far cry from the coed who received her marriage certificate with her diploma.

The new executive bride is an adult. The median age for first-time brides climbed from 19.8 in 1961 to nearly 24 years of age in 1986. And, for all brides marrying the first, second or more times, this median age slides up to 27 years.

She is a winner who is marrying a "partner," not just a husband, and plans for a life of friendship and sharing everything from childrearing to household management.

"She and her groom have probably had marriage and family courses in high school and college, pre-marital counseling, and are far better prepared for the complexities of marriage than were prior generations," says Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's Magazine.

The executive bride is also a traditionalist. She is as committed to success in her marriage as she is to success in her career.

Knowing all this, the executive bride may truly expect that "having it all" is possible. Not all at once, perhaps, but cumulatively — through a longer, healthier, more productive lifetime.

On Choosing A Photographer

Choosing a photographer for this, special day of all days, can be a frustrating experience.

Wedding photographers vary in both price and what they have to offer. Knowing what you want captured and what your photographer can and will do are the keys to having your wedding successfully recorded.

First of all you must decide how much you can afford. Your wedding pictures will last a lifetime, don't expect to get away with a cheap photographer, because you will get what you pay for.

While shopping around, look at your friends and family's wedding albums. The best way to know if a wedding photographer is good is to look at their work. A good and experienced photographer should be able to exhibit examples of their work.

Photographers who work with a studio have usually been trained to shoot very traditional photos and a lot of them. A typical studio photographer will generally shoot no less than ten rolls of color film. The number of proofs accelerates with the package size, number in bridal party and how many guests are expected to attend.

For good photography you can expect prices to begin at about $350-400 and commensurate with the number of proofs. For example, if there are 18 in the bridal party and 250 guests, you can expect anywhere from 540 proofs and a price of about $480. Enlargements and reprints are extra. Some offer the proofs as part of a package, or free with a certain amount in reorders.

A good photographer will shoot at least 36-40 shots of the bride and groom. You won't be getting married again and this is the most important photo. Second to that would be portraits of the bride alone. There will be almost as many shots of her as this is a very special day for her.

Be sure your bridal party understands what is expected of them as far as photos go, you want their pictures to last a lifetime. The photographer has a job to do, you've requested him, try and make it as easy as possible to have all your requested photos taken.

Have your photographer arrive at your house at least an hour before the ceremony. He or she will, at that time, shoot the bride, the bridesmaids, individually and with the bride, the brides' parents, siblings, the entire family and perhaps a godmother or a special aunt or uncle will be assisting in that morning's preparations.

Be specific about the church's policies regarding photos during the ceremony. Too often a bride has found after her proofs have been returned that the officiate did not allow flash photos during the ceremony. This may be okay if there is an adequate amount of time post-ceremony to recreate. It will be a major disappointment if this can't be done. However, a very good photographer can adapt to this situation, provided prior knowledge has been made available.

Formals will be taken immediately after the ceremony and if at all possible before the receiving line forms. Time is of the essence. Often the church staff will want to remove flowers and/or candles to set up for the next wedding should there be one.

Formal portraits in the church should not take longer than 30-40 minutes, as long as everyone cooperates and is available for their turn. At least three poses of the bridal couple which incorporates about 12 shots, and two poses of the entire bridal party are essential. Immediate family, with parents, grandparents and brothers and sisters should be taken at the church. Each couple standing up should have a formal done with the bride and groom as well.

Sometimes, especially in beautiful weather, outdoor shots are preferable to many formals taken indoors at the church. However, the bride and groom should always have several shots in the church at the altar. Before hand, talk to the photographer about a specific park or other location suitable for outdoor photos. Beware of the photographer that won't go the extra mile. Their heart is probably not in their job.

A good photographer will listen to your requests and generally go along with what you want, as long as you have an idea of what that is.

Another good idea is to designate someone close to you, but not in the bridal party to assist the photographer in gathering groups.

Be sure to talk with the photographer about special photos. Co-workers, friends, as well as distant relatives should all have their photo with the bride and groom. Families may also request that a family photo be taken. Why not? Everyone is there and dressed their best. Another good idea is to have the D.J. or band member announce when a large family photo is about to be taken. This will assure that everyone knows and no one will be left out.

Have the groom discuss photos with the groomsmen. Often photographers who have fun at their job will photograph the bride with the groomsmen and the groom with the bridesmaids.

If you want to know who your photographer is ahead of time, hiring from a studio with a list of staff photographers may not be a good idea. They are generally assigned their jobs shortly before your wedding day. Sometimes requests can be granted but with larger studios this isn't always a possibility.

This might be a good time to check out freelancers and their reputations. Make sure you get a recommendation from someone and a contract outlining every little detail.

Another thing to keep in mind is that not only is this a long day for you, but your photographer has been there, on his or her feet, since you put on your dress.

There is generally time between the introduction and the cutting of the cake for the photographer to eat, so be sure to order an extra plate. If table shots are desired, they should be taken before dinner is served, or with larger parties while they are all seated during the dinner. They will not be sitting down like this again.

An alternative to this is to direct the guests to a backdrop for a formal photo after dinner. Not only is this easier for the photographer, but more pleasant looking than a table full of wine glasses and plates of food.

The photographer should know what happens after dinner, i.e. the first dance, the bridal party dancing, the cutting of the cake, father daughter dance, garter and bouquet.

The final picture will be the good-bye photo which can be taken at any time the bride and groom have a few extra minutes. You needn't keep him there till the end. Generally, after the garter is tossed he'll wrap it up and go home.

Check with him as to how long it will be before your proofs are ready and reorders can be taken. It can be anywhere from a week to a month.

On the day of your wedding, photographs will be the last thing on your mind. Let the photographer do the work. If all the details are discussed before hand, your memories will be recorded on film and they will be a keepsake to treasure for years to come.

Make-Up Experts Suggest Soft Shades For Eyes

Bridal beauty experts advise young women, who are soon to exchange "I do's," to put an accent on the "eye" this season. Makeup professionals at Elizabeth Arden suggest shying away from frosted shadows and looking toward soft shades—light grays and pinks. Complementary eyeliner in subtle grays or slate blues, coupled with plenty of mascara to frame the eyes, will ensure a radiant and romantic look. But for those brides-to-be with less than perfect vision, eyeglasses can get in the way. For many, glasses can shatter the dream of becoming the traditional and elegant storybook bride.

"With all eyes on the bride, no doubt she will want to look her best and feel completely confident in her starring role," notes Janice M. Jurkus, O.D. of The Bausch & Lomb InVision Institute, a non-profit organization dedicated to educating consumers about proper eye care and vision correction options. "With the new contact lens technologies now available, eyeglasses needn't be a worry—certainly not for a woman who has a lot of other things to think about,"

she added.

For those planning to walk down the aisle, there is no need to compromise vision for the sake of beauty. In fact, there has never been a better time to consider trying contact lenses. Since 1985 industry technology has introduced contacts that can correct most common vision disorders, including astigmatism, nearsightedness and farsightedness.

Bausch & Lomb's most recent and widely-heralded technological development, the SeeQuence® Disposable

Contact Lens, is worn for up to one week, discarded, and replaced with a fresh pair of contacts. Dr. Jurkus advises brides to look into disposable contacts, which are traditionally given out in 13-week supplies. Not only does the use of a fresh, sterile pair of contacts each week offer obvious health benefits, but a spare pair is an excellent safety net should a lens be lost or torn on the big day or during the honeymoon.

For some, contact lenses are not a new revelation.

Many have considered contacts in the past, but were told that they couldn't wear them. According to Dr. Jurkus, "Now is the time to ask your eye doctor again."

Bausch & Lomb offers more than 40,000 lens options for people with an astigmatism—a condition that in the past has prevented comfortable soft contact lens wear for those affected. These "toric" lenses are tailored for the variety of vision problems brought on by the misshapen cornea and are also available to correct near-sighted and farsighted conditions, which can sometimes occur.

Brides-to-be should give themselves time—experts recommend two to three months—to make the transition from eyeglasses to contacts. "A woman should not make the switch immediately prior to the wedding," advises Dr. Jurkus. "She'll want to feel comfortable with her new self and have time to experiment with hairstyles and eye makeup to highlight her beautiful new look."

Sticker Renewal By Telephone

Beginning July 1st, randomly-selected Illinois vehicle owners will have the option of using a new technology to purchase a license plate renewal sticker over the phone, Secretary of State George H. Ryan said recently.

Ryan announced the pilot project at the 1993 Chicago Auto Show while unveiling a hands-on exhibit called "Future Access," giving visitors a glimpse of the future in obtaining government services.

Highlighting the three-part exhibit is a display called "Touch-Tone Renewal," which will let Auto Show visitors experiment with the registration renewal system Ryan's office plans to begin on a pilot basis in the summer.

Showgoers will be invited into a living room setting, where they can relax on a couch, dial a toll-free 800-number and, using a fake credit card, complete a mock license plate sticker renewal.

"Touch-Tone Renewal" and our entire "Future Access" exhibit showcase ways that my office could deliver services in a more cost-effective and convenient manner," Ryan said.

The exhibit is underwritten by Ameritech, Harris Bank and Trust, NBS Imaging Systems Inc., Phoenix Interactive Inc. and NCR Corp., a subsidiary of AT&T. It also will include an interactive kiosk and a display related to new driver's license technology.

The kiosk, which is being tested for public acceptance during the show, also is programmed to conduct mock sticker sales as well as distribute information on secretary of state facilities in the Chicago area. The same technology also could be used to accept payment for parking tickets, orders for special vehicle plates and the filing of corporate documents.

The final component of "Future Access" is new technology that can produce a digitized driver's license photo, capable of being stored by computer. Visitors will be offered a souvenir card featuring their digitized photo.

This technology would enable the secretary of state's office to keep drivers' photos on file, as a service primarily to law enforcement agencies.

"The quality of this exhibit stands as a testament to the good things that can happen when government and private industry work hand in hand," Ryan said.

"Because of the cooperation of these companies, there's a better chance that the technologies you see here could lead to a whole new way of doing business in the secretary of state's office."

The pilot program will run through December, including from 750,000 to one million vehicle owners. The effort will help Ryan's office gauge the public's willingness to use the service and determine the cost and other implications of offering the service permanently.

People choosing to use the touch-tone renewal service will pay a slight convenience charge, which will appear on their credit card bills.

LCM Appointment

Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers is pleased to announce the appointment of psychiatrist Richard H. Spector, M.D., to its center for psychiatry. Dr. Spector's office is located in Little Company of Mary Hospital, 2800 W. 95th St., and can be reached by calling (708) 424-2024.

Dr. Spector's expertise extends to adolescents (13 years and over), adults and geriatrics, and encompasses a wide range of psychiatric treatments.

"I employ a variety of therapeutic options to comprise a comprehensive treatment program individually tailored for each patient," he said.

"Medical, psychological and social factors must each be considered in order to render an effective treatment which does not overlook any hidden perpetuating factors. These three therapies may include any or all of the following; drug therapy, psychotherapy and family therapy, involving the patient's family and/or significant others."

"I apply a concrete, 'hands-on' methodology in treating patients," he said. "I work with my patients so that they understand where they are, where they're going and how to get there. It is very important that patients know what to expect from treatment and this is made clear to them from the outset."

Dr. Spector also believes in the importance of staying in close contact with the patient's primary care physician.

"Retaining a close working alliance with referring physicians is of primal importance," he said. "Psychiatrists and primary care physicians must work as a team to insure that prescribed medications do not interact adversely and, by so doing, undermine the treatment goals of either physician."

One goal Dr. Spector would recommend to any patient is to seek treatment as soon as he or she feels there might be a problem.

"New research may indicate that the longer a disorder is left untreated, the harder it is to treat. This is because of possible changes that may develop in the nervous system and brain. It is very important to seek treatment as soon as possible."

Matisse Designs

Each year, the major art shows influence fashion and interior designers, and this year's blockbuster Henri Matisse show in New York should be no different, says a Loyola University Chicago color theorist. The intense, saturated planes of color and vivid patterns characteristic of Matisse will have a strong impact on designers and the American public, according to Justine Mantor, M.F.A., an associate professor of fine arts. The strong reds, blue-purples, yellow-greens and pumpkin-oranges used by Matisse are already showing up in the stores, she says.

People have grown tired of the subtleties and uncertainties associated with mauves and greys and the other pastels popularized by the big Monet show a few years back," says Mantor. "Design-wise they're looking for something to latch onto in an aggressive, yet positive way. As a result, Matisse's hot, passionate colors will be very welcome in clothing and interior design in 1993."

How To Hire Domestic Help

To assist Americans concerned about the "domestic hires" issue, recently spotlighted by the U.S. Attorney General nomination hearings, tax and business law publisher Commerce Clearing House has issued "What You Ought to Know About Hiring a Domestic - Avoiding Tax Pitfalls - Checking Immigration Status - Keeping Good Records." If not properly handled, many twists can create some major financial and legal headaches. Problems can surface years after an employment relationship has ended. Many domestic employers who failed to pay appropriate taxes are caught when an ex-employee files for unemployment compensation and the government finds no history of unemployment tax payments.

The 32-page, $5-a-copy vest-pocket "What You Ought to Know About Hiring a Domestic" offers a concise readable overview of the issues faced by those who hire domestics. It probes the major principles the Internal Revenue Service has set up for determining the employer-employee relationship, reviews legal requirements for paying various required taxes, discusses minimum wage and overtime requirements, examines the employers' duties with proof of citizenship, or legal alien status, and examines crucial record-keeping requirements, CCH said.

CCH said special discounts on bulk purchases of "What You Ought to Know About Hiring a Domestic" for large scale distribution are available. Individual copies can also be ordered at $5 each from the publisher's Cash Item Department, 4025 W. Peterson Ave., Chicago, IL 60646, or by calling toll-free at 1 (800) 248-3248.

Twenty-eight grade schools sent over 100 eighth graders to the sixth annual Brother Rice Math Contest. Speaking of numbers, the top five teams included Palos South Junior High (first), Prairie Junior High (second), St. John of the Cross (third), Tinley Central Junior High (fourth) and St. Michael of Orland (fifth). The top five individuals included Janette Lin of St. Michael (first), Bill Grant of Prairie JH (second), Kristin Gaffud of St. Alexander (third), with Bryan McNulty and Jim Angelakos of Palos South JH finishing fourth and fifth respectively.

There is more than just numbers to report about the atmosphere that pervaded the contest. Contestants, coaches and guests were greeted by Vice-Principal Brother Joseph Gattone. He told everyone assembled in the lecture hall that the contestants reminded him of his classmates when he was an honors student at Brother Rice more than a few years ago. Brother Gattone pointed out that the Brother Rice APEX (Academic Pursuit of EXcellence) program for advanced placement honors students offered more opportunities than ever for the best students to start and complete a course of study that can be customized to specifically prepare them for the university of their choice. When the test began the teachers and parents were invited to the college preparatory library for their comfort and edification. Tours of Brother Rice were given to students and adults and the north gym was opened to the contestants while the exams were being scored.

Brother Michael Segvich, principal of Brother Rice, presented the awards and trophies. The contest was sponsored by Mrs. Susan Luchon and Joseph Augustyn of the math department.

Gas Prices Are Down

Average gas prices in Illinois and Northern Indiana dropped slightly for the fourth month in a row. Since November, self-serve prices have fallen by 7.4 cents per gallon, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club's latest fuel gauge survey.

Consumers in Illinois, outside Cook County, experienced the largest drop in the past month. Average self-serve prices were down by 1.1 cents per gallon. A gallon of self-serve unleaded regular currently averages $1.098. Self-serve pump prices in Chicago and Cook County fell 0.9 cent per gallon since early January. Self-serve unleaded regular currently averages $1.194 per gallon.

Motorists experienced a similar gas price down trend at the beginning of 1992, but self-serve prices were much lower last year, according to AAA-CMC. Compared to a year ago, self-serve prices are currently 5.8 cents higher in Chicago and Cook County; 5.1 cents higher in Illinois outside Cook County.

If last year is any indication, consumers could see slight increases at the pumps beginning next month as spring approaches, AAA-CMC says. Computer Petroleum Corporation (CPC), which surveys local gas prices for AAA-CMC, expects retail increases in the next few weeks because of a recent two cent hike in the wholesale price of gasoline.

California Ave., on Sunday, Feb. 28th, from 4 to 7 p.m.

OUTDOORS

By Jim Kirby

HUNTING AND FIREARMS IN S. E. ASIA - During a recent 14-day cruise of the SOUTH CHINA SEAS, I visited seven countries including Hong Kong; Canton China; Saigon (Ho Chi Minh City); Vietnam; Kota Kinabalu, Malaysia and Singapore.

Explaining that I was an outdoor writer doing newspaper columns, magazine articles and seminars relating to outdoor activities, I interviewed tour guides, sporting goods dealers and English speaking locals on hunting, fishing, conservation, etc.

The general population doesn't have the time, money or inclination to hunt, they leave that to the high ranking public officials and wealthy people who hunt waterfowl, doves, deer and wild boar. The exotics, including big cats, elephants and rhinos are protected. Most hunting takes place in the highlands of mainland China and the Malaysian peninsula. Firearms can be rented from local game wardens.

Unlike Laos or Cambodia, most of these countries have no problem with gun control or crimes involving firearms. They relate violent crimes to drugs and have a "O-TOLERANCE" for drugs. A small amount of drugs is like a little bit of pregnancy or a small amount of garlic; there is no such thing. The penalty for possession of drugs or a crime committed with a firearm is HANGING OR FIRING SQUAD WITHIN 30 DAYS; no exception, no delays, no second chance. Punishment for crimes is swift and severe. Overcrowding of jails or prisons is not a problem; nobody wants to serve time. Inmates do hard labor and are "BEATEN" everyday, denied conjugal visits, T.V. and other amenities available to inmates here in the U.S.A. The bleeding hearts, A.C.L.U. and legal community would have a field day over there. I saw a sign in Singapore similar to our no smoking symbols that depicted a rifleman shooting an intruder in a no trespassing area - THEY MEAN BUSINESS. As tourists, before disembarking from the cruise ship we were warned about drugs and other infractions. Dropping a cigarette butt or a piece of paper incurs an immediate $50 fine in Singapore.

In our country, every time an innocent bystander is cut down in the cross-fire between two rival gangs doing their version of a "Shoot-Out at the O.K. Corral," the politicians in a knee-jerk reaction lash out at the National Rifle Association (NRA), call for additional taxes on U.S. gun manufacturers, stricter controls that would affect legal firearm owners, etc. The truth is, this hasn't worked in the past and will NEVER solve the problem. Chicago, New York City and Washington, D.C. have the strictest gun control laws, yet have the highest per capita gun related homicides. The criminal element will always have access to handguns, they will smuggle them into the country or manufacture guns themselves. Anyone with a home workshop can make a deadly firearm.

Here in the U.S.A., hanging, firing squad or daily beatings are out of the question; however, a "O-TOLERANCE" for drugs or weapon related crimes with mandatory prison sentences, ENFORCING THE HUNDREDS OF DRUG AND GUN LAWS ALREADY ON THE BOOKS, stiff sentences, not a slap on the wrist and giving law enforcement agencies more latitude in dealing with crime on the street would help solve the problem. It works in other countries and would work here. Let's get REALLY TOUGH on the CRIMINAL element. Why not try it, we "may like it."

Early release of criminals due to overcrowding of prisons and jails is a major flaw in our criminal justice system that can be IMMEDIATELY remedied by the use of military bases and arsenals scheduled for closing. These military bases have everything required to contain these unscrupulous individuals: barracks for living accommodations, kitchens, mess halls, recreational day rooms, theaters, Post Offices, laundry facilities, Military Police, stockade, and in most instances excellent training facilities. The inmates could learn a trade and even raise their own food in the form of crops and livestock on abandoned air fields, parade grounds and rifle ranges.

As on previous cruises, I looked forward to the time-honored tradition of shooting clay pigeons off the fantail of the ship. A pitching/rolling ship offers a real challenge to any trap or skeet shooter. I was disappointed to learn that this activity was not available. Nobody knew why, so I went to the captain of the GOLDEN ODYSSEY for an explanation. He informed me that shooting was related to hunting, a sport he did not approve of. I asked him if he was a religious man and had a Bible aboard ship. He answered yes to both questions. I suggested he read GENESIS 9:2,3. At the captain's cocktail party a few nights later he told me he was re-evaluating his position on hunting.

LANCE LASKA

Make-A-Wish Fundraiser

The Women's Board of the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Northern Illinois will present the 1993 Wish Ball, the organization's annual black-tie fund-raising event, on Saturday, March 13th at 6:30 p.m. in the Grand and State Ballrooms of Chicago's Palmer House Hilton. The event's theme will be "The Wonders of a Wish," especially appropriate considering that last year's gala raised net proceeds exceeding $190,000, bringing happiness in magical proportions to children suffering from life-threatening illnesses. Based on the foundation's average cost of $3,200 per wish, the 1992 gala made approximately 59 children's wishes a reality.

Wish Ball 1993 features a silent auction and drawing, open bar, classical performances by the Suzuki-Orff School of young musicians, and a four-course meal followed by dancing to the big band sounds of Genlemen of Leisure.

In addition to the evening's entertainment, the fund-raising mission of the ball is critical. "We face the onset of increased incidents of AIDS among children in our territory," said Linda Giovacchini, executive director for the foundation.

"Therefore, demand for our services continues to increase. The ball, the foundation's flagship fund-raising event, is a primary source for the funding to grant those wishes. The women's board is dedicated to raising even more funds than last year to help meet the growing demand for our services."

Tickets for Wish Ball 1993 are $150 per person. A corporate table of 10, which includes the sponsor's name on the table, is $2,000.

For ticket purchases and information, call (312) 943-8956.

RIOTS HURT RECRUITING....The riots last year in Los Angeles have tossed the recruiting processes of two premier college football schools, UCLA and USC, for a major loss, equivalent to a penalty for unnecessary roughness. Terry Donahue, head football coach at UCLA, said, "There's no question that the LA riots, or the view of Los Angeles on a nationwide basis, caused concern." UCLA, which in past years has shown muscle by recruiting 38 percent of its football players from outside the state of California, this year recruited only two of 17 players from out of state. Over at USC, just blocks away from where the worst of the LA riots actually took place, John Robinson, the new head football coach, also said he felt the riots hurt the school's recruiting. USC also signed fewer out-of-state players than usual. The 1993 recruiting class at USC found only two of 14 players from outside California, and the two out-of-staters were from adjoining Arizona. Robinson, who returns to USC after coaching in the NFL, said, "I think people away from the area probably feel Los Angeles is going to fall into the ocean when they see a riot or an earthquake."

Betwixt, Stanford and the University of California at Berkeley, both schools hundreds of miles away from riot-torn Los Angeles, did well in this year's recruiting derby. The PAC-10 and the NCAA have not made recruiting any easier by limiting the number of athletic scholarships and placing a restriction on the amount of time coaches can spend evaluating players. Adding to the recruitment dilemma at UCLA and USC has been the retrenching of priorities at both schools. When Robinson returned to USC, the school's board of governors made it clear to him that a high standard of academics, graduating all athletes, would be more important than simply fielding potential national championship football teams. UCLA coach Donahue concurred and said the mood among the PAC-10 conference schools is to stress academic achievement and not simply athletic accomplishments.

On the local scene, Notre Dame did very well in the 1993 recruiting race, but the recruiting victories may be overshadowed by a damaging new book on head football coach Lou Holtz, scheduled for release just before the start of the 1993 football season. According to advance reports, the book was turned down by one publisher because of the highly controversial contents. However, another publisher has picked up the option and despite efforts to try to suppress the book, a late August date is set for publication.

DONNALEE HENNE (inset), a senior in the Theatre School at DePaul University, joins Stacey Harris and Shannon McKinney of Northwestern University, who will receive scholarships from the prestigious Sarah Siddons Society at its 40th anniversary gala slated for March 1 at the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Jam Productions has announced its lineup for the "1993 Signature Series." Liza Minnelli, starring in "Liza in Concert," opens the series at the Civic Opera House from April 15 through 18. Richard Chamberlain will star in the Lerner and Lowe musical comedy "My Fair Lady" at the Chicago Theatre from April 22 through 25. Frank Sinatra will be joined by Harvey's own Tom Dreesen for the "Sinatra in Concert" show from May 13 through 16 at the Civic Opera House. Stephen Wade in "On the Way Home," now playing in its fifth month at the Halsted Theatre Centre, rounds out the series. The play has been extended through March 28.

PATTI AUSTIN (inset), contemporary recording artist, along with Rita Moreno and Paula Poundstone in the "Not Just Song & Dance" gala benefit for the AIDS Foundation of Chicago set for April 3 at the Chicago Hilton and Towers. The Women's Board of the Goodman Theatre will hold a black-tie benefit of the award-winning play "Marvin's Room" on March 19. The play will officially open to the public on March 22 and will run through April 18. Members and friends of the old Chicago Press Club, which disbanded six years ago, will hold a fundraiser on March 3 for three reasons, one of which should please President Bill Clinton. Hugh Hitt of Channel 7 will be honored for 40 years in broadcasting, and Irv Kupcinet of the Sun-Times will be honored for 50 years of writing a column. The third and final reason for the event, the one which should tickle President Clinton, is to pay off the Chicago Press Club's final debt to the Internal Revenue Service. The fundraiser will be held at Harry Caray's Restaurant, Dearborn & Kinzie, starting at 6 p.m. with a $50 donation payable at the door. Reports have been circulating all over town that WMAQ-TV reporter and weekend news anchor Jackie Bange will be released from the station. Meanwhile, WMAQ-TV has announced Felicia Ferguson will be named weekend morning news anchor/general assignment reporter effective March 1.

String and chamber ensemble, both conducted by Mrs. Phyllis Karge, will perform selections by Bach,

Offer Free Screening For Lead

On Jan. 1st, a new state law was enacted that all children under six years old who enter daycare, preschool or kindergarten must have a blood lead test. Realizing that some residents may have financial problems complying with the mandate, the Cook County Department of Public Health (CCDPH) has coordinated efforts with the state to provide free testing to medically indigent children. Because the health department does not have the means to test all children who need to be in compliance, village and city health departments can sign an agreement with CCDPH to provide screenings to the medically indigent in their community.

"This is a partnership in the true sense of the word. If we can get village and city health departments to screen the children through an agreement with the county health department, the state will then provide free testing," said Cook County Board President Richard J. Phelan. "This partnership divides the responsibility of the screening, the paperwork and the cost between three levels of government. Lead poisoning is a very serious and real problem. We must all work together to ensure that suburban children are not only in compliance with the law but are treated if elevated blood lead levels exist."

Village and city health departments wishing to participate in this effort can call the CCDPH at (708) 445-2530. Persons needing accommodation for a disability should call (708) 445-2400 or TDD (Telecommunications Device for the Deaf) at (708) 445-2406.

Study Compares Insurance Rates

Illinois insurance consumers continue to be in a relatively better position than their counterparts in other states according to a study of personal lines insurance premiums released by the Illinois Department of Insurance.

"Premiums for automobile and homeowners insurance constitute a significant expenditure for consumers," noted Insurance Director Stephen F. Selcke. "To provide a benchmark for comparing the rates charged in select Illinois cities with those of comparable size in other states, the Department of Insurance annually surveys the major insurance companies writing these lines of coverage. For the fourth consecutive year, the results have demonstrated that Illinois consumers are benefiting from the regulatory climate here," Selcke said.

Using three sample drivers and two sample homes, the report compares insurance premiums charged in four Illinois cities (Chicago, Springfield, Rockford and Danville) with those charged in other cities of comparable size. In almost every instance, the Illinois city ranked in the lower half of the survey group.

Selcke said that overall the '92 report shows that auto insurance premiums in Illinois remained very stable during the past year and that although homeowners rates for all cities except Chicago experienced a somewhat surprising increase, they still remain well below other cities in the survey groups.

Consumers are cautioned not to use the premiums developed for the study as the amount they might actually pay because the survey cannot factor in all the variables that contribute to individual rates. "Nonetheless, we believe that our methodology is sound and that open competition in the Illinois marketplace is working," Selcke said.

The study, Personal Lines Premiums in Illinois, may be obtained from the Illinois Department of Insurance, Cost Containment Unit, 320 W. Washington, Springfield, Illinois 62767; (217) 785-2228.

Library Use By Children Has Increased

Thousands of kids from pre-school through eighth grade use the services of the Oak Lawn Public Library's youth services department according to the annual report presented at the library board meeting, Feb. 16th, Judith McMahon, department head, noted that 1,993 young people from 18 schools participated in the 1992 summer reading program, an increase of 21 percent over the previous year. She also reported that 347 children used the department's Apple computer for 233 hours. The library has 12 programs in use and 20 more being readied for service. McMahon pointed out that the 'easy' and 'reader' collections had been updated by purchase of multiple copies of popular titles in sturdy washable bindings. These collections, which are the most heavily circulated in the library, have grown by 3,300 copies in the last five years.

The youth services department established a homework center a few years ago that has become very popular. During 1992, it was expanded to include textbooks for first and second grade and textbooks for grades one through six for District 126. Textbooks are available for district 122, 123, 126 and St. Gerald's and St. Linus schools.

In regular business, the board reviewed and approved policies regarding use of the meeting rooms, bulletin boards and display cases; youth service programming; delinquent patrons and library credit card policy. Bills approved were $16,191 for library materials, $20,901 for operating expenses and $154,745 for personnel.

The next board meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 16th, in the lower level Oak Lawn Rotary Room.

Safety Is Priority

The top national safety record recently earned by Oak Lawn Firefighters and the professional reputation of the village police force are achievements that Oak Lawn can be proud of.

"Public safety has always been a top priority of Mayor Ernie Kolb and the Citizens Coalition for Integrity," said Ron Stancik, Trustee, District 2. The construction of the west end fire station, the new public safety building, the purchase of four new life support response units and the hiring of six additional patrol officers, while lowering taxes attributes to Mayor Kolb's leadership, Stancik asserted.

Effective leadership requires professional planning and the Citizens Coalition for Integrity Party has provided 16 years of sound fiscal planning including establishing the capital equipment reserve fund. Interest earned by this fund was used to pay for recent public safety improvements. "Neighboring village boards are indeed envious of Oak Lawn's ability to meet village needs by tapping interest earned on professionally managed investments," Stancik pointed out. "I'm very proud of the fact that I instigated the 'NeighborWatch' program because it has assured the residents that we are concerned about their safety and the quality of life in Oak Lawn," Stancik said.

The program is intended to prevent home burglaries, damage to vehicles, graffiti and other incidents, he reported. "People caring about people" is vital to the program.

"Yes, public safety is no accident. Leadership makes the difference and the Citizens Coalition Party has provided this leadership," he concluded.

Hearing Addresses Township Budget Problems

Prior to the regular Worth Township board meeting on Feb. 25th, a public hearing was conducted to address the proposed 1993-94 tentative town and general assistance budgets.

"I object to this budget," remarked Supervisor Joan Murphy. "There have been nine meetings on the budget and this proposal doesn't take into consideration 90 percent of items discussed. For the last three years, I have requested funding for computer equipment and other equipment such as typewriters for the supervisor's office and haven't received it. Also, there was a three percent salary increase for full-time employees only and not part-time personnel."

Assessor William Connors commented, "In order for my office to be run in an effective and efficient manner, I have to keep up with the constant upgrades in the assessing business. Now, I am short a person on my staff and that salary has not been restored to the budget. The computer equipment that I requested has been put in, but now it creates more work. We need to either hire someone who is already familiar with the equipment or train somebody to operate it. I don't see how I can maintain that atmosphere of a good working condition and conduct business with the public. I am a little disappointed."

"We might be able to consider a part-time position for the assessor's office," offered Trustee Donald Bettenhausen. "If we find the money, then we can adjust the budget and have another line item take a hit."

After the public hearing was adjourned, the regular board meeting was called to order and in further discussion of money for salaries during old business, Murphy pointed out, "We all know and understand that everyone is trying their best to help the economy grow. In a state of cooperation, I would like to move that the salaries for the incoming elected officials be frozen for the first year. Then, in the second year, if the economy is improved, and that would be the decision of the board as a whole, then the salaries would be increased by five percent or the cost of living, whichever is less. That would be in effect for the third and fourth years and in that way, there would be no undue hardship, yet it does give the board some kind of an increase."

"I think what we have to deal with is that we must pass a motion to create a subjective formula for salaries," noted Bettenhausen. "If we had such a formula, it could be enforced, but I don't think that the board can make judgments about the economy."

Murphy responded, "What I am trying to do here is if the cost of living jumps 10 percent, I don't feel that elected officials should get a 10 percent increase. I think it's unfortunate that if this ordinance passes, it still doesn't change anything in the county. The supervisor's salary still ranks 14th and other elected officials and administrative officials rank between 5th and 8th while the trustees, who attend two meetings per month, rank 2nd. I feel that there is some injustice here. The trustees weren't supposed to be paid $6,000 each, but the trustee who made the original motion in 1985 was in error. That $6,000 was supposed to be paid out among all of the trustees for coming to meetings. When he tried to correct it, it was too late because it had been adopted."

Following additional discussion, the ordinance contained only a provision to freeze the salaries. It passed with the 'no' vote coming from Murphy. "There will be no increase for those of us who are here on a day-to-day basis," she stated.

In the public participation time, Dave Kaktis of the Garden Homes Fire Protection District reported that Garden Homes did not qualify for a community development block grant from Cook County. "Our area did not meet the economic requirements," he explained.

However, according to Murphy, "All is not lost. We can proceed with trying to obtain a foundation grant and see if we can't do something with that."

During the announcements, Murphy related news of two deaths, one the daughter of a township employee and the other a member of the highway commission staff. "In the killing of one of our employee's daughters, the ex-husband was stalking her. He had been convicted of this crime, and was supposed to have been put away, but was out on bail. He shot and killed his wife in front of their three year old son. When police found him in Indiana, he killed himself. Trustee Spencer has asked to speak on this incident."

"Three weeks before Lana was killed, I was talking to her at her mother's house," recalled Kathleen Spencer. "She told me that if her husband got out on bond, she was dead. The stalking law doesn't help. These people should not be allowed out. We have to get through to the legislators that there has to be a better way. The laws haven't protected us."

"We are seeing this kind of thing more and more," noted Murphy. "What is society coming to? We must stand up and do something about it. There has to be more teeth in our laws. People who commit white collar crimes go away to prison for 20 years while a convicted felon is out on bail. I don't understand our court system."

In a closing remark, Clerk Thomas 'Bud' Gavin stated, "That child will be traumatized for years to come. The children are the innocent victims of these crimes."

Loyola On Controlling Memory Loss

A medication used to control the side effects of chemotherapy in the treatment of cancer may prove useful in slowing memory loss caused by Alzheimer's disease, according to investigators at Loyola University Medical Center, Chicago. Patients diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease are being sought for the study, which involves taking oral doses of the drug ondansetron during a four-month period.

Ondansetron currently is used to control nausea in patients receiving powerful anti-cancer medications. Earlier studies indicate the drug may prevent a build-up in the brain of a natural chemical known as serotonin, which plays a role in memory retention.

Alzheimer's disease is a progressive, degenerative brain disease that impairs memory, thinking and behavior. It afflicts about four million Americans and kills more than 100,000 people a year, according to the Alzheimer's Association.

Serotonin normally facilitates thought processes in the brain by enabling cells to "communicate with each other," said Dr. Gastone Celesia, chairman of Loyola's neurology department. However, excessive amounts of the chemical may actually decrease a person's memory capabilities.

Ondansetron may block the memory-destroying activities of the excessive serotonin in Alzheimer's patients. At the same time, the drug itself contains a compound that is known to have an important part in the memory process and may increase memory when added to the brain, Celesia said.

"The drug is not a cure for Alzheimer's disease, but it may slow the process of memory loss," he said.

Volunteers in the study will receive one of three treatments: 0.5 milligrams of ondansetron; 2 milligrams of ondansetron; or a placebo. At the end of the four-month trial, all volunteers will have the option of taking the drug.

People interested in taking part in the study may call Amy Perrin-Ross at (708) 216-8408.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

The annual Valentine dinner dance, sponsored by the Crisis Center for South Suburbia, was a resounding success this year due to the many attendees and sponsors who contributed to our event. The fundraising gala earned over $50,000 to help support the Crisis Center mission of crisis intervention and service to families wracked by domestic violence.

Your cooperations in publicizing our Heart-to-Heart dinner dance and silent auction was an important factor in our successful event. Your assistance is very much appreciated.

Very truly yours,

School Art Show

Moraine Valley Community College and 12 local high schools are co-sponsoring the annual high school art show from March 10th to 17th. The exhibit is to be held in the College Center Moraine Rooms on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. Hours for the exhibit are weekdays, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

An opening reception will be held on Friday, March 12, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Participating high schools are Victor J. Andrews, Argo Community, Chicago Christian, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Evergreen Park, Oak Lawn Community, Polaris High School for Individual Education, Reavis, Harold L. Richards, Carl Sandburg, Alan B. Shepard and Amos Alonzo Stagg.

The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) Board of Commissioners has adopted the first-of-its-kind affirmative action apprenticeship ordinance, enabling minorities and women access to training in the construction trades. Signing the ordinance are Thomas S. Fuller, president of the board (right) and Commissioner Joseph E. Gardner, chairman of the district's affirmative action committee (left). Fuller and Gardner are supported by James A. Harvey, state director, Illinois Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, U.S. Department of Labor; Michael Breslin, president of the Chicago Building Trades Council; Carl Latimer, director of the Coalition for United Community Action; and Rena Burke, executive vice-president of the Construction Employer's Association. The ordinance will be appended to five district contracts scheduled for award this year.

Schools Are Hurting For Lack Of Funds

"The 1992 Financial Watch List shows red-ink and stability in the percentage of school districts drowning in debt because the state fails to address the issue of adequate funding for education," State Superintendent of Education Robert Leininger explained.

Of the state's 946 school districts, 111 or 11.7 percent are on the 1992 watch list. This year's percentage reveals no appreciable change from the 12 percent figure, 116 of 953 districts, registered for the 1991 list.

"Seven school districts on this year's list suffered additional insult to injury at the hands of the state," Leininger explained. "While struggling to balance budgets in spite of the shrinking financial support from the state, these districts were pushed into the red solely because of late and insufficient categorical payments."

Last year, the state had a $74 million shortfall in funding mandated categorical programs and a $201 million shortage is projected for the current school year. Also, the state's ongoing cash-flow problem has delayed disbursement of categorical payments to school districts for months.

"For this state to move from a stagnant position in reducing the number of districts on the list, lawmakers will have to provide schools with a healthy infusion of new revenue for education. I remain hopeful that the General Assembly will have the fortitude to do the right thing," Leininger added.

Districts were placed on the list based on their financial condition as of June 30th. The year-end balances in the four major funds, educational, operations & maintenance, transportation, and working cash, are compared to the total revenues collected in those funds for the year. If the fund balances equal five percent or less of the revenues, districts are placed on the list.

Because the state moved the 1992 June general state aid payment to July last year, districts meeting the five percent criteria as a result of the change in the payment schedule were not placed on the list. The schedule forced many districts to have lower cash balances at the end of the fiscal year.

Leininger said, "The list is the board's best barometer for monitoring the financial conditions of schools. The system, however, is not perfect. Many districts stay off the list by converting short-term debt into long-term debt. Sooner or later, creative ways of financing will catch up with a district and leave it faced with staggering bills and little or no new revenue to reduce its debt."

Developed in the early 1980s, the list is the board's early-warning tool which identifies those school districts headed towards serious financial problems. The board staff then works with local school districts to assist and encourage them in taking action to help avoid greater financial difficulty.

If a district is in a severe financial condition, the board may certify it as being "in financial difficulty," a separate process from the watch list which occurs only after districts meet criteria for certification outlined in section 1A-8 of the school code. Certified districts must develop multi-year financial plans for board approval and subsequent implementation.

In the local area, no school district is on the current watch list and the only area district, Worth 127, listed on the FY 1992 list has been removed.

Free Height Screening

A free height screening clinic to measure children age two to 18 years old is being offered at Loyola University Medical Center in Maywood on Saturday, March 6th. Heights are compared to standards based on age; a child smaller than the norms may lack sufficient hormone related to growth.

The screening accurately measures a child's height on a growth board and plots that height on a graph to show the percentage of height for age, explained Dr. W. Patrick Zeller, director of pediatric endocrinology, who will conduct the screenings.

Previous Loyola screenings found one-third of 36 children measured were at or below the fifth percentile. The fifth percentile indicates that one is as tall or taller than only five of 100 children the same age. Of those who fell below the fifth percentile and whose parents sought further medical evaluation, "a third have hormone problems," Zeller said.

Growth hormone deficiency can be easily treated with growth hormone. If a child is found to have a hormone deficiency, they are moved into the health care system, he added.

The screenings are scheduled at the Loyola University Medical Center, 2160 S. First Ave., Maywood, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Appointments can be scheduled by calling (708) 327-9086.

Vegas Night

Lourdes High School, 4034 W. 56th St., is hosting Las Vegas Nights on March 5th and 6th in the school gymnasium. The time for both nights is 7 p.m. to 12 midnight. Admission for adults 21 years and over is $3. Games of chance such as poker and blackjack, drawings, and an assortment of food and beverages will be featured.

by bill corcoran

Just last week a "letter" was printed in one of the Chicago dailies in which a woman stated she had grown up near the United States Marine Corps base at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, while her father was serving as an officer in the Marine Corps.

She categorically stated, and the newspaper went right along in lockstep printing her diatribe, that "Marines provoked fear in mothers of teenage girls to such an extent that going to movies on the weekends was deemed unsafe." She went on to state that police reports of rapes and numerous strip joints and topless bars were constant reminders of living near the Marine base.

She also cited the case of the three Marines who beat up a gay man in a bar near Camp Lejeune as "the pristine audacity of the military."

After reading her "letter," we placed a phone call to Chief Roger Halbert of the Jacksonville, North Carolina police department, a town of 78,000 which includes the military population of Camp Lejeune.

Chief Halbert told us all the strip bars and topless bars were closed down in 1977 with the help of the Marine Corps.

Chief Halbert also read off the statistics from the 1992 Jacksonville crime report: five homicides, 36 reported rapes, 98 robberies and 285 assaults in Jacksonville.

We asked the chief how many of the reported rapes were Marine personnel, and he said, "very, very few." "Most of the reported rapes were traced to a civilian serial rapist who had been apprehended," he told us.

The chief said Jacksonville is a town of mostly retired people and families and he said teenage girls go to the movies on the weekends all the time and there is never a problem.

As for the three Marines who beat up the gay man, Chief Halbert told us that incident had taken place in Wilmington, North Carolina, and that the three Marines were "roughnecks" who had gone into three bars in Jacksonville, not gay bars, the week before the incident in Wilmington looking for a fight with anyone. Warrants were executed by the Jacksonville police.

"You know," said Chief Halbert, "the truth is nobody ever writes about all the good things the Marines do."

To illustrate his point, he told us about how a man in his 80s had wandered away from a nursing home and the police department in Jacksonville could not find him.

"I got on the radio station down there and asked for volunteers to help find the old man," he said, "and within 15 minutes 60 Marines showed up at the police station and the Marines found the elderly gentleman in less than an hour."

In a pensive mood, Chief Halbert said he would rather be a police chief in a military town than a college town. We asked why? "Because military people are more well-behaved and more disciplined than college brats," he stated.

The recent dispute over whether gays belong in the Armed Forces has brought out of the closet gay rights activists who have concentrated their public relations efforts around the "letters to the editor" pages where they make unsubstantiated claims using a word-mix of ad hominem rhetoric coupled with sarcasm, blatant lies, absurd remarks and erroneous statements.

The editorial page editor of the Chicago newspaper in question recently wrote us and said, "our bottom-line position (is) that the ban on gays in the Armed Forces must be lifted."

The same Chicago daily recently ran a letter from a reader who stated, "we should exclude heterosexual males from the military since they commit many more atrocities against females, military and civilian (just ask the Tailhook victims)."

Apparently nobody in the newspaper's editorial department stopped to check the letter writer's "many more" inflammatory statements before running the letter.

There are 1.8 million people in the Armed Forces, and the general consensus is only two percent are gays. Therefore, the irrational exercise in mathematical logic thus becomes a mendacious statement and another example of the newspaper's editorial stance which is in favor of lifting the gay ban.

A recent column on the op-ed page of the newspaper in question, quotes Tanya Domi, a leader of the Gays and Lesbian Military Freedom Initiative, who said her organization presented a manifesto to the Clinton-Gore transition team spelling out special protections for homosexuals and bisexuals, homosexual awareness training for heterosexuals and a host of changes in the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ).

The columnist failed to report one glaring gender discrimination gap which would have clouded the subjective idealism of Domi's "manifesto."

We found out Tanya Domi served in the Armed Forces for a dozen years, and apparently throughout her military career, went along with the military's position that women in the Armed Forces cannot serve in combat.

Perhaps, like all of us who served in the military, she simply snapped to, saluted and took orders (and her pay) and left her self-serving "manifestos," women in combat and gay rights agendas, in the closet.

So the next time you read a "letter to the editor" from some energized gay rights activist, or an op-ed column which has not been thoroughly researched, it might be wise to remember what Sgt. Joe Friday used to say on the old "Dragnet" series, "Just the facts, 'mam, just the facts."

Commissioner Patricia Young of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) Board of Commissioners and employees of the district's Calumet Water Reclamation Plant, accept the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) certificate of excellence from IEPA Great Lakes Coordinator William H. Busch. The plant was one of three to receive an outstanding award in safety. Other facilities receiving the award were the Egan Plant, Schaumburg and the Lemont Plant. Pictured are Busch, Ms. Young, Assistant Chief Engineer Al Michuda, Senior Safety Coordinator Joseph Sheahan and Safety Inspector Jonas Kalvaitis.

Illinois Driver Privacy Safeguards

Secretary of State George H. Ryan called for new consumer-oriented measures that will further safeguard the privacy of Illinois drivers and vehicle owners. Ryan said he will ask the General Assembly to sharply restrict the kind of personal information available to the general public from Illinois motor vehicle records.

In addition, Ryan advocated legislation that would allow Illinoisans to have their names excluded from commercial mailing lists purchased from his office.

"Balancing the interests in public disclosure with an individual's right to privacy is a delicate task for government," Ryan said in a news conference at the Capitol. "That's especially true in an era when bits of information can be 'bundled' behind the scenes to create personal and financial profiles of individual Americans."

Acting on the recommendations of his advisory council on public records and privacy, Ryan called for three major changes in the way his office discloses information: prohibit the release of personal information, including addresses, to anyone without a specific business-related reason for obtaining the material. Exempted would be entities with a business interest in motor vehicle records, including insurance companies, auto-related businesses, law enforcement officials and the news media; allow people, by making a request to the secretary of state's office, to keep personal information from being used for unsolicited mailings and require companies that make bulk purchases of information to disclose how they plan to use the material.

"These recommendations address the right of the government to acquire private information, and the right of individuals to have that information handled responsibly," said William S. Hanley, who chaired the advisory council.

Ryan named the council shortly after he took office in 1991. The panel undertook the first comprehensive review of privacy issues within the secretary of state's office in nearly a decade. As caretaker of about 15 million driving and vehicle records, Ryan's interest in the issue stems from the 1989 murder of actress Rebecca Schaeffer, who was shot in the doorway of her home by a stalker who obtained her address from California motor vehicle records.

"We must do all that we can to ensure that a similar tragedy doesn't occur in Illinois," Ryan stressed. "The information we gather is collected for good reasons, but those do not include handing it over to a stranger who wants to know where a woman lives, or where an expensive car might be parked overnight."

As a first step in safeguarding privacy, Ryan passed legislation in spring 1991 creating a 10-day delay in the release of driving and vehicle records to the general public. That law, which took effect July 1, 1992, also authorized the secretary of state's office to notify people anytime an individual requested a copy of their driving or vehicle records.

"Since we began this practice, many people have called or written imploring us not to release the information under any circumstances," Ryan said. "I firmly believe that home addresses, along with other items of personal information, should not be available on an unrestricted basis. By the same token, those who don't want unsolicited mailings should be able to have their names deleted from the lists we are obliged by law to sell."

Ryan said he is considering even stronger protections for people who contact his office with a valid court order of protection or restraint.

The recommendations were forwarded to the General Assembly, which last year requested a report on privacy issues within Ryan's office.

The secretary of state's office sold more than 4.6 million driving records and nearly 60,000 vehicle records in 1991, raising about $10 million for the road fund. Of those records, only about 1,500 were sold to individual purchasers since new privacy rules took effect last July.

Free Tax Advice

The Illinois CPA Society is offering Illinois taxpayers free tax advice on Wednesday, March 10th from 6 to 8 p.m., kicking off its second annual 'Tax Knights' program. For two hours volunteer certified public accountants will answer the questions of Illinois taxpayers via the phone at no charge. Illinois residents can call CPAs at the CPA Society offices (312) 993-0393, with questions regarding their individual Illinois and federal tax returns.

With the tax laws increasingly becoming more complex, more and more people are seeking the advice of tax professionals when preparing their taxes.

"Tax laws in recent years have changed radically and taxpayers find it to be very confusing," said Edward J. Taylor, president of the Illinois CPA Society. "Our members want to help alleviate some of that confusion."

He added, "We also realize, that with so many people in Illinois out of work, it may be impossible for some taxpayers to receive the professional advice they need and that's where we can help."

Joint Effort

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce is participating this year in the joint effort between business and organized labor to curb the number of legislative session fundraisers during April, May and June.

"We believe this is a positive and logical approach to the concern that participation in these fundraisers gives the appearance of impropriety," said Sally A. Jackson, Chamber president and CEO.

The chamber's change in policy is reflective of its overall support of strong ethics in lobbying.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

As attorney for the Village of Robbins, I served as the hearing officer for the recent siting process for the trash-to-energy facility. In light of complaints through the media from opponents of the project, I thought it would be helpful to clarify some issues.

The primary purpose of a local siting hearing and public comment period is to ensure that those charged with making a decision have an opportunity to review all of the arguments about the facility, both pro and con. In this case, the decision-makers are the mayor and trustees from the Village of Robbins, all of whom were present throughout the lengthy hearing.

Neither the village nor Reading Energy can "make up the rules" for how this hearing is conducted. The format comes directly from section 39.2 of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act for approval of regional pollution control facilities.

Although opponents of the project have complained loudly that they were not given a chance to fairly air their views during this process, the evidence in the record clearly shows otherwise. The opening testimony took just over two hours by those experts called in to answer specific criteria for siting approval. This was followed by more than two hours of questioning of these witnesses through written submissions from the public. The hearing began around 6:45 p.m. and by 9 p.m., opponents began making their arguments through cross-examination.

After the questioning, I modified the prescribed order of the agenda so the opponents could make their public statements prior to the supporters.

At any time during the process, people had the opportunity to enter their statement into the record through a court reporter. Dozens of attendees took advantage of this option. Everyone in the room was also told repeatedly that they could send in their statement during the 30-day comment period following the hearing.

It seems that the opponents of the project are confused about the purpose of the hearing. The purpose is to collect adequate data for the village to make an informed decision about siting the plant in Robbins, and to allow public access to what is being reviewed. Whether you are for the plant or against it, we can all agree on one thing, that purpose was fairly served.

Very truly yours,
Odelson & Sterk, Ltd.
s/s Mark H. Sterk

In "Stitches"

Peg Morris, nationally-known artist and teacher of embroidery, is teaching a one-day workshop at the Beverly Art Center, 2153 W. 111th St., on Saturday, March 6th starting at 10 a.m. This workshop, entitled "Colorful Stitches," is underwritten by the Beverly Embroidery Guild and will expand students' embroidery technique while exploring color.

For more information, call the Beverly Art Center, (312) 445-3838. Due to the popularity of this workshop, early registration is suggested.

Clinical Trial Volunteer Call

Physicians at the University of Chicago Medical Center are seeking volunteers for a clinical trial to determine if the man-made investigational drug R-hFSH (recombinant follicle stimulating hormone known as Gonal-F) induces ovulation in infertile women as effectively as the FDA-approved human FSH, known as Metrodin, extracted from the urine of post-menopausal women. The study will also compare pregnancy rates and side-effects between R-hFSH and human FSH in anovulatory women. The University of Chicago Medical Center is the only center in Illinois participating in the study.

One in 12 couples in the United States, approximately 5,000,000 people, have infertility problems, but 60 percent couples who seek treatment will eventually have a successful pregnancy. For some infertile couples the first form of treatment may be hormone therapy that stimulates eggs to develop and form follicles. FSH is a proven form of therapy which stimulates ovulation in 90 percent of women and results in pregnancy in 20 percent of women treated with this therapy.

The University of Chicago study is part of an open, randomized multicenter investigation that will evaluate the safety of man-made versus human FSH in anovulatory women. To be included in the study, women must be between the ages of 18 and 38 with infertility due to anovulation and no other medical factors which would inhibit the possibility of becoming pregnant. Couples will undergo a complete screening and evaluation prior to inclusion in the study. The drug is provided at no charge to patients. Typically, the cost of one treatment cycle is $1,000, with the average couple undergoing these cycles of treatment before becoming pregnant. Study participants have the potential risk of ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome and multiple pregnancy.

"At the end of this study, we will know whether Gonal-F therapy alone is as effective in treating infertility as Metrodin," said Randall Barnes, M.D., associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Chicago and director of the study.

Study participants will be required to make frequent visits to the University of Chicago Hospitals during therapy. The cost of ultrasound examinations and blood tests are not covered by the study.

Volunteers should call Randall Barnes, M.D., at the University of Chicago, 5841 S. Maryland Ave., (312) 702-6642.

Fiscal Problem

Driven by surging medical costs, the department of public aid's expenditures from the general revenue fund have grown by 42 percent during the last five years, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch reported. Spending by public aid, which provides medical and income assistance to more than 1,000,000 Illinois residents, has increased from $3.164 billion in fiscal 1987 to $4.480 billion in fiscal 1992, said Netsch.

Increased medical assistance costs of $1.219 billion during that time accounted for nearly all of the burgeoning costs of the program, Netsch noted. Medical assistance, in fact, accounted for 71 percent of public aid's spending, exclusive of operations, in fiscal 1992.

Additional medical assistance spending resulted from the provider assessment program, which imposes $750 million in taxes on hospitals, nursing homes and facilities for the developmentally disabled in order to receive $750 million in matching federal funds. The assessment program runs through June 30th, the end of the 1993 fiscal year, and is subject to renewal this spring by the Illinois General Assembly.

If the legislation is not renewed, or if the federal government discontinues the matching plan, the medical assistance program could face a 30 percent cut in reimbursement funds, costing hospitals that serve Medicaid patients about $1 billion in reimbursements, and facilities that care for long-term nursing care and developmentally disabled patients about $400 million in reimbursements.

Public aid's second largest area of spending is the aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) program, which provides grants to families with children who lack parental support due to the absence, incapacity or death of one or both parents or where the principal wage earner is unemployed. AFDC costs and number of recipients tend to reflect economic conditions, but have actually remained fairly stable over the past decade, at roughly $845 million per year and 700,000 recipients.

Illinois ranked 26th in terms of the typical AFDC monthly payment for a family of three in July 1992. The typical payment for Illinois was $367 at that time.

The average income of Illinois families in the top 20 percent of household incomes was $101,645 in the late 1980s, according to a study. While Illinois' top 20 percent ranked third among a sample of 13 neighboring and other large states, its bottom 20 percent had average income of $10,345 and ranked eighth among the 13 states.

Illinois' per capita personal income of $20,731 ranked 11th among all the states. The study also found that nationwide the average income of the poorest fifth of families adjusted for inflation declined in 32 states during the 1980s, while the income of the top fifth increased in 43 states during that time.

Cook County Joins "Green Light"

Cook County Government recently made an investment in the environment by becoming a partner in the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) "Green Light" program, announced Board President Richard Phelan. The program will upgrade lighting while saving energy and lessening pollution. As a "Green Light" partner, the county is committed to installing energy-efficient lighting in 90 percent of its facilities over a five-year period to the extent that the upgrade is profitable and does not compromise lighting quality. In addition, the county will survey lighting in all its facilities, design new facilities to meet the most current building efficiency standards, and educate employees about the benefits of energy-efficient lighting. In return, the EPA will provide a wide variety of products and services designed to make upgrading easier, such as technology training workshops, technical support and a computer software program that assesses various upgrade options.

SIPP Survey

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau are now visiting selected area households to conduct the monthly Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office, announced.

SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey introduced in the fall of 1983, one of the nation's largest, with about 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey. Subjects covered include jobs and earnings; the economic effects of unemployment, disability and retirement; how taxes affect personal spending; and participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and pension plans.

Auto Crime

Today's motorists must be concerned with driving safely, including taking precautions against crime on the roadways. In response to the increase in carjacking and other crimes, the National Safety Council has developed an educational video designed to reduce the chances of being a victim of auto-related crime. "Reduce Your Risk" outlines personal prevention techniques that can be used to guard against crime while driving, parking or walking to and from vehicles.

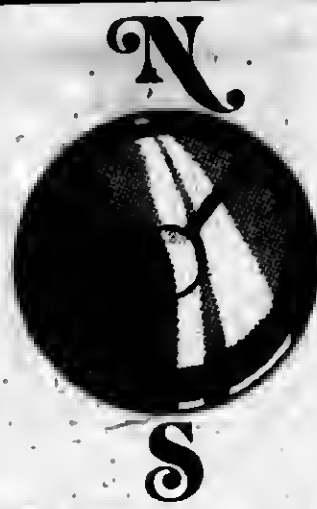

Simulations of potential crime scenarios are presented with prevention techniques. The video is intended to increase crime awareness and prevention. Applying many of the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course concepts to avoiding crime on the road, the video provides tips such as scanning ahead for trouble, determining escape routes and other precautions to increase personal safety.

For additional information on "Reduce Your Risk," contact the National Safety Council at (800)621-6244.

Gov. Edgar's Task Force on Crime and Corrections will report in March its final recommendations for ways to address the state's serious and growing prison overcrowding problem. The task force's preliminary report was rejected by the governor for its key recommendation: increased funding for prison construction. The governor recognizes, as must his task force members, that the system is in dire need of more dramatic reform. To come to grips with the overcrowding crisis, task force members must accept certain truths. In 1990, Illinois had the fastest-growing prison population in the nation. Between 1990 and 1992, the inmate population in Illinois grew from 24,869 inmates to 31,066, an increase of over 25 percent. Despite spending $459 million to build 15 prisons in 15 years, Illinois' corrections system is more crowded than ever, operating in late 1992 at 151 percent of capacity. It seems the more prisons we build, the more quickly they become overcrowded.

Why can't we keep up? Why did the task force's preliminary recommendations fall so far short of a long-term solution? Because very few policy-makers and opinion leaders in Illinois are willing to challenge, head-on, the underlying problem: the War on Drugs. Drug law enforcement is the most significant cause of the crowded conditions that afflict the Illinois corrections system. Between 1984 and 1991 the number of drug offenders admitted to prison increased by 644.8 percent. (By contrast, non-drug prison admissions increased by just 44.1 percent.) The average length of sentence for drug offenders in Illinois increased by 17 percent during this period. In 1985, 4.5 percent of the total prison population had been admitted with a drug charge as their principal offense and by 1991, that figure had quadrupled, to 18 percent.

A rapidly increasing share of Illinois' other criminal justice resources also is devoted to the War on Drugs. Drug arrests rose almost three times faster than arrests for Index I crimes (murder, manslaughter, sex offenses, robbery, burglary, assault, larceny and auto theft) between 1984 and 1989. In 1984 one drug arrest was made in Illinois for every four Index I arrests; by 1989, one drug arrest was made for every 2.9 Index I arrests. Because of the flow of drug offenders into the state's prisons and jails, convicted non-drug offenders have been released early from state prisons and accused felons have been released without bail from local jails. Over 80 percent of all felony cases in Illinois are settled through plea bargaining rather than by trial.

To address the congestion at every level of Illinois' criminal justice system requires nothing less than a new battle plan in the War on Drugs. It's time we acknowledge that the enemy in this War is not everyone who uses drugs. Most of these people are 'innocent bystanders,' all too often hurt by our badly targeted Drug War. The real enemy is a much smaller force: drug users and sellers who hurt other people by committing non-drug crimes.

To deal with alcohol and cigarettes, addictive substances not unlike many currently illegal drugs, we have adopted a strategy far more successful than the War on Drugs has been. We bombard cigarette and alcohol users with information about the dangers of their habits and encourage them to seek treatment when they become clearly dangerous to themselves, but we imprison them or mandate treatment only when they endanger others. Why do we treat illicit drug users differently?

The War on Drugs has strained the state's criminal justice system well beyond its limits. If the task force doesn't have the courage to recommend adoption of a bold new strategy for fighting that war, Gov. Edgar, or a successor years down the road, will find it necessary to appoint yet another task force to discuss the same things they are discussing today.

Task Force Report

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce is endorsing the report issued by Gov. Jim Edgar's Task Force on Higher Education. The document offers Chamber-supported proposals to streamline and eliminate duplication in the higher education system. The Chamber's statewide board of directors has passed a resolution supporting the report, after listening to a presentation by Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra, who co-chaired the task force.

"We hope that passage of this resolution will be beneficial to the lieutenant governor's efforts to develop a more cost-effective and accountable higher education system," said Chamber President Sally A. Jackson.

Opportunities For Handicapped

Gov. Jim Edgar recently announced that the Center of Chicago has been awarded contracts for $200,000 to provide microfilming service to state government agencies under the Illinois State Use Program.

Administered by the Department of Central Management Services, the State Use Program allows state agencies to purchase needed goods and services through rehabilitation facilities.

"The program provides employment opportunities for workers with disabilities and allows the state to receive quality work at competitive costs," said Gov. Edgar.

The Center will employ 60 persons with disabilities to transfer records to microfilm, including clerical preparation, filming, processing, jacketing and duplicating. The work will be done according to specifications of the requesting agency, and each roll of microfilm will be inspected for quality.

The Center is one of nearly 100 rehabilitation facilities in Illinois that participate as vendors in the State Use Program. More than 3,500 people with disabilities are working at rehabilitation facilities statewide to fulfill more than 100 new State Use contracts this fiscal year. Workers in the facilities perform such diverse tasks as manufacturing highway barricades, packaging food products, processing computerized data, producing engraved signage, and providing maintenance services.

Homeowner Exemption Forms Mailed

Cook County Assessor Thomas C. Hynes has announced that 1992 Homeowner Exemption applications have been mailed to almost 970,000 Cook County homeowners. The exemption can save qualified homeowners from $200 to $500 in property taxes on bills payable this summer. The exact amount saved will depend on the local tax rate. Hynes said that people should complete the application by signing and returning it to the assessor's office by March 22nd.

The Homeowner Exemption is for owners of single-family homes, condominiums, cooperatives or apartment buildings up to six units. The property must have been occupied by the current or previous owner as a principal residence as of Jan. 1st, 1992.

"Senior citizens will automatically receive this exemption if they are scheduled to receive the 1992 Senior Citizen Exemption which was recently mailed," Hynes said.

If a homeowner turned 65 last year or earlier and has never applied for the Senior Citizen Exemption, Hynes said, they should contact his office as soon as possible.

"The property tax exemptions are significant tax relief for homeowners and I strongly urge anyone who is eligible to make sure they receive it," Hynes said.

He pointed out that the combined savings from both exemptions for an eligible senior citizen can be from $400 to $700. Last year more than 950,000 homeowners saved over $300 million on the exemptions.

Hynes sponsored the Homeowner Exemption while serving as Illinois Senate President and, as assessor, worked to increase its benefits to its present amount.

For further information on applying for these tax exemptions, contact Hynes' main office in the County Building, 118 N. Clark, Chicago 60602 (Homeowners Exemption Department, Room 301, (312) 443-7500; Senior Citizen Exemption Department, Room 301, (312) 443-6151, or, locally, at one of his branch offices in the following Circuit Court Buildings: 10200 S. 76th Ave., Bridgeview, Room 237, (708) 974-6451 or 16501 S. Kedzie, Markham, Room 237, (708) 210-4100. Office hours for both locations are 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Assistance is also available at suburban township assessor's offices.

Forum On Management

City and village officials can improve their financial management skills by attending one of 18 financial management workshops to be offered in locations around the state this spring by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) office of local government management services. Workshops on topics ranging from revenue sources available to municipalities, to preparing and maintaining a balanced budget, are designed specifically for elected municipal officials and administrative staff.

"These workshops are a great source of ideas for experienced officials and a valuable learning experience for newly-elected officials," said Jan M. Grayson, DCCA Director. "Often, local officials assume their posts without prior experience in the many legal and technical areas they must address. Workshops like these can help them quickly learn about these important issues so they can effectively and efficiently discharge their duties."

Municipal officials wishing to register to attend one of the workshops may call DCCA's Office of Local Government Management Services at (217) 785-7546 during regular business hours, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. There is no fee to attend the workshops; however, pre-registration is desired to ensure that sufficient seating and materials are available.

The local workshop is on Wednesday, March 17th from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Tinley Park Village Hall, 16250 Oak Park Ave.

Mayors Take Aim At Edgar For Tax Surcharge Plan

Evergreen Park Mayor Anthony Vacco hosted a meeting of mayors from throughout the suburban area, as well as Chicago Mayor Richard M. Daley, on Monday morning. The gathering at the Evergreen Park Village Hall attracted more than a dozen mayors and village presidents and was, in Vacco's words, "a declaration of war against Governor Jim Edgar's apparent plan to divert income tax surcharge monies from local communities to the state."

The mayors feel that the monies should go, as originally intended when the surcharge was imposed, to local communities. According to Vacco, Governor Edgar has already sliced the amount of money going to local governments in half in order to shore up state deficits. The mayors agree with Vacco and point out that property tax hikes are the only alternative to Edgar's plan.

Worth Mayor Dan Kumingo said that his village has used the surcharge money to purchase fire equipment and Vacco displayed equipment purchased by various village agencies through surcharge tax money.

Chicago Ridge Mayor Eugene Siegel stressed that loss of some $400,000 in annual receipts from the surtax would hit the village's budget and, ultimately mean higher property taxes. He added that a $700,000 abatement of property taxes would have to be rescinded "unless local governments receive the surtax monies."

The portion of the surcharge allocated to local governments is scheduled to expire on June 30th and Governor Edgar's plan to extend the surcharge, with the portion for local governments going to state programs for children.

Mayor Daley said that the City of Chicago would lose $35 million this year, if Edgar's proposal goes through, forcing spending cuts for essential services this year, as well as next.

The surcharge took effect in 1989 and raised the state income tax rate to 3 percent from 2.5 percent, with the money split evenly between municipalities and school districts. Legislators extended the surcharge two years later and made the portion allocated to schools permanent. However, they divided the other 50 percent between local and state government.

Vacco summed up the feelings of the mayors when he said, "We're here to make certain that our people get services."

Sheriff's Special Arrest Response Team

An increase in arrests and weapon seizures has prompted formation of a special arrest response team in the Cook County Sheriff's office. Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan announced. The unit is to provide backup to regular eviction crews when weapons are recovered or arrests are necessary at the site. Prior to the policy change, deputy sheriffs performing evictions turned over all arrests and seizures to local police departments in the jurisdiction where the eviction was being executed.

The unit is part of the sheriff's civil process division, which is responsible for the service of court documents such as summons, subpoenas, notices of eviction, wage deduction orders and orders of protection. Sheriff's deputies perform an average of 200 evictions each week throughout the county.

"With the new unit in place, the sheriff's office will no longer have to rely on Chicago and suburban police departments to process arrests and confiscate materials seized during evictions," according to Sheahan, who said all arrests will now be processed at the sheriff's police department in Maywood.

Deputies assigned to the civil warrants unit will be detailed to the arrest response unit on an "as-needed" basis to provide the additional manpower to process the arrests and allow scheduled evictions to continue uninterrupted.

Condo Meeting

The Council of Oak Lawn Condominium Associations (COOLCA) and other suburban associations will meet at 7:15 p.m. on Wednesday, March 10th, at the Oak View Center, 110th and Kilpatrick. Clifford Treese, an authority on the Illinois Property Act and condominium legislation, will be the guest speaker.

Dedication

The dedication of the new gymnasium and fine arts facility at Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School, 3737 W. 99th St., takes place on Sunday, March 7th, in the new gymnasium. His Eminence Cardinal Joseph Bernardin is officiating at the ceremony, which begins at 2 p.m. The dedication marks the culmination of a $2.4 million project.

Ground breaking took place in May of 1992 at the height of a $1.5 million capital campaign, the largest fundraising effort ever initiated at Mother McAuley.

The project was spearheaded by Francis Houlihan, a past McAuley parent and member of the board of trustees, and Mary Clark, development director at McAuley.

Attending the dedication will be Sister Betty Smith, president of the Chicago Region of the Sisters of Mercy of the Americas; Dr. Elaine Schuster, superintendent of Catholic Schools; Dr. Teresa Malby, RSM, chairperson of the board of trustees; Sister Catherine C. Gallagher, RSM, 'Celebration '93' award recipient and Colleen Lamb of Blake Lamb Funeral Homes. They will be joined by members of the board, faculty, staff, students, campaign supporters, community leaders, and members of the Sisters of Mercy community. A short reception will follow.

On Board

Paul J. Belsky, an Orland Park resident, has been selected to fill the vacant seat on the Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees. Belsky is a director of the Chicago Board Options Exchange and a part-time professor of finance at St. Xavier University's Graham School of Management. He is also a member of the university's international business advisory board.

Belsky comes to the board as the first person ever to be appointed to a community college board by the state agency which oversees community college boards. The six other members of the MVCC board had divided into two three-member factions, deadlocking any decision on the vacancy.

He is the only member of the board not tied to one of the factions characterized by political divisiveness.

Belsky hopes that because he does not know any of the other board members, he should be able to look at the issues objectively.

Academic Tourney

The best and brightest area high school students will compete in the Citizen Bee regional academic competition sponsored by Clark Oil & Refining Corporation on Saturday, March 13th at Dwight D. Eisenhower High School, 12700 S. Sacramento Ave. State Rep. Terry Steczko will serve as moderator. Students from the following schools will participate in the regional finals: Stagg High School, Eisenhower High School, Richards High School, Lockport Township High School, Mount Assisi Academy, Polaris High School, Queen of Peace High School, Reavis High School, Rich East High School and Shepard High School.

"The competition enhances students' awareness and understanding of the people and events which helped build our country," said Thomas S. Fredette, director of community relations at Clark Oil. "Clark is proud to serve as state sponsor of the Citizen Bee for the second year."

Students participate in several rounds of written and oral questions focusing on U.S. history, geography, economics, government and current events. Points are awarded for correct answers, and the student with the highest number of points is declared the winner. The students compete for $1,000 in savings bonds and the opportunity to advance to the state competition in April. The national finals will be held in Washington, D.C. in June.

The oral rounds begin at 10:45 a.m., followed by an awards ceremony. On the national level, more than 130,000 students from 4,000 high schools across the country have taken part in the Citizen Bee, sponsored by the Close Up Foundation.

Student Honored

Jennifer Statkus, a University of Evansville student from Oak Lawn, is among approximately 575 students at UE named to the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement during the 1992-93 fall semester. This is the first time Statkus has been named to this list. She is the daughter of Laurel Statkus.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

If I supported the idea of "hate mongering" as a crime, Bill Corcoran's columns in which he attacks the right-to-life with a vengeance would be guilty.

What is puzzling, though, is why Cork's Corner singles out pro-lifers for such concentrated fear and loathing.

I suspect the right-to-life leaders are abhorred because they take the issue beyond the realm of civil rights and over into the realm of morality of right and wrong. They speak with a moral certitude formerly heard in church pulpits, which are now given over today less to sin, death and resurrection and more to peace, love and joy.

The right-to-life leaders challenge one of the pivotal dogmas of secular humanism which has displaced Christianity as the religion of our nation's elite. In this, our new national religion, it is supposedly self-evident that each individual is entitled to his or her own lifestyle; that in matters of sex and procreation, freedom of choice is paramount, that the state and the individual should be utterly indifferent to that choice.

Having passed on the new standards of morality, matters should be now settled, yet there remains a pocket of resistance. Pro-lifers continue to enrage the establishment because they insist that there is a biblical distinction between good and evil, that abortion violates the fifth commandment, a sin against nature and against God, and its practitioners and supporters are going straight to hell if they do not change their ways.

Basically, pro-lifers are a threat to the abortion crowd's sense of self-worth and self-esteem. There is a voice crying aloud that abortion is not a choice, it is murder.

Traffic Death Rate Is Lowest In Four Years

Governor Jim Edgar announced that Illinois' traffic fatality rate has dropped to its lowest level in history and that traffic deaths declined in 1992 for the fourth consecutive year.

"I am delighted that we are continuing to make great progress in saving lives," the Governor said. "The crackdown on drunk driving, our successful efforts to increase seatbelt use and the continued improvement of roads have all contributed to an historic decline in traffic fatalities."

Edgar added, "For the second consecutive year, the Illinois traffic fatality rate is at an all-time low. But we must be inspired by our accomplishment, not rest on it. We must continue to emphasize our safety programs."

Secretary of State George Ryan said, "Our state has achieved this milestone primarily because the public has been a willing partner in our efforts to improve traffic safety. No one wants drunks on the road and more people are seeing the point in buckling up. Our challenge is to continue urging everyone to put safety first."

Provisional figures show the 1992 traffic fatality rate fell to 1.6 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles of travel, according to statistics from the Illinois Departments of Transportation (IDOT) and State Police. There were 1,375 traffic deaths in Illinois during 1992, a decrease of nearly five percent from the 1,444 deaths in 1991. Fewer people died on Illinois highways during 1992 than any year since 1944 when driving was curtailed because of restrictions imposed during World War II.

"It's even more remarkable that these levels were achieved," Edgar pointed out, "because over that period travel in the state increased by 2.3 percent to 87.64 billion miles. Increased travel means more cars on the roadways, and motorists have more exposure to the possibility of crashes, injuries and fatalities."

Data for the first six months of 1992 shows the number of fatalities resulting from crashes in which drivers had alcohol in their blood system decreased 12.2 percent from the same period of 1991. There were 216 people killed in those crashes during that period as compared to 246 a year earlier.

"Secretary Ryan and I must continue to deliver the message that drinking and driving do not mix," the Governor said. "In addition, Illinois State Police Director Terrance Gainer and his troops have been very instrumental in increasing compliance with seatbelt laws and other life-saving laws through highly visible, strategically successful enforcement."

Vision Week

March 7th to 13th has been slated as "National Save Your Vision Week" with the theme 'Shine the Light on Sight.' The week is an annual observance sponsored locally by the Illinois Optometric Association and nationally by the American Optometric Association.

"I hope that Save Your Vision Week will prompt everyone to consider the enormous contribution vision makes to daily life," commented Gary Blackman, O.D., president of the Illinois Optometric Association, "and realize the great importance of safeguarding the health of our eyes by obtaining professional eye care."

About 66 percent of the motorists observed in Illinois are now using safety belts, according to a January 1993 survey conducted by IDOT. This compares to a nationwide average of 62 percent. The increased use of safety belts and child safety seats is believed to be a major factor in the reduction of fatalities.

Declines were achieved in all major categories including pedestrian fatalities, motorcycle fatalities, large truck (semi) fatalities and construction zone fatalities.

Letter To The Editor

Editor,

Municipalities throughout Illinois face a tremendous challenge. On a day-to-day basis, municipalities provide vital services to citizens. Those services cost money. Since 1989, the State of Illinois has provided additional revenues to cities and villages. Those revenues come from the temporary income tax surcharge. The funding has been essential to municipal fiscal health -- and will be jeopardized without it.

Local municipal officials in this state are calling on Governor Jim Edgar to support cities and villages. That call is to urge the Governor to support and endorse a permanent extension of the income tax surcharge and dedicate those revenues to cities, villages and counties.

This approach is responsible and continues to build strong local governments. After all, without strong, fiscally sound municipalities, this state will become second-rate.

I call upon Governor Edgar to help municipalities and keep their fiscal health strong.

"JUST TAKE ALL THE THINGS THAT MAKE HEALTH CARE NETWORKS A GOOD IDEA AND ADD BLUE CROSS."

RAYMOND E. MCCASKEY, PRESIDENT AND CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

Employers join networks to gain buying power — the economies of scale. To offer their people quality health care, good service, and the best rates, wherever they may be located.

HMO Illinois is a Blue Cross HMO with more doctors in more places than any other plan. The Blue Cross PPO brings the largest statewide network of hospitals and doctors closer to home. And we've recently put a full scale Point of Service network into place in six major midwest cities.

So, if you honestly believe a health care network is a good idea, doesn't it follow that one from Blue Cross is an even better idea?"

WE HAVE IT ALL.

meeting when the majority trustees did not follow the wishes of residents when the rebate of the surcharge money was discussed. The majority of those present wanted the $1.3 million rebated or given to the school board which is really hurting. But no, whether or not we wanted the $70 check, we got it anyhow, and they call this following the will of the electors. They were not about to listen to anyone. Also, I have to agree with those who spoke up and asked why this could not have waited until after the election. It really looks like they are trying to buy votes. Also this refund will only benefit homeowners, but if that amount of money had been abated, all of us would have been helped because our tax levy would have been lowered. Also it is estimated about $200,000 of this money will be spent for cutting checks, mailing and other expenses deemed necessary for this project. I also wonder how many of these trustees are going to send their checks, when they get it, to the school district as was suggested by Trustee H. Mozewcz???

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

On Sunday, Jan. 17th, I embarked on a once in a lifetime opportunity. Having the distinct honor of attending the 52nd Presidential Inaugural, I boarded a plane headed to Washington, D.C. and prepared to make the most of this opportunity. The trip to the inaugural lasted five days and every single day was filled with memories I will never forget. For most of the chaotic first day, I traveled aimlessly until I reached my accommodations. After settling in, I attended a pre-inaugural gala banquet and after an unbelievable dinner, (they gave me 10 pieces of silverware; I was lost) I listened to one of the most dynamic speakers of all time, Jesse Jackson, who spoke on the importance of youth getting involved in politics and his speech was very persuasive. Day two was a free day if one could call it that. We, the delegates from the Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference, were allowed to sight see on our own in the mall and we were allowed to visit the various Smithsonian Museums. At the Smithsonian, I was able to see Archie Bunker's chair and the first Superman comic ever, quite cool, among other things. That evening we were entertained by "The Capital Steps" a group that specializes in political satire. "The Capital Steps" were hilarious. After we all got our laugh for the day, we went on an enlightened tour of the Nation's Capital where one could see the beauty of Washington's monument in lights. Tuesday night, my fellow delegates and I, attended 'in full tuxedos and formal gowns' a performance called the "Secret Garden" at the Kennedy Center. The delegates and I also enjoyed ourselves at a post-performance reception which was quite impressive and now I'm sure it must be nice to be rich. Wednesday was the day I had been waiting for and the inauguration of Bill Clinton was truly a sight. I have never seen so many impatient people in one place. There were solid blocks of people half a mile long leading up to the President-elect. Secret servicemen were around every corner, in every window, and on every roof top. Let's just say, security was tight, real tight. After standing for a good three hours, I finally got a glimpse of Clinton and the great George Bush. Clinton, or should I say President Clinton, was quickly sworn in, as I sadly watched George Bush fly away to Houston in his chopper (I'm Republican and a die hard Bush fan).

I also have to look on the future with hope that Clinton will do a great job as President. That night, I attended an inaugural ball at the Old Post Office Pavilion. Here was where I got my best look at the new President. He visited the ball at about 1 a.m. and was 10 feet from me. I respect the President but he sure can't dance. Al Gore also came to the ball and he and Tipper danced pretty well. All in all, the ball was a pleasure. My trip was over on Thursday and I flew home excited to tell my stories to everyone. Basically, I told them that my trip to the inauguration will never be forgotten. Finally, I would like to thank the one person who was probably most influential in allowing me this great opportunity, Mrs. Carol Theodorou. Thanks.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt as only a court of law can make that determination.

On Feb. 18th, Steve Hathaway of Chicago was stopped on the 9300 block of Harlem Ave. and charged with DUI, improper lane usage, failure to notify the Secretary of State about his address change and possession of cannabis.

On the 19th, Albert Dowdell and Mike Halle of Chicago were charged with retail theft after they were reportedly seen leaving the Jewel store, 9424 S. Pulaski, without paying for concealed merchandise. Dowdell had three porterhouse steaks valued at $22.13 and Halle had five steaks valued at $39.91. Dowdell was also charged with battery after he pushed the security agent.

Joseph Workman of Chicago reported that while he was at 10341 S. Central Ave. doing physical therapy, he had left his clothing and wallet in an unsecured locker and when he finished found they were stolen. The wallet had $260 cash, his driver's license and credit cards in it.

On the 21st, Robert Speck of Sycamore, IL reported that while he took a new car for a test drive from the lot at 6550 W. 95th St., someone took a Motorola cellular phone valued at $300 from his own car.

Also on the 21st, Georgena's Bridal Shop at 4710 W. 95th St. reported a black woman was seen leaving with a black pantsuit valued at $250 without paying. She got into a car driven by a black man and left going south toward 95th St.

Jerry Fogelman of Oak Lawn reported that he and his wife went out for dinner and a show, leaving at 5:30 and returning home at about 12:24 a.m. They found the front door half open and a kitchen window was open. Fogelman said for the past two weeks he had been receiving two to three hang-up calls a day and that night a call was received at about 10:50 p.m. Taken was $500 cash; a woman's emerald ring valued at $1,700, for a loss of $2,200.

On the 21st, Ricky Crowder of Chicago was seen by the security agent at the Venture store, 4101 W. 95th St., leaving the store carrying a 13-inch color TV valued at $399.99. He admitted stealing the unit and said he needed the money for drugs.

At 1:44 a.m., the owner of Krauss Tavern, 5130 W. 95th St., called police after he was unable to break up an altercation between Steven Karlicek, 29, of Palos Hills and another patron. Karlicek was charged with battery for pushing Krauss and criminal damage to property.

Jozef Cudzik of Chicago reported that the spare tire mounted on the underside of his 1992 van was stolen. It was valued at $200.

Oak Lawn Manor School, 4300 W. 108th Pl., had three windows broken which will cost $300 to replace. Nothing was missing from the school.

On the 23rd at 4:56 p.m., Sue and John Neheh of Oak Lawn told police that when they came home, noticed the basement window was open and the screen removed. Two bedrooms of their house were ransacked and one bedroom was neatly searched. The following articles were missing; a $400 video recorder, $500 VCR, two Sony cordless phones valued at $2,340, a man's gold watch, $1,500; and a jewelry box for an estimated loss of $5,889.

On the 24th at 2:18 a.m., Jerome Salvino, 21, of Berwyn and Dennis Hughes, 22, of Chicago were fighting at Cagney's Lounge at 4628 W. 103rd St. and both went through the front window which will cost $600 to replace and broke the blind valued at $300. Both were charged with criminal damage to property.

Mrs. Peter Noteman of Oak Lawn reported a burglary. She told police that when she arrived home from work and went into the garage she noticed the door was ajar and was damaged. She called her husband and waited for him to come home and the two of them went through the house before calling police. The only things missing appeared to be approximately $200 cash and a Colt 45 semi-automatic handgun valued at $600. They alleged that it may have been a former acquaintance of their daughter who had bragged about how easy it was to burglarize homes and said it would be easy to get into the Noteman home. They had forbidden her from having any contact with him, especially after he was arrested last summer for shooting her in the back with a BB gun. His name and some of his friends' names were given to the police.

ILLINOIS CONSERVATION CONGRESS MADE UP OF DIVERSE GROUPS AGREE ON MANY ISSUES—Delegates to the first-ever conservation congress endorsed the state's purchase of 15,524 acres of property in Cass County known as "Site M" and unanimously approved a resolution asking the Illinois Commerce Commission to approve the sale.

One hundred and eighteen delegates representing conservation interests from across Illinois gathered in Springfield during the weekend and considered more than 50 proposals on conservation related issues. The congress was convened to encourage public participation in the development of plans to promote conservation and outdoor recreation in Illinois.

"I was pleased and encouraged by the spirit of cooperation that prevailed at this gathering," said Conservation Director Brent Manning. "Groups that traditionally have feuded over the years worked together and found they agreed on many issues. They put their differences aside for the betterment of the state's natural resources. It is an accomplishment of which they all can be proud."

Delegates considered proposals on topics including increased education efforts, increased funding for programs, land acquisition, habitat protection, trail expansion and planning, increased recreational opportunities, community outreach, volunteer efforts and improved communication between the Department and its constituents.

All of the proposals considered by the congress will be analyzed by the Department of Conservation (DOC) and forwarded to Governor Jim Edgar, Manning said.

Manning encouraged the groups to continue to work together and to attend regional caucuses expected to be held in March. Delegates said they wanted to hold future conservation congresses.

"The delegates recognize some of their goals can be accomplished quickly, but others could take years to achieve and they need to continue their united efforts toward these goals," Manning said.

MID AMERICA HUNTING & ARCHERY SHOW MOVES TO DOLTON, IL.—The second annual Mid American Hunting and Archery Show, the largest indoor hunting and archery show in the Midwest, will be held at the new Dolton Expo Center, 14200 Chicago Road, Dolton, IL on March 12, 13 & 14. See and buy what is new in the hunting industry for 1993, including firearms, bows, arrows, broadheads, camo clothing, boots, ammunition, bow accessories, tree stands, turkey & deer decoys, turkey & deer calls and more.

Show attendees can also meet and plan hunts with outfitters and guides from the United States and Canada. Wildlife and Native American art will be displayed and sold. Talk to outdoor clubs and organizations, both local and national at the show.

The Mid America Hunting and Archery Show will feature seminars throughout the weekend by America and Canada's best outdoor experts. This is by far the greatest gathering of speakers ever featured at one show.

Three lucky winners will be drawn from the show attendees to go on "The Hunt of a Lifetime." All attendees will be given a sweepstakes entry form as they enter. One name will be drawn each day of the show. The lucky winner will not only win the hunt, but will be outfitted for the hunt with various prizes, such as a bow, arrows, broadheads, treestand, camo outfit and more. Show hours are Friday, 12 noon to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sunday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $6 for adults, children under six are admitted free. A "hot stove session" will also be included where guests at the clinic can ask questions of the St. Laurence coaches.

Refreshments and hearty discussion follow at the end of the day. The clinic is being sponsored by Burbank Sports.

A graduate of Tinley Park High School, the 6-6 forward has appeared in 13 of the first 14 games for coach Bill Warden's squad. He is averaging 2.6 points per game. Viking Football Players Honored

The annual awards banquet honoring athletes in the Viking football program was held last month in the dining room at the Summit VFW Hall. Students on all levels were awarded plaques, major or minor letters, or numerals for their effort and dedication both on the field and in the classroom, throughout the season.

The event was co-hosted by Robert DeCarlo, athletic director & assistant varsity head coach, and Robert Padjen, head football coach. After dinner, Coach Padjen began by thanking some of the very important contributions made by many "behind the scenes" personnel.

BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

The final games of the regular season are history for area cagers and now it's time to face the music of the playoffs. For some, this music will be melodic while for others, the sour notes will abound.

Tuesday Games (Feb. 23rd)
Lincoln-Way 60 - Andrew 51

The Thunderbolts came to within seven points of the Lincoln-Way Knights with just over a minute on the clock, but they could get no closer as the Knights pulled out a 60-51 SICA West victory in New Lenox.

"We had good shots in the first half, open shots in the lane that we just didn't hit," lamented T-Bolt coach Mark Klutcharch. "But we played hard, and those last four minutes of the second quarter we played great defense. Then came the third quarter."

Top scorers for Andrew were Frank Nelson with 17 points, 13 for Steve DeHaan and an even dozen for Mike O'Neill.

Sandburg 43 - Stag 41

This was a fight to the buzzer in Palos Hills, but the Eagles emerged victorious in SICA North action.

Eagle Casey Peters was on fire as he connected for 21 points.

The Chargers had a good showing from John McGuinness with 14 points and five blocked shots.

Reavis 56 - Argo 55

The Rams barely escaped defeat at the hands of the Argonauts during SICA North play.

The Ram dynamic duo on the floor consisted of Tony Bombacino and his 27 plus Jason Blizniak's 24.

On the Argonaut side of the scorebook, Fred White totaled 18 points followed by 10 apiece from Jasper Mallory and Sylvester Gilleyen.

Shepard 55 - Richards 46

The home team Astros sent their fans home with smiles on their faces as they took this SICA North contest 55-46 from the Bulldogs.

Scoring leaders for the Astros were Tyrine Wilson and John Economos with a dozen points each.

On the Bulldog side, Demarious Collins netted 17 while Brian Dyson poured in 11.

Wednesday Game

Evergreen Park 50 - Luther South 45

The Mustangs made the must of this Class AA regional semifinal contest against the Braves as they came away with a sweet 50-45 win.

Pacing the Mustangs was the trio of Bill Roman and his 21-point performance, Neal Vanderlee's 14 and 11 from Jerry Rossi.

Friday Games

St. Martin de Porres 59 - Evergreen Park 39

The Mustangs proved to be no match for the Silver Eagles as they fell 59-39 in the Class A regional final game.

Throughout the game, the Mustangs faced deficits on the scoreboard. At the halftime buzzer, they were down 41-9 and at the end of the third quarter, they still trailed 51-18.

"We knew we had to shoot the ball and we didn't," lamented Mustang coach Tom O'Malley. "They were playing against a team they knew was very good and they played jittery. It's a shame because we had a decent year."

Hitting in double numbers for the Mustangs were Jim DeMatteo with 16 and Jim Czerwinski with 11.

St. Francis de Sales 74 - Brother Rice 63

The Crusaders concluded their regular season with a 74-73 loss to St. Francis de Sales.

A 12-2 run by the Pioneers late in the third quarter sealed the game.

Leading the Crusaders in scoring was Jim Sexton with half of the team total as he put through 32 markers.

Loyola 70 - St. Rita 64

Despite a slim 37-35 lead at halftime, the Mustangs couldn't hold on at home and suffered a 70-64 loss to the Ramblers in Catholic League play.

Pacing the Mustangs in the scoring department were Charles Smith and his 16 points, Ken Harvey was close behind with 15, and 11 apiece from Byron Jackson and John Sanders.

Shepard 36 - Sandburg 33

The Astros barely escaped with a victory as they took down the Eagles 36-33 in SICA North action.

Astro power was ignited by lucky number 13 points from John Economos coupled with a dozen boards by Ontario Pryor.

Connecting for nine markers and pulling down 11 rebounds for the Eagles was Casey Peters.

Richards 53 - Oak Lawn 34

After managing to put only a dozen points through the twine in the first half, the Bulldogs brought back life to their home fans in the last two quarters to take down the Oak Lawn Spartans 53-34 in this SICA North matchup.

The Bulldogs were paced by Brian Dyson and his 11 points and 10 from Levant Williams.

For the Spartans, D.J. Smith put in 10.

Reavis 45 - Stag 33

The Rams won this battle on their home court as they defeated the Chargers 45-33 in SICA North action.

The hot hands of Ram Jason Blizniak poured in 22 points which included a trio of 3-point shots.

Hitting six points each for the Chargers were Mike Carnes and Randy Weyerholfer.

Oak Forest 52 - T.F. North 48

It was a fight to the finish, but the Bengals came out on top against the Meteors during SICA Central action.

Bengal Mike MacFarlane popped in a free throw with five seconds left on the clock to seal the win. He had a 20-point total for the game. Teammate Wayne Johnson added 11.

Andrew 71 - Joliet Central 69

The Thunderbolts put smiles on their fans' faces in Tinley Park with this slim victory over the Steelmen in SICA West play.

T-Bolt might showed itself in 29 points from Mike O'Neill, 16 for Steve DeHaan and an even dozen for Joe Navickas.

Notre Dame 62 - Marist 61

The Redskins lost a heartbreaker in overtime during East Suburban Catholic Conference action in Niles.

Redskin rebound came from Dave Cahill with 22 points plus nine rebounds, 14 from Dan Michalak and an even dozen from Ed Saidat.

York 56 - Argo 44

The Argonauts actually had a 15-10 lead after the first quarter, but then fell apart and lost to York in non-conference play.

The bright spot for the Argonauts was a 16-point performance from Fred White.

Hillcrest 98 - Bremen 56

The Hawks scalped the Braves in Midlothian during SIC Central action.

"To beat them, you have to slow down their tempo and limit their possessions," remarked Brave coach Paul Rybarezyk. "They had 35 at the end of the first quarter. We could never, as a team, stop their tempo."

The lone Brave to connect for double digits was Trumane Hampton with 16.

Gordon Tech 71 - St. Laurence 63

The Rams won out over the Vikings during Catholic League South play at Gordon Tech.

Matt Daley paced the Vikes with 29 points.

YMCA Candy Day

Candy Day volunteers are needed for the Southwest YMCA's annual Candy Day fundraiser, scheduled this year for Friday, March 26th and Saturday, March 27th. Although Southwest YMCA staff, board members and Y-Indian Guides and Princesses volunteer their time and energy, success depends on large numbers of volunteers stationed at designated street corners. Volunteers are asked to provide a minimum of a two-hour time commitment on either day.

Funds raised are used for programs of the Southwest YMCA which include youth and family counseling, outpatient adolescent drug treatment, foster care, shelter for young adults who are homeless and a variety of prevention-oriented groups and activities; as well as the Y-Indian Guides and Princesses program.

Robyn Kramer, Candy Day coordinator, is available to speak to church groups, clubs and organizations about the Southwest Y's Candy Day fundraiser and the need for volunteers. For more information and to volunteer, call Robyn at the Southwest YMCA at (708) 385-6700.

The Varsity Bowling Team at St. Rita High School recently won the Chicago Catholic League Championship for the second consecutive season with an impressive 23-5 record. The team upset both Fenwick and Brother Rice to capture the crown. The Striking Mustangs are led by seniors Henri Parker (Goodlow), Bob Powers (St. Barbara), Dan Laha (St. Camillus), Joe Eppolito (Ashburn), and juniors Jody Zdanek (St. Rita), Mike Banys (St. Bernadette), Bob Pasinski (Five Holy Martyrs) and Guy Borsellino (Kinzie). The high scorers for the championship match were: Pasinski, 267; Borsellino, 202, and Banys, 198.

"This team has really played well all season long because of their highly competitive spirit," said first year coach Mrs. Beverly Glaz. The team is now preparing for the city championships.

Mrs. Glaz took over coaching the team after veteran coach, Ron Nowak, fell ill earlier this year. "It was a real credit to the team and its new coach the way they progressed during a year that began with such adversity," said Dr. Mike Kisicki, vice-principal of student activities. "The team really pulled together."

"Our team has improved each week in order to be fully prepared to defend the Catholic League title which the team was able to do in a most exciting fashion over Brother Rice," concluded Coach Glaz.

The St. Rita Bowling program is aided by a strong intramural league with nearly 100 students from the school who compete throughout the year.

Scholars Chosen

The first group of Golden Apple Scholars of Illinois has been selected from over 600 nominees across the state. These 60 future teachers are high school seniors from primarily minority and low-income backgrounds. The 60 1993 scholars join the 70 college students already in the program, some of whom will begin teaching this fall.

The purpose of the Golden Apple Scholars of Illinois program is to address the need for resilient and creative teachers who will be successful with disadvantaged students in some of Illinois' neediest classrooms. It offers hands-on classroom experience; mentoring from experienced, award-winning teachers; and financial assistance. The program was created in 1988 by the Golden Apple Academy, comprised of winners of the Chicago-based Golden Apple Award for excellence in classroom teaching.

Golden Apple Scholars chosen from our area include Erin Casey of Queen of Peace High School; Tanya Sahagun of Mother McAuley High School; Jennifer Andras of Shepard High School; and Janet Wroblewski of Argo Community High School.

CONSUMER ALERT

by Attorney General
Roland W. Burris

Q: I've been seeing quite a few newspaper ads and store window signs that advertise greatly reduced prices on merchandise because the retailer is going out of business. I was wondering if there are any laws in Illinois which govern these liquidation sales?

A: Yes, the Illinois Fraudulent Sales Act requires that any person conducting a going out of business sale must first obtain a license from the clerk of the city, village, or township in which the sale is to be conducted. The license is good for 60 days and renewable for an additional 30 days.

The license application, which is designed to prevent businesses from misleading consumers about price, quality and ownership of goods offered for sale, requires detailed information about the nature of the sale and the merchandise offered for sale.

Consumers should also know that by law, a copy of the license must be posted on the front door of the store and a complete list of inventory be posted inside the store. Each license is assigned a number and that number must appear in all advertisements relating to the sale.

Further information about the requirements for going out of business sales is available at the local municipality or the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office.

IOF Child Abuse Hotline Calls Up

"I have a pot of water boiling on the stove and I'm going to drop my baby in if he doesn't stop crying," a frustrated mother recently told a telephone counselor at the Childhelp IOF Foresters hotline. The hotline staffer kept her on the line for hours, calmed her down, made sure the baby was safe, and found her professional help. Cries for help like these from victims of child abuse skyrocketed during 1992, according to the hotline (1-800-4-A-CHILD), the nation's largest child abuse prevention hotline.

Hotline statistics show a phenomenal 38 percent overall increase in calls received in 1992, for a total of 360,030 calls, the majority of which were to report sexual abuse, with physical abuse being second, followed by emotional abuse and neglect.

"I think the increase in calls reflects that our culture is allowing us to acknowledge that it's OK to talk openly about abuse," says Sue A. Meier, M.A., M.F.C.C., director of the hotline. "Even celebrities are coming out and saying 'It happened to me.' But the increase also points to the fact that, as we experience the worst recession since the depression, people's stress levels are so much higher, hence abuse is higher."

The cause of reporting and fighting child abuse was given a tremendous boost by Oprah Winfrey's television special "Scared Silent, Exposing and Ending Child Abuse," aired September 1992, during which the hotline number was periodically flashed on the screen.

"For several days after this first airing, calls to the hotline surged to nearly 800 an hour," Meier says. "During the month of September, the hotline received 169,212 calls (112,000 in four days) - almost as many as were handled during all of last year."

Callers find highly trained and caring counselors on the other end, with a minimum of a master's degree in psychology or a related field. Special skills are particularly important for the many crisis-related calls. Callers are referred to appropriate resources, including child protective services, child abuse treatment programs, school, survivor and parenting resources.

The hotline is in the process of expanding and upgrading its computer system. It has added more personnel to handle the calls, brought on more bilingual counselors, and is installing TDD equipment to communicate with hearing-impaired callers.

"The hotline has always been the first line of defense for a majority of callers," Meier says. "We allow them to diffuse some of the critical and crisis-oriented issues, and be empowered to get the

"WITH GOD AS THEIR CO-PILOT," an article by Joe Conason in the March issue of Playboy, details how America's Christian right plans to take control of the Republican Party by exploiting voter apathy and ignorance. The author claims that through Pat Robertson's Christian Coalition, made up of 300,000 members with 550 chapters in all 50 states, the plan to gain power will be one step at a time: "first on school boards, then in state legislatures and finally in Washington," Conason writes. As one leading organizer of the Christian Coalition from California put it: "How do you eat an elephant? One bite at a time."

UMA THURMAN (inset) stars with Robert De Niro and Bill Murray in the Universal Pictures flick "Mad Dog," slated to open tomorrow at movie houses all around Chicago. The setting for the movie is Chicago and Bill Murray plays the role of an evidence technician in the crime scenes unit of the Chicago Police Department. When he interrupts a hold-up in a neighborhood grocery store, he inadvertently saves the life of a local gangster and loan-shark who strikes up a remarkable friendship with the shy cop. The grateful mobster, played by Robert De Niro, invites Murray to his nightclub where the hoodlum moonlights as a standup comedian. Insisting on repaying the cop for saving his life, the mobster introduces him to a bartender played by Uma Thurman. Although he is shy and uncomfortable with the arrangement, the cop falls in love with the bartender only to find his love affair sets up a potentially murderous showdown with the gangster.

SPRING IS IN THE AIR....The tulips haven't poked through the ground yet, but signs of spring are already showing up everywhere. The 24th annual Midwest Boat Show, featuring a fleet of 400 new powerboats and 35 pre-owned boats as well as an extensive line of marine accessories, opens today and runs through this Sunday at the O'Hare Convention Center....The Spirit of Chicago will kick-off its summer cruise schedule with a "St. Patrick's Day Breakfast Cruise" through the locks and up the Chicago River from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on March 17. There will be a lavish gourmet buffet, green beer, plenty of authentic "live" Irish music and a chance to view from dockside the famous "St. Patrick's Day Parade"....Also adding to the flavor of spring is in the air, the International Kennel Club of Chicago will stage its 53rd annual Spring Dog Show on April 4 at McCormick Place North Annex.

ROBERT SEAN LEONARD and CHRISTIAN BALE (inset) are the dedicated "Swing Kids" in the movie of the same name which opens tomorrow at theaters around Chicago. The year is 1939 and as Adolf Hitler moves his country ever closer to war, imposing harsh discipline that discourages individualism, groups of German youth, influenced by the passion of politics and the free voice of American swing music, rebel against the stern order. Known as the "Swing Kids," they soak up the chic English and American styles of the day, wearing oversized coats, bowler hats, furled umbrellas and long hair, exalting in the exuberance of the dance, and developing an encyclopedic knowledge of the music. Their freedom to express themselves through music and dance begins as innocent youthful rebelliousness and eventually ends with one of the "Swing Kids" joining the Hitler Youth movement.

THE INTERNATIONAL SAVE THE PUN FOUNDATION will get its wordworth on April Fool's Day at a dinner slated at the Midland Hotel. The "Punster of the Year" award will be handed out to doctor and writer Dr. Bob Boxer, author of "Boxer's Shorts" (More than just a brief attempt at humor). The International Save the Pun Foundation was created to promote, protect and defend the right of punsters everywhere as they assault the barricades of language in their endless pursuit of the ultimate groan.

A Week's Worth Of St. Pat's Day

A one-day celebration has turned into a week of activities at Chicago Gaelic Park, the Irish cultural and athletic center built on 50 acres of land at 6119 W. 147th St. Everything from music, dancing, parade marching, food and refreshments to an authentic mass and Irish breakfast will take place from Thursday, March 11th to St. Patrick's Day, Wednesday, March 17th. A popular Chicago tradition, "Ireland on Parade," celebrates its 26th anniversary this year.

Activities begin at 7 p.m. on March 11th and 12th. The evenings include Irish step dancing and celi dancing, traditional music by the Irish Musicians Association and dancing to the music of "The Griffins" on Thursday and "The Emerald Stars" from Boston on Friday. There is no admission charge for these days with food and refreshments available for purchase.

There will be dancing to a disc jockey for the younger crowd on March 12th in the Celtic Room. Admission is $3 a person. The Dave Glynn Band will also perform in the Park Lounge after the regular Friday Fish Fry which takes place from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. There is no cover charge for the "Park Lounge."

On March 13th there will be dancing to the music of the Emerald Stars from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $5. The Dave Glynn Band will play in the Park Lounge from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. There is no cover charge for Dave Glynn.

Sunday begins at 10 a.m. with the celebration of mass in honor of Ireland's patron saint St. Patrick, followed by an authentic Gaelic breakfast. The charge for the breakfast is $5.

After breakfast, those interested can take free shuttle buses and march with Gaelic Park in the South Side Irish Parade. After the parade, Gaelic Park doors reopen at 2 p.m. for a full day of authentic Irish celebrating. "Ireland on Parade" will present local Irish step dancing schools and traditional Irish music. Five bands will also play in two rooms. Included are The Celts, from County Clare, Ireland, Arranmore, The Emerald Stars from Boston, Six Mile Cross and the Dooley Brothers. The admission is $10 a person and includes all entertainment.

On March 15th and 16th, Gaelic Park hosts two more evenings of "Ireland on Parade" beginning at 7 p.m. Those nights will include dancing to the Celts. There is no admission charge.

On St. Patrick's Day, Gaelic Park has a special corned beef and cabbage luncheon from 12 noon to 2 p.m. with entertainment by Brendan Moran from noon to 3 p.m. Admission is $10.

The week concludes with a dinner and concert by the Dolores Keane Band, direct from County Galway, Ireland. Doors open at 5 p.m. and a family style dinner (including corned beef) will be served at 6 p.m. Admission for the dinner and concert is $25.

Also on St. Patrick's night, there will be dancing to a disc jockey for the younger set in the Celtic Room beginning at 8 p.m. Admission to this dance is $3. Finally, Kevin O'Connor will be on stage that evening in the Park Lounge beginning at 8 p.m. There is no cover charge for the park Lounge. For further information call Gaelic Park, (708) 687-9323.

Music Theatre Fined

Last Thursday, the Illinois Pollution Control Board ruled that the World Music Theatre in Tinley Park must pay a fine of $13,000 and establish monitoring equipment to check noise levels during concerts at three local sites. The board determined that the outdoor facility violated state noise restrictions 26 times in the three years it has been in operation. Fines were assessed for 13 violations during the 1991 and 1992 seasons, according to an attorney for the pollution control board.

Most of the complaints of excessive noise came from residents in Country Club Hills and in Matteson, and the board's ruling was the result of a number of hearings held in 1992 on noise complaints against the World Music Theatre. The facility is at Flossmoor Road and Ridgeland Ave.

The board's ruling dictated that owners are required to install noise monitoring equipment, not only at the theatre, but in the communities of Country Club Hills and Matteson. The equipment is designed to automatically monitor and record the noise levels emanating from concerts. World Theatre has been directed to forward copies of the data to officials. In addition, the board is to set levels of noise within which the theatre would be required to operate.

According to the board, Country Club Hills and/or Matteson officials would have to lodge a complaint with the board and file data on the noise level.

Theatre owners are to be responsible for monitoring the noise levels and, with a threat of more fines, do their own policing.

Officials from the two communities which filed the complaints against the World Theatre said that an important first step has been taken. They hope that the fine and monitoring process will mean quieter summers in Country Club Hills and in Matteson.

The Illinois Student Assistance Commission recently announced the 1992-93 Illinois State Scholars. Of this year's scholars, 21 are students at H. L. Richards High School. Although program anticipation by high schools is voluntary, nearly all participants and Illinois' top students elect to have test scores and high school class ranks sent to ISAC for consideration in the popular program. About 10 percent of seniors are designated state scholars and receive a certificate of achievement for the accomplishment. In order to enter the competition, students must take the ACT and/or SAT examination between Sept. 1st and June 30th of their junior year and have the scores sent to ISAC. Generally, selection of scholars is based on a combination of their test scores and their class rank at the end of junior year. Scholars are actively recruited by colleges and universities as a result of their academic accomplishments and many receive scholarships as a result of the recognition.

Outstanding Achievement

The board of directors of the National Art Education Association (NAEA) has announced that Richards High School is the recipient of one of the most prestigious awards that an elementary, middle/junior, or senior high school art program can receive, the NAEA Program Standards Award which recognizes outstanding achievement in individual schools which meet or exceed nationally established standards as set forth in the "Purposes, Principles, and Standards for School Art Programs" booklet.

The award was adopted 10 years ago by the NAEA board of directors and is directed toward the promotion and recognition of educationally sound visual art programs. It is designed as a self-assessment/evaluation of seven art education program components; organization, curriculum, personnel, scheduling, facilities, materials/equipment, and budget. The award, renewable each year, is applicable for the school year (July 1st to June 30th) in which the application is submitted.

NAEA President, James M. Clarke states "The award is the highest honor a school's visual arts program can attain. It means that your visual arts program meets or exceeds national program standards set forth by the association. On behalf of the NAEA board of directors, I congratulate you, your administration, school board and the community and the students you so ably serve."

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

On Thursday, Mar. 4, the registered voters of Oak Lawn at a special election will decide whether or not their public library is to continue by voting on a proposed two mill tax on each dollar of assessed valuation in the village. The village hall, at 9437 S. Cook Ave. is to be the polling place; hours of election will be from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. The following judges and clerks are donating their time for the election: Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Steinfatt, Mrs. Smutney and A. J. Smutney.

Mrs. A. Kaup, chairman of the Victory Book campaign in the vicinity of Oak Lawn, announced this week that the drive will end Mar. 5. Books, although wanted for the boys in service, have been coming in slowly. Books wanted include the following classifications: fiction, detective, mystery and Western stories. Also books on business and technical subjects published since 1935.

The damage, danger and problem of grass fires held the attention of the Oak Lawn board Tuesday night. It is an annual spring problem. Parents were urged to see that their children do not start any grass fires and to use care in burning papers and rubbish. The fire department is paid by the taxpayers - the cost is directly tied up with the number of calls answered. Unnecessary calls are a direct expense to the taxpayer. More and more local men are aiding in war work and are absent from the village, so, it was pointed out, firemen should not be asked to spend excessive time on fires caused by carelessness or pranks.

Opal Anderson, who lives at the Oak Lawn Trailer camp until last year, made news again in February, when it was revealed that she met Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt when the first lady was in England and had tea with her in the officers' mess. Miss Anderson is a member of the British Transport Auxiliary, which ferried bombers and fighters to England. In a letter to a Chicago friend she mentioned flying one of the famous Hurricanes with four cannon and landing it in a 40-mile gale. She expects, she said, to soon fly a twin-motored bomber.

Oak Lawn 1313 will be the new phone number in Oak Lawn for the village fire and police departments. The number was changed from Oak Lawn 9 to conform with the regular practice in the Chicago metropolitan area for cities and villages to use 1313 for police and fire calls.

When the Columbus Manor firemen were called to put out a prairie fire at 103rd and Harlem at 2:30 Monday morning, Lewis Braun, volunteer fireman, was struck by a car in front of the firehouse. Fireman Braun was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital, where stitches were put in his leg. He will remain in the hospital several days.

Election of officers will be held as well as that of delegates to the convention at the regular Oak Lawn PTA meeting Tuesday, Mar. 9, 8 p.m. at the Covington school. Wiley Simmons will talk on "Visual Education," and Mrs. H. Hiorns will sing.

Paul Remington Boddeker, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt C. Boddeker, Oak Lawn, had donned the navy blue and is undergoing "boot" training at Great Lakes.

St. Gerald's Altar and Rosary Society sold $500 in war stamps and bonds in the vestibule of the church after the Sunday Masses from Jan. 16 to Feb. 15.

State Spending Blueprint is Good Beginning

State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18) says a state spending blueprint presented March 3 by Gov. Jim Edgar is a good beginning and reflects a rebounding economy, but relies too heavily on two revenue sources that are not assured of legislative approval. Edgar outlined his $29.1 billion budget plan to a joint session of the General Assembly.

"Presenting a budget is a beginning. The process has to start somewhere. Now it is our responsibility to work with the Governor to mold this budget and make it work for the citizens of Illinois," O'Malley said. "I like his priorities of additional funding for education and programs that will protect children from abuse and neglect. However, those increases and others rely on two major sources of revenue that are both set to expire June 30th. Those are my major concerns."

"First, Gov. Edgar's plan assumes that the temporary portion of the 1989 income tax surcharge will be made permanent and those revenues formerly earmarked for local governments used for education and programs for children," O'Malley said. "While it is laudable to provide additional revenues for education, it is also important to remember that this funding will come back into our communities via the state school-aid formula, which is grossly unfair to our region. The portion of the surcharge that currently goes to our local municipalities comes back on a per capita basis. I cannot support extending a .25 percent income tax surcharge when those dollars will not return to our local residents in a more equitable manner."

Senator O'Malley says many school districts in the 18th District receive as little as 7-8 percent of their funding from the state, compared to a statewide average of 33 percent.

"My second concern is the Medicaid assessment tax that, with federal matching funds, provides about $1.4 billion in revenues. That tax, commonly called the 'granny tax,' is also set to expire and the Governor's budget does not specify an alternative funding source if the Legislature does not renew it," O'Malley said. "I do not support the assessment tax and I think we need to look for another source of funding. Hopefully the Clinton administration is serious about reconsidering how states fund their share of Medicaid. My goal would be to have the federal government fund 100 percent of Medicaid."

The 18th District Senator says despite his concerns about the revenue sources, he thinks there are many positive proposals in the Governor's budget, including increased funding for elementary and secondary education ($110 million); increased funding for higher education ($37 million); additional funding for DCFS ($118 million to address the problem of abused and neglected children); additional funding to DMHDD ($62 million to begin to restructure the state's mental health system); funding ($10 million) for a new program that will allow the IEPA to capture $40 million in federal funds for local sewer and wastewater system projects; and a capitol improvement plan that will create nearly 50,000 jobs in construction and related industries and improve the state's infrastructure.

"I admire the Governor for wanting to provide more funding for these important programs. These increases are only possible, however, with the continuation of the assessment tax and the surcharge for state use only, neither of which I support," O'Malley said.

Refunds Committee

Oak Lawn Village Attorney Burton S. Odelson reported at Tuesday night's regular board meeting that he had been scheduled to appear in court Wednesday morning in connection with a suit filed by three residents objecting to the way the $1,000,000 from the tax surcharge is being distributed, but a tentative agreement has been worked out and they may not have to go to court. He said one of the persons involved owns a residence; another owns a residence and a 30 flat apartment building, which does not qualify for a refund, and the third is an apartment dweller who feels she should get a refund.

Trustee Robert Streit said it had been agreed that a committee would be appointed in connection with the refund of the surcharge monies and nominated himself and Trustees Steven Rosenbaum and Harold Mozweck to be the committee, which was approved unanimously.

Trustee William Hefka announced that he will resign from the board as of March 15th. He said it has become necessary that he make his move and said he and his wife are also moving out of town.

Oak Lawn Firefighters were presented with unit performance awards by Mayor Ernest Kolb. They were Engine Company #25 under the direction of Lt. Charles Ehrenhaft, and fire fighters William Jerry, James Mason and Mark Calontone; and Squad Company #1, Lt. Thomas Shervino, John Hojek, Calvin Laird and Michael McCastland. This was in connection with the apartment house fire in Hickory Hills.

James and Sons Jewelers, 6240 W. 95th St., were granted a special license to loan money. James J. Pink, petitioner for the business told the board that this is not a pawn shop, that it is a favor to their customers. They do loan money on jewelry and rare coins, but do not buy or sell the type of merchandise taken by pawn shops, i.e. musical instruments, appliances, etc. Streit was against allowing James to have a temporary license because it would not be fair to others and Mozweck said he had reservations about making this available without further study. Streit made a motion to refer the matter to the legal and ordinance committee. The motion was denied with Kolb casting the deciding vote after a tie vote by trustees. A special use license is to be issued for a two-month period while the matter goes to the legal & ordinance committee to work out details.

An ordinance prohibiting truancy was brought up for action and Trustee Marjorie Joy complimented Police Chief Frank Gilbert and police officer Robert Foster for their input into this ordinance. Joy said she is a teacher and this one is very good. Mozweck said there were many questions that should be answered, i.e., if the offender is to perform a period of community service, what if that person is not a resident of the village, or is attending a school in Alsip or Hometown, how will this be resolved? Joy and Trustee Ron Stancik felt the ordinance was a good one and should be passed. Trustee William Hefka and Mozweck moved to refer it to the legal and ordinance committee and it passed by a 4-2 vote.

The board voted to authorize village finance officer Larry Lowry to refinance the general obligation bonds since the interest is now very low. Lowry is to get bids to pick the best deal.

The board voted 4-2 to authorize Village Manager Michael Feeley to start water rate negotiations and cost support using the audit report from Pandolfi, Topolski & Weiss & Co., Ltd. Mozweck said he is tired of paying the water bills of those who get their water through Oak Lawn, that the village is subsidizing these towns.

Kolb refuted that statement and said Mozweck was using the bulk rate that the villages are charged, not what they bill to the residents. Stancik had an in-house study (done by their staff) from the Village of Orland Park which showed the figures they pay. Kolb pointed out that Oak Lawn has the lowest rate for water.

Meet The Candidates

The Citizens Coalition for Integrity invites everyone to the 10th annual "Wearin' O' The Green" on Friday, March 12th. Festivities begin at 7 p.m. and continue until 10 p.m. at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn, 4140 W. 95th St. The evening includes cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and dancing to the 'Fabulous Murray Brothers' music. The donation is $35 per person.

The Citizens Coalition for Integrity candidates on Tuesday, April 20th are Mayor Ernie Kolb, Village Clerk Jayne Powers and Trustee Ron Stancik (all incumbents) along with Mike Walsh and Bill Keane, first-time candidates for Trustee.

"Enjoy the evening and meet your candidates," said Mayor Kolb. "This is to be a night of celebration."

Voter Registration

Jayne Powers, Oak Lawn village clerk, announced the last day to register to vote in the April election is Monday, March 22nd. The clerk's office will be open for voter registration on Saturday, March 13th and Saturday, March 20th from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. If you have recently moved, changed your name or will be 18 years old before April 20th, you must register to be eligible to vote in that election.

The village hall is open and registration is taken Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Identification showing your current name and address is required by the county.

VOD Scholarship

Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the VFW Voice of Democracy (VOD) scholarship program said President Regina Finnegan of VFW Ladies Auxiliary to Johnson-Phelps VFW 5220 in discussing the broadcast scriptwriting program conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary. The VOD scholarship program is a national broadcast scriptwriting competition conducted by our organization to give 10th, 11th and 12th grade high school students the opportunity to speak up for freedom and democracy. The program is conducted annually during the fall term. Participants are eligible to win scholarships totaling $78,500. Winning contestants attend the national competition held in Washington, D.C. in March.

Participants compete first at the post level, then district, and state competitions. Representing the Third District Ladies Auxiliary in Springfield will be Marcy Bovarsky from Oak Lawn High School. Marcy was sponsored by Johnson-Phelps Ladies Auxiliary to Post 5220. "We wish Marcy well in her endeavor for the statewide competition," Mrs. Finnegan, who will also be attending the statewide competition, along with Department President Rosemary Kelly, said.

Pork Busting

By Congressman Harris W. Fawell, 13th District

The Porkbuster movement had a tremendous boost with the announcement that Congressman George E. Brown, Jr. (CA), Chairman of the House Science Committee, will turn up the heat in his efforts to curb unauthorized Congressional earmarks, 'pork,' in the federal funding of college and university scientific research. Chairman Brown, the first committee chairman in the House to join the Porkbuster Coalition, will hold hearings on earmarking, where individual members of Congress bypass established funding procedures to earmark funds for a project in their Congressional district, usually without peer review, hearings or other competitive processes.

Since 1980, the value of earmarked projects has risen 70-fold. The Congressional Research Service (CRS) reports that nearly $2.5 billion was earmarked for 1,470 research projects at 234 academic institutions over the past 13 years. About half of the earmarks came in the last two fiscal years. This disturbing trend continues unabated in fiscal year 1993. Examples of earmarks cited by CRS included $19,000 to study baking at Michigan State University and $225,000 for an onion storage facility at University of Georgia.

The world-class excellence of our nation's research system is based upon a merit of 'peer' review system that ensures that scarce resources are directed to the best ideas and the best minds. Pork barrel funding and the parochial political interests from which it springs has the power to subvert and destroy this system.

Money diverted by Congress to fund earmarks comes out of the hide of other programs which have been peer reviewed, carefully scrutinized and publicly debated. As a result of pork barreling, mediocre research is funded, while high-quality science is not, and scarce federal funds are wasted.

The House Science Committee, of which I am a member, plans to conduct a year-long comprehensive review of the process of earmarking at academic institutions. As a first step of this review, Chairman Brown has sent letters to 50 institutions that received a total of $225 million in academic earmarks in six different fiscal year 1993 appropriation bills, requesting detailed information about these projects.

The committee also plans to conduct a series of hearings throughout the year to address issues such as how earmarked funds were spent and what the benefits were to the American public, how government agencies treat earmarks, how the use of earmarks affects other science programs and why some members of Congress favor earmarking in lieu of the peer review process. The committee expects members of Congress who have allocated earmarks and those who have accepted them to testify at the hearings.

The Marist High School bowling team recently captured first place in the Southwest Suburban Bowling Conference, which includes Shepard, Stagg, Oak Lawn, Eisenhower and Richards high schools. Thomas Samonski, (right) moderator of the bowling team, along with team members, Eric Wolcott (Blue Island), Ed Matelski (Alsip), Joe Fry (Scottsdale), Steve Carroll (Oak Lawn), Tom Mottola (Alsip), Matt Jorgensen (Oak Lawn), Mike Simpson (Oak Lawn), Nick Yakas (Worth) and Tom Engleman (Scottsdale) displayed the trophy for the student body.

Jorgensen, a senior, received the award for highest average in conference and rolled a 680 series in the individual tournament. Simpson, a junior, won the scratch division in the individual tournament and freshmen Yakas won the highest series in conference play.

Breast Cancer Study At Northwestern Hospital

Northwestern Memorial Hospital is participating in the nation's first large-scale breast cancer prevention research study for women at risk for the disease. Sixteen thousand women, aged 35 and older, who are at increased risk for breast cancer will participate. The study is designed to see whether taking the drug tamoxifen will prevent breast cancer. It is being conducted in conjunction with the Illinois Cancer Center by the National Surgical Adjuvant Breast and Bowel Project. The study is funded by the National Cancer Institute and will be conducted at more than 270 sites across the United States and Canada.

Among women considered high risk for developing breast cancer are those who have a strong family history, which includes a mother, daughter or sister who has been diagnosed with the disease. Northwestern Memorial Hospital is offering informational programs for women who may want to participate in the study. Those who would like more information on the link between genetics and breast cancer should call (312) 908-8400.

Other factors which may put women in the high risk category include whether a woman has any children, her age at first delivery, the number of times a woman has had breast lumps biopsied, and age at her first menstrual period.

Rita Students Donate Blood

"Students and faculty at St. Rita High School donated 201 pints of blood in the school's March 2nd blood drive," said Mike Kisicki, vice-principal of student activities. "The annual blood drive was sponsored by the Student Council and senior class, and the blood will be distributed by the United Blood Services to area hospitals."

United Blood Services, which has been involved in the St. Rita drives since 1985, is a non-profit organization which supplies donated blood to Chicago-area hospitals.

"Our blood drive is the most important student council event each year because of the chronic shortage of blood in our area," said Kisicki. "It's also just one of the many ways in which our students show their concern for others, a quality that makes St. Rita truly a Christian community. The success of this year's blood drive is largely due to senior Bill Young, the chairman of the blood drive committee. His hard work motivated the rest of the class."

"Because people had to be at least 17 years of age to donate blood, only about a fourth of our students were eligible to give," he added. That makes the total number of pints donated even more impressive. Of the 213 seniors at St. Rita, 140 donated blood. Also, 19 teachers, 41 juniors and one sophomore donated.

Plans for Celebration '93, the annual dinner event sponsored by Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School, got underway at a kickoff held at the Beverly Country Club. Members of the board of trustees, faculty, past and current parents, alumnae and friends of McAuley assembled to coordinate their efforts for the dinner scheduled for April 23rd. All proceeds are earmarked for endowment for financial aid. With the capital campaign for the new gymnasium and fine arts wing underway last spring, Celebration '92 was postponed. The buildings are now completed and the new gymnasium will be the site of Celebration '93. April 23rd gives McAuley an opportunity to showcase its beautiful new facilities.

Ray Lazzara of the Martini Restaurant and Dinner Theater is lending his expertise to the efforts of Mary Clark, McAuley development director, to serve dinner to approximately 700 persons. Colleen Lamb of Blake Lamb Funeral Homes and Francis Houlihan serve as co-chairpersons of the party. The creative efforts of Chris Guzik (Palos Park) and Maribeth McCaw (Alsip) will transform the gymnasium into shimmering scenes of black and silver. Dancing to the sounds of the Stanley Paul Orchestra follows a prime rib dinner.

Contributing to the success of the evening are Ave Green (Oak Lawn) and Sharon Mundo (Palos Heights) on the invitation committee, and Joan Claussen (Orland Park), Jean Molnar (Evergreen Park), Linda Sbalchero (Oak Lawn) and Lillian Meck (Oak Lawn) on the reservation committee.

For further information about the dinner or for reservations, call Mary Clark at (312) 881-6558.

Artist Wanted

Worth Township Supervisor Joan Patricia Murphy announced recently that the township is looking for an artist willing to donate his or her time to draw a mural on the inside corridor of the Township Hall. The mural will then be painted by young people working in the Summer Youth Program sponsored by CEDA.

Murphy said she would like the mural to depict services offered by the township.

"We have a myriad of services here," she said. "The clinic, the youth service bureau, the youth commission, senior citizens, general assistance and the STEP (Systematic Training for Effective Training) program are all most worthwhile."

"Perhaps displaying what we do on the wall of the town hall will convey a strong message for those who come into the building and also allow some budding young painters an opportunity to demonstrate their talent."

Any artist who is willing to donate his or her time should call Murphy at 371-2900.

Atheists Get Ban On Preschool Prayers

The Hickory Hills Park District Board meeting heard the protests of about 50 residents concerning the board's recent ban on conducting the district's preschool children in prayers before snack time. The residents asked the board at the Monday, March 8th, meeting to reverse the decision made on Feb. 8th, to end the decades old practice in leading preschoolers enrolled in the four daily classes, in the simple prayer, "God is good, God is great, let us thank Him for our food." Many of the parents in attendance have been collecting signatures on petitions to support the preschool prayers.

It had been reported that the board began to reconsider the prayer policy in January after complaints were received from the parents of a three-year-old. The parents, who are atheists, said that the child stopped dinner at home and asked the family to recite the prayer she had learned in class.

When the parents found out that most of the other parents supported the prayer, they contacted Robert Sherman, an activist who represents American Atheists, Inc., a national organization with a branch in Buffalo Grove.

Sherman threatened to sue the park district for violating the constitutional separation of church and state. Instead of facing a costly lawsuit, the board voted to end the practice.

Sherman stated that he was only representing one family's concerns and that he was not telling the park board how to run the district. He stated that he was concerned about upholding the law.

However, Park Commissioner Ken Osborne said that he was willing to investigate the possibility of overturning the decision. He has been inviting parents with information on legal groups that may be willing to defend prayer for the park district's preschool.

Pig-Out Day Is Next Week

Helping people to eat hardily in a healthy way is the aim of the American Cancer Society's Great American Lowfat Pig-Out Day on Thursday, March 18th. More than just a nutrition awareness day, the Great American Pig-Out is a festive celebration of foods that may reduce the risk of cancer. About 35 percent of all cancers could be prevented by changes in the diet.

Together with mascot Porky Pig, local organizations, businesses and the American Cancer Society encourages the public to use the day to "pig-out" on foods that are low in fat, high in fiber, and rich in vitamins A and C.

"With activities ranging from food sculpture contests to lowfat cookoffs, people can learn that making healthful diet choices are enjoyable and delicious," says William Marshall, president of the American Cancer Society's south suburban unit, "and as Porky says, 'If you don't start eating right, th-th-that could be all folks.'"

Permit Extension Granted

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) announced it has approved a 30-day interim extension for Robbins Resource Recovery Co.'s permit to construct air pollution control equipment at its waste-to-energy facility in Robbins. In a letter dated Feb. 11th, the company requested an 18-month extension be granted prior to the expiration date of the permit, which is Saturday. The IEPA approved a 30-day extension to give the agency time to fully consider the ramifications of litigation involving the Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris's office on the question of local siting. The IEPA said the extension is consistent with criteria spelled out in federal environmental regulations.

A public hearing has already been held on this air pollution control permit, first granted in June 1990.

Proposed Western Ave Widening Nixed

A proposed widening of Western Ave. has Blue Island residents up-in-arms. The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) held a public hearing on Thursday, March 4th in the city library. The meeting, which ended five hours after it began, was to answer questions and give residents a chance to air their opinions on the proposal to widen the street.

The proposal that has been suggested by a consultant is to eliminate 212 on-street parking spaces between 119th and 127th Sts. in Blue Island to allow four free-flowing lanes of traffic. Dubbed "Operation Greenlight," the proposed widening is an attempt to increase traffic flow on Western from the northern suburbs all the way to Blue Island. Western Ave. is one of 66 "strategic arterial routes" that have been targeted, in a six-county area, for changes to ease traffic congestion.

However, IDOT had been presented by Blue Island Mayor Donald Peloquin, and residents, with statements that said that the proposed changes would destroy the character and business district of the south suburb's second, oldest community.

Business owners and residents along Western in Blue Island have pledged to fight the proposal. They contend that if parking were eliminated in the city's main business district, Blue Island would be economically devastated.

Peloquin pointed out that a better alternative would be making the changes to Vincennes Ave. on the city's east side. Allan Stevo, candidate for mayor of Blue Island, stated that he also opposed the plan, indicating that the traffic reduction would not justify the economic impact.

The state is conducting the public hearings and accepting letters from residents addressing the proposal. They will then study responses to see if the plans should be changed.

Study Session

Commissioner Frank E. Gardner of The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) is conducting a public study session to analyze existing and proposed fees for cable crossings over its lands and waterways. The goal is to develop a formula which provides a maximum return to the district and assures fairness to the industry and its subscribers. The MWRD seeks to share information and welcomes input from all governmental agencies. It is hoped that as a result, the agencies and cable companies will agree upon some standard, whether based on unit valuations of area or revenue generation. Such uniformity would end the great discrepancy in existing fees for comparable easements and save valuable staff time by obviating extensive negotiations by each agency.

Gardner, chairman of the MWRD real estate committee, said "It will ultimately benefit the consumer and taxpayer if we are all on the same page or the same channel as the case may be."

The study session is scheduled on Wednesday, April 21st, at 10 a.m., with representatives of the private sector and government. The session will also be open to the general public. The location of the meeting is the board room of the MWRD at 100 E. Erie, Chicago.

Resident Data Study

Employees of the U.S. Census Bureau will collect data on employment, income and migration from area residents the week of March 14th to 20th, according to Stanley Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office. The local labor force data will contribute to the national employment and unemployment picture to be released April 2nd, by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The additional data on income, work experience and migration will be used to provide a comprehensive study of median family income, poverty, and year-to-year mobility of the Nation's population.

The information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

Congressional "Exemptions"

The House, on Feb. 3rd, voted down a motion which would have removed an exemption Congress carved out for itself in the Family and Medical Leave Act (H.R. 1). H.R. 1 exempts Members of Congress from being sued in federal court for violating the Act. The House rejected a motion offered by Congressman Harris Fawell (R-IL) to effectively remove this exemption by a vote of 175 to 253. The vote on Fawell's motion was largely a partisan vote with Republicans favoring the elimination of the Congressional exemption but Democrats favoring the exemption.

Congress avoids the judicial remedies employers in the private sector are subject to by providing its own "in-house" enforcement through the Office of Fair Employment Practices (OFEP), operated by Congress. OFEP is the sole remedy available for the 12,362 House employees who may feel their rights under the Family and Medical Leave Act have been violated — no resort to the courts is permitted.

Because all of the proceedings and records of the OFEP are closed to the public and press (only a final decision is published), Members of Congress effectively become the secret prosecutor, judge and jury of the application of this new "place of employment" labor law upon themselves.

"It would be unthinkable for Congress to allow private businesses, say IBM or General Motors, to dispose of such employee labor law complaints in such an 'in-house' manner," Fawell said. "Amazingly, Congress uses this same technique to exempt its Members from being sued in federal court because of employee racial and gender discrimination charges in the workplace under the recently broadened Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Indeed, it appears to me that Congress would exempt itself from the law of gravity if they felt they could get away with it."

Child-Resistant Caps Are Urged

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris is one of 29 attorneys general from the United States and U.S. territories joining with leading medical groups in petitioning the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) to require child-resistant caps on bottles of mouthwash.

"In the last five years, three children have died and more than 12,000 nationwide have been poisoned by drinking mouthwash, which contains ethanol in quantities ranging from six to 27 percent. The leading mouthwash brands have a higher alcohol content than beer or wine," Burris said.

"Children are naturally drawn to the colorful, sweet-smelling and sweet-tasting liquid and some mouthwashes now even target children in their advertising. But the consequences of a child's curiosity can be deadly."

"The high alcohol content, when ingested by children, can cause lethargy or coma. As little as five ounces of certain mouthwashes could cause death in a small child."

"Child-resistant caps on other products have proven to be invaluable in preventing these sorts of tragedies. For only two cents per bottle, the estimated cost of a child-resistant cap, many more poisonings may be prevented and lives may very well be saved."

Burris and the other attorneys general joined the American Academy for Pediatrics, the American Association of Poison Control Centers, and the Center for Science in the Public Interest in the petition to the CPSC.

The petition seeks the CPSC to set packaging standards for all mouthwashes with more than five percent ethanol content.

State's Credit Rating

Governor Jim Edgar has announced the State of Illinois received the lowest rate on any state-issued bonds since 1978 on the sale of $100 million in Build Illinois bonds.

The bonds were sold through competitive bid and awarded to Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. at an interest rate of 5.277 percent.

The state was able to obtain lower interest costs for the bonds than it had for any other 'Build Illinois' bond issue and the lowest rate on any state-issued bonds in the last 15 years.

"The low interest rate and the number of bids received demonstrate that our credit continues to be strong and widely accepted in the financial community," the Governor said.

The Build Illinois Bonds are rated AAA by Standard & Poor's Corporation, the highest rating available, and Aa by Moody's Investors Service.

The $100 million in 'Build Illinois' bonds will be used for various construction and development purposes throughout the state.

More Attend College

Of the 2.3 million young people who graduated from high school in June of 1991, about 1.4 million were attending college in October. The 62 percent enrollment rate, up from about 50 percent in the mid-1970's, surpassed the previous high of 60 percent in 1989 and 1990, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Reinvesting In Midway Airport

The executive committee of the Midway Airport Task Force conducted its first meeting of 1993 on Feb. 19th. In attendance were chairmen Congressman William O. Lipinski (D-3) and State Representative Michael Madigan (D-Chicago), along with Dave Mosena, Frank Savickas, Dave Suomi and Bob Reppel of the City of Chicago, Department of Aviation.

Mosena detailed to the executive committee, Mayor Daley's plan for rebuilding and reinvesting in Midway Airport, including the prospect of putting in additional gates at the southeast corner of the facility. Suomi reported to the committee that Midway is operating at approximately 2/3 the level it was at prior to the demise of Midway Airlines in November of 1991. Midway Airlines represented 70% of the airport's total market share. Although operations at the airport have doubled since the shut down of Midway Airlines, Suomi noted that the rate of growth has slowed recently.

In light of these figures, the executive committee agreed that further action must be taken to increase the number of

Propose Legislation On Child Abuse

Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley is proposing legislation that would require religious leaders to report incidents of sexual misconduct by clerics. State Sen. Aldo DeAngelis (R-Olympia Fields) is expected to be the sponsor of the bill in the State Legislature.

The legislation would add members of religious groups to a list of individuals required by law to report incidents of child sexual abuse to civil authorities. County prosecutors claim that the Archdiocese of Chicago has virtually frustrated criminal investigation of allegations of sexual misconduct by clerics, by refusing to submit all relevant material.

The result, according to prosecutors, is that priests accused of sexual abuse have not been prosecuted. Instead, they have been moved quietly out of the parish in which the purported misconduct occurred, and into another.

State's Attorney O'Malley has been at odds with the Archdiocese of Chicago and Cardinal Joseph Bernardin for almost a year over charges of misconduct and the apparent

Guest Editorial
 By Harris W. Fawell
 Congressman 13th District

Congressman Harris W. Fawell has released a list of specific spending cuts that would reduce federal expenditures by $199 billion over the next five years. On Feb. 11th, Fawell sent President Clinton 702 specific cuts cutting $188 billion. An updated list adds 43 cuts and $11 billion in reductions.

"OMB Director Leon Panetta said, 'Put up or shut up.' 'I'm putting up,' Fawell said. 'These are real cuts, not gimmicks or vague 'caps on spending.' I name the programs, all of them."

"The president's plan has real net spending cuts of $49 billion over five years, with net tax increases of $284 billion. That's almost six to one tax increases to spending cuts. The president challenged opponents of this plan to do better and be specific. I did, and I am."

Panetta has said, "No gimmicks and no caps and no across-the-board cuts. What we want are specific recommendations similar to what we've put in this book." "My cuts are more specific than the president's plan, which is not specific about how $76 billion will be saved in defense."

"Speaking of gimmicks, I don't count taxes as spending cuts as was done in the administration's plan. There are no taxes, user fees or premium increases in my plan. Nor do I cut poverty programs or shift costs to state and local government."

"I do eliminate or cut deeply many programs that are low priority or have outlived their usefulness. Also cut are government subsidies for activities that should be undertaken by the private sector, and programs that could be run more efficiently."

"Not everyone will agree with all of these cuts; however, they are all options derived from reviewing reports from reputable organizations including the Congressional Budget Office, the Grace Commission, the General Accounting Office, the Inspector General, the Heritage Foundation, the Porkbusters Coalition and Citizens Against Government Waste. In my view, we should forget new taxes and more spending, and go with significantly cutting federal spending. I think this is what the American people want."

Congressman Fawell's list of specific cuts includes a freeze for one year of the total level of civilian employee which would save $300 million in the first year and, if extended over a five-year period, would save $8,850 million; a reduction in Medicare payments for indirect cost of patient care which is related to hospital teaching programs, which would save $1,550 million in the first year and at least $10,250 million over a five-year span; reduction of deficiency payments to farmers participating in U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) commodity programs by lowering target prices, realizing a saving of $400 million in the first year and at least $11,200 million over the five-year period.

Other proposed cuts include cancellation of the National Air and Space Administration (NASA) space station program, $1,050 million in the first year, $9,700 million over five years; continuation of the military's civilian hiring freeze, $1,050 million and $8,850 million; cutting civilian agency overhead costs by one percent, $354 million and $8,303 million; elimination of federal grants for construction of wastewater treatment plants, $110 million and $6,250 million; termination of all highway demonstration projects, $180 million and $4,300 million.

A complete list of Congressman Fawell's proposals for reduction of the programs and projects contributing to the deficit is available from Fawell's office at 115 W. 55th St., Suite 100, Clarendon Hills, IL 60514.

operations at the airport. An option which was discussed at the meeting was bringing non-stop service from Midway to New York, Washington, D.C., Boston and other East Coast destinations, Lipinski explained that there was a sufficient market to justify such service and that he had already held discussions with representatives from United Airlines and U.S. Air on the subject. Although neither airline made a firm commitment to the proposal, Lipinski stated he was optimistic that such service could be in place before the end of 1993. In addition, the committee stated that they would explore ways to fund a proposed beautification effort of Cicero Ave. between the Stevenson expressway and Midway.

"I was quite pleased with this meeting," Lipinski stated. "I believe we had a productive exchange of ideas and opinions, and I look forward to moving ahead on the issues that were discussed. Midway Airport is an essential part of the Southwest Side of Chicago, as well as Southwest Cook County and this task force is committed to ensuring that it remains so."

This year, O'Malley encountered a problem with a Lutheran church in Palatine when the church attempted to quash subpoenas attempting to get information on a minister who allegedly revealed he has sexually molested several boys during the time he was pastor of the church.

Both the Palatine church and the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago have cited 'pastoral privilege,' privacy of disclosures made to church authorities is the reason for denying access to 'internal documents' regarding misconduct.

The proposed legislation may be in conflict with Illinois laws which grant 'pastoral privilege' to church leaders.

College Classes

South Suburban College has attracted another four-year college to offer classes at its new University & College Center, the College of St. Francis.

"The College of St. Francis is the fourth college or university to lease classroom space at our University & College Center," said Frank M. Zuccarelli, SSC board chairman. "It shows a strong commitment that these schools also want to cater to the needs of the residents of the southwest suburbs, providing them with higher educational opportunities close to home."

The SSC Board of Trustees approved the agreement for rental of one classroom in the summer, 1993 semester with the College of St. Francis at a meeting of March 4th. The College of St. Francis is planning on holding one, 14 week course at the center, 16333 S. Kilbourn Ave. SSC opened the center on Feb. 3rd, 1992 in order to provide a convenient location and more educational offerings at flexible times to residents in the district's southwest suburbs. In addition to St. Francis, South Suburban College has agreements with Chicago State, Governors State and Olivet Nazarene Universities to offer classes at the center.

In another matter, the board agreed to interview five of the 10 applicants for the vacant trustee seat which became available when Trustee Harold Murphy resigned to assume duties as the new State Representative in the 30th District. The board will interview them on March 15th and make a formal appointment at the next regular meeting April 1st.

Finally, the board recognized the "Scriblerian" magazine, an annual student literary publication, for receiving a national award. The magazine received a first place with special merit award from the American Scholastic Press Association for its 1992 publication. The "Scriblerian" was one of only five community colleges with an enrollment of 2,500 or more to be recognized nationally.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m., April 1, in the college's board room, on the second floor of the main campus, 15800 S. State St.

Going Eyeball-To-Eyeball With Dr. Woods

Seeing eye-to-eye with Dr. Floyd Woods isn't exactly a difficult feat to accomplish, especially since he's been in the field of optometry for the past four decades. He hung out his shingle in 1951 in Oak Lawn and recently relocated his practice to 5460 S. Archer, Chicago.

"I moved for several reasons," related Woods. "These offices are newer and larger; twice as large as the old one. There are two doctors to serve our patients more efficiently and we can provide more specialized care such as contact lens fittings and vision therapy."

In addition to his private practice, Woods serves as the executive director of the Midwest Eye Institute, Palos Heights. At that facility, eye surgery and laser procedures are performed.

"I wanted to get into a helping profession," he noted. "After I had served in World War II, I wanted to make use of my GI Bill." Part of that money went toward his master's degree in education with a specialty in reading from Loyola University, Chicago.

His skills have enabled him to become involved in a wide variety of treatment areas. He has traveled to several foreign countries as a member of the Volunteers of Service to Humanity.

For the past nine years, I have been going to developing nations with between 25 and 40 other volunteers, including doctors and staff, to fit people with used glasses for free," Woods stated. "Anywhere from 1,500 to 3,000 people are fitted for glasses per trip. We have been to Chile, Paraguay, Columbia, Costa Rica, Belize, Brazil and Argentina. Our reward is getting into parts of these countries that tourists will never see. It's an adventure."

Over the years, Woods has been active in various civic organizations in Oak Lawn. He held membership in the Kiwanis Club, served on the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce, Board of Education in Oak Lawn-Hometown, and School District 123's board. He also held the position of treasurer in the Educational Foundation of School District 123.

Woods also does work with war veterans at the newly blind center of Hines Hospital. "When they came to the center, they were pretty depressed because they had only recently lost their sight," he explained. "I teach them certain skills and I begin to see them change. The skills help them to restore their confidence. They open up and converse more plus they attend baseball games, theatrical events, etc."

His favorite work of all is with children. "My work with children who have difficulty in learning to read because of vision problems is the most rewarding," Woods remarked. "I identify problems of short attention span, behavioral disorders, and attention deficit disability. It's great to witness children undergo change due to vision therapy and become successful students and adults. My goal is to just work with children."

Job Search Book

In these hard economic times, when many people find themselves out of work, it is very helpful when something is available to make the job search just a little easier. Such a publication become available in March. That is when "The Job Seekers Sourcebook for the Chicago and Illinois Area," by Donald D. Walker and Valerie A. Shipe, will be released to the public.

The book is a handy, portable reference to available recruiters, employment agencies, career counselors, database networks and outplacement firms. It also contains hints on how to conduct a successful job search. Included are tips for interviewing, resume preparation, better writing, stress management and networking.

The book is divided into sections that list approximately 900 firms in the placement industry. The sections are categorized by "specialty codes" which make it easier for the job seeker to select the firms right for him or her.

The Sourcebook is published by Net-Research, 160 S. Bollingbrook Road, Bollingbrook, 60440. It is priced at $13.95. For more information on ordering the Job Seekers Sourcebook contact the Independent Publisher's Group at 1-(800)-888-4741.

Bill To End Tax-Free Incinerator Subsidies

The Illinois Environmental Council (IEC) presented an environmental package to state legislators and said that they are going to watch action on environmental bills to determine which lawmakers support the council's agenda. The package includes proposals to halt state subsidies for incinerators such as the Robbins waste-to-energy facility. A bill sponsored by Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18) and Representative Thomas Dart (D-28) would end those state subsidies.

O'Malley said that the state should not be subsidizing special interests and industries. He pointed out that incinerator facilities are now beneficiaries of interest-free loans subsidized by taxpayers. He said that the Robbins incinerator is, under current law, to receive approximately $150 million over the next 20 years. After that time, Reading Energy, the company planning the incinerator would have an additional 20 years to repay the interest-free monies.

O'Malley said, "This is bad business, bad government, bad for the environment and bad law."

In addition, the IEC package would provide funds for cleaning up abandoned hazardous waste sites, cut down on the amount of toxic waste sent here from other states, encourage development of 'environment friendly' businesses, and provide monetary incentives for community recycling programs.

Sid Marder, environmental consultant to the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, said that the chamber is not planning to take a stand on the proposals. He indicated that the only stand backed by the chamber is opposition to moratoriums on permits for incinerators.

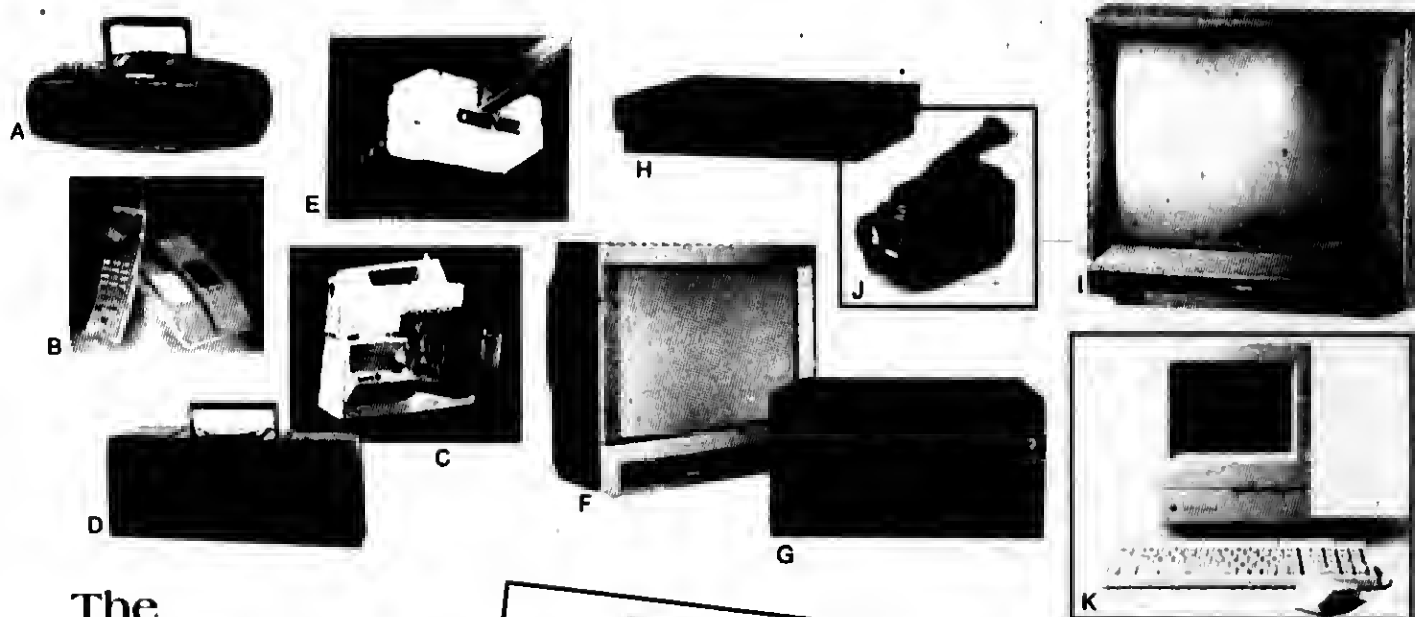

Dan Shoman, spokesman for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA), said Governor Jim Edgar is expected to again seek increases in fees on landfill sites and for solid and hazardous waste incinerators.

Lynne Padovan of IEC, a statewide coalition of some 70 conservation and environmental groups, said that the time to pass environmental legislation is here and now. Padovan added that 'environmental pro-choice' is more cost effective.

Area History Fair Is This Saturday

Young historians from public, private and parochial high schools in the north and west suburbs are completing history projects in preparation for the first round of History Fair competitions to be held on Saturday, March 13th at Richards High School, 10601 S. Central Ave. Winners of the regional at Richards advance to the finals where they compete for scholarships, cash prizes and academic honors.

The South Suburban Regional is the second of four competitions for city and suburban high school students and begins the road to state and national honors. Of the 4,000 students from 50 high schools who participate in the History Fair, 800 advance to the regional events. After this round, the field is reduced to 400 finalists whose projects are judged at the Chicago Metro History Fair's finalist competition at the Newberry Library and the Cultural Center between April 19th and May 9th. Chicago-area winners advance to the state exposition on May 13th in Springfield and may go on to the National History Day finals in Washington, D.C. For the last several months, students have dug into local government and corporate records, combed city libraries and cultural institutions, and conducted oral history interviews in order to take an in-depth look at the Chicago area's past. Students produce original research projects which take the form of exhibits, dramatic performances, video presentations or research papers to demonstrate their knowledge of Chicagoland's community history to the judges who will evaluate their work.

Last year, five of the 14 high school projects from Illinois that went to National History Day Competition came out of the South Suburban Regional, one of which took first place honors nationally. Richard Bacon, of Palos Heights, then a freshman at Stagg High School, topped the field of individual live performances at NHD last year.

The fair is a non-profit history education organization sponsored by the Illinois Humanities Council, which provides ongoing support; the Chicago Historical Society; the Newberry Library; the Chicago Public Library; and the University of Illinois at Chicago. Special project support is provided through grants from the Lloyd A. Fry Foundation, the Chicago Community Trust, John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, and the Tom Russell Charitable Foundation.

Schools participating in the Suburban South Regional include Bloom High School, Chicago Heights; Chicago Christian High School, Palos Heights; Eisenhower High School, Blue Island; Hinsdale South High School, Darien; Mother McAuley High School, Chicago; Mount Carmel High School, Chicago; Polaris School for Individual Education, Oak Lawn; Queen of Peace High School, Burbank; Richards High School, Oak Lawn; Carl Sandburg High School, Orland Park; St. Laurence High School, Burbank; Shepard High School, Palos Heights; Stagg High School, Palos Hills; Thornton Fractional South, Lansing and Thornton Fractional North, Calumet City.

The show features dozens of contractors and home service exhibits, and this year, will be highlighted with celebrity guest appearances by Stephen Yan of "Work With Yan."

Yan takes the stage on Saturday, demonstrating the principles of Oriental cooking in Wok With Yan, the title of his new book and television series. He'll display his boundless enthusiasm, flair for the dramatic, and sense of humor as he presents his recipes to the new generation of cooks attending the show.

Door prizes will be personally selected by the celebrities and include books, aprons and T-shirts as well as a variety of other giveaways to be autographed and raffled off by the show's special guests. In addition, those attending the show can obtain a free admission ticket to the next show at the College of DuPage in Glen Ellyn, March 19th through 21st, featuring Justin "The Cajun Cook" Wilson of "Louisiana Cookin'" and Kevin Matthews of The Loop, AM 1000 radio.

John Neron, of the non-profit Independent Contractors Association, the show's producer, states the purpose is "to promote the improvement of business conditions in the construction industry by providing information that will educate the public and business of selection and evaluation criteria regarding construction purchases."

According to Neron, "One advantage the show offers attendees is they're able to meet with contractors and discuss their projects without setting appointments in their homes or being intimidated into signing contracts. They're able to meet the experts first, select the firm that best suits their needs, then invite them to bid on the work."

Admission is free. Hours are, Friday, March 12th, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, March 13th from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday, March 14th from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The pavilion is located one block north of 95th St. on Oak park Ave. in Oak Lawn.

Cook County Recorder of Deeds Jesse White (center) reviews a document for Bridgeview resident Rick St. Paul (right) in his new local office. Staff member Peter Ciambone and colleagues are on duty during regular business hours in the Bridgeview Courthouse, 10202 76th Ave.

"The good news," reports White, "is that area residents can now record documents closer to home. The bad news, White adds, "is that too few know about the new Bridgeview satellite location, and they are still suffering the expense and inconvenience of travelling downtown. We're eager to bring top-notch service to all of Cook County and that includes the suburbs. With three satellite locations up and running and two more opening soon, our network puts the recorder's office within reach, a welcome change and great relief for our many suburban customers."

The recorder's local satellite office is in the Bridgeview Courthouse, Room 238. Currently, the office accepts uniform commercial code and other documents for recording. Additional services will be offered over the coming 18 months, as the recorder's multi-million dollar automation system is phased-in and computer link-ups established.

Local Option Housing Courts

The Senate Local Government and Elections Committee has approved legislation introduced by State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18) giving all Illinois communities the option of establishing local housing courts. Senate Bill 36 will allow the corporate authorities of any municipality to establish a housing court, responsible for enforcing municipal housing codes and ordinances. Currently, that option is only available for communities of more than 100,000 residents.

"As introduced, Senate Bill 36 offered this option to municipalities of more than 20,000 residents. However, the mayors of several communities with populations less than 20,000 also liked the idea, so I agreed to amend the bill and extend this option to all communities in Illinois," O'Malley said. "A local housing court would act only on building code matters and should be more convenient and cost-efficient for the municipality, property owners and tenants. It will also ease the burden on our circuit court system, which currently hears these cases."

Sen. O'Malley said fees generated by building codes should be used to pay any costs associated with the housing court.

Co-sponsored by State Sen. William Mahar (R-Orland Park), State Sen. Robert Raica (R-Chicago) and State Sen. William Shaw (D-Chicago), Senate Bill 36 now moves to the full Senate for further consideration on second reading.

In Disagreement

Hometown City Treasurer Raymond Czajka pointed out during the Feb. 23rd Council meeting that if the income tax surcharge continues, the state will direct the municipality how to spend the funding.

Czajka disagrees with this provision and feels that the city should determine how the money is allocated. He pointed out that part of the present surcharge money has been utilized to meet requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) as well as completion of a street lighting project.

City Director of Public Health Michael Barnhart reported that the state has mandated blood tests for lead content in all children under the age of six who are entering day care programs.

A motion was made and adopted to increase the city's fees to obtain business licenses. The motion for this ordinance was brought to the floor by Alderman Tom Ryan and seconded by Alderman Donna Grochowski.

Concert

The jazz band of Oak Lawn Community High School will present a concert on Sunday, March 14th at 4 p.m. at the Hometown Christian Church, 4340 W. 87th St. The band is under the direction of David Deitemyer, school band director.

For additional information, call (312) 582-7744.

SHARE Program

Registration for the SHARE program at Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, 9701 S. Melvina, will be held on Saturday, March 13th from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the church. The fee to participate in this program is $15. Cash or food stamps will be accepted for payment.

A food pickup will take place on Saturday, March 27th from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and participants receive $35 worth of food. Those in the program are requested to volunteer two hours per month to a non-profit organization or at the SHARE warehouse.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the church office, 424-1059.

LIBRARY NOTES

This is the perfect time of year to take a trip to the South Pacific; however, for those not able to leave right away, the Friends of the Library provide the opportunity to take an armchair visit by sponsoring a travelog featuring Australia, New Zealand and Fiji at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23rd in the lower level meeting room. Oak Lawn resident Betty Kapella will show her slides and provide background descriptions and relate some of her experiences from the trip. The program is open to the public without charge or registration on a first-come, first-seated basis.

The library is considering hosting classes in American Sign Language (ASL) providing there is enough public interest. Although no definite plans have been made, it appears that a series of six weekly sessions could be scheduled during September and October.

The library is anxious to provide services for people with disabilities. A remodeled accessible entrance was dedicated last fall. That project included installing washrooms that meet the standards of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). With the help of the Friends of the Library, two closed circuit television magnifiers and five visual smoke detectors were purchased and installed to aid the sight impaired. Two portable listening devices are available during programs for the hearing impaired.

Adding ASL classes is another way for the library to assist the hearing impaired and those with whom they communicate. Those who think that they would be interested should contact Mary Nelson at (708) 422-4990.

For additional information on library programs, contact Mary Nelson, public relations and development officer, at 422-4990.

Foreign Language students at Oak Lawn Community High School ended their celebration of a week-long series of cultural events with a 'Pinata Fiesta' under the direction of Mrs. Millie Watland. All language teachers and students participated in activities such as a foreign film fest, music and art exhibition, candy sale and the sharing of foods from around the world. This annual event heightens the importance of foreign language study in our global society.

Senior Tax Help

Tax help for the older residents will be available from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays, March 13th, 27th and April 3rd in the Rotary Room, Oak Lawn Public Library, 9427 Raymond Ave. The program is sponsored by the Oak Lawn Jaycees as part of tax counseling for the elderly (TCE), a program coordinated by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for people at least 60 years of age.

Volunteers are specially trained by IRS to help older Americans with the tax credit for the elderly, their personal exemption, the special treatment of the gain on the sale of a home by an older person, the proper method of reporting pension income and paying tax on it when necessary and other subjects of special interest or concern. The volunteers will help taxpayers fill out their tax forms.

Interested taxpayers should bring with them the following items: the 1992 tax booklet and forms, last year's tax return, all W-2 and 1099 forms. If taxpayers intend to itemize deductions, they should bring copies of medical bills and tax bills.

State income tax forms also will be completed.

No fee is charged. Service is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Those who need additional information or specific answers to questions prior to coming in should call Rich, Jaycees representative, at (312) 993-0051.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

Every 12 seconds, somewhere in this country, someone needs blood and for these patients, blood is as precious as life itself. They are counting on you. If you have never given blood, consider yourself asked because it is important.

When you donate blood, you help more than one patient. Here's how: Most blood donations are divided into components; red cells, plasma, platelets and cryoprecipitate. Patients may require only one kind of blood component therapy. For instance, an open-heart surgery will require red cells; plasma is used in quantity for a burn victim; platelets are needed by a leukemia child; and cryoprecipitate is essential to stop a bleed in a hemophiliac.

Your blood donation can make a vital difference to area patients. United Blood Services, the only national blood provider serving the Chicago/suburban area and six surrounding counties, will conduct blood drives at the following local sponsors where you may donate blood in March: Friday, March 19th from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Evergreen Park High School, 9901 Kedzie Ave.; Saturday, March 20th from 7:30 to 11 a.m. at the Calvin Christian Reformed Church, 10056 Central Ave., Oak Lawn; and Sunday, March 28th from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Evergreen Park Masonic Lodge No. 1171, 9407 Trumbull.

If you have any questions, or need information about donating at a later date, call Sheri Kobout at (312) 751-1704.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were listed in the official reports of the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Feb. 23rd at 2:13 a.m., Leslie A. Pachter, 25, of Bridgeview told police he was a passenger in his girlfriend's car and her ex-husband Richard C. Ryzner, 26, of Lockport had followed the car from 127th & Cicero, going northbound and attempting to cut her off. At approximately 101st & Cicero, Ryzner's car was in the median lane and the victim's car in the center lane when he hit the right side of her car forcing it off the roadway and it spun around. The victim also told police she had an order of protection which expires on April 25th. The police contacted the felony review at the state's attorney's office and advised them to charge the offender with battery and violation of protection, and battery to the driver. His court date is March 22nd.

On the 14th, Kean Gas Station at 6600 W. 95th St. reported Brian Osinger of Chicago had pumped $16.50 worth of gas, then fled without paying. Police stopped him and brought him back to the police station where it was revealed he did not have the money to pay for the gas. He told police he would be back within a half-hour with the money, but did not return. The owner of the station said complaints will be signed and requested that the police follow up on this.

On the 26th at 5:39 a.m., Karen Ojer of Oak Lawn said she was awakened by the sound of glass breaking, went to the kitchen and discovered a 2x3 ft. dormitory window and a window above the sink were broken and then looked out to the driveway and found the rear window of her car was shattered. Approximate cost to repair and replace the windows is $200 and to replace the car window is $200 for a $400 total loss.

Carol Mladinic of Oak Lawn reported someone took her 18K gold ring located in her house. She said she had people from a real estate agency in her home on the 19th and said it may have been taken then. It is valued at $450.

James Candilas of Berwyn told police he was driving south on Central when a vehicle, also going southbound, cut in front of him. At approximately 99th and Central, he and the other driver got out of their cars and an argument began. Candilas said he looked sideways at the offender and was struck on the left side of his face with a baseball bat. The offender's vehicle was last seen going south on Central. Candilas went to the Care station at 95th St. where he was examined and released.

On the 27th, Richard Stoklisse of Oak Lawn told police he was inside Brandt's Tavern, 95th and Sproat, where he had words with his ex-wife, Vivian Gillespie of Bridgeview. As he was leaving the building, the offender came up behind him and pushed him down the cement steps on 51st Ave. He was able to catch himself by grabbing the handrail, but injured his left ankle. Complaints will be signed.

On March 1st, Jennifer Kojewski, who works at Les Brothers Restaurant, 8705 Ridgeland Ave., told police she had hung her black leather jacket on the coat rack and when she got through work, found her $250 jacket was missing.

Videomatic, 9634 S. Pulaski, reported four different persons rented Nintendo games and movies which have not been returned. Larry Kulpit of Hickory Hills rented a game for $70; Dennis Scott of Oak Lawn rented three movies and four Nintendo games for a total of $380; Paul Bergen of Oak Lawn rented three movies and three Nintendo games for a total of $330; Robert Atko of Chicago rented one movie at $40; and Ed Hill rented two Nintendo games valued at $1,000. Complaints will be signed.

Maria Olsen, owner of the Gateway Motel, 4657 W. 95th St., reported she noticed the bathroom window of Room 1 was broken and the glass was removed and there were fresh footprints in the snow outside the window. She gave police the key to the room and said it was unoccupied, but when they entered they found Michael Reilly of Chicago asleep on the bed. He was placed under arrest and charged with criminal trespass to property and criminal trespass to land.

On March 2nd, Video Dimensions, 6703 W. 95th St., reported Kwame Johnson of Chicago rented eight movies on Jan. 29th and did not return them. Also on Jan. 29th, Renee Ingram of Chicago rented three movies at the same time which have not been returned. Estimated loss is $1,100. Complaints will be signed.

On the 3rd at 12:32 a.m., Arthur Kalnenas and Kestutis Pleckis, both of Chicago, were charged with theft after police answered a line trouble alarm at 4237 W. 95th St. The alarm had reset by the time police arrived, but they saw two men sitting in a 1981 Chevrolet and saw two wires leading from the auto which were connected to a phone inside the car. The Illinois Bell Telephone box, 4237 W. 95th St., had been opened and a connection for TX 422-4984 had been popped open and a wire placed in it with two clips on the other end so the phone could be connected. IBT security was called and complaints were signed for theft.

On the 4th, Katherine Ingersoll of Oak Lawn reported that a metal box she had in a bedroom had some items of jewelry missing. These were given to her by her deceased father in 1992. She said her car had been stolen in May of 1992, but did not have keys for her residence on the keyring. Missing is a ladies Bulova watch with diamonds valued at $1,000 and a man's gold Gruen watch valued at $2,000.

Sylvester Bailey, 62, of Chicago was seen by Walgreen's security allegedly taking four bottles of whiskey, putting two in the front of his pants and two in the back of his pants, then leaving without paying. He was stopped and admitted he had taken the whiskey which was valued at $33.96.

CAMPGROUND HOSTS NEEDED - Individuals who enjoy camping are needed to volunteer as campground hosts at state parks throughout Illinois. This is an excellent program for retired individuals or couples who are available to share their camping experience and knowledge with others.

Hosts currently are needed for the campground at Ferne Clyffe State Park in Goreville and Lake Le-Agua-Na State Park in Lena, and the equestrian campground at Jubilee College State Park in Brimfield. More than 40 sites offers the campground host program statewide, with applications accepted year-round and positions filled as they open. Most placements occur from March through June.

Campground hosts assist campers, answer questions, collect camping fees and encourage compliance with park regulations. They also may be asked to greet visitors, distribute park and Conservation Department literature, report emergencies to the site's permanent staff, and perform minor maintenance tasks such as picking up litter. A campground host is not required to enforce park rules or perform major maintenance repairs.

Applicants for campground host positions must be at least 21 years old, have a valid driver's license and agree to work 35 hours per week, usually during a five-day period, for a minimum of four weeks. Weekend and holiday duty is mandatory. Compensation is $1 per day for the days they work. In addition to the small monetary payment, volunteers will receive on-site training, limited medical and personal insurance coverage, and free camping privileges during their period of service.

By serving as host interpreters, college students majoring in recreation or park administration may be able to meet their schools' internship requirements.

Applications for campground hosts and host interpreters may be obtained by calling Volunteer Coordinator Mitch Ingold at (219) 785-9416 or by writing the Department of Conservation, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, IL, 62701-1787. Individuals may send their completed application forms either to the Springfield address or to the park where they wish to volunteer. A current listing of host program sites will be provided with the application form.

"DNR wildlife biologists report a 1993 winter herd estimate of 1,350 elk, compared to 1,200 last year at this time," Department of Natural Resources Director Roland Harnes said. "The increase in elk numbers follows the large harvest of 253 elk last fall during two September elk hunt seasons and the Dec. 8-14 season."

Valentas was the leader of the Crusader team that went 7-4 and won the Catholic League playoff championship for the first time since 1980. "Bill is a kid with a lot of potential," said Rice head coach Tom Mitchell. "I compare him to a former Rice offensive tackle, Paul Hutchins. Paul went to Western Michigan and now is projected to go fairly high in the next N.F.L. draft." Valentas was also recruited by the University of Wyoming, the University of New Mexico and Western Michigan University.

BASKETBALL ROUND-UP

'March Madness' surrounding the basketball playoffs got underway last week in the various sectional rounds. Some local cagers emerged on the winning side of the scoreboard while others put one in the loss column and will have to "wait until next year."

Tuesday Games (March 2nd) Romeoville Sectional Playoffs Lockport 69 - Bremen 57

The Braves were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs with a 69-57 loss to the Porters.

Giving the Braves some rays of hope were Joe Myers and his 27 points, that included four 3-point shots. Trumane Hampton added 13 marks to the total.

Andrew 59 - Plainfield 46

A playoff success story, at least in round one, was the Thunderbolt team as they took down Plainfield 59-46 in Tinley Park.

Hot scoring came from the hands of Mike O'Neill with 27 markers and eight caroms plus another 19 points from Steve DeHaan.

Shepard 58 - Benet Academy 43

The Astros made it look easy with their victory over the Redwings.

"What we appreciate about this game, other than the opportunity to keep playing, is that this gives us a third 20-win season in a row," commented Astro coach Kurt Enzminger. "That's never happened at Shepard before."

The Astro triple threat was led by Dennis Payne's dozen points, 11 from Ontario Pryor, and 10 by Tyrine Wilson.

Thornridge Sectional

Thornton 87 - Oak Lawn 42

The Wildcats made short work of the Spartans in the first playoff round. Two bright spots for the Spartans were 17 points from D.J. Smith and 11 from Dan Burns.

The Mustangs got the job done against the Cardinals. Igniting the Mustangs were John Sanders and his 18 points, Ken Harvey added 14, and Charles Smith put in an even dozen.

"We just kept our heads and didn't lose our poise," noted Mustang coach Jim Prunty. "We'll go out there and give it our best in the next game."

Leo 65 - Marist 49

It's wait until next year for the Redskins as they took their lumps against the Lions.

"We got careless with the ball at times, trying to feed the post from 20 feet out," lamented Redskin coach Ken Styler. "I thought we had some good shots, but couldn't capitalize."

Reaching double numbers for the Redskins were Jim Franko and his 13-point total followed by another 13 points and seven rebounds from Ed Saidat.

York Sectional

Proviso West 83 - Argo 37

Maybe the Argonauts will have better luck next fall and memories of this trouncing at the hands of Proviso West will be history.

The lone Argonaut in double figures was Fred White, with a dozen.

De La Salle 53 - St. Laurence 51

A pair of Meteor free throws with 12 ticks left on the game clock sealed the fate of the Vikings as they lost a close match-up.

Putting out a vallant effort for the Vikes were Jaysen Orkowski and his 18 points, plus 10 points apiece from Keith Webster and Dennis McNamara.

Wednesday Games (March 3rd)

Romeoville Sectional

Downers Grove South 67 - Sandburg 44

Downers Grove South took care of business against the Eagles. Connecting in double figures for the Eagles was Casey Peters with 10.

Hinsdale South 51 - Stagg 38

The Chargers faced defeat in round one as the Hornets put the sting on them. Charger Greg Baker totaled 10 points in the game.

Bolingbrook 78 - Oak Forest 65

Another local team will have to hang up its sneakers until next season as the Bengals were sent home with a 78-65 loss in Bolingbrook. The 31-point performance by Bengal Mike MacFarlane went for naught as did 17 markers from Wayne Johnson.

Thornridge Sectional

Brother Rice 49 - Reavis 44

Crusader might prevailed with a 16-8 scoring surge in the fourth quarter to take down the Rams. Jim Sexton paced the Crusaders with 24 marks while teammate Britt Booker added 11.

On the Ram side of the scoreboard, Tony Bombacino poured in 17 while Jason Blizniak added 11.

Mount Carmel 71 - Richards 43

The Caravan proved to be more than the Bulldogs could handle as Carmel triumphed. The only Bulldog to score in double digits was Demarious Collins with 12 points.

"We had no chance to beat them on the floor," remarked Bulldog coach Mike Ritchie. "They had pretty much free reign around the basket."

Friday Games

Romeoville Sectional

Shepard 78 - Hinsdale Central 40

The Astros had their act together and took it on the road as they trounced the Red Devils 78-40. This marked Shepard's third regional title in the last four years and fifth in the school's history.

Contributing to the Astro's floor success of 67 percent accuracy were senior Denny Payne with 19 points, sophomore John Economos hit for 17 and sophomore Craig Tracy put through 10 points. Ontario Pryor was hot on the defensive end with a dozen assists and eight boards. Off the bench, junior Allen Ross took down seven rebounds.

"We had tremendous play at both ends of the floor," beamed Astro coach Kurt Enzminger. "People didn't care who scored and at the defensive end, people did a pretty good job of shutting them down. I thought overall it was probably one of the better games we played this year."

Lockport 56 - Andrew 50

The Thunderbolts bowed out from the playoffs with a 56-50 loss to the Porters.

The T-Bolts were within four points in the fourth, but could come no closer. Their 29 percent shooting didn't help the cause either.

Bright spots nonetheless were the 20 points from Mike O'Neill and 14 from Joe Navickas.

Thornridge Sectional

St. Francis de Sales 81 - Brother Rice 58

The Crusaders were eliminated from the playoff race as the Pioneers proved to be too great of an opponent. The Crusaders faced only a deficit of three points midway through the third quarter, but could get no closer.

"We just weren't capable of stopping the run," admitted Crusader coach Pat Richardson. "They run faster on the break, they jump higher for rebounds, they're quicker getting to loose balls, and they hit their shots. They'd have a two-one-three against us and just drive right in."

Top scoring performances for the Crusaders came from Jim Sexton with 23, followed by Theo Hutcherson's 19.

Thornton 87 - St. Rita 62

The Mustangs traveled to Thornton and had an unsuccessful trip as they fell out of the playoff picture.

The Mustangs got behind the Wildcats by 10 points in the second quarter and couldn't get back on track.

The leading Mustang scorer was Ken Harvey with 18.

Judge Sophia H. Hall, presiding judge of the juvenile division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, was honored recently at Hull House for her work on behalf of indigent children. Hall, the first female to be named to a presiding judgeship, received an award from the Children and Family Justice Center of the Northwestern University School of Law, the Jane Addams Hull House Museum, the Citizens' Committee on the Juvenile Court and the Women's Bar Association of Illinois. Judge Hall is pictured with Cook County Board President Richard J. Phelan.

Counseling Grant

Governor Jim Edgar announced the state has received a $272,825 grant to increase insurance counseling services for the state's senior citizens.

"With the current focus on health care issues and the spiraling costs of adequate medical care, senior citizens are more concerned than ever about adequate health insurance coverage," the Governor said. "The additional funding for our Senior Health Insurance Program (SHIP) will greatly assist our effort to respond to those concerns."

The two-year grant from the federal health care financing administration will give the state department of insurance additional funding for counseling programs targeted to the senior population.

Insurance Director Stephen F. Selcke said the grant will enable the department to increase public awareness in rural areas, train volunteers in additional counties, provide more support services to the existing volunteer network and expand the use of a toll-free telephone line.

SHIP was initiated by the department of insurance in 1988 to provide free health insurance counseling programs for senior citizens and their families. Working

All graduates are invited to attend. Being honored are graduates from the classes of '68, '73, '78, '83 and '88, those celebrating 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25-year anniversaries. The evening program will feature the annual Sports Hall of Fame, and the annual 'Man of the Year' award, presented this year to Br. Anthony M. Iazzetti, FMS, principal of Marist from 1975 to 1987.

Dinner reservations are $40 and may be secured by contacting Daniel Garvey, alumni moderator, at (312) 881-5328.

Protection Against Prize Scams

As the cornerstone of his legislative agenda, Attorney General Roland W. Burris has written legislation aimed at significantly reducing the number of misleading mailings Illinois consumers get for prizes and merchandise. Titled the "Prize Promotions & Contests Consumer Protection Act," the bill would put an end to many of the mailings that suggest consumers have won fabulous prizes but, in fact, haven't won anything.

"With this far-reaching legislation, we hope to close virtually every loophole that these con artists have been using to defraud Illinois consumers," Burris said. "Whenever complaints would start coming in on these unscrupulous operators, they would slide into a slightly different scheme."

"This will prevent them from doing that. It will stop them from creating false expectations just to get consumers to purchase something at an exorbitant price, or to send money and get nothing in return," Burris added.

Once enacted, this legislation will prohibit five common practices: offering prizes that are not available or the misrepresentation of the nature of a prize; telling a consumer he or she has won a contest or is a "finalist" if he or she is not; sending a consumer a simulated check or invoice; using deceptive savings claims to sell merchandise; or charging a consumer any money or requiring a purchase to enter a contest.

The bill would also require specific disclosures to be made. On mailings regarding contests the following must appear: no purchase required, alternative method of entry, odds of winning, actual retail value, geographic area, eligibility and methods of choosing winners.

On prize promotions the following must be included: conspicuous disclosure of all costs; actual retail value; if necessary to attend sales presentation, length of presentation; and eligibility.

A violation of the act is a Class A misdemeanor and would be a violation of the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act.

Other issues of consumer interest being addressed by Burris during the present legislative session include prohibiting advance fees in executive searches during career counseling operations; granting the attorney general injunctive powers against any unlicensed going-out-of-business sale and strengthening travel promotion legislation to include land and water tours.

"It is essential that we address the issues that most affect Illinoisans during the present legislative session," Burris said. "The Prize Promotions and Contests Consumer Protection Act will offer greater protection for consumers of all ages from con artists."

Business Workshop

A half-day workshop on recordkeeping, to be given Wednesday, April 7th, has been announced by SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) as part of its spring workshop series for people interested in starting up a business, or for those already in the start-up process. Focus will be on how to keep one's business healthy through the use of accurate, complete, and timely records, and the use of statements to diagnose the state of one's business. The workshop is scheduled from 9 a.m. until 12 noon at 500 W. Madison St. (Northwestern Atrium Center), Suite 1250, Chicago, where SCORE is based in the business development offices of the U.S. Small Business Administration.

A maximum limit of 20 persons per workshop facilitates personal instruction, so advance registration is recommended. Send check or money order for $20 to SCORE, 500 W. Madison St., Suite 1250, Chicago, IL 60661, or phone (312) 353-7724 for details.

Annual Candy Day Drive

Misericordia/Heart of Mercy Center is hosting the 7th annual Candy Days drive on April 2nd and 3rd. Home to 450 children and adults with mental disability, Misericordia depends on private fundraising efforts to provide quality life for its residents. The candy drive is Misericordia's single largest fundraiser. Nearly 10,000 volunteers flood the streets of Chicago and suburbs, handing out tags and Fannie May lollipops, collecting donations in return. Volunteers stand outside train stations, near shopping areas, banks and busy intersections. Their combined efforts make this day a success. The money raised directly benefits the special population Misericordia serves.

The success of Candy Days is wholly dependent upon the number of volunteers on the streets. Misericordia has set up a hotline, (312) 508-KIDS, to handle calls from people who want to help.

Misericordia provides a life of dignity, challenge and respect to its children and adult residents. It is a community that focuses on strengths and abilities, rather than limitations. To its very worthy and special population, it truly is 'home.'

The Marist High School Alumni Mothers' Club will present its 12th annual arts & crafts fair on Saturday, March 13th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the school, 4200 W. 115th St. Pictured, testing some of the refreshments to be offered, are Maureen Ligeski of Oak Lawn, food and beverage coordinator; Gladys Mikos of Calumet Park, committee member; Br. Dan Cronin, moderator, and Tina Kempf of Country Club Hills, president of the club. Proceeds from this event provide assistance for students needing financial aid.

PRINCIPLES OF REAL ESTATE

Wisdom.

It is the province of knowledge to speak, and it is the privilege of wisdom to listen.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes

Knowledge is essential to the home buying and selling process. Without answers, your decisions are difficult to make. To gain the knowledge you need, choose an individual who will listen intently to your objectives, then provide answers to your questions.

I heartily subscribe to this principle of real estate. I believe you have the right to expect a willing ear, someone to listen as you pursue your dreams. Please, call me today!

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

Officers elected for the ensuing year by Columbus Manor volunteer fire department on Sunday were: Wm. Rasmussen, president; Steve Jackovich, vice-president; Roy East, secretary; B. Walenta, treasurer; A. Loeschetter, sergeant-at-arms; Trustees A. MacDonald, B. Denton and Don Beagle. Plans were made to have a dance to raise money to pay I. Braun's expenses for time lost, because of an accident in front of the firehouse on March 1st.

Sgt. William H. Harnew was born in Oak Lawn on Oct. 16th, 1913, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Harnew. He is a typical Oak Lawn product—his father and grandfather were born in Oak Lawn and his great-grandfather was one of the early pioneers of the community, moving here from the east with an ox team and covered wagon, familiar in 1840. Bill was inducted into the Army Air Force on June 9th, 1942, going directly from Camp Grant to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., where he received his basic training. While there he was urged to enter officers training school, but he preferred to get his advancement and training with his buddies from the ground up, even if it was the hard way.

"India, the Land of Enchantment" will be presented on Thursday, March 18th at the Oak Lawn Congregational Church at 8 p.m. in a moving picture lecture entitled "India in the Spotlight."

Full Lobby Disclosure

Gov. Jim Edgar has proposed legislation to establish significant safeguards against abuse in the awarding of state contracts and leases. The governor added he is prepared to support and sign legislation to require fuller disclosure by lobbyists. In addition, he pledged his backing for an initiative by the State Board of Elections to make it easier for the general public, the media and other government watchdogs to monitor campaign contributions and expenditures.

"The public needs to be assured that contracts and leases entered into by state government are needed, cost-effective and awarded more competitively," Edgar said. "My administration has eliminated dozens of no-bid contracts and I have repeatedly told my staff and cabinet that I will not tolerate make-work or no-work contracts."

The legislation which has been introduced in the Senate would significantly tighten laws governing contracts for 'professional or artistic' services; require any state or local government employee who plays a role in the awarding of government contracts to file an economic disclosure statement designed to indicate any potential conflicts of interest; and increase competition for state leases and require for the first time that at least two appraisals be obtained before state government can purchase a building at a price in excess of $100,000.

The governor reaffirmed his support for legislation that will require lobbyists to fully disclose their expenditures, expand the number who must make disclosures and toughen the penalties for those who fail to do so.

"I introduced lobbyist disclosure legislation in 1991. This year, Secretary of State George Ryan already has introduced a comprehensive disclosure package worthy of my support. I look forward to working with Ryan, the General Assembly and organizations like Common Cause to bring far more sunshine to lobbying in Springfield," Edgar said.

"Moreover, I am pleased to pledge my support to an initiative by the Board of Elections to bring more sunshine to how campaign funds are raised and spent. I fully back the board's request for $72,000 to expand and bolster its computer system so that campaign contributions and expenditures can be monitored and analyzed more readily and effectively," he said.

Edgar also said he would seriously consider supporting many of the other ethics measures introduced this year. His legislation would require that contracts amounting to $10,000 or more per fiscal year for 'professional or artistic' services be awarded on a competitive basis with some exceptions. They could be negotiated without a competitive procedure if they relate to legal services to represent a state governmental body or an employee in a lawsuit where the governmental body or employee is a party and if specific expertise or experience is required and the state agency issuing the contract has documented the need for it.

"Purchasing experts have told us it would be unduly costly to taxpayers to require that a competitive procedure be used in the award of contracts amounting to less than $10,000. They said the personnel costs and red tape needed to award such contracts competitively would offset any savings that could be achieved by doing so," Edgar pointed out. "However, I am open to adjusting that threshold if further study shows a lower threshold is advisable."

In cases where a competitive procedure is not used in the awarding of a contract of $10,000 or more, the agency entering into the contract must publicize in the official state newspaper the name of the contractor, the total amount of the contract and a description of the purpose of the contract. Moreover, in cases where the contract is negotiated in order to tap specific expertise and experience, justification for not using the competitive process must be included with the filing of the contract.

Incinerator Denial Praised

Congressman William O. Lipinski (D-3) recently commended the Illinois Pollution Control Board for its decision to vacate approval of the proposed Summit incinerator project. The board ruled that the village had denied residents who opposed the project a fair chance to express their opinions and that officials had not taken enough steps to ensure copies of an amended application by the incinerator's developers were available. In addition, the board said the record of the hearing, which took place over a 14-hour time span last August, was incomplete with some of the testimony not recorded.

"I believe the board made the right decision," Lipinski noted. "With a project of this magnitude, it is imperative that arguments from all sides be heard. Only then can an objective decision be made on the merits of the project."

"I was opposed to the incinerator from the beginning and I will continue to oppose it. I am simply not convinced that this incinerator won't have a detrimental effect on air quality in our area. This decision by the board means we are back to square one on this issue," Lipinski added. "I would encourage all individuals who have an interest in this project to make their feelings known to my office and to the offices of their other local elected officials."

Alert On Dangers Of Smoking Contest

The American Medical Association and U.S. Surgeon General Antonia Novello, M.D., are joining in sponsorship of a nationwide contest to increase awareness among children of the dangers of smoking.

"The tobacco industry is spending millions of dollars to encourage young children to start smoking," said AMA President John Clowe, M.D. "They are succeeding. Every day 3,000 children light up their first cigarette."

The contest, called "Say No, Old Joe," targets one of the tobacco industry's most visible marketing tools, the "Old Joe Camel" cartoon that portrays cigarette smoking as a "cool" thing to do.

"There are some that have said that I am against the First Amendment and free speech," said Novello. "But, there are times when the power of advertising must be voluntarily restrained because of its great potential to influence."

Studies published in the "Journal of the American Medical Association" in December 1991 found that "Old Joe Camel" was as recognizable to children six years and older as the Mickey Mouse symbol featured in the Disney Channel logo. The studies also found that in three years, the character's appeal has led to a sharp rise in smoking of the brand among children from 5 percent to 32 percent.

The contest asks students grades K-8 to draw a poster or write a letter, poem or essay telling "Old Joe Camel," in their own words, why he should stop smoking.

"The contest is an ideal classroom activity," said Clowe. "We hope that teachers will use it as a springboard to discuss the dangers of smoking with their students."

Individual winners will be chosen in each of three categories: grades K-2, 3-5 and 6-8. Each winning student will receive a $200 U.S. savings bond and a trip for two to Washington, D.C. to meet Surgeon General Novello. Additionally, the school that each winner attends will receive a $5,000 grant for educational materials or recreational equipment.

Entries should be sent to "Say No Old Joe," c/o Books and Beyond, 309 N. Rios Ave., Solana Beach, CA 92075. All entries are due by Thursday, April 22nd.

Teachers or principals interested in further information can contact Lisa Levin at (312) 464-2410.

A Million For Anti-Drug Program

Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley's office has received $1,512,192 from the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority to continue two successful anti-drug programs. The federal money, along with $504,054 in matching funds, will be used for nuisance abatement efforts and additional prosecutors in drug cases.

"The proliferation of drugs and drug houses in a community usually results in increasing crime and decreasing property values," said Peter B. Bensinger, chairman of the authority. "Through the narcotics nuisance abatement unit and the multi-jurisdictional prosecution program, we are putting these dealers out of business and helping to revitalize neighborhoods."

In its third year, the unit works to rid the county's neighborhoods of drug activity through the elimination of drug houses and businesses that deal in drug paraphernalia. The program holds landlords accountable for the actions of their tenants and works to board up abandoned buildings. In the last year, the unit investigated 1,649 tips received from citizens and law enforcement agencies and found evidence to pursue charges in 872 of those cases.

"The community connection is vital to the county nuisance abatement program," said O'Malley. "Citizens and community organizations know their neighborhoods best. It is through their tips to the nuisance abatement hotline and continuing support through the investigation and prosecution of these criminals that we can get these buildings shut down and cleaned up."

The hotline number is 1(800)890-DOPE. New to the program this year will be a newsletter distributed to the more than 50 community groups, churches and local police departments with whom the abatement unit works.

The authority is also funding the multi-jurisdictional drug prosecution program for the fifth consecutive year. This program provides prosecutors who specialize in the investigation, charging and conviction of mid-level drug traffickers in the county. In the last year, this unit launched more than 150 investigations and initiated drug prosecutions against 257 individuals. Included was a 58-count indictment against 21 individuals resulting from Operation AESOP, the first case in Illinois conducted under Illinois' expanded wiretapping law.

The federal funds awarded by the authority are part of the $16.9 million Illinois received in 1992 under the anti-drug abuse act of 1988. These funds are designed to help state and local agencies control illegal drug abuse and violent crime.

In addition, the authority has published a guide to the state's narcotics nuisance abatement act and other laws that citizens can use to rid their communities of illegal drug activity. Copies are available by calling (312) 793-8550.

Midway Gets Improvement Grant

Congressman Bill Lipinski (D-3) announced that Midway Airport has been selected by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to receive a $1.8 million airport improvement grant to provide additional safety for the traveling public by acquiring parcels of land situated below the airport's runway flight paths.

Lipinski said, "This is really great news for Midway Airport and the surrounding residents. Each time the federal government invests in our local airport we move closer to our goal of keeping Midway operating at peak capacity. Let there be no mistaking FAA's decision—acquiring the parcels of land is by no means an expansion of the airport facility. This is simply a necessary expansion of Midway's level of safety. I think that local residents and the traveling public can all rest a little easier."

The grant is being provided out of the nation's Airport Improvement Program (AIP) specifically for the City of Chicago's Department of Aviation to acquire three properties near Midway. The funding will also be used to demolish any existing buildings and safely remove all debris. The parcels of land are at 5612-20 S. Central Ave., 6219 S. Cicero Ave. and 5601 W. 63rd St. In each case, existing buildings or the possibility of future construction on the parcel will be in conflict with FAA-mandated clear zones for three of Midway's runways. For example, the south Cicero parcel is home to the Airliner Hotel, a building which now intrudes on the flight path of Runway 31C. None of the planned acquisitions, however, contain residential properties.

"It's really very exciting. As one of the principal supporters of the 1992 reauthorization of the AIP, I am especially pleased to announce that my efforts have provided this vital funding for our local airport. Of course, I will continue my work with the Midway Task Force to encourage new developments at the airport and in the surrounding neighborhood. This advisory group is made up of local residents, community and business leaders. It is actively promoting Midway Airport and the advantages of doing business on the southwest side."

Stock Split

The Board of Directors of NICOR Inc. announced a two-for-one stock split, a dividend increase and plans to repurchase common stock in the open market. The board approved a stock split of the company's common, preferred and preference stocks to stockholders of record on April 1st. The distribution of the additional shares is expected to be made on April 26th. There are approximately 28 million common shares outstanding. As a result of the stock split, NICOR will have close to 56 million common shares outstanding.

The board of directors also declared a quarterly common stock dividend on the split shares of 30.5 cents per share (61 cents on a pre-split basis), payable May 1st, to stockholders of record on April 1st. This payout represents an annual rate of $1.22 per share ($2.44 per share on a pre-split basis). The new rate is 3.4 percent higher than the $2.36 per share pre-split amount established with the May 1st, 1992 dividend.

NICOR also announced that its board has authorized a program to buy back shares of common stock having an aggregate market value of up to $50 million. The purchases will be made as market conditions permit through open market transactions.

NICOR Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer Richard G. Cline commented, "These announcements reflect our confidence in NICOR's favorable outlook as well as our strong capital structure."

NICOR Inc. is a holding company. Its principal business is Northern Illinois Gas, one of the nation's largest gas distribution companies. NICOR's non-utility businesses are engaged in containerized shipping, and gas and oil exploration and production.

Nursing Tutoring

The R.N. Tutoring Project begins its 19th season with special programs to help registered nurses and practical nurse candidates to pass the new licensure examination. Counseling, test clinics and tutoring classes are offered at sites throughout Chicago and its suburbs beginning in February. Special classes are offered for nursing students with test taking concerns.

The project is the only non-profit organization in Illinois providing counseling and tutoring graduate nurses, nursing students and pre-nursing students since 1974.

Man Appeals His Sentence For Exposure

Richard Provancal, 53, a former personnel director for the Cook County Forest Preserve District, was sentenced last week to 90 days in Cook County Jail and two years probation for exposing himself to an Evergreen Park girl. Provancal was accused of driving his car onto a sidewalk in the vicinity of 97th and Western, where he trapped the girl between his car and a wall. According to testimony, he proceeded to expose and fondle himself in front of the girl.

Provancal was arrested later the same day and was suspended, with pay, from his $50,000 a year job with the forest preserve. Last year, he was fired and in addition to losing his job, lost use of a forest preserve home in Turtle Head Lake Preserve near Orland Park. He paid $50 a month for use of the home.

Sentence was handed down by Associate Judge Richard La Cien in 5th District Cook County Circuit Court, Bridgeview. Judge La Cien allowed Provancal to stay out of jail on a $10,000 bond, pending appeal of the case to the Illinois Appellate Court. According to prosecutors, Provancal is to begin serving the 90-day sentence if the appellate court upholds the conviction.

Provancal had faced up to a year in prison along with a $1,000 fine when he was convicted of misdemeanor sexual misconduct charges in January. He was, however, acquitted on felony charges of aggravated, unlawful restraint and aggravated assault in the incident.

During the sentencing hearing, two individuals testified that Provancal had been involved in previous sexual misconduct incidents. An 18-year-old man told the court that Provancal had exposed himself in 1989 and had offered the then 14-year-old boy $20 if the boy would allow him to perform sexual acts. A 37-year-old man testified that Provancal had molested him in 1966, when he was 10. Both men are Chicago residents.

Charges in the first incident were dismissed in court, and Provancal was never charged in connection with the second.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

156,641 people can't be wrong! That's the number of Illinois drivers who opted to join the Secretary of State's Central Organ/Tissue Donor Registry in the first quarter the registry was operational. These people are among the growing numbers who see the value of organ and tissue donation. They are willing to give part of themselves some day in the future to save the lives others. They have indicated that they will sign their organ donor card and discuss their wishes to donate with their families.

As a transplant recipient (I received a heart in 1992), I applaud these potential donors. I know how hard it is to wait for a donor organ, hoping that one will come before time has run out.

You can easily give the "Gift of Life." Just sign your organ donor card today. And next time you go to a driver's license facility, join the central registry. The fact that you've joined won't be printed on your license. Only organ procurement agencies have access to the information, once you have died. And even then, no organs and tissues will be removed without your family's consent.

Aluminum cans and newspapers aren't the only things that can be recycled. Think about it.

Sincerely,

Tom Bradley

Tax Checkoff For Literacy

With the height of the tax filing season approaching, Secretary of State George H. Ryan recently called on Illinois taxpayers to make a donation of the literacy advancement fund, the newest checkoff on the state tax form.

"As people get ready to send in their forms this year, I hope they take a minute to set aside a gift to help Illinois families help themselves and their children to a brighter future," Ryan said.

Taxpayers can contribute to the literacy fund either by decreasing their refund or increasing the amount they owe. The checkoff, on Line 15e, is designed to connect families who have literacy needs with programs that can help both parents and children improve reading skills. Head Start, Even Start, pre-kindergarten, day care and adult literacy programs help identify families needing help.

"More than 2,000,000 adults in Illinois read below the sixth grade level and their children are twice as likely as other kids to grow up with poor skills," Ryan said. "It's not enough to tell parents about the value of reading to children, we have to show them how to do it."

Money raised through the checkoff is used to educate families about the importance of good reading skills and to help them get in touch with local literacy programs. Additionally, the money will be used to help literacy groups in training volunteers to tutor parents and children. The money also will help develop innovative programs to further family literacy.

"Taxpayers might appreciate knowing that none of this money will be used for administration, except for a small amount that we will hold in reserve to promote the checkoff again next year," Ryan stressed.

Ryan has been working to promote the checkoff because if it does not raise at least $100,000, it will not appear on next year's tax form. Only one other state, West Virginia, has used a tax checkoff to raise funds for literacy.

The checkoff is one of five on the state tax form this year. Anyone interested in receiving information about literacy programs or volunteering as a tutor can call (800) 321-9511.

Enclose Woods Hot Spots

In response to Cook County Board President Richard Phelan's request and persistent pressure to fence off hot spots at Red Gate Woods, Palos Hills, the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) has agreed to enclose the old nuclear reactor site. Fencing of the 26-acre site is scheduled to begin in March. DOE also agreed to clean up surface debris, take soil samples to test for contamination and position signs to keep the surrounding community informed of current and future work done at the site. The total estimated cost of this two-year project is $3.4 million.

"I am pleased that the DOE has agreed to take this action," Phelan said. "The surrounding communities and forest preserve visitors are entitled to a safe environment."

February Traffic Deaths

Traffic fatalities for February totaled 60 as a result of 55 accidents, a decrease of 18.9 percent from the 74 deaths in February 1992, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) and State Police. Included in the totals were eight pedestrians killed in eight accidents, and one person killed in one accident involving a motorcycle. There were no bicyclists killed and no deaths in railroad crossing accidents.

The provisional total of 150 deaths for 1993 is a decrease of 13.6 percent from the 177 deaths in 1992.

SWAP At Work

Labor crews from Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan's Work Alternative Program (SWAP) will be at work in the Alsip community on March 18th and 19th as part of efforts to assist local towns with public works and community clean-up projects. The SWAP program takes sentenced DUI and other non-violent offenders and puts them to work cleaning streets, parks and vacant lots in communities across Cook County. The SWAP crews are transported and supervised at all times by trained, uniformed Deputy Sheriffs.

"Rather than having these non-violent offenders sit idle in the overcrowded Cook County Jail, we are utilizing them for important community work projects and enabling them to pay their debt back to society in a productive fashion that benefits the taxpayers," Sheahan said.

In 1992 the SWAP program provided more than 350,000 hours of work to municipalities and not-for-profit agencies throughout the county.

For more information on SWAP, call (708) 865-4960.

Sauk Sale

The Community High School District 218 Board of Education approved the sale of the former Sauk Area Career Center building for more than $2.9 million to the state of Illinois on Monday, March 8th. Gov. Jim Edgar has approved the money for the purchase through the Capital Development Board. The state will use the facility for the Illinois National Guard.

The state will only purchase the south building, just west of Pulaski Road on the south side of Midlothian Turnpike and the adjacent land.

District 218 will use the former north Sauk Area Career Center building across the street to house its new alternative school, which opens for the 1993-94 academic year.

The state and District 218 have scheduled the closing for the sale on Friday, March 19th.

Lipinski Opposes Airline Merger Plan

Congressman Bill Lipinski (D-3) has voiced strong opposition to a decision by the Clinton Administration granting its approval for British Airways to invest up to $300 million in the Arlington, Virginia-based USAir. Through its code-sharing provisions, the approved deal allows the British airline unprecedented access to cities within the United States without providing U.S. carriers reciprocal rights in the United Kingdom.

Lipinski said, "My interest in this important transaction comes from the fact that I represent large numbers of airline employees who will certainly suffer the threat of unnecessary job loss and financial hardship. Right now, there is no guarantee that the U.S. will have the upper-hand in future negotiations with the British. There will, however, almost certainly be severe economic repercussions as a result of this transaction. It appears that President Clinton needs to be reminded just how many Americans are going to be negatively impacted by his decision to approve British Airways' investment."

In letters to President Clinton and Secretary of Transportation Federico Pena, Lipinski pointed out that, "With this move, you have sent a clear message to foreign carriers and their governments that access to the world's largest aviation market can be obtained without having to provide reciprocal access. If approval of this transaction now allows a British air carrier to capture additional U.S. traffic without providing reciprocal opportunities for U.S. carriers in British markets, then where is the incentive for the United Kingdom to open its markets in the future?"

As part of the approved transaction, British Airways and USAir have been authorized to begin code-sharing of their schedules for at least one year. This provision effectively

Guest Columnist
 Illinois CPA Society

Results of a recent healthcare reform poll conducted by the Illinois CPA Society show that its members favor modest changes to the current market-based healthcare system. However, they anticipate that, after the dust settles, a so-called play-or-pay type system of managed competition will emerge in which the federal government assumes a much bigger role. Based on 148 survey respondents, more than half predict that Congress will enact the play-or-pay system of managed competition rather than a government controlled single-payer system. Such a political compromise will ultimately satisfy very few, Illinois CPAs say.

Under play-or-pay, employers with existing health plans could play by retaining their existing privately financed coverage while employers currently without plans would pay into a government mandated pooled fund to cover workers. The government also would pay into the fund, providing coverage for the unemployed and the poor, replacing the current Medicaid system.

"While the play-or-pay hybrid alternative represents a logical compromise between the market-based and single-payer systems, it was the least preferred of the three systems offered in the survey," said James Donenberg, a member of the Illinois CPA Society's healthcare committee which was responsible for creating the survey.

Respondents indicated that the play-or-pay system rated poorly in several areas including its ability to control rising healthcare costs, to increase access, to reduce administrative overhead, to encourage efficiency, to encourage primary and preventive care, to expand consumer choice, and finally, to possess long-term staying power as a viable system.

A 60 percent majority of respondents preferred incentives to the current market-based system such as: tax credits for middle and low-income families, mandated risk pooling, and uniform ratemaking to lower the cost of coverage to employers with high-risk employees.

"The market-based system was rated best in its ability to hold the line on new taxes, control costs, encourage efficiency in administration, promote quality healthcare and possess the greatest long-term staying power of all three systems," noted Donenberg.

One fourth of respondents preferred a government mandated single-payer system, while only one-fifth preferred the play-or-pay system. According to more than two-thirds of the respondents, the biggest advantage of a single-payer system is its ability to provide superior access to basic medical care services.

Additionally, members believe a single-payer system would encourage primary and preventive care almost on par with the market-based model.

On the negative side, 78 percent of Illinois CPA Society responding members felt a single-payer system discouraged new technology and 80 percent felt it would encourage new taxes.

Also, 60 percent fear a single-payer system will prevent people from obtaining the type and choice of healthcare they desire. For those currently without coverage, single-payer guarantees affordable basic medical care. But, by increasing access, including the possibility of expanded long-term care and prescription drug coverage to all Americans, 75 percent of the respondents predict sacrifices both in the quality of doctor-patient relationships and technological sophistication.

"While many frustrated Americans believe change is necessary to the existing healthcare delivery and pricing system, the trade-offs between access and quality, government intervention and efficiency and short-term adaptability and long-term viability, led a majority of CPA respondents to support the conceptual framework of market-based reforms while recognizing the likelihood that the so-called play-or-pay system will be adopted," Donenberg said. "The stakes are high and the issues are at the forefront of the American agenda. As a nation, hopefully, we can sort out these issues to assure the impending changes are not only instituted out of frustration but are changes for the better, for all Americans."

The Illinois CPA Society is the professional association serving more than 25,000 certified public accountants. The story about the healthcare reform poll by Jim Donenberg and co-author Steve Andes appears in the Illinois CPA Society's February/March 1993 issue of 'Insight' magazine.

links the international route system of the British carrier with USAir's extensive domestic network. Passengers will now be able to fly from a U.S. city to the U.K. and beyond, without having to change aircraft or switch airlines. U.S. carriers are not presently allowed this kind of access to the British Isles. The code-sharing provision may be the most lucrative for British Airways, by allowing the carrier unprecedented access to locations in the U.S. which up until now have been off limits.

Lipinski added, "I opposed the previous offer by British Airways to merge with USAir and was very encouraged when that deal was opposed by the Bush Administration. It appeared that the U.S. Government was finally getting tough with foreign governments who protect and subsidize their own industries. I still remain unconvinced that the current transaction is that much different from any previous proposal, although it appears to be a watered-down version. British Airways is still going to profit at the expense of U.S. carriers and their employees."

In his letter to the President, Lipinski wrote, "Along with many other members of Congress, I would hope that you share our desire to formulate an international policy that directly addresses the broad question of how foreign investment in the U.S. airline industry will affect the long-term competitive capabilities of U.S. carriers."

Insurance Extension Urged

Secretary of State George H. Ryan called for permanent extension of mandatory insurance in Illinois and streamlined enforcement of the law. More than 1,000,000 vehicle owners have obtained insurance coverage since the law took effect in 1990 and the number of reported collisions involving uninsured motorists has fallen steadily, from 70,284 in 1990 to 51,150 last year.

Meanwhile, despite concerns to the contrary auto insurance premiums have fallen, compared with other states, since all Illinois drivers were required to carry liability insurance. The average cost of premiums in Chicago fell by eight percent last year.

"This law is one of the most significant consumer protection measures now on the books," Ryan said in a news conference. "Because of it, a responsible, insured driver is far less likely to bear the expensive consequences of a run-in with an uninsured motorist."

Ryan's proposal to extend the insurance requirement is timed to be in place before the law automatically expires on Dec. 31st.

The four-year 'sunset' provision broke a deadlock that had kept compulsory insurance legislation bottled up in the Illinois legislature for 17 years.

Acting on the recommendations of his Mandatory Insurance Advisory Board, Ryan also proposed changes that would increase pressure on vehicle owners who continue to ignore the law. About seven percent of all vehicles registered in Illinois are uninsured, down from 17 percent when the law was passed.

Ryan proposes to change the law to increase enforcement pressure on all known violators of the law, requiring them to prove for a longer period of time that they haven't canceled their insurance coverage; raise the reinstatement fee for first-time violators from $50 to $100 but eliminate the suspension if the fee is paid and expedite court procedures for insured drivers ticketed for failing to carry 'proof of insurance' cards, a proposal which would let them provide evidence of coverage and get their tickets dismissed without appearing in court.

Under current law, vehicle owners who fail to carry insurance face fines of $500 to $1,000 and a two-month suspension of vehicle registration. To have the suspension lifted, drivers must obtain insurance and pay a $50 reinstatement fee.

The law is administered through a 'two-track' enforcement system unique to Illinois.

Motorists can be ticketed by police if they fail to carry proof of insurance at all times. In addition, the Secretary of State's office oversees a program requiring selected vehicle owners to verify through the mail that they have insurance.

IIT Psychology Training Program

The Psychology Department at Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT) is seeking companies interested in restructuring their human resources department to participate in a six-to seven-month training program. Companies that seek help in identifying their employees' strengths, weaknesses and goals will be considered for the program. Human resource personnel will learn how to conduct employee service-related programs, such as recruiting, training, evaluations, conducting job classification/placement and handling job stress. Participants will be required to take part in interviewing sessions and surveys.

The department is also seeking companies interested in restructuring their pre-retirement policy to participate in a long-term training program. Companies that seek assistance in helping employees make the transition from work to retirement will be considered for the program. Employees will learn how to plan for their future retirement, how to cope with retirement and how to identify transferrable skills and experiences, which can be used in new careers or hobbies. Participants will be required to attend workshops and keep a daily diary.

For more information on either program, call IIT Psychology Professor Peter Chen at (312) 567-3518.

The Illinois Senate has passed legislation sponsored by Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18) giving all communities the option of establishing local housing courts for enforcing building codes. O'Malley is pictured with Sen. William Mahar (R-19). Senate Bill 36 passed easily after O'Malley was subjected to the good-natured ribbing all freshmen legislators have to endure when their first bill comes before the General Assembly for a vote. Receiving a 49-3 vote, it was the first bill passed by a freshman senator and the second bill passed by the Senate so far this year.

"I appreciate the support of my Senate colleagues. However, I was surprised when it initially appeared that there was quite a bit of opposition to my legislation, the first freshman bill called for a vote. No one had warned me of this legislative rite of passage," O'Malley said. "Then it dawned on me what my colleagues were doing and I accepted their good-natured ribbing in the spirit in which it was given."

Senate Bill 36 will allow the corporate authorities of any municipalities to establish a housing court responsible for enforcing municipal housing codes and ordinances. That option is currently available only for communities of more than 100,000 residents.

"City officials from Blue Island first approached me about the idea of a local housing court for smaller communities. Blue Island is 150-years-old and has a number of older buildings in need of repair. The process of enforcing building ordinances can be slow, however, because disputed cases are often referred to an already overburdened circuit court system," O'Malley said. "This legislation will allow more local control in enforcing building codes and should help expedite many of these cases. Local housing courts should also be more convenient and cost-efficient for municipalities, property owners and tenants."

Blue Island Mayor Donald Peloquin says the local interest in this legislation has intensified. "Since the initial Senate hearing, the residents of Blue Island have been enthusiastic about getting a handle on this major problem that faces our community. The ability to improve our property values as well as clean up general nuisance areas more quickly will be a tremendous boost to the populace."

Senate Bill 36 now moves to the House of Representatives for further consideration. It is co-sponsored by Sen. Mahar, Sen. Robert Raica (R-24) and Sen. William Shaw (D-15).

Pass Local Control

The Senate Environment and Energy Committee has passed legislation sponsored by State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18) to allow more local control in the process of siting garbage incinerators. Senate Bill 52 will require the approval of every municipality within five miles of the proposed site of a new garbage incinerator that accepts waste generated off-site.

"The case pending in Robbins clearly indicates the need for more local input and control in the siting of garbage incinerators. My proposal will expand the definition of local control to include more of the residents who will be affected by an incinerator project. Currently, only the city council or village board of a proposed host community acts as the local siting authority," O'Malley said.

Senate Bill 52 requires a public hearing in each municipality within five miles of the incinerator site. It also clarifies that the governing body of each municipality accept the incinerator by a majority vote.

Co-sponsored by State Sen. Robert Raica (R-24), Senate Bill 52 now moves to the full Senate for further consideration on second reading.

Blood Drive

A blood drive to aid the Corrigan brothers is being held at St. Catherine of Alexandria Church on Sunday, April 4th from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. in Kane Hall, 10621 S. Kedvale. The Corrigan brothers are hemophiliacs and need blood to provide the clotting factor necessary when they have cuts, bruises or bumps.

Any healthy person between the ages of 17 and 70 can donate blood. Inquiries can be made to Christ Hospital, 346-5581.

Reserve Benefits

The United States Army Reserve now offers nurses and nursing students financial assistance to those who wish to earn a bachelor's or master's degree in nursing. The Specialized Training Assistance Program, or STRAP, allows these students to draw $794 monthly, even if only taking half the semester hours considered full-time by their school of nursing. A student earns the full $794 per month whether taking six semester hours or 12.

"We have programs in the Army Reserve for nurses with an associate degree and a state license, nurses with three-year diplomas and for nurses with four-year bachelor of science degrees," said Lt. Col. Robert M. Riley, commander of the U.S. Army's Chicago recruiting battalion.

The reserve also has a loan forgiveness program which repays up to $20,000 worth of student loans incurred by a BSN while earning the degree, Riley said. These and other benefits, he added, may be discussed in full detail with his Army Reserve nurse recruiters in the Chicago area.

Riley may be reached at (708) 926-2640.

So what's the problem?

It has nothing to do with gay rights, civil rights, homophobia, or what goes on inside the walls of the barracks between enlisted men of the same rank. That 'problem,' if there was one, was always dealt with by individual choice among military peers of the same rank just like in civilian life.

But there is a 'problem' when a homosexual officer, at a time of war, uses his rank to sexually harass a heterosexual enlisted man. It can be frightening, degrading, and downright threatening. Although reported cases are rare, the Clinton administration's plan to allow 'announced homosexuals' in the military could escalate the situation.

Does the enlisted man report the officer? Does he warn his GI-buddies? What happens if he reports the officer and the military review board doesn't believe him? What if he doesn't report the gay officer and suddenly finds his name is put on a levy to a theater of war? Will the gay officer, because he spurned his sexual advances, 'freeze' his rank, denying him more pay at a higher rank? In a war zone, will the homosexual officer show favoritism to a homosexual enlisted man? Serving in the military is stressful enough without any added burdens brought on by homosexual 'problems' between officers and enlisted men.

So what is the 'problem' with homosexuals in the military? I just cited a number of them that have been totally overlooked amidst the flamboyant rhetoric being tossed around on the highly controversial subject. People in or out of the service will tell you heterosexual military officers can 'pull rank' on an enlisted man, make his life miserable. They will argue it happens between heterosexuals if an officer takes a disliking to an enlisted man. Yes, personality conflicts are always present, but they should never be exacerbated by the heterosexuality--between a homosexual officer and a heterosexual enlisted man.

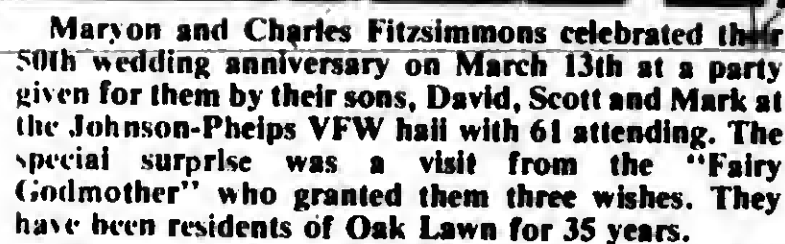

PRESIDENT CLINTON should listen to the Joint-Chiefs-of-Staff, and career military men, all opposed to opening up the military service to 'announced homosexuals,' and more importantly than all, to men who have 'walked the walk,' not just energized gay-rights activists or emotionally-driven civil-rights advocates, before signing any bill opening the door to 'announced homosexuals' in the military. This is a subject that President Clinton has never had to deal with from the most valuable learning tool of all--personal experience. Case closed.

Oak Lawn High School is subject to the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. This federal statute is commonly referred to as the ADA and requires that public entities such as school districts conduct a self-evaluation of the accessibility of facilities to individuals with disabilities. The purpose of this is to determine if structural changes must be made to existing facilities in order to comply with the ADA's accessibility requirements. If the self-evaluation process identifies the need for structural changes to a facility, the public entity must develop a transition plan for remedying the identified accessibility barriers.

Erdogan Kurap, who was indicted in September of 1991 for allegedly operating a drug cabal out of the Solid Gold Lounge, a Chicago Ridge bar, was returned to Cook County Jail last Friday. The drug operation stretched from the south suburbs to Tennessee and Mexico. Kurap was back in jail for the first time since he became an international fugitive after he escaped from jail last August. He walked out of Cook County Jail wearing a guard's uniform which had apparently been smuggled to him by a jail employee.

Kurap was the first person in the State of Illinois with a 'Super Class X felony' drug conspiracy charge filed against him. Such a crime is punishable by from 15 to 60 years in prison.

In November, Kurap was arrested by Turkish officials working with U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agents. Since that time, Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley has been attempting to extradite him.

His escape from Cook County Jail was allegedly facilitated by Umberto Perkins, a 23 year old jail guard, who reportedly took the uniform to Kurap. Perkins, who has protested his innocence, worked as a jail guard for less than a year before the incident. He was fired from the job and is currently awaiting trial on the charge that he aided Kurap in the successful escape from county jail.

Following the arrest, Sheriff Michael Sheahan stated that the recapture of Kurap sends a message that no matter how much money you may have or how notorious you may be, we can find you.

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau are to visit selected area households beginning on Saturday, April 1st, to conduct the Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office, announced.

SIPP, a continuing nationwide survey, was introduced in the fall of 1983. It is one of the nation's largest, with about 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey. Subjects covered include jobs and earnings; the economic effects of unemployment, disability and retirement; how taxes affect personal spending; and participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and pension plans.

Information from STPP helps policy makers and administrators determine how well government programs are serving the public and how changes in programs and policies will affect the public.

Here are some facts about persons and their health insurance between 1987 and 1990, based upon findings from the survey. The sample size limits accurate reporting to national figures only. Twenty-one percent of all U.S. residents, approximately 50 million, lacked health insurance for at least a month during 1987; the average monthly total of uninsured persons in the final quarter of 1990 was 13 percent of the population or about 32 million; 28 percent of men lacked continuous health insurance between 1987 and 1989, compared with 25 percent of women because of higher levels of Medicaid and Medicare coverage among women, 46 percent of Hispanics lacked insurance for at least a month between 1987 and 1989 while among racial groups, the percentages lacking insurance for at least a month were 40 percent for blacks and 24 percent for whites. Also, private health insurance covered 91 percent of whites and about 75 percent of blacks and hispanics for at least one month between 1987 and 1989. One-half of persons aged 18 to 21 had no insurance for a month or more. For those aged 25 to 44, 73 percent had continuous coverage compared with 82 percent of those aged 45 to 64, and 99 percent of those aged 65 and over.

On Friday, March 12, at about 1 a.m., as he was stopped for a traffic signal a Palos Park man apparently became the victim of an attempted shooting. The victim, who asked not to be identified, stated that a young man in a car next to his at Southwest Highway and Pulaski asked for directions to the expressway.

When the victim asked the man which expressway, he replied, "You know, the expressway, man."

As the light turned green, both cars proceeded down Southwest Highway and stopped for the light at Kilbourn Ave. It was then that the victim noticed that the other driver was aiming a gun at him. The victim dived to the floor of his vehicle as the assailant fired two shots. The bullets lodged in a steel bar in the door leaving the victim unhurt.

When he looked up, he saw the assailant standing outside his car with the gun. The victim took off down Southwest Highway and pulled into a restaurant parking lot near Cicero. He stated that he saw the assailant's car turn south on Cicero.

According to Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert, the only lead, at this time, is the description of the car.

A fatal collision occurred at the intersection of 74th St. and Harlem Ave. at approximately 7:13 a.m. on Tuesday, March 9th. The four vehicle collision took the life of Anthony E. Martelli, 31, of Chicago Ridge who was pronounced dead on arrival at Christ Hospital, Oak Lawn, according to officials.

The accident happened as Martelli tried to turn east onto 74th St. Martelli's Jeep Wrangler turned in front of an oncoming Ford 150 pickup truck driven by John P. Latko of Forest View. The vehicles collided in Harlem's northbound lanes. Latko's pickup was then hit by a Chevrolet van driven by Leslie Pine of Cicero. It was also struck by a Hyundai Excell driven by Karen L. Hanek of Bartlett.

Latko was also taken to Christ Hospital and discharged at 12:15 p.m. He received bruises and other injuries on his face and body. Neither Pine nor Hanek were injured in the crash. It was said that no charges had been filed in the accident.

The Evergreen Park Centennial Commission is introducing banners in commemoration of this special anniversary year. The banners are to be displayed on light poles along the business streets, as well as at the entrances to the village. In addition to decorating and beautifying the area for the 100th year, they will remind residents, business people, and other viewers to shop locally. The green banners feature the new seal, carrying both the familiar motto of Evergreen Park as the "Village of Churches," and the new slogan, "Cherishing Our Past - Nurturing Our Future." Businesses and organizations will be invited to sponsor and purchase a banner at a nominal cost. Viewing a sample of previous banners are members of the centennial committee, decorations co-chairman, Vincent Gavin of Evergreen Plaza; secretary, Laura Shallow of Standard Bank; chairman, John McGivern, village trustee; vice-president John McGuire of Menu Mart, and honorary chairman, Mayor Anthony Vacco. These banners were previously introduced by the Chamber of Commerce in 1988, in cooperation with the 95th anniversary. Many of them remained on display through last year.

Form Coalition In Support Of School Choice

Twelve Illinois organizations, representing a wide range of political, religious and cultural interests have announced the creation of a new coalition to support educational choice in Illinois. Members of the coalition said they would wage a statewide political and educational campaign to support legislation being considered by the Illinois legislature. Educational choice means allowing parents to choose the schools their children attend. Tax funding would "follow the student" to the school of choice; public, private or parochial. Supporters of educational choice believe it empowers parents, promotes healthy competition among schools and could lead to lower taxes for schools.
